WILSON WILL NOT ACT WITHOUT CONGRESS

ASSURANCE IS GIVEN TO SENATE LEADERS

FEARS DELAY ON BILL TO ARM AMERICAN SHIPS

Washington, March 3.—President Wilson has no intention of taking action that would bring war with Germany unless congress is summoned in extra session.

This was communicated to senate leaders today by representatives of the president who takes the position that if no extraordinary crisis arises, it will not be necessary to call an extra session before late in the spring and then only to pass appropriation bills.

Administration leaders approached the closing congress session today fearful lest opposition by Senators LaFollette and Stone to the bill authorizing arming of American merchant vessels might possibly prevent enactment of the measure by noon tomorrow.

Stone is Determined.

Senator Stone, it was declared, was determined to fight for his amendment which would withhold protection from munition carrying ships. Senator LaFollette, who yielded a point late last night in permitting an advance in the parliamentary position of the bill, was ready to make a long speech against it.

When debate was resumed today Senator Hitchcock, to perfect the bill's parliamentary status, had the senate draft, with two slight amendments, substituted after the enacting clause, for the house text. One amendment eliminates the provision for arming merchantmen "fore and aft," thus removing specific direction as to armament. The other prevents United States protection for foreign ships.

AT CAPITOL ON SUNDAY

Wilson Will Take the Oath of Office for His Second Term.

CHANGE IS MADE IN EARLIER PLAN

Will Again Take Oath on Monday Prior to Inaugural Address.

Washington, March 3.—President Wilson will take the oath of office for his second term in his room at the capitol at noon Sunday. It will be administered by Chief Justice White, of the supreme court.

Mr. Wilson plans to go to the capitol before noon to sign bills and therefore decided it would be impracticable to take the oath of office in the white house, as was at first contemplated.

FLAG DEMAND NOW SENDS PRICE OF OLD GLORY UP.

New York, March 3.—Flag dealers say that the great demand for "Old Glory" since the beginning of Germany's unrestricted submarine warfare has caused a temporary shortage of supply and increased prices. Wooden and steel flagpoles also cast from one-third to one-half more than a year ago. The increase in flag prices is ascribed, first to the tremendous demand; to the scarcity of dyestuffs, and third, to the increase in cost of material. The flag factories are working day and night shifts. Calls for more flags, dealers say, are coming from all parts of the country.

TOLEDO IS WILLING TO STAND FOR DARCY

Toledo, O., March 3.—Following announcement yesterday that Gov. Whitman of New York, had forbidden the scheduled bout between Les Darcy of Australia, and Jack Dillon, of Indianapolis, the Toledo Athletic association last night sent a telegram to Dillon's manager, Sam Marburger, offering $40,000, which if accepted, will bring the match here late this month. Under the Toledo proposal the division of the money would be decided upon by the principals. The bout would be for twelve rounds.

Lottie Forbes.

Miss Lottie Forbes, 19-year-old school teacher, has gone through all kinds of accidents by street cars in St. Louis before a movie camera, so the public may see the dangers of careless walking and riding.

WOMAN FIGHTS IN TRENCHES; BECOMES OFFICER OVER MEN.

One of the most remarkable incidents of the European war is that a woman has been fighting in the trenches and became the leader of a troop of men soldiers.

AMERICAN SHIPS ARE NOW READY FOR GUNS

Can Be Ready for Sea in Few Days if Arming is Permitted.

New York, March 3.—The six passenger ships of the American line held in this harbor by the German blockade, are ready to take on guns, as soon as congress authorizes the government to arm merchant vessels. A naval constructor and two ordnance officers from the navy yard continue today an inspection of the American line ships.

These officers yesterday spent the greater part of the day on board the St. Louis which, it is understood, will be the first of the American fleet to leave if the ship arming bill becomes a law. It was said that the liners could be made ready for sea if necessary in forty-eight hours so far as the installation of guns is concerned. If orders are received from Washington, carpenters will immediately cut out the deck planks that cover the platforms for mounting guns already in place.

Inquiries by officers at the navy yard regarding the calibre of guns now carried by French and British ships for submarine defense show that the French liners are armed with naval 75 millimetres, a little more than three inches; the Cunarders carry 4.7s and the White Star liners 6-inch guns. There is talk of equipping the St. Louis as an experiment with a new invention used in the British navy which places the control of the steering wheel in the hands of the officer or pilot who is in charge of the bridge.

Officials of the American line say there has been no rush to book cabins on the St. Louis. The agents have the names of about thirty persons who wish to be informed when the sailing date of any of the liners has been definitely fixed.

LAND MARK BEING RAZED.

Houses on Becker Property Are Being Wrecked For New Building.

The houses located on the old Becker property on East Washington street between the Fox Brother building and the Minuet are being razed. Work was begun Saturday morning. The three buildings will be torn away to make room for the new building which will be erected for the Wolf and Dessauer new store building. These buildings are a few more of the old land marks which must be torn down to make way for more modern structures.

WELL KNOWN GARRETT WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. A. S. Halter Dies in Sanitarium at Oxford, Ohio.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., March 3.—Mrs. A. S. Halter, prominent club woman and well known throughout northern Indiana, died this morning at 2 o'clock in a private sanitarium at Oxford, O., where she had been taken three or four months ago.

Mrs. Halter had been in poor health for some time. Almost a year ago she submitted to an operation in the hospital here and for a time it was thought she would ultimately recover. But a few weeks after returning to her home she became worse and was taken to Indianapolis for treatment. There was no improvement in her condition there and then she was taken to Oxford, O., where she died.

The body will be brought to this city tonight and will be met at Fort Wayne by a delegation of local citizens.

Mrs. Halter was prominent in club work and at one time was secretary of the state federation of clubs. For three years she was president of the Mother's club of this city and was identified with other organizations. She was a member of the Baptist church.

She is survived by the husband and one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Rang, of Washington, Ind.

HEAVY SNOW MAKES PROGRESS DIFFICULT

Douglas, Ariz., March 3.—Heavy snow is retarding the progress of the Carranza punitive expedition in Sonora, according to word received here today. Pulhito Pass, it is said, is blocked and the main column of 1,000 infantry with a cavalry detachment of 250, has halted at Colonia Morelos, awaiting opening of the mountain passes.

Arrivals from Nogales said Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, who has taken the field against Col. Francisco Reyna's Villista force in the Altar district of Sonora, has given orders for the execution of the mayors of Altar, Oquitoa, Pitiquito and Caborca for having failed to report the Reyna movement to the military authorities.

GOOD FAITH IS IMPUGNED

Gentry Asks Reconsideration and Death of His Medical School Bill.

DECLARES HE WILL RESIGN FROM HOUSE

Dramatic Incident Follows Unintended Enactment by Senate.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 3.—The medical school bill carrying an appropriation of $350,000 for a new building, which yesterday passed both branches of the legislature, the senate under suspension of the rules—caused probably the most dramatic incident of the entire session in the house today.

Representative Gentry, author of the bill, declaring that his good faith had been impugned, asked the house to reconsider the vote on the bill and kill it and at the same time announced that he intended to resign from the house.

The representative from Bloomington, to secure passage of the medical bill in the house, it is said, promised friends of Mr. Goodrich in the house that the measure would not be pushed in the senate.

Other friends of the school took up the bill when it reached the senate and had it passed under suspension of the rules causing, Mr. Gentry said, reflection on his good faith.

Tears Roll Down His Checks.

Mr. Genry spoke with great feeling, the tears rolling down his cheeks.

"Down in Monroe county lives my mother," said Mr. Genry, holding her picture before him. "She is 85 years old and almost my first recollection of her is telling me to always tell the truth. I have tried to do that and the imputation that I acted in bad faith toward the members of this house, cuts me to the quick. I want to move the reconsideration of the vote on the medical school bill and ask you gentlemen to defeat the bill.

"After this is done there is but one thing left for me to do and that is to tender my resignation as a member of the legislature. Also here is my check

VILLA IN PLAN TO CAPTURE CARRANZA

Bandit Chieftain Reported With New and Imposing Program.

El Paso, Texas, March 3.—From a wounded Villa soldier, who is here today for medical treatment, government agents claim to have learned of Francisco Villa's plan to reduce his force to 300 picked men, abandon his campaign against Chihuahua City, Mexico, and disappear for three months on a secret mission in the interest of his provisional government, of which Miguel Liaz Lombardo is to be provisional president. Villa's reason for this move was said to have been two-fold. One was to regain his health, which has broken by exposure in the field and by his old wound in the leg, and to make a desperate effort to capture Carranza while the first chief was on his present trip from city to city in Central Mexico.

WOOD WORKER FALLS AGAINST BUZZ SAW

Right arm of Walter Thimlar, 26, of Woodburn, was half severed when he fell against a rapidly revolving buzz saw in the construction department of the City Carriage works, corner of Main and Barr streets, Saturday morning. Thimlar is being treated in the St. Joseph's hospital where physicians think the arm can be saved from amputation.

Thimlar, who has been employed in the carriage works for two months, was caught by the trouser leg in flying spindles of one of the wood working machines. He fell forward in an effort to release himself and in so doing struck his right arm against the speeding buzz saw. The arm was cut to the bone.

Ambulance was summoned by fellow workmen. Thimlar was weak from loss of blood when he arrived at the hospital. Every effort is being made to save the arm from infection. Thimlar has a family.

OVERTURE TO MEXICO ADMITTED IN BERLIN

Zimmerman Note Correctly Quoted and Effort is Made to Justify Foreign Secretary's Action

London, March 3.—Foreign Secretary Zimmerman's instructions to the German minister to Mexico, as published in the United States, are admitted in Berlin to have been correctly quoted, according to a dispatch to Reuter's from the German capital by way of Amsterdam.

It is also said that opinion prevails in many quarters that the outcome may be the resignation of the foreign secretary and the termination of von Bernstorff's career as a diplomat.

The dispatch quotes the following telegram received in Amsterdam from Berlin on Friday and which was apparently sent by the Wolff bureau, the semi-official German news agency:

"The American press contains reports about instructions from the ministry of foreign affairs to the German minister in Mexico City in the event that Germany after the proclamation of unrestricted submarine warfare failed to keep the United States neutral. These reports were based on the following facts:

"After the decision had been taken to begin unrestricted submarine warfare on February 1 we had to reckon, in view of the previous attitude of the American government, with the possibility of conflict with the United States. That this calculation was right is proved by the fact that the American government severed diplomatic relations with Germany soon after the proclamation of a barred zone and asked other neutrals to follow her example.

Pleads Justification.

"Anticipating these possibilities it was not only the right but also the duty of our government to take precautions in time—in the event of a military conflict with the United

THIRTEEN CONVICTED IN LABOR GRAFT CASE

Defendants All Declared Guilty in Chicago Federal Court.

Chicago, March 3.—All thirteen defendants in the so-called "labor graft" case were found guilty on charges of conspiracy and maintenance of a boycott in the federal court here today. The defendants are four former business agents of the Electrical Workers' union, and nine members of the Chicago switchboard manufacturers.

Charges of vandalism, persecution by means of strikes and bribery were charged as the specific means by which the defendants kept outside manufacturers and certain Chicago manufacturers, who were not in the "ring," from obtaining or filling contracts.

Michael J. Boyle, said to have accumulated a fortune as business agent of local 134, was regarded as the leader in the so-called conspiracy. Other defendants convicted are Raymond Cleary, assistant to Boyle; C. L. Hampton, former business agent of Boyle's local; Frank A. Lundmark, former business agent of local 713, and John Cuthbert, Charles Kreider, Warren E. Ripple, Otis B. Duncan, Julian J. Neilsen, James Obermiller, G. W. and E. E. Berthold, C. J. Peterson, manufacturers. The minimum penalty is one year in prison and a fine of $3,000.

UNDERSTANDING AT SANTIAGO IS NEAR

Cuban Chamber of Commerce Asks Mediation by President Wilson.

Santiago, Cuba, March 3.—Conferences between the commanders of the American warships stationed here and military authorities are continuing with indications that an understanding will be arrived at soon.

The chamber of commerce has cabled President Wilson soliciting mediation and assuring him that the situation can be settled easily if he will act immediately thereby avoiding bloodshed and the destruction of property. The rebel leaders here are favorably disposed toward coming to an understanding with America.

TANGLES MAY BE EXPECTED

Poll Books Will Be Practically Useless at Primary.

REGISTRATION LAW DOES NOT APPLY

Various Candidates Are Putting on the Finishing Touches.

When the voters of Fort Wayne cast their ballots next Tuesday to nominate men for all city offices they will be confronted by a peculiar situation in the way of qualifications of voters, and because of conflicting conditions there will be plenty of room for arguments and for trouble in general. The registration law does not apply and poll books will be practically useless.

Apparently any man who is of the full age of 21 years may vote, provided he declare this to be his home and give his place of bona fide residence. The six months residence in the state which is necessary in general elections is not required in the primary, it is claimed. One who has just moved into the county or precinct may vote in the primary, even though he may have arrived only the day before, it is contended.

It is provided in the law that when a man calls for the ballot of one party who is believed to be a member of an-

MEXICO SAYS SHE WAS NOT APPROACHED

Guadalajara, Mexico, March 3.—Gen. Candido Aguilar, the provisional minister of foreign relations, today formally denied that the Mexican government had been approached by Germany with the object of forming an alliance hostile to the United States.

The statement given out by the Mexican foreign minister says:

"The government of Mexico has not received in behalf of the government from Germany any proposal for an alliance looking toward war with the United States.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Figures obtained in London and vouched for there as authentic show that Germany succeeded during February in destroying 490,000 tons of merchant shipping, or less than half the 1,000,000 tons she threatened to destroy during the first month of unrestricted submarine warfare.

Military operations yesterday were of comparatively minor importance. Berlin reports violent infantry engagements on both sides of the Ancre, where the great German retirement has been taking place. No mention is made of ground gained or lost, however, the statement of results being confined to announcement that the Germans took sixty prisoners and eight machine guns besides inflicting casualties of a sanguinary character.

Only raiding operations have occurred in the other Franco-Belgian front sectors, and the same is true of the Russian front, according to the Berlin report. West of Lutsk in Volhynia, however, a German raid was on an extensive scale. Russian positions were penetrated to a depth of nearly a mile on a front of more than 1½ miles. The results were the destruction of the Russian dugouts and the capture of 122 prisoners and four machine guns.

A Berlin wireless report announces the sinking of nine armed Russian steamers by the German submarine recently sunk near Hammerfest, Norway. This submarine had previously been reported foundered off the Norwegian coast late in January.

FOURTH SUICIDE TRY IS ANOTHER FAILURE

Parting Note to Sister Will Be Restored by Police.

Pathetic note, scrawled with a lead pencil by Gladys (Clayton) Craig, before she made a fourth attempt to end her life Friday night, by taking carbolic acid, will be returned to her by police. The suicide attempt was a failure and Gladys, who is in the St. Joseph hospital, will recover.

Landlady in the rooming house in which Gladys stayed at 403 East Lewis street, smelled fumes of carbolic acid and entered the young woman's room at 9:30 Friday evening. She found Mrs. Craig lying on the bed with a half-emptied bottle in her hand. Ina Dickason, the landlady, called police. Gladys was hurried to the hospital in the patrol.

On the dresser in Mrs. Craig's room was found the following message, evidently intended for Mrs. Rosella Reffelt, a sister:

"My ear Sister: I am so sorry, but what is life to me? I hope things change for you, my dear sister. May God bless you. GLADYS."

P. S.—Tell Eddie I said "good bye." Kisses to all. Please don't tell any one of my misfortune.

SENATE IS AGAIN IN EXECUTIVE SESSION

Specific Appropriation as Passed by the House Considered.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 3.—When the senate convened this morning it again went into executive session, electing Senator Culbertson, democratic floor leader, chairman, the consideration of the specific appropriation bill passed Thursday by the house of representatives was up. The regular appropriation bill sent to engrossment yesterday was due for third reading and passage today. The house has under consideration amendments to senate measures which will bring up in the house again the issues of the abolishment of the state oil inspection bureau and the extension of the powers of the state board of tax commissioners.

The senate faces an inevitable congestion for the concluding day of the session. Inasmuch as there is apparently no disposition to force the passage of the enormous list of bills posted for third reading, it is likely that the chief aim of many senators will be to assist in killing bills to which they are opposed for the chief reason, according to Senator Erskine that "we know absolutely nothing about them and have had no opportunity to find out anything."

Lieutenant Governor Bush announced that he would name conferees on the Dobyns road bill today, and to meet with a delegation from the house of representatives and with emissaries from the office of Governor Goodrich in an effort to agree upon a road bill that will be satisfactory both to the senate and house which the governor will sign knowing that it will be properly financed.

102 MEMBERS ARE TO QUIT CONGRESS SEATS

Many Conspicuous Figures End Official Life at Noon Tomorrow.

Washington, March 3.—One hundred and two members of congress will close their legislative careers tomorrow noon when the sixty-fourth congress ends by constitutional limitation. Of the number fifteen are senators: They are: Kern, Indiana; Bryan, of Florida; Catron, New Mexico; Chilton, West Virginia; Clapp, Minnesota; Clark, Wyoming; Dupont, Delaware; Johnson, Maine; Lea, Tennessee; Lippott, Rhode Island; Martine, New Jersey; O'Gorman, New York; Oliver, Pennsylvania; Sutherland, Utah, and Works, of California.

The number who will return to private life after tomorrow is unusually large in both house and senate. Among the more picturesque of these figures in the house are: Sparkman, of Florida, who has served twenty-two years successively. Representative Bennett, of New York, who enjoys the unique distinction of having been in and out of congress three times; Representative Murray, of Oklahoma, familiarly known as "Alfalfa Bill;" Representative Davis, of Texas; Representative McCorkle, South Carolina, who enjoys the distinction of serving one of the shortest terms on record. He was a member for only eight days. Representative Rucker, of Georgia, served eight weeks. Both filled vacancies caused by death.

WILL NOT DISTRIBUTE RELIEF GIVEN BY U. S.

Berlin, March 3.—(Via London.)—The special fund for the benefit of German war widows and orphans collected in the United States under the patronage of a committee headed by former Ambassador James W. Gerard, has been deposited in a local bank subject to the disposition of Mr. Gerard. The money was turned over to a German committee headed by Baron von Stumm by Mr. Gerard on the eve of his departure from Berlin but this committee has decided not to make the distribution originally contemplated.

PUTS BAN ON STYLE CHANGES.

London, March 3.—The German imperial clothing committee has issued a warning that styles in women's clothing cannot be allowed to change every six months, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph compnay. The committee says that women may wear winter dresses throughout the coming summer without disgrace and drastic measures will be taken against a change in fashion and consequent expenses.

DES JARDIEU QUITS GAME.

Cleveland, March 3.—Paul Des Jardieu, a member of the Cleveland American's pitching staff near the close of last season, has decided to quit baseball. He plans to enter business in Chicago. Des Jardieu acquired fame as a football and baseball player at the University of Chicago.

Senator Brandegee, republican, of Connecticut, called the German prohibited zone "an ambush where Germany laid in wait to deal death" to anyone who entered against her edict creating it.

"Shall we sit supinely and allow the ukase of a foreign potentate to clear the ocean of American shipping and blockade our ports," he asked. "Are we obliged to wait for the slaughter to be accomplished before we defend ourselves? I trust that neither congress nor the American people have fallen to such depths of degradation that they are willing to furl the American flag and withdraw from the high seas as the misguided pacifists seem to wish. There is no use to issue a moral homily or a Salvation Army tract or to repeat the Sermon on the Mount to a nation that has gone mad and acts through its military autocracy like a homicidal maniac. Must we get off the face of the earth—lie down and curl up? I'm for peace, but I am going to preserve the liberties of my country. If the pacifists had lived in the time of George Washington we never would have been a country and if they have their way now we will cease to be a country. The peace propaganda, in some aspects, closely approaches treason."

Senator Sherman presented today's news dispatches from Berlin bringing foreign Minister Zimmermann's admission of the attempted intrigue with Japan and Mexico. Senators manifested such keen interest in the dispatch that they were read twice. Senators who had been inclined to denounce the celebrated Zimmermann instructions as a forgery or a British plot, showed particular interest.

"Japan has denied receipt of the overtures," Senator Sutherland, republican, of Utah, interjected. "I ask if there is any significance to the fact that our great and good friend Gen. Carranza, in our neighboring friendly republic, has not made any denial."

"Are we going to lie down on our back and let this monstrous Frankenstein trample over us ruthlessly? I am not deceived by the effect of this bill. The effect will be that the next passenger or freight ship with American gunners aboard which attempts to enter a British or neutral port in the zone will be attacked by a German submarine. That means that there will be war if this country is fit to live. If perchance our defensive gunners should sink a submarine, that would mean war."

Senator Brandegee declared with emphasis that a state of war already existed and had existed between the United States and Germany since February 1.

"Germany declared war on the whole world in issuing this proclamation," he asserted. "No self-respecting nation regards it any other way. When she proclaimed slaughter in the barred zone she declared war against this nation."

Stone Wants to Know.

Senator Stone asked where the dispatches came from and was informed they were from the Wolff bureau, a German semi-official organization. "These dispatches," resumed Senator Brandege, "gives us a fairly accurate idea of the relations that exist at the present time between the Teutonic powers and this great country. Zimmermann declares Germany's intention to resume unrestrictd submarine warfare, the kind that sunk the Lusitania, the kind that Germany had agreed to abandon.

"Germany suspended this warfare while she was rebuilding submarines. Then came announcement of her intention not only to resume this assassination, already carried into effect, but her intention also to array every nation against us that could get at the United States in case we attempted to defend ourselves against these assassins.

A Distorted Understanding.

Reference by Foreign Secretary Minister Zimmerman at Berlin to the existence of a pan-American "plot" is regarded in official circles here as nothing more than a distorted and erroneous understanding either on the part of the Argentine newspaper or the German foreign office of some quite open and proper efforts made soon after the outbreak of the war and during Secretary Bryan's incumbency to protect rights of neutral commerce in the western hemisphere. Soon after the sinking of the sailing ship Frye and when the German commerce raiders and a German war fleet were particularly active on both sides of South America, resulting in the utter demoralization of commerce in that part of the world, some of the diplomatic representatives in Washington of the Latin-American countries conceived the idea of joint action to prevent the theater of war from extending into American waters. The members of the pan-American council, which meets in Washington quarterly and at times oftener, appointed a special committee to consider certain propositions advanced by individual ministers to protect the commerce of the Americas, the essential feature being the declaration of zone about 200 miles mide along the American coast from Cape Horn to Canada within which no belligerent warships or submarines should be permitted to interfere with merchant ships. This subject was discussed in various phases for many months in a desultory way at occasional meetings of the council, but as no substantial encouragement was received from the state department here no attempt was made to make any report.

Later it is recalled here upon the announcement of Germany to pursue ruthless submarine warfare some of the Argentine papers made known the fact that Ambassador Naon had proposed joint action by at least some of the nations to prevent war between the United States and Germany. It was soon declared, however, by the ambassador himself that his project had not been conceived by his own government and he had acted solely upon his own responsibility in broaching it. This movement also came to nothing so far as known.

AT CAPITOL ON SUNDAY

net will be with him, advising him on bills passed in the closing hours of congress.

Mr. Wilson has decided to take the oath again on Monday in front of the capitol, just before he delivers his inaugural address.

Completes Inaugural Address.

The president completed his inaugural address today and it was understood that the foreign situation was the principle subject dealt with. The president both by telephone and through direct representatives was in constant communication with the capitol today.

"Bone Dry" Bill Signed.

Hilarious scenes probably will mark the final hours of tonight's congressional session, particularly in the house where a chorus of representatives usually send the dying session on its way with old songs. One of the leading singers of the past will be missing, for Representative Conrey, of New York, who died here last night, was one of the best tenor voices in the assembly.

Although the president has completed his inaugural address he may decide to make some changes in it with reference to the foreign situation should developments warrant. The address probably will not be issued to the press until shortly before the president begins his speech after taking the oath of office Monday, in order that he may reflect the situation as it stands at that time.

President Wilson made another of his personal visits to the state, war and navy building today and first conferred with Secretary Baker.

This has always been "The Store That Does Things," and we are prepared to do much greater things this Spring.

If a man or young man wants a snappy suit of clothes for a little money, we will guarantee to give you a larger assortment and as good values at $9.75 this Spring as you can find in any other store at $13.50. We will guarantee to show you the largest and most complete line of men's and young men's hand-tailored clothing in the state from $15.00 to $45.00.

If there is any doctor or lawyer, or professional man or any kind that has been so busy during the past years that he has not learned that our ready-to-wear clothes are as fine as money can buy, or if he is hard to fit or imagines he is hard to fit, and prefers to have his clothes made to measure—we will show him five times the samples to choose from, and have his suit made and ready for him in seven days.

Speaker Eschbach Talks.

Speaker Eschbach took the floor and ddressing the house said:

"I hope the house will not take any action at this time. I want to assure the gentleman from Monroe that the members of the house together with myself have the highest respect for his honor and integrity and I am sure all exonerate him from any imputation of bad faith. I trust the house will request the governor by resolution not to accept the resignation of the gentleman from Monroe and Brown."

Representative McGonagle then moved that reconsideeration of the vote by which the medical school bill had passed the house be made a special order for Monday at 2 o'clock.

The senate today concurred in the house amendments to the Humphreys bill providing for publicity of the records of the sttae accountant. This repeals the act of 1913 which was attacked on the ground that it protected irregularities in public records and enables defaulters to cover up their wrong-doings by making restitution.

States—in order to balance if possible the adhesion to our foes of a new enemy. The German minister at Mexico City was therefore instructed in the middle of January that in event of a military conflict with the United States he should offer to the Mexican government an alliance and arrange further details. These instructions, by the way, expressly directed the ministers to make no advances to the Mexican government unless he knew for a certainty that America was going to declare war.

"How the American government received information of the instructions sent by a secret way to Mexico is not known. It appears, nowever, that the treachery—and it only must have been treachery—was committed on American territory."

ZIMMERMANN'S STATEMENT.

Limits Answer to What is Said in English Utterances.

Berlin, March 3.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—The following was given out today by the Overseas News agency, (the official German news bureau.)

"Foreign Secretary Zimmermann was asked by a staff member of the Overseas News agency about the English report that "a German plot had been revealed to get Mexico to declare war against the United States and to secure Japan's aid against the United States."

Secretary Zimmermann answered: 'You understand that it is impossible for me to discuss the facts of this 'revealed plot,' just at this moment and under these circumstances. I therefore may be allowed to limit my answer to what is said in the English reports which certainly are not inspired by sympathy with Germany. The English report expressly states that Germany expected and wished to remain on terms of friendship with the United States, but that we had prepared measures of defense in case the United States declared war against Germany. I fail to see how such a 'plot' is inspired by unfriendliness on our part. It would mean nothing but that we would use means universally admitted in war, in case the United States declared war.

"The most important part of the alleged plot is its conditions and form. The whole 'plot' falls flat to the ground in case the United States does not declare war against us. And if we really, as the report alleges, considered the possibility of hostile acts of the United States against us, then we really had reasons to do so.

"An Argentine newspaper, a short while ago, really 'revealed a plot' when it told that the United States last year suggested to other American republics common action against Germany and her allies. This 'plot' apparently was not conditional in the least. The news as published by La Prensa (Buenos Aires) agrees well with the interpretation given, or instance by an American newspaper man, Edward Price, in Berlin and London, who said that the United States was waiting only for the proper moment in order opportunely to assist the entente. The same American stated that Americans from the beginning of the war really participate in it by putting the immense resources of the United States at the entente's disposal, and that Americans had not declared war only because they felt sure that assistance by friendly neutrality would, during that time, be much more efficient for the entente than direct participation in the war. Whether this American newspaper man represented the facts, we are at a loss to judge in satisfactory fashion, since we were more or less completely cut off from communication with the United States. But there were other facts which seemed to confirm this and similar assurances. Everybody knows these facts and I need not repeat them. The entente propaganda have sufficiently heralded all these pro-entente demonstrations in the United States. And if you link these demonstrations with the actual attitude of the United States then it is obvious that it was not frivolous on our part to consider what defensive measures we should take in case we were attacked by the United States."

JAPAN MAKES IT STRONGER.

Greatly Surprised to Hear of German Proposal, Says Minister.

Tokio, Friday, March 2.—The declaration of the Japanese government through Foreign Minister Viscount Motono, that Japan has received no proposition from Mexico or Germany to join in a possible war against the United States was supplemented today in a statement made to the Associated Press on behalf of the government by Kijuro Shibehara, vice foreign minister.

"We were greatly surprised to hear of the German proposal," he said. "We cannot imagine what Germany is thinking about to conceive that she could possibly involve us in war with the United States merely by asking Mexico. This is too ridiculous for words. Needless to say, Japan remains faithful to her allies."

In response to a question regarding Japan's attitude toward the Anti-Japanese measures which were brought forward in Idaho and Oregon, M. Shibehara said he had especially requested newspapers to refrain from inflammatory comment, advising that the matter be left for treatment through diplomatic channels.

STRENGTHENS WILSON'S HAND.

Amsterdam and The Hague Newspapers Comment on Intrigue.

The Hague, March 3.—The news of the German intrigue in Mexico caused a sensation here. It is regarded as a stroke of great good fortune for the cause of the entente and as immensely strengthening the hands of President Wilson. The Amsterdam Handelsblad speaks of von Bernstorff's "crazy intrigue" and the Rotterdam Maasbode says:

"This trick of the black magic of secret diplomacy beats anything hitherto seen. Now that the cards are on the table the German game, instead of being grandiose appears merely grotesque."

The Amsterdam Nieuwe Van den Dag calls the failure of the German maneuvre as a diplomatic defeat of far reaching consequences which will do immense harm to Germany now and especially in her future relations with America. The Hague Nieuwe Courant referring to Germany's "double game" as it hazarded "this wildest move because it felt cornered now that it was confronted by a new enemy."

This paper, in the light of the present revelations incidentally congratulates European neutrals on their wisdom in holding aloof when President Wilson invited them to support his action against Germany in regard to the unrestricted submarine campaign.

THE BRAZILIAN VIEW.

O'Paise says: "In spite of the genuity of the machiavellism of Germany it is beyond doubt that the proposition to make Gen. Carranza a tool of Berlin is fortunately unsuccessful. The duplicity of Carranza has been unmasked and will give a finishing blow to his project for a Latin-American conference."

A Epoca says: "In this intrigue which covers with blood American soil the egotism of Gen. Carranza is an impressive fact. Carranza would not hesitate to set all America on fire. The energetic attitude of the United States in demanding satisfactory explanations proves that Carranza's infamy may cost him dearly."

other party, he may be challenged and when this is done he must take an oath in which he swears that in the last preceding election he voted for a majority of the candidates of the party whose ticket he intends voting in the primary. Thus, one who voted for the majority of democrats last fall and calls for a republican ballot next Tuesday may lay himself liable to a charge of perjury, which is a felony and a penitentiary offense. This perjury may be proved collaterally by statements he may have made to others as to how he voted in the last election. Direct evidence is not necessary and probably would also be impossible, as onbody but the voter himself is likely to have observed how he cast his ballot then.

Big Loesch Meeting.

The meeting at the Builders' Exchange last night in the interest of George H. Loesch for mayor was the best attended that has yet been held both in numbers and what one of these there called "pep." C. R. Lane presided and W. C. Geak and A. J. Vesey conducted the details of the organization. Full arrangements were made for the primary day next Tuesday. There will, however, be another meeting Sunday afternoon in the Physicians Defense building at 3 o'clock.

During the conference last night Mr. Loesch appeared and was greeted with applause. He related many incidents in his arduous day's work that showed, he said, a strong break in his direction. "I have been convinced by this day's work that success is ours," he remarked. "The voters have been ready to listen and give me credit for being sincerely and thoroughly with the people of Fort Wayne for the protection and advancement of their city enterprises such as the electric light plant for which I was always a booster, the track elevation matter, the water works, flood prevention and other civic interests. As all my working life has been spent in this city I have made thousands of friends who assure me of their support now and who believe that my experience in the official life of the city qualifies m to serve all the people with credit when elected."

The comments of the many from whom reports were heard supported the remarks of the candidate and many said that the only question now is the size of the majority.

Still in the Race.

D. Burns Douglass has made denial to a report that he has withdrawn from the race for police judge on the republican ticket.

"I'm in until the last and I feel confident that I am going to win," he declared.

Cutshall Headquarters.

Sherman Cutshall, who is seeking the republican mayoralty nomination, announces that his headquarters for primary day will be at the corner room at the Strand theater building. A business men's luncheon in the interest of Mr. Cutshall's candidacy was held there today at noon. Hon. O. N. Heaton presided. A meeting of Cutshall boosters will be held in the Lyric hall, 1010 Calhoun street, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

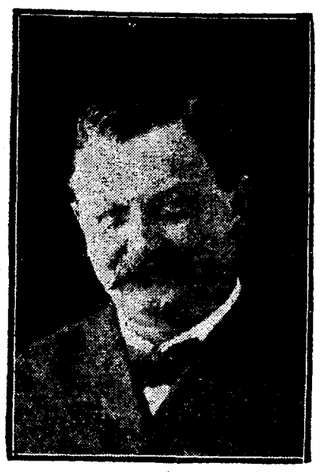
MAJOR JOHN E. MILLER



To the Voters of Fort Wayne:—

In seeking the nomination for City Clerk on the Republican ticket, I must rely on my friends for support, with the knowledge that I am not being pushed by any clique, ring or machine, and, if nominated and elected, I will be free to serve all the people to the best of my ability, regardless of party.

It is my lot to be a laboring man, one of those compelled to earn a living for himself and family, and could not find time to see each one of the voters personally, so I will ask my friends to take up the battle for me, being assured of my heartiest thanks for any favor shown me.

I was born in this City, have lived here nearly all my life, have watched its growth from a few thousand population to our present proud position as the second City in the State, and pride myself on having had a small part in its development and success.

When the call of the President came, last June, for the mobilization of the National Guard for service on the Mexican border, I had the honor of being Captain of Company E, which Company had the distinction of taking into camp the largest number of men of any Infantry company in Indiana, and although I was compelled, through no fault of my own, to relinquish command I have the satisfaction of knowing that Company E proved to be one of the best organizations among all the troops assembled on the border.

I have always done what I could to make a success of anything for the benefit of the City, some times making sacrifices that I could illy afford, but I did not let that stand in the way.

I am a taxpayer and as such, am interested in anything that will tend to make Fort Wayne, my home, a bigger and better City.

I am fitted, by education and experience, to administer the affairs of the office I seek, so as to meet the approbation of all, and, if elected, I want everyone to feel free to come to me at any time, for anything I can do for them.

With this explanation I leave my campaign in the hands of my friends, hoping that they may give me their heartiest support for which I wish to thank them in advance.

Very Respectfully,
MAJOR JOHN E. MILLER.

BRANCH HEALTH SCHOOL

To Be Established at Winona Lake This Summer.

Winona Lake, Ind., March 3.—Winona Lake has the distinction of getting the first branch department of the Battle Creek Sanatorium to be established in the United States outside of the city of Battle Creek, Mich. Through the efforts of Dr. Sol C. Dickey, president of the Winona Assembly, a contract has been signed with Dr. J. H. Kellogg, founder and president of the Battle Creek Sanatorium company, whereby a school of health will be established at Winona during the coming summer.

Dr. Kellogg in a letter to Dr. Dickey states that he hopes the proposition can be made a permanent arrangement as the promoters are in sympathy with the moral and religious teachings of the Winona Assembly. Dr. Kellogg recently made a gift of $400,000 to be used for the promotion of health conferences.

NAMED EXALTED RULER.

Bluffton, Ind., March 3.—At a well attended meeting Thursday evening Bluffton lodge No. 796, B. P. O. E., organized for the ensuing year by the election of the following officers: Exalted ruler, Judge W. H. Eichhorn; esteemed leading knight, W. A. Shead; esteemed loyal knight, John Graham; esteemed lecturing knight, Jerry Myers; treasurer, F. C. Waugh; secretary, John E. Swaim; tyler, William McBride; trustee, H. R. Swisher; delegate to grand lodge, O. W. Baumgardner; alternate, M. K. Williamson. The new officers will be installed the first meeting night in April.

DEATH AT DELPHOS.

Bluffton, Ind., March 3.—John Bixler, of South Johnson street, last evening received word of the death of his Bluffton resident, who died Wednesday night at his home in Delphos, where he moved five years ago from Decatur. The deceased was born in this city, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bixler, and lived here the first fifteen years of his life. He leaves a wife and two children, Will, of Hartford City, and Cora, of Lancaster, O. Brothers and sisters are: Mrs. John D. Meyers, of Decatur; John Bixler, of this city; Harry, of Huntington; Will, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Kate Groh, of Vera Cruz.

RETURNS AFTER TEN YEARS.

Berne, Ind., March 3.—Charles Hostetter, who suddenly left his home in Berne ten years ago and who within the last two weeks reappeared as suddenly and as mysteriously as he departed, was a guest last evening of his uncle, Adolph Witzman, and family. Hostetter's sister, Miss Elizabeth Hostetter, accompanied him. The young man since leaving Berne has traveled in the northwestern part of the United States and Canada. He is now engaged in tank building at Tulsa, Okla. The young man's uncle did a similar stunt, leaving Berne and remaining away twenty-two years, and Chrles tried to duplicate his action.

FIRE AT AUBURN.

Auburn, Ind., March 3.—Fire, evidently starting in the furnace pipe in the cellar and following the pipe to the attic, where it burst out with tremendous force, nearly caused the ruination of the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Leasue on West Seventh street, Friday forenoon. It was about 10 o'clock when their daughter, Mrs. Flossie Richwine, feeling that the house was cold, went to the furnace room to fix the fire. She discovered that the furnace pipe was red-hot and feared that all was not well.

REORGANIZE CLUB.

Monroe, Ind., March 3.—Monroe business men met last evening for a reorganization of their commercial club. The business men of the town organized some time ago, but interest finally lagged, but at this time there is an almost unanimous demand for a revival of interest in the matter. There is no town of its size in Indiana that is more prosperous than Monroe. It is located in the best agricultural district in Indiana and its business men are a wide-awake aggregation.

FUNERAL OF J. W. EARLE.

Albion, Ind., March 3.—The body of John W. Earle, who died at Indianapolis of acute indigestion, was brought to the home of his mother, Mrs. William Earle, in this city, where the obsequies were conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. J. S. Newcombe of Sheridan, formerly pastor at Albion, officiating. The decedent was a member of the Masonic, K. of P. and Odd Fellow lodges. These lodges were represented in a body at the obsequies.

DRILLING NEAR PETROLEUM.

Portland, Ind., March 3.—Activities in the oil field near Pennville are increasing daily. Already five strings of tools are busy there and the sixth is now being arranged for. Arch P. Hardison yesterday shot a well on the Thomas farm that starts with an excellent production. Well No. 4 on the Davis farm, under lease by Murray Jones, was shot this week. Each of these four wells are producing well.

TERM BROUGHT TO CLOSE.

Columbia City, Ind., March 3.—Judge Luke H. Wrigley completed the work of the February term of the Whitley circuit court Friday afternoon, and he and his wife left at once for their home in Albion. A considerable amount of business was disposed of and a number of cases were wiped off the calendar. Court will be convened again in April, on Monday, April 2.

JOSEPH GUY DEAD.

Auburn, Ind., March 3.—Joseph Guy, of South Jackson street, who has been an invalid for four years and during that time, has had several paralytic strokes, passed away at 12:30 o'clock Friday noon, death coming as a relief. He has been a resident of this city for several years and was about 60 years of age. He was a son-in-law of S. U. Tarney, of South Main street.

JAMES HENRY WIGGS DEAD.

Portland, Ind., March 3.—James Henry Wiggs died Friday morning at 2:30 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Metz, two miles southeast of the city, following an illness due to the infirmities of age. Mr. Wiggs had been in failing health during the past winter and since last Saturday his condition had been very low.

BROKEN BONES RESET.

Unless Pay is Up One-Third You Get Less Than in 1912

Official Figures Show Our Dollars Shrink While in Our Pockets — They're Worth Half as Much Now as in 1896.

[By FREDERICK M. KERBY.]

New York, March 3.—The man whose salary or wages have not been DOUBLED during the past twenty years, HAS ACTUALLY HAD A CUT IN PAY!

The housewife who goes to market today can buy LESS THAN HALF AS MUCH FOOD for a dollar as the same dollar would buy twenty years ago!

The purchasing power of money has been cut in half. Food prices have doubled. Our dollars are shrinking in our pockets while we hold them.

Furthermore, unless your wages are ONE-THIRD MORE now than they were four years ago, you are actually GETTING less!

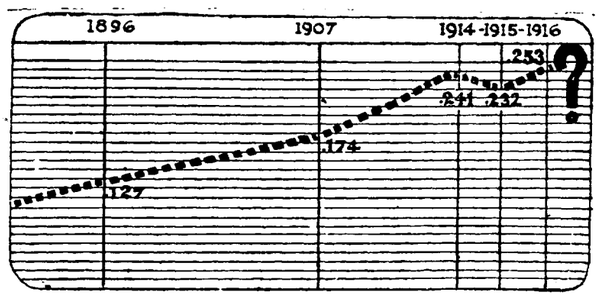
Twenty years ago, in 1896, the average workingman's dollar would buy twice as much round steak as it will today. Figures just issued by the United States bureau of labor statistics show that in 1896, the average price per pound of round steak was $.124. In other words it was just about TWO POUNDS FOR A QUARTER. Today, the price of round steak, as gathered from the principal industrial cities of the United States, and from hundreds of retail dealers, averages $.237. IN OTHER WORDS, IT IS NOW ABOUT A QUARTER FOR ONE POUND.

The same is true of all other meats. Pork chops in 1896 were about ten and a half cents a pound. TODAY THEY AVERAGE TWENTY-ONE AND A HALF. Smoked bacon twenty years ago was twelve and a half cents a pound on the average. Smoked ham in 1896 sold for 15 cents a pound on the average; today it is a little over 30 cents. Poultry was selling near 13 cents a pound on the average in 1896; today at a little over 24 cents.

THE RISE IN THE COST OF LIVING:



This table indicates the average cost in 1896, 1907, 1914, 1915 and December, 1916, of a pound of meat in industrial cities from which the United States government has collected statistics. The meats on which the figures are based are sirloin steak, round steak, rib roast, pork chops, smoked ham and chicken. The average costs were 12.7 cents a pound in 1896, 17.4 cents in 1907, 24.1 cents in 1914, 23.2 cents in 1915, and 25.3 cents last December.

The prices today are at least ONE-FOURTH GREATER than they were EVEN TEN YEARS AGO. Sirloin steak in 1907, according to the United States figures, was at $.181 per pound on the average; today it is $.268. Round steak was 15 cents a pound; now it is over 23 cents; rib roast then was 15; now it is 21 cents. And so on down the list. And what is true of meats is true of all other principal items of food.

Meat constitutes 31.35 per cent. of the whole food outlay—practically one-third. It is the big item in food costs. And FOOD constitutes 42.54 per cent. of the total budget of the average workingman's family. These figures are based on the government inquiry in 2,567 typical workingmen's homes.

The increase in ONE YEAR is startling. In New York city, the official figures show that, with the single exception of pork chops, every article of the 27 listed in the government's tabulation, showed an increase in price for December, 1916, over December, 1915. Potatoes showed AN INCREASE OF EIGHTY-TWO PER CENT. IN THE SINGLE YEAR.

Since the end of December, there has been a STILL SHARPER RISE in food prices in this city and throughout the country.

A comparison of prices on December 15, 1912, four years ago, and December 15, 1916, shows an advance in the price of all food combined of TWENTY-NINE PER CENT. That means that food TODAY on the average COSTS MORE THAN ONE-THIRD MORE THAN IT DID FOUR YEARS AGO!

The greatest increase, 120 per cent. is in the price of potatoes. Flour increased 66 per cent.; lard, 37 per cent.; while butter shows the smallest increase, 9 per cent.

RID STOMACH OF GASES, SOURNESS, AND INDIGESTION

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its quick relief in indigestion, dyspepsia and gastritis when caused by acidity has made it famous the world over.

Keep this wonderful stomach sweetener in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach it helps to neutralize the excessive acidity, then all the stomach distress caused by it disappears. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming such stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

Acts 17:24-29.

24 God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands;

25 Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things;

26 And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation;

27 That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us:

28 For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring.

29 Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man's device.

SATURDAY, MARCH 3, 1917.

Power of the Food Boycott.

Rebellion against the outrageously high price of potatoes which has taken the form of simple refusal on the part of many people over the country to purchase the once lowly but now exalted tuber is beginning to show some real results. In spite of the fact that there has been manifestly no increase in the visible supply of the product, prices in all parts of the country have begun to tumble. Something like panic has come to prevail, for example, among Chicago dealers who find themselves with considerable stocks of potatoes on hand and absolutely no demand for them because people are not buying potatoes. An authority in that city has voiced the opinion that a few more days of this sort of thing will bring the price down to a level where, to use his expression, "it ought to be."

The egg boycott, carefully nurtured in many centers a few weeks ago, was not altogether successful, largely because those who were crying loudly against exhorbitant prices were still buying them. The case of the potato presented some rather different conditions. More certainly and more generally a staple of diet than even the egg, it is one of the foodstuffs whose approach to the $4 per bushel figure struck straight home. The average man and the average family could not imagine a dietary system with potatoes out of it. They were the universal substantial on the tables of the well-to-do and the poor alike. Substitutes for potatoes were inconceivable, largely because conditions had never before made the turning to a substitute necessary.

Yet something has happened. The fall in price is plain evidence that the potato has to a large degree been eliminated from the menus. Something has been substituted, and that, too, probably without serious harm. It may have been rice or it may have been something else. There was no effort at organized boycott such as existed in the war on egg prices, but it was a boycott nevertheless, and the more effective because it was based on absolute necessity rather than on mere clamor over something unique in dealing with the cost-of-living problem. Potatoes are still very high, and they will doubtless remain so until new crops swell the supply. But the one thing demonstrated during the past week or two is that the public has it in its power to prevent speculative extortion in foodstuffs if it will enforce the remedy by denying itself. We are at the mercy of the iniquitous food speculators only so long as we tolerate that sort of thing by assuming that no sort of food will answer save that which is commanding the top prices.

Governor Goodrich is said to be highly displeased over a special appropriation carrying extra expense for the completion of the senate journal, yet by this time he must be accustomed to nettling disappointment both over what the legislature does and what it refuses to do. When he reflects on the ruthless character of the warfare that has been made on a number of measures for which he stood an energetic sponsor, and the support that has been given to others to which he was opposed, he can see right now that there will be small occasion for three rousing gubernatorial cheers over the fashion in which the Goodrich legislative program has been carried out. As accomplishment it is no great shakes, but as a ruin it has no inconsiderable claim on public interest.

Senator-elect Harry S. New has gone to Washington, selected his seat in the senate chamber, exercised his floor privilege as a member-elect and otherwise manifestd indications that h is going to like his new job if he can manage to elude the army of original New men in Indiana who are confidently expecting that he will somehow manage to express his appreciation by something more substantial than a vote of thanks.

Capt. Scheffer's Fort Wayne Battery D, now at Fort Benjamin Harrison awaiting muster out following its return from the Mexican border, won high praise from regular army officers for its quick development as a fighting machine. And, knowing the stuff from which those boys are made, that is precisely what Fort Wayne was confident would happen.

Washington has been assured from two apparently dependable sources that Villa is no longer to be regarded as a serious factor in the Mexican situation because of his physical condition. Still, it will not be an assured fact until it is demonstrated that the bandit chieftain is entirely and completely dead. That man has an unpleasant way of coming back after his defeats.

Governor Whitman, of New York, has never made pretentions as a pugilist, but his orders refusing to permit Les Darcy, the Australian bruiser, to fight in that state because he is a coward and a slacker for running away from military duty comes pretty nearly being entitled to classification as a knockout.

And maybe some of the congressional opposition to granting Wilson authority to protect American rights by the use of armed neutrality and "other instrumentalities" is due to serious doubt in the minds of the statesmen as to the precise meaning of so long a word as "instrumentalities."

Letters from The Sentinel Readers

A WIDOW'S PROTEST.

To the Editor of The Sentinel:—A week or so ago I read in the paper that the county supervisors had issued warnings to drivers about hauling heavy loads on gravel roads while the ground is soft. I wonder what said supervisors would do in my place? On February 23, a two-dollar load of coal was delivered to my next door neighbor. The driver left the street at the corner of my lot, drove on dirt sidewalk to next corner, turned wagon back in street, horse's feet on walk and corner of my lot while he unloaded the coal. A good share of my lot has been pulled down into the street and the sidewalk cut to pieces. In a few weeks flood will come and the ground is in fine shape to be carried across the street. As I am sixty-nine years old, I do not feel much like shoveling my ground back where it belongs. Am straining every nerve and penny to make my home like a home should look, and it seems hard that I must spend ten dollars to repair damage done to unload a two-dollar load of coal. My aim in life is to get all I can, but to make the world look better. Sent word to the dealer; told him to come and see. If he did, he would say like one of old, "The half has not been told." Or he might say, "Oh, it is only another bit of trouble and hard work added to the widow."

PROSPECT AVENUE.

The Remedy for Freight Congestion

(Toledo Blade.)

A railroad man, speaking with the tone of authority, declares that the freight congestion is not primarily due to a shortage of freight cars. There are a number of other causes of far more importance, among them the lack of locomotives, ship scarcity at Atlantic ports, the famine in labor and the want of adequate terminals. Of all these things, he considers that poor terminals have done more than anything else to tie the transportation system of the country in a knot. But he recognizes that this problem is exceedingly hard to solve.

"It is the most expensive improvement," he says, "because of the high level of real estate values. It is also the most difficult because of the necessity of obtaining so many different sorts of authority. The trend of present plans is to buy large tracts outside of the cities and to build joint terminals there. Chicago has led other American cities in this respect. Future plans must take into account the public demand for electrification, which multiplies initial cost."

Because of these difficulties, this necessary solution of the freight congestion is the one the railroads are the least ready to undertake. It involves not merely the questions recited, but also the raising of capital, one of the hardest tasks of the carriers at this time. Yet solution there must be. It may be that the cities will have to go through with it themselves if it is to be done.

The building of several great industrial centers in recent years between the eastern shore and the Mississippi river has created a somewhat restricted freight producing territory. These centers flourish or wane as transportation facilities are plentiful or restrictd. They are the cities which must have adequate terminals, or their factories close, their mills are silenced and their working population desert them. If help cannot be obtained from the railroads, the cities must help themselves. The construction of terminals with public money would be a radical measure. But it may be the only salvation. There is too much money invested in the industrial centers, too many vital interests involved, to be let to perish for want of public enterprise.

We venture to predict that some city, more bold than the rest, will go into this branch of municipal ownership unless the railroads can soon find the means to build proper terminals upon their own account. If the present attitude of the railroads is not deceptive, the proposition would not be unwelcome in that quarter.

Now How Will the Ladies Vote?

(Kokomo Dispatch.)

It may be safely said that every candidate for election upon the city tickets is trying to make a guess on the probable course of the women voters. He—and it is still he—is also trying to make a guess on the number of those who will "take the trouble to go to the polls" and this ranges in the city of Kokomo all the way from 1,000 to 5,000. Somewhere, of course, between these two figures the truth lies and we venture the assertion that it will be more than half of the larger figure.

When we come to guess on the way women will vote we may have at our command some safe guides, and one of these is that the majority of the women will vote for the men who seem to them to be most deeply interested in the things which go to make a good city and a good home.

We are fortunate at this time to have eliminated the question of "wet" or "dry" so far as the saloon is concerned, but there still remains the question of the enforcement of the law on all matters.

The ladies show a tendency to avoid partisan politics and to meet in the spirit of civic development. In other words, so far as we can learn, the intention is to draw the line on the basis of good administration for the city rather than on party lines.

We don't mind saying that we think this is exactly what the ladies ought to do and that this, their first entrance into politics, is the time to do it, must be admitted.

It is the plain business of all parties to see to it that their pledges are kept and that they put forward men who will see to it that the highest efficiency of the municipality's work is executed.

The meeting today is said to be preliminary to a general interrogatory of the candidates and for the purpose of arranging such an organization as will put into effect the plans and purposes of the women.

This is in all probability the last election in the city wherein the names of all the candidates will be of males—for hereafter we may expect that the ladies will demand representation upon the tickets.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

A. C. Trentman will erect a pretty cottage at Rome City this coming spring.

Mrs. Henry Schepplemann will leave soon for Germany to visit relatives and friends.

Bicycling bids fair to be one of the main fads this year and dealers are preparing to meet the rush.

Twenty-two students completed their course in the medical department of Taylor university. The graduation exercises will be held March 8.

H. C. Paul and wife and Mrs. J. C. Peters left for New York last night. They will also visit the national capital and will return home in a few weeks.

In contemplation of the erection of a $60,000 city hall building for Fort Wayne, Mayor C. A. Zollinger, Councilmen Herman Michael, Peter Eggeman, George W. Ely, Fred Boltz and W. D. Meyer and Architect M. S. Mahurin will go to Evansville to inspect the city hall of that city.

The board of directors of the Abbot Magnetic and Mineral Well company met last night in the office of Louis Fox. An addition to cost $8,000 will be built to the present sanitarium.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pranger were pleasantly surprised at their home in East Jefferson street last evening. They were presented with many handsome gifts. A large number of friends were present.

Asa Coverdale has sold his interest in the Coverdale & Archer grocery store to Perry J. Archer. Mr. Coverdale has purchased interest in the B. W. Skelton's confectionery and cracker manufacturing company.

The Frenchtown base ball club was organized last night with F. J. Delagrange, president, and G. H. James, captain. Thus far three players have been assigned positions. They are Pitchers, C. W. Turner and D. Robbins, and Shortstop J. Stalhr.

BANQUETS, ETC.

The word banquet used to mean a feast. Probably it did when mankind was just learning to talk and couldn't do anything else at a banquet but eat. But as mankind grew older they developed meanness, hence banquet speakers.

With these banquet speakers no one ever should be afraid of swallowing a hot potato or getting food down the windpipe. You don't get a chance. You do pennance by listening to the speaker. You have to applaud his speech because American flags are always on display at banquets.

They soak you $5 and $10 a plate at a banquet. Plate is right, although a $10 plate isn't any more nutritious than a 5 and 10 cent store plate, and besides you can take the 5 and 10 cent store plate home. These diet squanders think they are starting something new but they copped their act from banquets.

The words a banquet speaker says that always strike home and make a hit with the unfortunates are, "Gentlemen, I thank you." Then the banquet is all over and the banqueters awake, smoke awhile, then go home for something to eat.

Banqueters never suffer from indigestion or insomnia.

ANTWERP NEWS.

Constant Backache and Rheumatism

Almost down and out with kidney trouble. Rheumatism so bad he could scarcely get up when he sat down. Back ached all the time.

No wonder Mr. F. A. Wooley, brakeman on the road from Dallas to Jackson, Texas, "was tired of living."

"I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised," he said, "I took some and after a short time I was thoroughly cured and am having no more trouble.

Your kidneys ills will disappear—and with them the backache and rheumatism, by the use of Foley's Kidney Pills. Once your kidneys become strong and active, aches and pains will disappear like magic.

There's nothing to equal the genuine. Will help any case of kidney or bladder trouble not beyond the reach of medicine. Contain no harmful drugs. Try them.

NAME COMMITTEE TO STRENGTHEN SOCIETY

Purpose is to Increase Membership and Better Financial Conditions.

At the January meeting of the Redeemer Y. P. S. the membership and literary committees were united to form a boosters committee. The purpose of this committee is to help to strengthen the society, both as to membership and financial affairs.

At the first meeting of this committee, the following officers were elected: Earl Saffen, chairman, and Charlotte Busse secretary, and the following plans were decided upon: To distribute envelopes for the Indiana district of the Walther league among all members of the society. The chairman was to make up lists of all members who are delinquent in their dues, and also another list of all the members in the society. These lists are to be distributed among the ten members of the committee, so that they may see to obtaining all back dues and also bring as many members to all meetings as possible.

The system is very simple—each member of the committee having about eight names of the people they are to notify a day or two before each meeting.

At a second meeting of this committee these lists were handed out and the system will go into effect at once. The committee feels certain that this system will prove more successful than any which has ever been tried, and await confidently the results of their first campaign.

WILL UNFURL FLAGS SUNDAY MORNING

Two beautiful new flags purchased by the Sunday school and artistically draped about the pulpit will be unfurled with appropriate exercises at the regular morning service of the Wayne Street Methodist Episcopal church Sunday. RABBI SCHORR TELLS OF ORIGIN OF PURIM FEAST.

RABBI SAUL SCHORR.

The feast of Purim, one of the most joyous in the Hebrew calendar, falls this year on Thursday, March 8. Rabbi Saul Schorr, of the congregation B'Nai Jacob, has prepared the following interesting account of the origin and history of the feast:

Mordecai and Esther.

While the Israelites in Palestine once more enjoyed peace and quiet, their brethren in the vast Persian kingdom were in imminent danger of being extirpated in one day. This murderous plan was the work of a certain Haman, the first minister at the court of the Persian king, Ahasuerus. Being an unrelenting enemy of the Jews, Haman found a pretext for his intended massacre in the fact that the Jew Mordecai, who bowed in reverence to God alone, would not bow to him as all others did. The haughty and wicked Haman thought it too little satisfaction to avenge the offense of Mordecai on him alone; nay, the entire nation should satisfy his revenge, and by nothing less than their lives. To carry out his cruel purpose, Haman required the permission of the king. He therefore, approached his sovereign and said: "There is a people scattered in the provinces of thy dominion, whose laws are different from those of all others, and who themselves do not obey the laws of the king, and it is no profit to the king to tolerate them. If it should please the king to have them destroyed, then I would weigh 10,000 talents of silver into the treasury of the king." Ahasuerus thereupon replied: "Thou mayest keep thy silver and deal with the people as thou desirest." Haman, overjoyed at his success, fixed by lot the thirteenth day of Adar as the day of the utter destruction of all the Israelites in the kingdom, and sent out his orders accordingly.

The news of the projected slaughter filled the hearts of the doomed victims with terrors and gloomy forebodings. They wept, fasted and prayed to their God, whose help is nearest when danger is greatest. And their hope was not in vain. God, the omniscient, to whom past, present and future are alike known, became their protector. His wise providence provided against the calamity, before it had even threatened, in the following marvelous, though natural, manner. The queen Vashti, refusing to obey the king's order to appear in the midst of his dissipating guests on the seventh day of a protracted feast, so enraged the king that, in accordance with Haman's counsel, he dethroned her. In his selection of a suitable person as queen in place of Vashti, the choice of the king among many fell upon an orphaned Jewish damsel named Esther, the cousin of Mordecai, her guardian. Esther was neither asked, nor did she mention her nationality, and though now queen, she still remained the affectionate, obedient adopted daughter of Mordecai, who frequently visited her. On one of these visits, he overheard the plot of two court servants to poison the king. Mordecai reported the matter to Esther, and through her the king was informed thereof. The servants were condemned to death, and the faithful conduct of Mordecai found a place in the chronicles of the king.

Naturally, then, when his nation was in deepest distress, caused by Haman's death-warrant, Mordecai hastened, in deep mourning, to Queen Esther's court to advise her and to bid her use her influence with the king in behalf of her innocent people. On hearing the terrible report, Esther sent word back that no one was permitted to approach the king unless sent for. Then Mordecai returned answer, saying: "Think not that thou wouldst be saved, while thy people would perish. God can save us by some other means; but thou mightest well consider whether but for this very purpose thou hast attained to the royal dignity." In reply to this message, Esther ordered a fast of three days and promised to approach the king uncalled for, and thus venture her life for the sake of her people; for, said she, "if I am to die, I will die."

Esther Petitions the King.

The words of Esther were readily transmitted to all the Israelites at Shushan, and the fast was duly solemnized. On the third day of the fast, Esther donned her royal robe and tremblingly approached the throne of the king, and she found grace in his eyes. Stretching forth his golden scepter (a sign of grace), the king said to her: "What aileth thee, Queen Esther, and what is thy request? Speak, and if it be equal to half my kingdom, it shall be granted." Esther modestly replied: "May it please the king to come today with Haman to a feast which I have prepared for thee." Ahasuerus assented and at once sent the order to Haman.

Enjoying the festive board at the queen's palace, Ahasuerus reassured Esther of his readiness to grant any petition or request which she might ask for. Esther thereupon tendered another invitation to the king and Haman for the next day, which was linewise accepted with grace. * * *

"If thou hast been once caused to fall by one of the seed of the Jews, thou wilt be unable to rise again." They were still bewailing the sudden change for the worse in their wicked designs, when the king's messengers came in to hasten Haman to the feast of the queen. During that feast, as twice before, the king beckoned the queen to state her request. And Esther said: "If I have found favor in thy sight, O king, may it please my lord to spare my life and the lives of my people, for we are doomed to utter destruction. I should have been silent, if the cruel tyrant, who cares not in the least for the king's losses, had sold us as servants or slaves." Then the king, enraged, asked: "Who is he, and where is he, whose mind could dare to conceive such iniquity?" And Esther replied. "This wicked Haman is the deadly enemy of the Jews." The king rose in anger and went to the palace garden to pacify his mind, and Haman, pale and with trembling, fell upon his knees before Esther, praying for his life. The king soon returned, and finding Haman kneeling before the queen, said: "How darest thou, wicked man, thus approach the queen!" Then one of the servants said: "There stands a gallows 50 cubits high, erected by Haman to hang Mordecai upon it." And the king said: "Hang Haman thereon." The king's word was at once executed, and Haman suffered death on the same gallows which he had erected for Mordecai.

"Like brooks of water is a king's heart in the hand of the eternal? Withersoever it pleaseth him, he turns it."

Mordecai's Advancement.

Esther informed the king of her relationship to Mordecai, whereupon Ahasuerus took off his signet ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it to Mordecai, thus promoting him to the highest office of the court. Upon Esthers appeal to the king to graciously recall Haman's death warrant issued against the Jews, Ahasuerus stated that, according to the state laws, a decree, written in the name of the king and bearing his seal could not be revoked. "But," he continued, "thou and Mordecai may, in my name, send forth another decree, satisfactory to yourselves, and attach my seal thereto."

Thereupon Mordecai called the king's scribes, who, by his command, issued a new decree, in which the Jews were ordered to rise in a body in self-defense, and utterly destroy all who would rise against them on the appointed 13th day of Adar.

This decree, hurriedly sent by messengers on swift horses, had a double effect; it brought relief and joy to the Jews, and dismay to their enemies. Many of them became worshippers of the God of Israel, and those others who could not suppress their hatred and their bloodthirsty spirit were deservedly slain by the Jews to the last man. Thus, through God's special providence, manifested by natural means, a long threatened calamity was brought to naught, the innocently accused and condemned became the victors and masters and the days of gloom, fear and sorrow were changed into days of light, gladness and joy.

In memory of that great deliverance, the Israelites yearly celebrate on the 14th day of Adar the festival of Purim, as a day of thanksgiving and rejoicing.

"He is the eternal our God, over all the earth are his decrees, he remembereth his covenant forever."

All members who were not present at the last meeting will please take their pound offering on Tuesday. Mrs. A. E. Fauve will be present to give a talk concerning the Red Cross membership in this city. All members and friends will be welcome.

One of the pretty though small parties of the week was Mrs. George Loesch's quilting party at her home in Washington boulevard west yesterday afternoon. The ladies enjoyed their sewing as well as the very delectable refreshment that Mrs. Loesch served at a later time. The decorations were red roses. Mrs. Loesch's guests numbered eight.

The Wideawake class of the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ Sunday school, was entertained last evening at the home of Misses Lillian and Evelyn Cope, of Fox avenue. After the business a social time playing games was enjoyed and they were followed by the serving of refreshments. The evening was a pleasant one. Mrs. H. E. Bruner, teacher of the class enjoyed this social time, too.

Mrs. C. J. Kowalski entertained the member of a crochet club to which she belongs on Friday afternoon at her home in Lincoln avenue. The time was passed pleasantly in crocheting and visiting and later, when Mrs. Kowalski invited her guests to the dining room, they found dainty refreshments served in a like manner. Members of the club, aside from the hostess, are Mesdames A. W. Young, George Bormuth, C. F. McLeish, Elmer Feistkorn, Carl Stogdill, Arthur Meyers and Ed Meyers.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Klebe, of 1110 Elmwood avenue, were assisted by a number of their friends in a celebration of the natal anniversary of Mr. Klebe, on Thursday evening. A game of progressive bunco was the amusement and prizes were earned by Miss Estella Wilkins, Miss Helen Klebe and Messrs. William Doelling and Charles McCormick. A birthday cake with silver candlesticks holding pink candles on both sides of it formed the decoration of the supper table. The guests were Misses Gwendolyn Smith, Esther Bill, Mr. and Mrs. William Doelling, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCormick, Mrs. Henry Klebe and Harry Sloan, Fred Bill and Walter Klebe.

TWO SOLOISTS TO SING "STABTA MATER," THURSDAY.

MR. REGINALD MORRIS, Tenor.

MR. HARRY TURVEY, Baritone.

The Morning Musical will present a gift concert to the music lovers of this city, next Thursday evening, at the First Presbyterian church. No admission whatever will be charged and anyone in the city who so desires is welcome to attend the concert, membership in the society having nothing whatever to do with the matter of going. The big thing at this gift concert will be the singing of Rossini's "Stabat Mater," but preceding that there will be a miscellaneous program during which each of the four soloists will sing a group of songs. The soloists are to be Mrs. Arthur Brandon, contralto, Mr. Harry Turvey, baritone, and Mr. Reginald Morris, tenor, all of Toledo, and Mrs. Clara Zollars Bond, soprano, of this city. The accompaniment for the "Stabat Mater" will be played by Mr. Claire Edwards, organist of the Jefferson theater, at the organ, and Mrs. D. F. Urbahns, at the piano. Accompanying for the solo numbers of the first part of the program will be played by Miss Emel Verweire.

WITH THE STUDY CLUBS.

The Fortnightly club will meet on Monday evening in the library of the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. C. T. Lane will read a paper on "Poetry in the Age of Reform." Rev. Mr. Folsom, Miss Helen R. Harper, C. L. Olds and Mrs. Ben Perley Weaver will lead the discussion.

The annual meeting of the Travel club will be held on Monday with Mrs. Coverdale.

Mary Penrose Wayne chapter of the D. A. R. will meet next Monday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. library. Dr. Carrie Banning will read a paper on "Pan-Americanism."

The Nineteenth Century club will meet on Tuesday with Miss Elizabeth Chapin. The club is still making a study of South America.

The Woman's Reading club has a business meeting scheduled to meet with Mrs. Walter Olds on Tuesday.

Mrs. Ankenbruck is named as hostess for a meeting of the Round Table on Monday evening. Jacksonian democracy is to be discussed after a paper on the subject by Miss Dennis.

A philanthropic meeting of the College club is on the schedule for next Friday afternoon with Mrs. Ben Levy, 2318 Fairfield avenue, as the hostess.

The General Culture club will meet on Thursday with Mrs. C. H. Brown. "The Southland of North America" is the subject of which Mrs. Katherine Anstett will read.

An interesting meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Shakespeare club was held this week at the home of Mrs. Walter Leonard. Mrs. Arthur Remmel told the story of "Lohengrin" as it appears in the opera and several illustrations of the music were given by victrola records, and by Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Remmel, who sang duets. Refreshments were served. The entire program is a departure from the preceding work of the club, which has just completed the study of "The Tempest." The Wagner operas will occupy the rest of the year's work.

The Twentieth Century club held its annual meeting with Mrs. C. A. Stockbridge last Thursday and elected Mrs. O. M. Houck, president; Mrs. F. W. Miles, vice president; Mrs. D. Parsons Goodrich, secretary, and Mrs. W. K. Wilder, treasurer. A social hour followed the business meeting.

Albert H. Macbeth, candidate for councilman-at-large, subject to decision of democratic primaries, March 6th, 1917.

Voters of the 10th Ward:

I have represented you in the city council the last three years. It has always been my aim to voice and vote my opinion to the best interest of all the people, never forgetting the working man. I have never allowed myself to be used as a tool of any individual or set of men, but have always tried to do that which I thought did the most good to the most of the people.

If you agree with me on the above statements then I believe I am justified in asking for your support on next Tuesday. Judge from my past record.

H. J. KORTE.

Read This and Think It Over

Calvin H. Brown, aspirant for the democratic nomination for mayor at the coming primary, has attempted something in the nature of an innovation in the manner in which he has conducted his campaign.

He has made a thorough canvass of the city after covering the city with a personal letter in which he set out very precisely what his views are with regards to the conduct of municipal affairs and institutions; and later published this letter in the city papers. In this letter Mr. Brown does not promise impossibilities, he pledges his entire time and an honest effort to solve several of our weighty problems; further than this we know what Cal Brown means when he says "entire time." The words economy, progress, efficiency and good business alone form a strong argument for his nomination; this is what we want and must have.

Mr. Brown has perfected an excellent organization of representative citizens who have volunteered their services because of an actual interest in his candidacy, not machine hired emissaries. Further than this he will not hire a flying squadron of automobiles to haul voters to the polls. There are several reasons; first: It is contrary to the intent, if not contrary to the actual wording of the law; second: The voter should be left to choose his candidates according to their ability and the principle which they advocate and should then protect his own selection by voting for him; third: It is an expense which cannot be justified by a man of Mr. Brown's circumstances.

Now, Mr. Voter, bear these things in mind, when you vote for Mr. Brown you vote to make us Indiana's first city in public spirit, public enterprise, municipal ownership and public morals if it can be accomplished by absolute devotion to duty and study of conditions, together with an environment of efficient assistants.

Go to the polls and vote for Mr. Brown because you consider him the logical man.—Advertisement.

Happenings of Interest in Schools of the City

MINER SCHOOL.

(Esther Stock, Charles Miles, Paul Smith, Virginia Johnson and Virginia Gaskins, reporters.)

General Notes.

The meeting of the parent-teacher club has been postponed on account of the illness of Miss Byron.

One of our teachers has always spent considerable time on talks about cleanliness and care of the body and clothes, but she never knew how much of it was carried into the homes of her pupils until she received the following note:

"Dear Miss: It seems no more than right that I should express my gratitude to you for changing 'mein Fritz's' view toward cleanliness. He nearly took my breath this morning by asking me to inspect his ears and also asking for a clean waist. He also informed me, in confidence, that he had used yellow crayons on his finger nails the day before so that they would appear nice and clean.

"You certainly must be strong along these lines, for if I remember rightly it was under your tutelage that Ruth came home and gave Robert a vigorous scrubbing because the Puritans were always clean, and Robert came home and used the hand brush to get rid of the 'Germans,' (germs) under his finger nails.

"I'll confess it rather shocked me when Fritz came home and informed me that his cranium had been searched for 'pediculus capitis' but I suppose you had to treat them all alike to avoid complications.

"Now if you'll only impress on my youngest offspring that he looks lots better with his knees covered and that trousers look very nice minus holes and patches, we'll have a second 'Beau Brummel' in the family.

"Gratefully yours,
"Fritz's Long Suffering Ma.

"P. S.—Fritz doesn't know the contents of this or I think he'd shy at delivering it."

The teachers have not yet decided upon pictures to be bought with the money realized from our school sale.

7A Grade.

A play, "The Making of the Flag," was presented by the members of this class on Washington's birthday. The pupils taking part were dressed in the costumes of the revolutionary period. Those who took part and the characters they represented are:

George Washington ..... Charles Miles
Betsy Ross ..... Ruth Feustal
Robert Morris ..... Wavel Seslar
Col. Ross ..... Way Woodward
Dolly ..... Lela Scott
Mary ..... Ruth Shanaberger
Jane ..... Fern Smith

Soldiers.

Captain ..... Richard McCurdy

After the talk given by Judge Hench o our school on Washington's birthday, we were given slips of paper and asked in a grammar lesson to write into sentences the things that he told us that impressed us most. Following are some of the sentences received:

Washington was the first president of the United States.

Washington generally accomplished what he undertook.

If it had not been for Washington we would have no flag nor a free country.

Washington was a man of great intelligence and was very rich.

There was no such a leader in any war as good as Washington.

Washington was the father of our nation because he started the laws and the government.

Washington was a brave general and won many victories; he was also defeated several times.

The Washington monument was named after Washington. It is 550 feet high, the highest monument ever built to honor any man.

George Washington was a brave, honest and truthful man.

Washington was the first president of the United States and the best one.

Washington was president of the United States for two terms and was asked to be the third time but refused.

Washington is called the father of his country.

Compositions for the week of Washington's birthday were made from a talk on "Mount Vernon." The following composition, written by Esther Stock, of the 7A grade, aged twelve years, was one of the best:

"Mount Vernon was the home of George Washington. It is about sixteen miles from Washington, D. C., in Virginia. You can reach it either by railroad or by boat. The Ladies' Mount Vernon society bought it for about $200,000 from Washington's heirs. Every state in the union keeps up a part of the mansion. In the summer people can go to visit it from eleven o'clock in the morning until five o'clock in the afternoon and in the winter from eleven o'clock in the morning until four o'clock in the afternoon. The fare for going and returning either by boat or by rail is twenty-five cents each way and twenty-five cents to get on the grounds. The garden is beautiful. There is a hedge that George planted himself. The home is set up on a high bluff about one hundred and fifty feet above the Potomac. There are many rooms and they are all furnished the same or like that of Washington's time. The important rooms are the vestibule, hall, living room, parlor, library, banquet hall, dining room, kitchen, Washington's bedroom, and several other bedrooms. Every article in Washington's room was used by Washington. There is a trunk in George's room that he carried in the stage coaches; this has "G. W." on it and the year "1775." There are many other things that George and Martha used. The first tomb of Washington was very simple but they changed him. In his will he asked to have a tomb made of bricks. They followed his directions. On the right there is a marble tomb in which Washington is laid; on the left Martha is laid; at the end at the back, the remains of about thirty relatives are laid. Above the iron door of this tomb is written, "Within this enclosure rests the remains of General George Washington."

After a study of the Discovery of America compositions were written and submitted. Walter Tucker of the 7A grade, submitted one of the best, entitled, "Columbus."

On February 12 the Rev. H. B. Hostetter, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, gave a very interesting talk on the Life of Lincoln. Miss Christie's 7B pupils wrote statements about the most interesting points that were brought out.

The 7B girls took their first sewing lesson the first Friday of the new term. Up to the present time we have made pincushions, tea towels, and dish cloths. Our next lesson will be darning stockings.

The 7A girls are making their cooking aprons to be used in cooking lessons which they will take next term. Once a month they are taught to darn stockings. The boys are making fern stands.

The children of the Miner school brought papers and magazines to school to get money to buy sewing machines for the sewing class. Some of the papers were too dirty to be sold, so we did not make as much as we expected. We sold them to the Packard Piano company. They used them in packing the pianos. So we can sell only clean ones for a high price. The others do not bring a good price. We also sold mixed paper and waste paper. It all amounted to $10.18. We shall have another paper day soon and then we can soon own another machine. The school board gave us one.

"Dear Editor—The following is a play on names:"

We'd have you know
There's something doing here below.
We have a school of forty-three;
We're known in print as 7B.
But 7B won't represent,
Nor tell you fully what is meant.
Come in, if you can bear the moil,
And meet us on our native soil.

And farther in you hear some "Moore."
Not far away there is a "Sackman."
And "Roth" we are, we have no packman.
"St. Paul's" we have, there's one, two, three.
Put S behind, omit the T.
Nor has our "Hull-a" cause for fear;
A "Carpenter" and "Smith" are near.
We have "Green Glens," though "Brown" today,
But "Holley" is not far away.
A "Double" "Ward" to guide our way,
Of "Johsons" and "Somers" day.

Now this is only but a few
Of things that we could show to you.
We have some work, and also play.
Drop in and see us any day.

Mrs. Frank Kroeff, of Forest Park boulevard, is planning to go to Gulfport, Miss., within a few days and will be accompanied by her little daughter, Dorothy.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.—Advertisement.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

Look back at your chidhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

A WORKING MAN'S FRIEND

FRANK A. SCHRAMM

In seeking the office of councilman on the democratic ticket of the Eighth ward, I wish to state that I was born in Fort Wayne, September 7, 1880. Have been a property holder in the Eighth ward fourteen years, a pattern-maker by trade for eighteen years, a union man fourteen years, serving as president seven terms, holding that office to date; president of the Maumee Fishing club for the last seven years, vice president of the Olive club, a charter member of the Moose lodge, No. 200. I represented the Pattern-makers' local of Fort Wayne at Quincy, Ill., as a delegate to the National Patternmakers' convention in 1909; can read any plan or blue print. I am a first-class mechanic, working at the S. F. Bowser plant. If nominated and elected I pledge myself to support the following: Extension of city cars to the city limits; a park at the old golf grounds and a collapsible dam in the Maumee river and a stand-patter on municipal ownership. I was defeated in the last primary four years ago by fifty-six votes.

Yours truly,
FRANK A SCHRAMM.

FORT WAYNE ARTILLERY REACHES FT. HARRISON

Fort Wayne's quota of troops known as Battery D, Indiana field artillery, arrived at Fort Benjamin Harrison Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock after a record trip from Llano Grande, Texas. The train carrying the Fort Wayne boys passed through the Union depot at Indianapolis at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Unloading of the necessary equipment was done in veteran like fashion and soon after arriving the men were comfortably housed in the barracks at the fort.

The 155 men and five officers are all in trim condition with not a one under the care of the hospital. The boys were elated over the fact that they were again on Hoosier ground.

Co. E, Fort Wayne's infantry, left the Mexican border Friday noon and are speeding towards the state mobilization ground. It is expected that both companies will be mustered out of federal service in about two weeks time.

Martin Kumfer, living east of Ossian, is quite seriously ill, suffering from kidney trouble.

Mrs. J. W. Crummitt was hostess for the W. H. F. M. S. of the Presbyterian church, Thursday afternoon. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Mrs. F. J. Summers, president; Mrs. L. F. Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Charles Hostetter, secretary; Mrs. F. M. Thurber, treasurer; Mrs. John Deam, secretary of literature. Mrs. Alex White and Mrs. F. J. Summers were chosen delegates to the next Presbyterial meeting, which will be held at the First Presbyterian church of Decatur on March 22 and 23. Nice refreshments of cake, fruit salad and coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Crummitt, Mrs. Charles Deam, Mrs. G. G. Glass and Mrs. Alex White.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Elzey and son Abner, Mrs. A. S. Elzey and Miss Ilow Elzey expect to go to Decatur, Sunday, to attend the dedication of the new Evangelical church. They will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Linn. A. S. Elzey goes to New Haven to assist at evangelistic meetings there.

The junior class of the Ossian high school will go to Uniondale tonight to give their play, "All On Account of Polly." They will give it in Ossian, Friday evening, March 9.

Joe Archbold, who has been visiting with friends in Ossian and with his mother, Mrs. Louisa Archbold, of Echo, for a number of weeks, will leave shortly for his home in Burdett, Kan. His brother, Homer Archbold and family will accompany him and make their future home in Kansas.

Kirk and Harold Hatfield, of Fort Wayne, were visitors with Ossian friends the other day.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Van Buskirk have as their guest this week the former's mother, of Fort Wayne.

Dale Elzey has accepted a position as assistant clerk in the Farmers' State bank. For the present he will work there only in the afternoons.

Miss Avis Rector continues to improve at the Lutheran hospital in Fort Wayne, where she recently submitted to a mastoid operation. She is expected to return home the first of next week.

A. F. Roe is helping to invoice at the Charles I. Weirich general store this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John King will have as their guests for the week end their daughter, Miss Eleanor King, of Columbia City, and her friends, Miss Knisely, of Columbia City; Miss Allerdyce, of Indianapolis, and Miss Clair Hatfield, of Winona Lake.

Accommodations in [illegible] difficult to secure and as a result several members of the corps made arrangements to go to Baltimore.

Quick Way to End Coughs, Colds and Croup

An Excellent, Inexpensive Home-Made Remedy that is Prompt and Sure.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, just try this pleasant tasting home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth). Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Thus prepared, you have a pint of really remarkable cough remedy—one that can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief at all times.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol and is noted for its speed in overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. Its millions of enthusiastic users have made it famous the world over.

There are many worthless imitations of this noted mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MONROEVILLE NEWS.

Monroeville, Ind., March 3.—Mrs. Henry Ehle, of Fort Wayne, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Crabill.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fry, Thursday—a daughter. John Heinfeldt is passing cigars to his numerous friends in honor of his first grandchild.

Mrs. Evan Thomas, of New Haven, visited relatives here Wednesday and Thursday.

Peter Rising and family are making preparations to move to a farm near Antwerp, Ohio.

The Monroeville High school basket ball team will go to Kendallville next Friday to participate in the district tournament which is to be held there The boys have done excellent work this winter and should make a good showing.

Dean Ellison and G. E. Spake went to Plymouth Friday on business.

Rev. D. W. Zartman, pastor of the U. B. church, left Wednesday for Anderson, Ind., where he will submit to an operation. Mrs. Zartman accompanied him and will remain until he has recovered sufficiently to return home or until the last of the month. His several charges will be supplied by other U. B. ministers during his absence.

The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Sallie Brown Tuesday afternoon. The subject for the afternoon study was Co-operation of Temperance and Missions. Papers were read by Mrs. D. A. Woolford, Mrs. Lucy Youse and Mrs. Dick Brown and little Miss Francele Brown sang a charming little song. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Arthur Steirheim, March 13.

The entertainment given by the Woman's Home Missionary society Wednesday evening was well attended. The little plays given by the ladies illustrated certain phases of the work in different localities. Several ladies were dressed to represent girls from different countries, who came to America and in this way the work among the immigrants was shown very clearly. Mrs. Seth Painter represented the Tennessee mountain girl; Mrs. Gurney Painter, Japanese girl; Mrs. Elsie Battenburg, Mexican girl; Mrs. Webb Mercer, Mormon girl; Mrs. H. Peckham, negro girl; Mrs. Seymour Jones, Chinese girl; Mrs. Virge Magner, Dutch girl; Mrs. Addie Jones, Esquima girl; Gladys Jones, Indian girl; Daisy Spaulding, Porto Rican girl, and Mrs. D. A. Woolford was a deaconess. The sum of the mite boxes and collection was about forty-two dollars. Coffee and doughnuts were served at the close of the program.

Did that itching keep you awake last night?

And how can you expect to sleep tonight unless you do something to relieve the trouble? Eczema and other itching skin troubles don't often heal themselves. But it is surprising how quickly

Resinol heals sick skins

Almost daily we hear from a skin-sufferer who says "Resinol Ointment stopped my itching at once and I got the first good night's sleep I had had in weeks. Now my skin is well."

Resinol Ointment is sold by druggists everywhere.

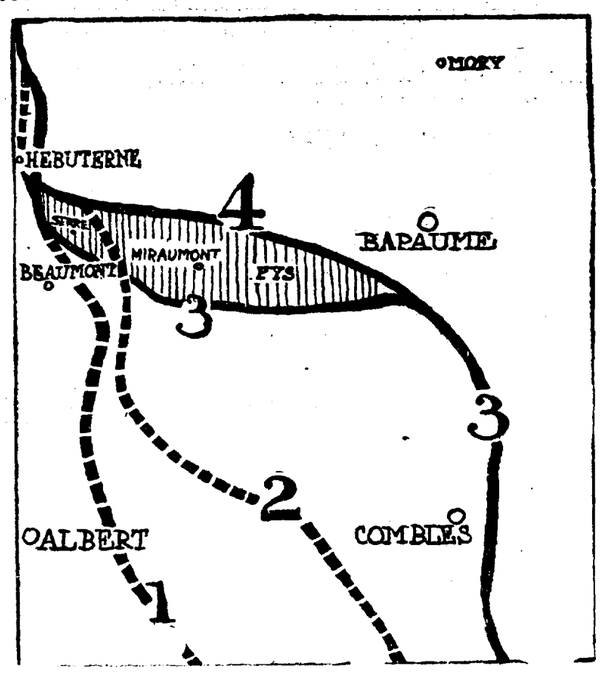
GREATEST SINGLE DAY'S GAIN IN TWO YEARS BRINGS BRITISH NEAR BAPAUME.



The map shows how Bapaume, which Germany has made a great strategic fortress, is threatened by the British advance along the Ancre—the greatest single day's gain since "stationary fighting" began. The line (1) shows the old battle line in this part of France; line (2), the battle line last July, after the first Somme rush; line (3), the line before the Bapaume dash, and line (4) inclosinf the shaded territory, the boundary of the district evacuated by the Germans in one day.

BIRTHDAY PRESENT IS CITY PROMOTION

Fire Captain John Stahlhut is Made Second Assistant Chief.

The city of Fort Wayne gave John Stahlhut, fire captain at No. 3 engine house on Washington boulevard west, a birthday present, Friday, when he was just 51 years old, by making him second assistant fire chief. The new office carries with it a neat increase in salary for Mr. Stahlhut, who will retain his place as head of the No. 3 station.

Relatives of the efficient fireman, who has been in the city service for twenty-six years, marked his birthday by a sumptuous dinner at his home on Webster street. There was the big birthday cake, bedecked with little flags.

Those who had a part in the festivity were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taylor, Mrs. William Kyle, Mr. and Mrs. George Becker, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Griffin and daughter Margaret, John Stahlhut's aged mother, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Achenbach, Mrs. F. E. Havens and daughters Virginia and Esther, and the Misses Fern Kyle, Florence Achenbach and Florence Becker.

The appointment of Stahlhut as second assistant fire chief follows the action of the council in creating that office two weeks ago. Stahlhut will be in charge of one fire fighting brigade when two alarms are sounded at once. He will be second in authority of active fire officers. His appointment was made by the board of public safety Friday evening.

Back From the Great Furniture Expositions

During the last few weeks our buyers from our different stores, have looked at one hundred acres of floor space, covered with the samples of the new spring styles of practically all the Furniture Manufacturers of the United States. Simply these samples—one of a kind—have had a value of three millions of dollars. More than seven hundred manufacturers, scattered all over the United States, displayed their lines. Some great concerns each showed from four hundred to six hundred pieces, no two alike.

From these statements may be gathered something of an idea of the immensity of these great Furniture Expositions that occur in January and July of each year.

Out of this great display, after ten hours' work of each day for two weeks, we have selected our magnificent new stock for this season's trade We aimed to have no particularly pretty things escape our notice. We never bought so heavily, for our trade is greater than ever before.

The "Big Store" Will Certainly Outclass All Competition this Spring to a Greater Extent Than Ever

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

PENNSY BENEFITS ARE OVER THREE MILLION

System Has Over Two Hundred Thousand Employes Now.

On the Pennsylvania railroad system, including lines both east and west of Pittsburg, the benefits paid in 1916 to employes and their families, through the relief department, amounted to $3,383,947. On the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie, $760,346 was paid in benefits to the families of members who had died, and $1,464,453 to members for sick and accident benefits. Superannuation allowances paid to pensioned employes amounted to $165,813. On December 31 there were in the service of the Pennsylvania system 228,234 employes, of which number 193,931 were members of the relief funds.

NEW ROLLING STOCK.

Freight Cars of Latest Pattern Pass Through City.

That the railroads are making an effort to relieve the present freight condition and car shortage is evident from the number of new freight cars that have been passing through the city for the past few days. Especially is this true on the Pennsylvania and Nickel Plate. The new cars are principally gondolas and automobile cars and are of the latest pattern. The automobile cars are so arranged that four machines of the largest type can be loaded at one time. Two of the machines occupy the floor of the car. Two others, knocked down, or dismantled for shipment, are carried suspended over them, under the roof of the car.

MUST ATTEND SCHOOL.

The Carpenters' union has decided that apprentices must attend vocational school two nights each week. The local union is in receipt of a list containing various phases of the work as carried on in Indianapolis and it is probable that this curriculum will be recommended for adoption soon.

WEDS CHICAGO GIRL.

Charles E. Flickinger, a fireman in the employ of the Nickel Plate, and Miss Josephine Meagher, of Chicago were united in the holy bonds of matrimony in Chicago Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Flickinger will return to this city in a few days and are expected to make their future home here. Mr Flickinger has been staying at the home of his mother, Mrs. C. J. Conrad, of Hillsdale avenue.

WILL MEET AT GARY.

The American Railway Engineering association will make an excursion to Gary, Ind., and Buffington, Ill., on March 23, 1917, the day following the annual convention to be held in Chicago on March 20-22. Visits will be made to the Gary Steel works of the Illinois Steel company, the Gary plant of the American Bridge company and the plant of the Universal Portland Cement company at Buffington.

TAKES NEW POSITION.

George Nicodemus, up until a short time ago a tuner in the employ of the Packard company of this city, left Saturday morning for Pueblo, Col. He has accepted a responsible position with the Silver State Musical company of that city and will begin immediately upon his arrival. Several men have tried to hold down the position which Mr. Nicodemus has accepted and have been unable to do the work properly.

NEW OFFICES.

The Cement Workers' local No. 586 are now located in Biemer's hall, 1204 Calhoun street, which will hereafter be the permanent headquarters. President W. F. Miltz has been named business agent and Charles Effert financial secretary.

ATTEND FUNERAL IN BODY.

Shopmen and fellow workers employed in the Wabash shops, attended the funeral of Jacob Roelle, held at St. Patrick's church this morning at 9 o'clock, in a body. They then accompanied the remains to the Catholic cemetery, where interment took place.

MANY EMPTY CARS.

Further evidence that the freight car shortage is nearing an end was indicated in the many empties that are being rushed through the city.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

H. C. Grossman, a boilermaker's helper for the Pennsylvania, is ill.

For Indiana: Local snows and colder tonight; Sunday fair and much colder.

For Ohio: Snow north, snow or rain south portion tonight; colder south portion, Sunday much colder and probably fair.

For Lower Michigan: Local snows and much colder tonight, Sunday generally fair, colder central and east portions.

Shippers' Forecast (radius 300 miles): Protect shipments during the next 24 to 36 hours from temperatures as follows: North and west, -10 to 15 degrees; east and south, 15 to 30 degrees.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A low area, central over the central Gulf states, has loops extending northeastward to the upper Ohio valley, and a high area of considerable magnitude covers northwestern districts. This distribution of pressure has resulted in widespread precipitation in the sections to the eastward of the Rocky mountains, with heavy falls in portions of Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee. Warm weather prevails in southeastern districts, but the weather is colder than the normal in northwestern districts and in the Rocky mountain region, with zero or lower temperatures in the northwestern states.

SPENT FIFTY-THREE DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL

William Drake is Found Not Guilty in Circuit Court.

After spending fifty-three days in the Allen county jail awaiting trial on a charge of securing goods under false pretenses, William Drake was found not guilty by Judge Eggeman Saturday in circuit court. The affidavit for his arrest was sworn out by Claude Grats, who stated that Drake had gotten half a beef from him and never paid for it.

Grats testified on the witness stand that at the time when the beef was delivered to Drake that the latter said tha the would pay for it with some money he had in a bank at Harlan. The sale of the beef took place December 18, last. On January 8, Grats said he discovered that Drake did not have any money in the Harlan bank. He then had him arrested.

Judge Eggeman held that there was not evidence to find the defendant guilty of a criminal charge. He was let go.

WILL MAKE TRIP.

Suspended Sentence of Earl Tilsbury is Revoked by Judge.

Judge Eggeman in revoking the suspended sentence of Earl Tilsbury stated that evidence showed that he had not made an effort to make good. He was found guilty of a charge of forgery a week ago but the sentence of two of forteen years in the Indiana reformatory was suspended during good behavior. Several witnesses testified Tilbury is too lazy to work and would not get up in the morning.

SALOON LICENSES GRANTED.

County Commissioners Grant Request of Eighteen Petitioners.

Eighteen saloon licenses in Allen county were renewed by the county commissioners Saturday morning. The licenses expire on March 4, but due to the fact that this date falls on Sunday the licenses were issued on March 3. Those who were granted a renewal were: Louis Aukenbruck, Andrew Bubb, Henry C. Barney, Emil Bury, Thomas Clark, Richard Franke, Louis Franzler, Lehnart and Geller, Fred W. Mueller, John F. Naruki, Peters Hotel Co., Ben E. Spouth, Elmer E. Sniff, A. A. Schultheis, John E. Stewart, Roy H. Thavenet, Langard and Langard and Jacob T. Wyatt.

RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS.

Road Superintendents Meet in Court House Saturday.

Road superintendents of twelve districts in Allen county met in the office of County Highway Superintendent William Tonkel, Saturday morning to receive instructions as to the keep and care of the county roads. The county commissioners have been inspecting roads a part of the week. Friday they inspected and graded the following roads: Irvin Knight, district No. 1, Maysville and St. Joe roads, 90 per cent.; Henry Kroemer, district No. 2, Leo, Auburn and Tonkel roads, 90 per cent.; Frank Webb, district No. 3, Grabill, north part of Leo road and a portion of the Maysville road, and a portion of the Maysville road, and a portion of Leo, Auburn and Tonkel roads, 90 per cent.; Frank Webb, district No. 3, Grabill, north part of Leo road and a portion of the Maysville road, and a portion of the Maysville road, and a portion of

MARRIED LIFE WAS SHORT.

Estelle Hughes Complains That Her Husband Does Not Work.

Married life for Estella Hughes was very short. One year after they plighted thei rtheth, she has sued for divorce, alleging that her husband, Alex Hughes, is lazy and refuses to work, by reason of which he has been unable to properly support her. The complaint further sets forth that the defendant called her vile and profane names. She asks four dollars a week support money and asks that C. C. Shelton, the defendant's employer, be restrained from paying the defendant his wages. She also asks the court to issue a restraining order to prohibit the defendant from molesting her. Ryan, Ryan and Aldrich are the plaintiff's attorneys.

HAVE SEVEN CHILDREN.

Alice Varner Asks for Limited Divorce and Restraining Order.

Alleging that the defendant is no fit and proper person for the custody of their seven children, whose ages range from six months to twelve years, Alice Varner has sued John Varner for divorce and asks that the court issue a restraining order prohibiting him from molesting her or speaking to her at her home. She asks that the court grant her a limited divorce, one thousand dollars alimony and ten dollars a week for support money.

WANT HILL CUT DOWN.

Sixteen Petitioners Ask Commissioners for Improvement.

B. Hatch and fifteen other petitioners have in writing asked the board of county commissioners to cut down the Pfeiffer hill on the Lima road, south of the DuPont road, near the creek culvert. The contention of the petitioners is that the present grade of the hill makes it unsafe to present day traffic.

SUES FOR $1,000 DAMAGES.

George W. Hartman has begun action against the Order of United Commercial Travelers, demanding $1,000 which he alleges is due him. In the complaint he sets forth that he was a full pledged member, giving him the right to enjoy all the privileges of the order. He says this amount is due him as a member but that the order has refused to settle with him.

Wants a Divorce, Too.

Blanche L. McKee wants a divorce from Louis McKee, to whom she was married June 1, 1912, and from whom she separated February 7, this year. She alleges that the defendant was cruel and inhuman. She asks that the court enjoin the General Electric company from paying him his wages and asks that the defendant be restrained from molesting her at her home, 709 West Jefferson street.

ADVISORY BOARD MEETS.

The Wayne township advisory board met in the offices of Trustee Hamilton Saturday afternoon to make arrangements to attend in a body the funeral of Fred Fahlsing who was a member of this committe at the time of his death.

Complaint on Account.

The Schwegman-White company have begun action in superior court against John and Elizabeth McCoy on complaint on account. The plaintiffs demand a judgment of $75.

Marriage Licenses.

Harley Thompson, 27, laborer, to Nellie Cusson, 27.

Sue Western Gas Company.

The Fort Wayne Printing company has brought action against the Western Gas Construction company on complaint on a note and account. The plaintiff asks for a judgment of $1,350. Leonard, Rose and Zollars are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Wants Legal Separation.

Emma R. Diehl has sued Orley Diehl for a legal separation. In the complaint the plaintiff states that they were married August 7, 1898, and that in February, 1917, the defendant left her without any means of support. She states that the defendant is employed in Laporte, Ind. She has not been a resident of this county long enough to ask for a divorce. The plaintiff demands twelve dollars a week support money for her and a minor child.

Takes Prisoners Away.

Jack Oswald, a deputy sheriff, accompanied Albert Tyner and John Ross to Jeffersonville, where the two young men will be committed to the Indiana state reformatory. Monday Joe Degitz and Harry Cook will take John Jackson and Robert Crawley to the penitentiary at Michigan City.

Custodian Quits.

John Metcalf, for many years a custodian in the Allen county court house, has quit his job. His work comes to an end Saturday evening.

CARD OF THANKS.

It is our desire in this manner to extend our gratitude to our neighbors, relatives, the many friends, the Olive club, the tinshop men of the Fort Wayne General Electric works, and the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' union, No. 156, for their sympathy and beautiful floral pieces they so kindly extended at the death of our dear and beloved son and brother, Albert J. Mrs. C. Louis Schroeder Passes Away Following Two Weeks' Illness.

Mrs. Elize Schroeder, widow of the late C. Louis Schroeder, passed away at 2:20 o'clock Saturday morning at the residence, 1015 Broadway, following an illness of two weeks. The deceased was 78 years and 10 months of age and had resided in the city of Fort Wayne for sixty-three years.

MRS. ELIZE SCROEDER.

Mrs. Schroeder was born in Bremen, Germany, but came to the United States and immediately to Fort Wayne in 1854. She had resided here ever since and was widely known. The husband preceded her in death eight years ago.

The deceased was a member of the Ladies' society of St. John Reformed church and is survived by one son, Louis S. C. Schroeder; one grandson, Carl Schroeder, of the News; one sister, Mrs. Anna Auman, of this city, and two brothers, Frederick Rippe, of Fort Wayne, and John Rippe, of Germany.

Friends may review the remains at the residence until Tuesday noon. Omit flowers.

ROTHSCHILD.

Mrs. Sophia Rothschild, wife of Henry Rothschild, of 516 Washington boulevard west, died at 9:45 o'clock Saturday morning at the family residence at the age of 76 years. Death followed an illness of ten days, due to pneumonia. Mrs. Rothschild was born in Germany, but had resided in Fort Wayne since 1859. She was a member of Achduth Veshalom congregation, the Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent society and the Temple Sisterhood. Beside the husband she is survived by one son, Dr. Charles Rothschild, coroner-elect.

Funeral services Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the residence, Rabbi Weinstein officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

DILLON.

Raymond Henry Dillon, aged six years and four months, died at 11:30 o'clock Friday night at the home of his mother, Mrs. Lena Dillon, 731 East Wayne street. Death followed an illness due to heart trouble and pneumonia. He was born in Fort Wayne and attended school in this city. The father of the deceased, known as "Bud" Dillon, was killed as the result of being accidentally shot while out hunting last November. Besides the mother he is survived by three brothers, Robert, Earl and Kenneth Dillon and by the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dillon, of Columbia City.

Funeral services Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the residence, and at 2:30 o'clock at the First M. E. church, Rev. D. H. Guild officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

BELIEVE IMOGENE WELL CARED FOR

Police Reasonably Sure That Girl Witness is Unharmed.

Wherever little Imogene Myers may be secreted in what is believed to be an effort to keep her from appearing as star witness in the case of John Koehler, saloonkeeper, charged with improper relations with the girl, police say they are reasonably sure that the child has been unharmed.

The circle of police and county officers active in an attempt to locate the girl, whose story was to have been the all important part of Koehler's trial on March 12, is being extended. Circulars have been sent across four states in an effort to find the hiding place of the child, who was spirited away from the Woodburn school, Monday afternoon.

Little Miss Dorothy Oren entertained a dozen playmates Saturday afternoon in honor of her sixth birthday. Those invited were Marguerite Howard, Edna and Violet Fell, Elva Whittacre, Ruth Boierjack, Virginia and Miriam Baker, Gertrude Bradley, Afton and Isabelle Guenther, Luella Knipstein and Ruth Grodrain.

Kucher for City Clerk

In line with the apparent growing demand for a business city administration, we submit the name of T. A. Kucher as being the strongest candidate for City Clerk on the Republican ticket. Mr. Kucher is a broad gauged business man of many years' experience. He was Deputy City Controller during Mayor Grice's administration and is now business manager of the A. G. W. Curdes Building Co., in the Tri-State Block where he is every day just full of business every minute. It is that style of a hustler, a capable and efficient clerk that Mr. Kucher would make that we need over at the city hall. By nominating and electing Mr. Kucher our citizens and taxpayers will benefit by his services in having the business of the city clerk's office taken care of in a business-like way. He will see that our council will receive and take care of the business that should come before it. Mr. Kucher has a wide circle of friends. He is popular, courteous and has that desire of wanting to accommodate everybody and, above all, to look after the interests of his employer whoever he may be.

HOUSE CONTROL MAY GO TO REPUBLICANS

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Representative Michael F. Conry, of New York city, a democratic member of congress for four terms and re-elected for a fifth, died at a hospital here late yesterday after a long illness from kidney trouble. He was 47 years old. In spite of his failing health he had been at the capitol quite regularly until last week, and as a member of the ways and means committee had worked hard in connection with the framing of the revenue bill and other legislation.

A native of Shenandoah, Pa., Mr. Conry in his youth was a miner and in following that trade suffered an injury that lamed him for life. He is survived by a widow and three daughters.

The death of one of the democratic members-elect may have an important effect upon the political complexion of the house in the Sixty-fifth congress. The democrats and republicans elected 215 members each, and there are five independents upon whom depends which party shall organize the next house.

If an extra session is called the democrats probably would go into the organization fight only 214 strong.

Members of the New York delegation are confident that a successor to Representative Conry will not be elected until November, and even though a special election were called it could not be held for thirty days. An election in November would restore the even balance before the regular December session, as Representative Conry, active in Tammany councils, was elected from a safely democratic district, the Fifteenth.

"SOUL POWERS" THEME OF MRS. RALPH SMITH

"Soul Powers" was the theme of a Theosophical lecture given at the rooms of the Theosophical society last night by Mrs. Ralph Smith, who argued that the truth of the Immanence of God was the guarantee of the divine nature of man. She outlined the methods of soul growth, laying special emphasis on the necessity of purifying not only the body, but the mind and emotions as well. This, the lecturer said, was considered in the early Christian church as the first step to be taken in the science of the soul. Vegetarianism was considered as a means of purifying the physical body. On this point the speaker said: "The student of occultism regards his body as an instrument with which he is to work, knowing that his rise to spiritual illumination and power largely depends upon how pure, sensitive and receptive he can make it. Therefore, he carefully avoids all that will coarsen its fiber and destroy its sensitiveness, placing meat and most classes of food and drink that have passed through any stage of fermentation among the tabooed articles of diet. He sees to it that only pure material is supplied and of this material nature slowly builds him a new physical body. Thus, within a few years, by intelligent use of his knowledge, he comes into possession of a body capable of things that could not have been accomplished by the body he previously possessed."

M'ADOO TAKES HAND IN COMMITTEE TALK

Washington, March 3.—After a heated executive session in which Secretary McAdoo participated, the house ways and means committee today reported favorably the resolution to authorize a $150,000,000 bond issue for hurrying naval construction. Unlimited power for the president to spend the money as he will, either for work already authorized or for new projects, was denied by the committee, despite vigorous efforts of democrats to obtain it.

Republicans contend that in case of national emergency, congress probably would be in session and it would be possible to quickly broaden the president's powers. They disclaimed any desire to hinder the president.

MISS PAUL IS CHAIRMAN.

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Miss Alice Paul, of Pennsylvania, was elected unanimously today as national chairman of the National Woman's party, formed yesterday by the amalgamation of the congressional union for woman's suffrage with the former women's party organized in Chicago last June. Miss Ambel Vernon, of Nevada, was elected secretary and Miss Gertrude Crocker, of Illinois, treasurer.

TAKE LEGAL ACTION TO BLOCK WALL TAX

Attorney for Remonstrators Told to Register Injunction.

"We have only begun to fight," said one of the leaders in the host of 240 Forest Park Heights citizens who are remonstrating against their assessment for the St. Joe boulevard pavement and protection wall, when he was told of the action of the works board in granting the present levy for the improvement, Friday afternoon.

Attorney W. R. H. Tschannen, representing the body of remonstrators, was ordered on Friday evening to start action in the circuit court against the tax for the flood protection wall and the pavement. Tschannen has twenty days in which to seek legal recourse against the assessment.

Attorney Ballou, representing one of the remonstrators, will in all probability, join with Tschannen in carrying the remonstrance to the circuit court. Ballou has not yet conferred with Tschannen upon the matter, he said Saturday.

Two methods of attacking the board of works decision, in sanctioning the assessment roll, are to make direct appeal against the works board action or to secure an injunction against their proceeding with the assessment plan.

Board of works members who decided Friday afternoon to sustain the present assessment role, expect little more trouble over the matter, they say. They hold that the flood prevention wall is a marked improvement to the city and that it will benefit residents of Forest Park Heights as well as their neighbors in the "lowlands."

WILL START CLEANING.

Two Hundred Men Will Be Needed for Street Work.

Continued mild weather will bring out, maybe next week, the white brigade of street cleaners. Two hundred men will be needed to keep the city's paved streets spick and span this summer, according to Superintendent of Streets Strodel. Added area of city paving has made increase in number of those who push about the green handcarts.

Sixty workmen will be engaged, if that number can be employed, to clear all gutters of ice and snow, starting Monday. They will later attack the mud which has been carried on all pavements during the winter months. Regular gang of street cleaners will be started out within the next few days if spring weather remains staple, Strodel says.

BANK CLEARINGS OVER TWO MILLION MARK

Bank clearings during the week ending Saturday, March 3, set a record which never before has been reached in Fort Wayne. The clearings over reached the two million dollar mark by a comfortable margin. The total clearings were $2,153,541.80. According to Mr. Kuhne in charge of the Fort Wayne clearing house this is the largest figure that was ever reached in one single week.

Last year the corresponding week was also a very heavy one but the total amounted to $1,850,966.73. Last week the total clearings were $1,654,371.67. The balance this week was $342,738.66.

Tuesday and Friday proved to be the two largest days. The clearings for each day of the week follows: Monday, $341,084.06; Tuesday, $407,423.53; Wednesday, $253,100.14; Thursday, $330,871.77; Friday, $470,965.10; Saturday, $350,087.20.

CAMPAIGN IS EXTENDED.

Decision has been reached by those in charge of the Red Cross movement here to continue the campaign for new members until next Wednesday. It is believed that by that time the 5,000 new members which was set as a goal, will be reached. Just as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made classes will be formed in first aid to the injured, hygiene and house care to the injured.

REPUBLICANS SEEK TO LIMIT PROGRAM

Plan to Curb Legislation During Final Hours of Congress.

Washington, March 3.—The legislative situation in congress today, according to the most optimistic estimates, indicated that senate republicans had determined to limit activities for the remainder of the session to the following:

Final passage of the naval appropriation bill; approval of the house measure for a $150,000,000 bond issue; enactment of armed neutrality bill.

Republican leaders, however, were without any assurances from Senator LaFollette, who may oppose it. Republicans were determined, according to democratic senators, who have been struggling with them for 24 hours, for a reconsideration, to prevent final passage of the following bills: The army bill; sundry civil appropriation bill and the general deficiency bill; military academy bill; bill to extend authority of the shipping board and permit the government to take merchantships owned or building in the United States in time of threatened war.

Amendments to the federal reserve law and all other pending general legislation. Any bills left over would be taken up by an extra session if there be one, or at the last moment of the present session. Current appropriations could be extended by resolution.

Senators and representatives today entered upon their last 24 hours of the present session with legislation before them which may keep them continually at work until noon Sunday, when by law the sixty-fourth congress expires.

The bill to give the president authority to arm American ships and the army appropriation bill were the principal items under pressure in the senate, to be followed by the military academy appropriation bill and provisions for a $150,000,000 bond issue to expedite naval construction as soon as received from the house.

Conferees of each house were busy harmonizing differences in various measures already passed. Adoption of reports from these conferences will occupy the closing hours of the session.

President Wilson will go to the capitol tomorrow to sign bills passed at the last minute.

INDIANAPOLIS WOMAN FOR PRIMARY BOARD

Indianapolis, March 3.—Miss Julia Landers, of this city, has been appointed a member of one of the precinct election boards to serve at the city primary next Tuesday. She is said to be the first woman appointed as an election official in the state. She will servev as sheriff at one of the residence district polling places. Women will not vote at the primary, but will at the election in November.

PLANS FOR NEW SCHOOL.

New Haven is to have a new $50,000 high school building to be erected by the township in the little town this coming summer. Henry Meyer the architect, of Fort Wayne, has drawn the preliminary plans and is now working on the exact plans for the new structure. The building will be two stories and a basement and will be built of brick with composition roofing. G. S. Shope is the trustee of the township.

LONG OPPOSITION SPEECHES TO COME

Armed Neutrality Bill is Running Neck and Neck Race With Time.

Washington, March 3.—The armed neutrality bill was running a neck and neck race with time in congress today. Democratic leaders were aiming to get through somehow before the session dies at noon tomorrow, but were not entirely sure of the position of its opposition.

In the senate where the bill was being debated there were some long opposition speeches ahead. Although a great majority of the republicans urged its passage the leaders were not sure where the last moment would find Senator La Follette and the strain was drawn out by Senator Stone's offering of amendments which are disagreeable to the president.

It was evident that on all hands the situation had thrown legislation into an eleventh hour where much of it would be sacrificed.

Senator Stone told the senate today he had heard that navy experts had devised a plan for protection of American ships whereby they would be equipped with small submarine-chasing boats to be lowered in the danger zone to scout for hostile craft and attack them.

NAVY STATION MAY LEAVE FORT WAYNE

Lack of Results in Recruiting May Take Office to Lafayette.

Navy recruiting station may be withdrawn from Fort Wayne, says Turret Gunman King, in charge of the local office, who returned Saturday from a conference with higher officers in Indianapolis.

Fort Wayne station is running far behind other offices in the middle west in number of sailor warriors signed up. Naval officials say they expect to move the office now maintained in the federal building to Lafayette. Order for moving the station has practically been given, King says, and only the time for the transfer is indefinite.

Reason for failure of the office in Fort Wayne is unexplained. Fact that the office is maintained on the third floor of the postoffice building, where it is seldom brought to attention of private citizens, is given as one cause for lack of recruiting numbers.

King has been orcered to give three days each week to visiting small towns near Fort Wayne. He will instruct postmasters in methods of navy recruiting. He will travel over a radius of thirty miles from Fort Wayne. He denies that the government is using all its naval recruiting energy in preparation for war, a rumor which comes from the east.

DECATUR COUPLE WED.

Hillsdale, Mich., March 3.—Samuel Harkless and Mrs. Gracie B. Liester, both of Decatur, Ind., came to Hillsdale Thursday and were married at the court house by Justice of the Peace Weavey.

FAIR AND COLDER FOR INAUGURATION

Washington, March 3.—Fair and colder weather for the inauguration ceremonies Monday was predicted today by the weather bureau. All Washington covered by an early morning glaze storm and soaked and dripping by almost a solid week of rain or snow took heart at the prospect of a bright day for the inaugural ceremonies, but does not forget the memorable flare back of 1909, which delivered a howling blizzard instead of a predicted fair day.

The capital, all dressed up in thousands of flags and tens of thousands of yards of bunting, looks like a young belle caught in a thunderstorm. The inaugural committee, however, profiting by the experiences of other years, made provisions against the antics of March weather and permitted nothing but fast colors to be used in the decoration.

Today the mass of red, white and blue is wet and bedraggled, but true to color, and when things began drying out as the clouds began clearing away, every one was convinced that the decorations will look as fresh as ever Monday. Thousands of visitors are beginning to pour into the city.

BELATED TAX LISTS MAY CAUSE FINES

Citizens who filed their income tax sheets on Thursday and Friday are apt to be held for extra assessment, officers in the internal revenue office in the federal building hold. None of the excuses given by the several Fort Wayne people who were late in bringing in their papers are held as valid by the federal officers here.

Income tax law states that all income tax blanks must be fully filled out and returned to government officers on or before March 1. Ordinarily business reasons are not considered exemptions by local officers who expect several Fort Wayne citizens to be declared delinquent in their returning of the statements.

U-BOAT CAMPAIGN IS 50 PER CENT SHORT

London, March 3.—Germany failed by slightly more than a 50 per cent margin to make good her threat to sink 1,000,000 tons of merchant shipping during the first month of unrestricted submarine warfare, according to figures in the possession of the Associated Press, the absolute reliability of which is vouched for here. Her submarines, the figures show, only succeeded in sending to the bottom during the month of February in round numbers 490,000 tons. This figure only exceeds by 140,000 tons, it is declared, what the British authorities expected would be sunk during that month if ordinary submarine warfare had been continued. It compares with 346,656 tons sunk during December and 328,967 tons during January.

AUTO RACES ON AFTER STRIKING SCHOOL BOY

Third Grade Lad Left Bleeding and Unconscious in the Gutter.

A big, black automobile never checked its speed when it knocked Hyman Gibson, nine-year-old school boy, to the curbing, as the lad tripped out upon the street in front of the Harmar school building, corner Harmar and Washington streets, Friday evening at dusk.

The machine is believed to have whirled out Washington street leaving the boy, who may die from the shock and head wounds, lying unconscious and bleeding at the edge of the curbing.

A coal delliveryman perched on the top of a loaded coal wagon, saw the motionless form in the gutter as the vehicle rumbled past the spot about 6 o'clock. The man climbed down from the wagon and gathered the limp body in his arms. He halted a passing automobile and had the child taken to the office of Dr. J. K. Geary, 1701 East Wayne street.

All the front teeth of the boy had been knocked out, it was found. Blood streamed from three scalp wounds. The boy was unconscious for several hours. On Saturday afternoon, when the little fellow had rallied, but it still considered in a critical state, he was unable to tell what had happened. He only knew that he had left the Harmar school building to go home, the evening before.

The mother of the boy was distracted when she heard of the accident. The child was removed to his home later Friday evening. He is a son of Harry Gibson, 1421 Erie street.

Police and east end citizens are bending every effort to learn who was driver of the big car which hurried on its way after little Hyman had been felled by the speeding machine. It is a case of basest cowardice, people of the neighborhood exclaim.

Another school board, who was on his way home from the Harmar school, says he saw a large machine, which was painted black, speed west on Washington street about the time his companion was knocked to the curbing by the unknown car.

Hyman was in the third grade of the Harmar school. He was one of the brightest of pupils. He carried two books, which were scattered along the pavement when he was hit by the automobile. The blow he received from the car was a most violent one, physicians say. The car must have been traveling at high rate of speed.

It was not so much that the child was hit which has incensed many east end citizens almost to frenzy. The accident may not have been due to carelessness. Maybe the child dashed in path of the moving car before its driver could make a swerve or halt his machine, they admit.

It is the fact that the automobile did not halt which will cause a determined hunt for driver of the car. It is the criminal neglect, as some of the citizens call it, in speeding away without attention to the lad who lay, maybe dying, in the mud at the street edge. Police say the hunt will not end until the neglectful chauffeur is found.

CITY PLANNING BILL IS KILLED BY HOUSE

Negley Measure Had Adverse Report from Cities and Towns Committee

Indianapolis, March 3.—The Indiana house today killed Senator Negley's city planning bill which came from the committee on cities and towns with an unfavorable report signed by a majority of the committee. Senator Hudgins' eight hour bill also met the same fate.

Representative Green's bill placing the salaries of township trustees on a new basis as recommended by the board of accounts failed for want of a constitutional majority. The following senate bills were passed:

Mercer—Providing for the advancement of appeals from the industrial board or appellate court docket.

Bracken—Amending the law relating to the granting of bank charters by the state charter board.

Fleming—Providing for the payment of ditch assessments direct to the county treasurer.

The senate passed the Mason house bill establishing county boards of election registration, which shall sit from April 1 each election year until twenty-nine days before election for the purpose of enrolling eligible voters. The state historical commission bill from the house, was passed in the senate 32 to 11. This measure provides for the continuation of the work done during the Indiana centennial last year.

The senate in committee of the whole adopted amendments to the specific appropriation bill providing $5,000 for a dairy barn on the state penal farm at Greencastle and sustained a resolution appropriating $10,000 to the Oliver Hazzard Perry memorial at Put-in-Bay, Ohio. The bill to put the police and firemen of Indianapolis under civil service was attacked as a political measure and killed by a large majority.

GOES TO SANITARIUM.

Mrs. Luella Krall, of South Wayne avenue, has gone to Battle Creek, Mich., to a sanitarium to take treatment for stomach trouble. She expects to be gone a month.

EXTENSIVE RAID ON RUSS TRENCHES

Germans Penetrate Front Near Lutsk for Long Distance.

Berlin, March 3.—An extensive raid on Russian troops on the west of Lutsk, in Volhynia, was carried out by German troops yesterday, army headquarters announced today. The Russian position was penetrated on a front of more than a mile and a half to a depth of nearly a mile. The Germans destroyed the Russian dugouts and returned with 122 prisoners and four machine guns.

There have again been violent infantry engagements on both banks of the Ancre in northern France, the war office announced today. The British suffered the loss of 60 prisoners and eight machine guns, in addition to their casualties.

THE FRENCH REPORT.

Paris, March 3.—Successful reconnoitering operations by French troops at several points along the front are reported in this afternoon's war office statement which reads: "During the night our reconnoitering parties carried out several successful surprise attacks against German trenches, near Moulin-Sous-Toutvent, east of hill 304 (Verdun region) and in Apremont forest. We took prisoners and materials."

The admiralty has decided not to publish daily the names of torpedoed vessels. The announcement says that this provision has caused grave inconvenience and that a weekly statement will be issued instead of giving the number of vessels of different classes which have been sunk.

GREEK SHIP SUNK.

London, March 3.—Reuter's Telegram company says the Greek steamship, Proconnissos, of 2,769 tons gross, which had been requisitioned by the Greek royalist government to go to America for 5,000 tons of grain for the assistance of the royalist population of Old Greece, has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine.

WARMER AFTER MONDAY.

Fair Except Rain or Snow on Friday is Weather Forecast.

Washington, March 3.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Sunday, March 4, issued by the weather bureau today are:

MILITARY ATTACHE KILLED.

American Meets Accidental Death on Italian War Front.

Washington, March 3.—Maj. Elvin R. Heiberg, Americaan military attache at Rome, was accidentally killed Thursday while riding on the Italian front. A report to the state department today from the embassy said the officer was at the front on observation duty.

EIGHT MILLIONS MORE.

New Gold Shipment from Canada for Morgan's Account.

New York, March 3.—Gold amounting to $8,000,000 to the account of J. P. Morgan & Co., arrived here today from Canada. This brings the total gold imports from all sources since Jan. 1, to $151,000,000.

U. S. CONSULATE ROBBED.

Berlin, March 3.—A Zurich dispatch reports that the American consulate general there has been entered by burglars who made away with every piece of paper on which anything was written or printed. The dispatch says the theft was committed by the most expert burglars, who left behind them tools worth about 2,000 francs, and think that it appears the crime was committed not for robbery but for a political purpose.

HELD UP BY CENSOR.

Copenhagen, March 3.—The Friday morning Berlin papers contain no reference to the Zimmermann note to Mexico, and apparently the news from America has been held up by the censor. Berlin dispatches to Copenhagen afternoon papers also made no reference to the affair.

HAVE TAKEN REPRISALS.

Berlin, March 3.—Lieutenant General von Stein, the Prussian minister of war, announced in the reichstag today that reprisals had been taken by the German government against what the minister termed the mistreatment of Germans taken prisoners by the entente.

REICHSTAG HAS ADJOURNED.

London, March 3.—The reichstag has adjourned until March 20, according to a Berlin dispatch to Reuter's by way of Amsterdam.

RETURNS HOME.

Clem Weber, of Douglas avenue, who has been a patient at St. Joseph's hospital for the past three weeks, has returned to his home very much improved.

NEW ELECTRIC SIGN.

Initial City Series Game Goes to St. Patrick's

Federals Win Opening Contest In City Championship Series

St. Patrick's Grab a Corner of the Flag in Initial Game.

Keplinger	R. F.	Gerberding
Miller	L. F.	Buescher
Vonderhaar	C.	Richmond
McCarthy	R. G.	Hoffman
Blee	L. G.	Eckrich

Substitutions—Hill for Hoffman, Kersting for Gerberding.

Foul goals—Miller, 7; Richmond, 5.

Referee—Moore.

In the vernacular of the days when the dice box still claimed a place in the daily workings of the cigar stores on the corners, it's a "horse" on St. Mary's. The opening game of the city basketball series played at Concordia gym last night went to the Lyceum Feds by a score of 23 to 19 after the hardest kind of a battle from the first whistle. The game was never cinched by either team, but the Feds put across the necessary punch to finish on top.

Both teams played the best game of the season and although the Feds grabbed the long end of the count and the gate receipts they cannot claim to have outclassed St. Mary's. Conjecture as to the probable outcome of the next game and the series would be altogether foolish at the present. A bunch of credit goes to Referee Moore for the way in which he handled the teams and called the fouls. He did not hand out a free throw that was not necessary and the "riding" which came his way at the hands of some of the fans was no doubt due to the strong rivalry between the two contingents. The rules were more closely followed than in any previous game this year.

Approximately seventeen hundred people crowded the gym, many being forced to stand up, and of this gang possibly one or two hundred were non-partisan. The remainder were armed with everything from leather lungs to fireworks and every move in the game called forth a noise which threatened to play havoc with ear drums.

The first few minutes of play were all Fed, but a foul goal by Richmond inaugurated the Saints' scoring and they soon grabbed a slight lead which they held until the end of the first half, at which time the score stood at 14 to 9. Coming back after the period of rest and music by the Concordia band, the Lyceum tossers started the drive which carried them across to a win. In this session McCarthy and Blee put up a defense which was almost impenetrable, and Vonderhaar watched Richmond so closely that the big center was almost unable to do anything. At the same time the South Side scoring machine began to assert itself and caged the pill a necessary number of times to take the lead. This happened about the middle of the last half.

When the score was 16 to 15, with the Saints leading, Vonderhaar got a chance to tip one in from under the basket and he took advantage of it, gaining a one point lead for his outfit. About this time Mike Hoffman, who had been warned when three personal fouls were tallied behind his name, committed the fourth and was ousted from the game. Mike wanted to dispute the right and authority of officials but he was soon quieted and left the floor, Hill going in in his place. Red Buescher also had three personals at this time but he watched himself and was not caught in the fourth.

The Feds never again lost their hold on the lead, which was increased and decreased a couple of times during the remainder of the game. Just before the final gun Miller shot a foul goal which completed the night's work. The ball was not returned to center before hostilities were closed for the evening.

Miller had a hard time during the game and he was guarded closely all the time. Whenever he scored it was after he had called forth every bit of court strategem of which he is capable and that is quite a bit. The more this boy McCarthy shows up on the court the better he looks. He can be credited for mighty clever stuff last night and when the Saints were guilty of a bunch of fouls the mysterious one generally had something to do with it. He has a knack of drawing his opponents into technical breaks and he didn't fail to use it.

The Saints were right last night beyond a doubt and had they played the same sort of a game against Huntington one week ago, Crowe and his gang would have gone home with a different story. Sadie Eckrich and Mike Hoffman were there on the defensive and Whitie Gerberding traveled the floor in the old-time speed. While Richmond was loose he was always dangerous and the same can be said of Red Buescher. In fact there wasn't a player on the floor who doesn't deserve at least half a column, and Fort Wayne fans, whether St. Mary's or St. Patrick's favorites, can be mighty proud to claim two such teams for the city.

HIGH SCHOOL DROPS LAST REGULAR GAME

In a game against the strongest high school team in the district, the Fort Wayne high 'varsity lost to Kendallville last night by a score of 34 to 16. At the end of the first half the score was tied at 11 all, but Kendallville went big in the last half and did the work. The Fort Wayne students were not outplayed, as the score indicates, but took as many if not more shots at the basket than their opponents. They lost, as they have lost all season, on a disability to cage the pill when they try.

In the preliminary for the state basketball tourney at Bloomington district meets will be held the latter part of this week, the one for this section being at Kendallville. With last night's game hte Fort Wayne students closed their regular schedule, and next week they will compete in the meet. The winners of eanh district go to Bloomington where they play for the state title.

In the preliminary to the game last night the girls' first and second teams staged an exhibition, the first team winning by a score of 38 to 3. "Cat" Kampe of the first team was the individual satellite of this contest.

Kendallville.		Fort Wayne.
Gipson-Mores	R. F.	Randall
Ortadt	L. F.	Wilkins-Lind'uth
Sawyer	C.	Berghoff-Shoup
W. Kaiser	R. G.	Moellering
H. Kaiser-Iddings	L. G.	Morris-Freis

Field goals—Gipson, 4; Ortadt, 4; Sawyer, 6; W. Kaiser, Wilkins, 4; Randall, Lindemuth, Moellering.

Foul goals—Gipton, 4; Randall, 2.

Referee—Harrold, Indiana.

THREATEN RECORDS IN I. U. RELAYS TONIGHT

Urbana, Ill., March 3.—World records probably will be endangered tonight in the first annual relay carnival of the University of Illinois, which has attracted the cream of the west's intercollegiate athletes.

The pick of the fliers in the "Big Nine" will meet the fastest men of the non-conference institutions, including the University of Michigan and Notre Dame. It will be the first time that Michigan has competed in a conference affair since it withdrew from the "Big Nine" in 1906.

Athletes from twelve universities and six colleges are ready for the competition, which promises to be unusually spirited. In addition to Michigan and Notre Dame, the non-conference entry includes Kansas, Drake, Grinnell, Ames, Knox, Lombard, Coe and Franklin. The "Big Nine" will be represented by teams from Chicago, Wisconsin, Indiana, Purdue, Ohio, Northwestern, Minnesota and Illinois.

There will be four relays—the one, two and four mile for universities, and a one mile for colleges. The all-around championship, in which an athlete will compete in seven events, has drawn twelve entries. Floyd Smart, of Northwestern university, is regarded as a strong contender to win the honor. Hoyt, of Grinnell, the champion 220 yard sprinter, will be among the entrants.

The seven open events—the 75 yard dash, the 75 yard low and high hurdles, the high and broad jump, pole vault and 16 pound shot put—have attracted formidable fields. The University of Michigan will start Cross in the shot put as a rival to Arlie Mucks of Wisconsin.

Michigan entered sixteen men in events, including the mile and two mile relays. The Wolverine entries are Cross and Smith in the shot put, Simmons and Haigh in the high jump, Kessler in the pole vault, O'Brien and Scofield in the 75 yard dash, Robinson and Beardsley in the hurdles, Fontanna, Hardell, Huntington and Scofield or Robinson in the mile relay, Captain Carroll, Sedgwick, Bouma and Fox in the two mile relay.

Teams from nine universities have entered the one mile relay and five will have teams in the four mile event. The University of Chicago quartets are picked to win the one mile event and possibly the four mile also. The Maroons have a star miler in Tenney and the race between him and Schardt of Wisconsin is expected to be a thriller. Capt. Carroll of the Wolverines also is expected to cut considerable figure.

Wisconsin refuses to be considered out of the running in the relays. The Badgers were the strongest of the conference in the relays last year, taking all three races at the Drake games and winning the conference outdoor mile relay. The team, however, is considerably weaker than in 1916, because of the loss of some of its stars. Illinois will enter two teams—a mile bunch and a four mile quartet. The mile squad will be made up of Sommers, Spink, Pendarvis and Kreidler.

The meet, which has been advertised as the biggest ever held in the west, will be decided in the huge new armory at the University of Illinois. The structure is 450 feet long and 230 feet wide. It is free from any supports or pillars to obstruct the view of spectators. The cinder track of six and three-quarters laps to the mile is declared to be lightning fast.

Several hundred athletic followers from all parts of the central west are here to see the games and practically every university in the "Big Nine" is represented by rooters. A big delegation came from Chicago.

GOLF CRACKS TO MEET AT ATLANTA TOURNEY

The 1917 golf season will be opened with a bang at the Druid Hills Golf club at Atlanta, Ga., March 27-29, when practically every golfer of note in the country will compete at the invitation meet.

The tournament promises to be the greatest ever held south of Mason and Dixon's line, and practically every golfer who took part in the national and larger sectional tournaments last year have been invited to participate.

Among golfers of national fame who have decided to attend are Chick Evans, national open and amateur champion; Jerry Travers, former national champion; Johnny Anderson, runner-up in the national tournament two years ago; Ned Sawyer, Bobby Jones and Perry Adair.

The greens at Druid Hills are recognized as among the best in the country.

"YANKS AND INDIANS WILL BE SENSATIONS"

BY PAUL PURMAN.

There is more than a month to wait until the baseball season opens. Right now, with the teams just arriving at their camps it may seem a little premature to try to pick any winners, but there are two ball clubs in the American league that are likely to kick over the traces this season and it will be worth watching their stunts in the south before April 12.

With seven of the strongest ball clubs ever collected in one league, the American league race, which last year furnished one of the most sensational drives in baseball now figures to come through with a pennant chase even more startling.

And prefacing with a number of "ifs," without which early season predictions would be colorless, take this cue and watch Bill Donovan's Yankees and Lee Fohl's Cleveland club.

Right now these clubs look like the real sensations of the 1917 season.

There are, of course, a thousand and one things which may occur before the umpire calls play on April 12, but barring accidents and a series of bad breaks Cleveland and New York should leave the barrier with better chances to win than they have ever had before.

Victims of injuries, of poor breaks and bad baseball luck last year the Indians and Yanks overrode these obstacles and made trouble for every team in the league. With better breaks this year they will be dangerous.

Perhaps neither team can be classed as a great ball club. But both are good ball clubs, both are consistent, both have every essential which goes to make up a winning club.

Now for the "ifs."

Cleveland has just purchased Joe Wood, a few years ago the sensation of the American league. Wood is a big gamble. Last year he did not pitch a game, partly because of his inability to come to terms with Boston and partly because of a sore arm. In 1915 Wood pitched with a bad arm and won the majority of his games.

If Joe Wood can come through and if Guy Morton returns to form Cleveland will be pretty well fixed for pitchers. The Indians did not begin to slump last year until Morton went bad and the pitching burden was thrown on two youngsters, Coveleskie and Bagby. With these four pitchers and with Joe Boehling, a great cold weather hurler, and Klepfer and Coumbe the Indians should have nothing to fear.

Behind the bat the Indians are fixed as well as any club in the circuit with the possible exception of Chicago. Steve O'Neill, a veteran, and young Billings will do most of the receiving.

The outfield with Speaker, Graney and Roth is well balanced, and one of the best in the league.

As the training season opens Bill Donovan is still doubtful about a guardian for his second station. Otherwise his team is practically made up.

Joe Gedeon may draw the job. But Gedeon is a weak hitter and Fritz Maisel may be prepped for a trial at the bag. Baumann is another possibility.

The hard hitting Pipp will be at first, Peckinpaugh at short and Frank Baker should have a good season at third.

High, Gilhooley and Magee will make up a high class outfield.

Donovan has a great pitching staff if it is right. Shawkey, Mogridge, Caldwell, Cullop, Fisher and Shocker will make any team in the league hustle to beat them.

Watch these two ball teams. They will be the surprises of the American league.

This is not a prediction that the Yanks or Indians will cop. The Boston Red Sox are certain to be good. The White Sox with a great bunch of individual stars is sure to be a factor. The slugging Tigers are always dangerous.

EM-ROES WIN FROM HUNTINGTON.

Indianapolis, March 3.—The Em-Roes basketball team of Indianapolis defeated the Huntington Athletes, 30 to 26, here last night.

BASEBALL EXPENSES ARE INCREASING NOW

Overhead Costs Wipe Out Saving Made in Salary Reductions.

Detroit, Mich., March 3.—The high cost of living now has numbered the baseball industry among its many victims.

Although major league magnates will save thousands of dollars by salary reductions this season, they fear their overhead expenses will be greatly increased. While it is true that some of the high cost of living items will more directly affect the men to whom the club owners sell concessions, it is equally certain that club owners will pay increased prices for nearly everything they must buy.

Training expenses in the southland will probably be 75 per cent higher than in 1916, it is said.

Ball players who want potatoes three times a day, may face the same stern impossibility that certain members of the Detroit baseball squad faced a few seasons ago in a small southern training camp, when they were unable to induce the hotel keeper to give them eggs and meat at the same meal.

Bats have gone up. A Louisville factory, which practically supplies the entire major league demand, recently announced that the clubs would each cost about 25 cents more.

The price of print paper has seemingly proved a serious problem for the score card business. Some clubs let this concession to persons who provide an elaborate card, similar to a theater program. Other clubs get out a cheaper sheet. The opinion prevails that the score card business is far less profitable than it was in "the good old days" when paper was cheap. It was said here recently that the score card which the Detroit ball club sells will cost the club at least $2,000 more for paper alone this year and that the typographical expense will be much heavier.

Of course, thousands of fans who noticed a shrinkage in the quantity of eatables sold for a nickel or a dime in the stands last year, are preparing themselves for the worst.

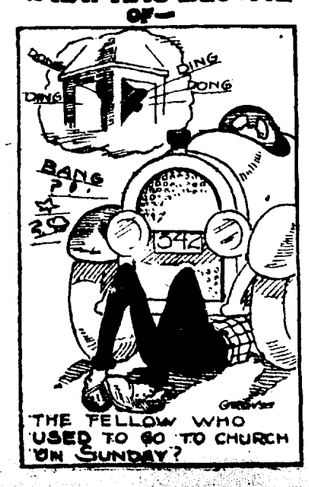
To them the yield of wheat and the strain of foreign demand are minor problems when compared with the prospects for a bumper supply of frankfurters and peanuts.

NOTRE DAME QUINTET GETS BIG SEND OFF

The "Day Dodgers," the basketball five of the day students of Notre Dame who play the Concordia 'varsity at the Lutheran gym this evening come well recommended by the sport writer of the South Bend News-Times. According to the scribes these tossers are as good as any of the hall teams and have been displaying some mighty clever basketball this season.

They are allowed but two games away from the university during the season and when they play them, they are out to win. This is their last trip and they have been preparing for it for some time. Their line-up is as follows: Leslie Allen and Walter Sweeney, forwards; Maurice Smith, center; Edward Scheibelhut and Eugo Voedisch, guards. Subs are Charles Rohyance and Carlton Beh.

Captain Byroade will send in his regular line-up against the Dodgers and is looking for a win in spite of the hard battle which will probably take place. The Concordians have gone through some hard games this year and can play most anything.



ELECTRICIANS READY TO ENTER INDUSTRIAL

Have Bunch of Regular Players from Which to Pick Team.

"When the meeting of the Industrial Baseball league is called we'll be there," said Frank O'Brien, manager of last year's Electro Technic club. Up to the present nothing has been done at the "Lights" in the way of organizing for the season, but according to Manager O'Brien "the stuff is there and that's the main thing."

Several semi-pro players of class have taken employment with the company during the winter and they expect to remain and have consented to play on the team. In addition to this some of the best of local performers are connected with the company and with the first evidence of spring will be warming up with intentions of trying out for the team. The Electro-Techs won the basketball championship and they are going to lay for the baseball title, too.

Others are lining their men up prior to the season, too, and although they have not been heard from yet, they are a good deal like the electricians and will be on hand when the meeting is called. From the present outlook the Industrial is due for its most successful season this year and some mighty classy baseball may be expected when they start in.

ROLL FIRST BALL IN TOURNAMENT TONIGHT

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 3.—The vanguard of the thousands of men who will take part in the seventeenth annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress arrived here early today. The first balls will be rolled in the Coliseum here this evening. Thus far the outsiders are not numerous enough to be noticeable on the streets or in the hotels, the first big visiting delegation being due the middle of next week when the Peoria, Cincinnati and Buffalo contingents, which are bidding for the 1918 congress, will open headquarters.

Finishing touches were put to the sixteen alleys today, the runways getting a thorough dry scrubbing in an effort to make them as nearly as possible like the well used paths to which the players are accustomed. Abe Langtry, secretary of the congress and general manager of the meet, took over the alleys from the local association which promoted the tournament, although the formal tender of them will not be made until the ceremonies incident to tonight's play.

Numerous local followers of the game stood around the drives all day, watching Langtry and his numerous assistants drill the score board boys, who are mostly Grand Rapids youths. The book scorers and pin boys are nearly all seasoned veterans of former tournaments and they are spending their time in renewing old acquaintanceships.

Only one squad of sixteen Grand Rapids teams will roll tonight and none of them expects to gather enough "wood" to figure in the final prize list. As a consolation to them for their task of breaking in the alleys special prizes totaling $50 have been offered for the three highest fives in the squad. More local clubs will use the alleys until Tuesday night when a lone Chicago team will appear. The next night will see a big invasion from outside cities and from then on Grand Rapids will play only a minor part in the competition.

GIRLS WANT A GAME.

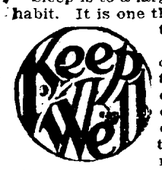
RELIGION, TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH

Early to Bed and Early to Rise Mean Much Toward Health

Sleep is to a large extent a matter of habit. It is one that should be taught the growing child.



Too often young children are allowed to enjoy the same social privileges of an evening as their parents. This is a mistaken notion of kindness. A child that is allowed to sit up until ten all too frequently grows up into a youth given to late hours and becomes a nervous wreck who cannot sleep at all. Digestion affects sleep. The child with poor digestion sleeps poorly and often needs more sleeping hours than the healthy child.

The growing child needs sleep and should be put to bed early and kept there even if the parents have to forego a few social pleasures.

Indoor life, stimulating drinks and excitement are the enemies of sleep. Outdoor physical exercise, especially in the evening before retiring, followed by a warm bath, will often cure or relieve temporary conditions of insomnia. Such simple remedies are not likely to benefit the chronic sufferer.

It is impossible to prescribe any fixed dose of sleep. Most people need at least eight hours. A few can get along with less; others require much more. Because Napoleon is said to have required only four to six hours of sleep is no argument that we all sleep too much.

History tells us that Napoleon when not in action slept like all the rest of us, going to bed at 10 or 11 and arising at 7. But during periods of great exertion he was obliged to lessen his hours of sleep. Even then he found six hours in the twenty-four absolutely indispensable. He would sleep these six hours most faithfully, either at intervals or on a stretch. Napoleon was remarkable not so much for keeping awake as for his ability to fall asleep whenever he wanted to sleep. It was his ability to sleep, even during a battle, which kept him going.

It is the same in everyday life. It is this habit of sleep which in many a person spells success. Parents who neglect to teach their children to sleep may lay the foundation for that nervous suffering and failure in achievement which insomnia often causes in adult years.

Disease germs lead a hand to mouth existence.

Human disease would be greatly diminished if the human race would learn to keep the unwashed hand from the mouth. We handle infectious matter more or less constantly and continually carry the hands to the mouth. Often the germs of disease are introduced into the body in this way.

Many persons wet their fingers with saliva before counting money, turning the pages of a book or performing similar acts. In this case the process is reversed, the infection being carried to the object handled, there to wait carriage to the mouth of some other careless person.

The hands should be washed before eating, before handling, preparing or serving food, after attending the sick and after handling anything dirty. These simple rules of hygiene will prevent a whole lot of sickness, if carefully followed.

Some time ago a bacteriological examination was made of twelve whistles bought from a push-cart. Five of them had metal and seven had wooden mouthpieces. The average number of bacteria colonies developed from the wooden whistles was 99; from the metal whistles 45.

A large number of micro-organisms were found. In nine instances streptococci were found—this is the germ of tonsilitis, and many other diseases. These germs were tested on mice to determine their virulence. Eight of the mice died, five within 24 hours, two within the next 25 hours, and one four days after inoculation.

Dr. Wiley on the Effects of Drink

In his book, "Not By Bread Alone," Dr. Harvey W. Wiley expresses the opinion in regard to alcohol that "the general effect of alcoholic beverages is bad. It tends to make its users more subject to disease, more likely to perform criminal acts, and less likely to live to a green old age. The protection of our civilization, in my mind, rests largely upon rigid control, or even suppression, of the traffic in alcoholic beverages." In regard to the insertion of advertisements in newspapers and magazines seeking to increase the consumption of whisky under the false idea of lengthening life, the opinion expressed is that the "data in regard to alcohol are so conclusive in the other direction as to make it incredible that any editor manager of a newspaper who has any interest in the welfare of the public would consent to carry such dangerous and misleading advertisements in his columns."

Youth and Old Age

Between youth and old age there is a never-ending conflict. Vitality is continually pitted against experience, and sometimes victory falls to the one and again to the other.

Among the greatest names in history we find, side by side, those of youth and old age. Men who have lived temperate lives and have escaped the aggravating infirmities of age are often more than a match for youth in mental endurance.

The health and efficiency of an elderly man depends largely upon his mental attitude. The man who begins to look over his should at fifty will be stumbling through life at sixty, while the one who is continually looking ahead and seeking intellectual advancement will continue to increase in mental capacity. The brain power grows long after the maximum of physical strenght has been reached.

For the man of advanced years simple diet and regularity of habits are essential. The physiological processes are less active, and many structures lack the elasticity of youth, and should not be subjected to undue strain.

Tolerant age is more than a match for intolerant youth, and the mental poise which should come with advancing years has a decided bearing on the physical well-going and mental power.

The infirmities of age are often less of a handicap to the accomplishment of serious and effective work than the erratic vitality of youth.—"Little Talks on Health and Hygiene," by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., L. L. D., Commissioner of Health.

The Wineless Navy.

The possibility of war reveals a splendid confidence in our navy, which Admiral Beresford, of Great Britain, declares is the best navy, unit for unit, in the world. Many people will remember with a shock of mingled amusement and regret that a year or two ago Secretary Daniels, because of his wine mess order, was being energetically assailed as incompetent despite Admiral Dewey's protests.

At this time it is peculiarly appropriate to quote Captain J. S. McKeen, who says: "We have made more real progress in the last two years than in any previous five-year period in my experience in the navy. I do not think I have ever known a time when everybody in the service, from top to bottom, was working as hard with their heads and hands to prepare the fleet for active service," and Rear Admiral Knight, president of the war college, testifies: "Secretary Daniels has done more for the war college than any of his predecessors." Today the navy is dry and efficient—and more efficient because it is dry.

The Power of Drink.

(By John B. Gough.)

The power of drink no man can understand; it is a mystery to the victim himself. I spoke with a man who was strong-minded with regard to everything else—a man of intellectual power and ability; a man who had made himself famous as an author—and I pleaded with him to give up the habit. I pointed to the pictures of his wife and two daughters and I said to him: "You tell me you love your wife—look there; for her sake give it up; you tell me you love your children; that girl you say is to be married soon; never let her husband tell her that her father is a drunkard." And he shook his head. I put my hand upon him and I pleaded with him as if I were pleading for his own life. Then he stepped back and brushed his fingers through his hair and wiped away the tears that were streaming down his cheeks, and said: "Give it up? Why, John Gough, Dives in hell never longed for a drop of water on his parched tongue as with every power I have longed for drink, and I will have it." That man was once a Sabbath school teacher.

MEN SOMETIMES FORGET.

Men sometimes make up their minds that they have gone as far as they intend to go in the spiritual life, that they have got up to a certain level, and do not intend to mount higher. They forget that God is the master, not themselves; and that their business is to follow the lead of grace, whithersoever it may take them. Besides, there is no such thing as a level in the spiritual life. All is ascent or descent, advance or retreat. Whatever is not first, is assuredly the last. The question is not what we will do, but what God will do. What indiscretion can be greater than to disobey God or to dictate to him?—F. W. Faber.

Uncle Sam Tells You How You May Become Strong

Soldiers use their rifles, weighing eight pounds and about forty inches long, in the following exercise:

It strengthens the chest, arms and hand muscles and makes for steadiness of nerves. Instead of the rifle, an iron rod of the same weight and length may be used.

Still It Purifies.

A student once went for advice to a pious old man, and; said to him "Father, I love to hear about God and spiritual things, but all the good I hear seems to go in one ear and out the other. I forget too soon; and this grives me."

Then the old father said: "My son, take this basket and bring it to me full of water."

The student took the basket and went to a wide brook and worked for a long time, but he could get no water to stay in the basket; as soon as it was full it became empty again.

At last he grew tired, for he saw that all his labor was in vain; so he went back to the father and told him what had happened, and how the water would not remain in the basket.

Then the father said: "Give me the basket and let me look at it."

And when he took the basket in his hand and had examined it, he said: "Now, see, my son,you have not worked in vain; true it is, indeed, that no water has remained in the basket, but it has washed it clean tnd pure. So with you, and everyone who hears and reads God's Word with diligence and prayer; he may not retain everything, but still it purifies his mind, and makes him more fit for the world to come."

ONLY IN CHRIST.

Though all the earth were covered with helpers and lovers of my soul, "as the sand by the seashore," and all the heavens were sown with faces of angels who cared for me and succored me, thick as the stars in the milky way—Yea, though all these were gathered all could not do for me what I need, into one mighty and loving creature, even he were not sufficient to stay for one soul and man. We want more than creature help. We need the whole fullness of the Godhead to draw from. It is all there in Christ, for each of us. Whosoever will, let him draw freely. Why should we leave the fountain of living waters to hew out for ourselves, with infinite pains, broken cisterns that can hold no water? All we need is in Christ. Let us lift our eyes from the low earth and all creatures, and behold "no man many more," as Lord and Helper, "save Jesus only," "that we may be filled with all the fullness of God."—Alexander Maclaren.

CHRIST IS OUR PLEASURE.

It is related that a Hindu of rank, being troubled in his conscience about the future state, having heard of Christians and desiring to know about their religion and Christ, visited England supplied with introductions to some leading people. At a great dinner to which he was invited he quietly said to his neighbor: "Can you tell me something about Christ and your religion?" "Hush," was the reply, "we do not speak of such things at dinner parties." Later, when he was invited to a ball, while dancing with a young lady, he asked her the same question, and received for reply that "a ball is no place to discuss such subjects." The young lady told the truth. But if we cannot take our Saviour with us into our pleasures, what kind of pleasures are they?—Central Christian Advocate.

Keeping and Being Kept.

Psalm xxxiv. 13—Keep the tongue from evil and thy lips from speaking guile.

Philippians vi 7—The peace of God all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life.

Matthew xix. 17—If thou wouldest enter into life, keep the commandments. John xiv. 15; 1 John v. 3.

Proverbs iv. 23—Keep thy heart with is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings and oppositions of science falsely so-called.

1 John v. 21—Keep yourselves from idols.

Jude 21—Keep yourselves in the love of God.

Isaiah xxvi.3—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee, because he trutheth in thee.

2 Timothy i 12—I am presuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him.

1 Timothy vi. 20—Keep that which which passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus.

Jude 24—Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy.

THE ONE HELPER.

Wouldst thou have much power against sin, and much increase of holiness, let thine eye be much on Christ; set thine heart on him; let it dwell in him, and be still with him. When sin is likely to prevail in any kind, go to him, tell him of the insurrection of his enemies and thy inability to resist, and desire him to suppress and help thee against them, that they gain nothing by their stirrings but some new wound. If thy heart begin to be taken with and moved toward sin, lay it before him; the beams of his love shall eat out the fire of those sinful lusts. Wouldst thou have thy pride and passions and love of the world and self-love killed, go sue for the virtue of his death, and that will do it. Seek his Spirit, the spirit of meekness and humility and divine love. Look on him, and he will draw thy heart heavenward, and unite it to himself, and make it like himself. And is not that the thing thou desirest?—Leighton.

THE HABIT OF BEING HAPPY.

Keeping oneself reasonably happy is a duty that ought not to be shirked. Science is telling us these days that to get out of the habit of enjoyment is to get depressed in vitality and vigor, to weaken in efficiency, and grow old before one's time. There is nothing like laughter—nor empty-headed laughter, but the intelligent, wholesome, kindly-hearted kind—to keep people young and fresh and fit for business and the obligation of living. Of course, this is a prescription not easy to live up to always, but there is no reasonable excuse ror not trying to do it. Sometimes it is just about as easy to be happy as to be miserable if one makes up his mind to it, and there is no doubt at all as to which pays the best.—Onward.

Christianity a Failure? Has Never Been Tried, Says Rev. Mr. Stelzle

(By REV. CHARLES STELZLE.)

War isn't the cause of hatred and strife—it is the result of hatred and strife.

Therefore you'll never get rid of war until you rid society of those things which develop hatred and strife.

War will never be abolished until social and economic injustice is removed, because industrial militarism inevitably leads to every other kind of militarism.

Some of us have been saying that Christianity has failed to stop the war. How could it stop the war when men have declined to practice the principles of Christianity?

It's like denying the power of medicine to heal, although one declines to take the medicine!

Christianity has never really been tried—either in this war or anywhere else. If the principles of Jesus were to be applied to human society, it would end all strife and do away with all injustices.

Nobody will deny the statement. Then why blame Christianity because it hasn't stopped the war?

The church may have failed at some vital points, but Christianity hasn't.

It's rank nonsense to imagine that Christianity is a kind of hocus-pocus, "eeny, meeny, miney, moe" proposition, which in some mysterious way will work a revolution in spite of the unwillingness of men to adopt it as a vital factor in their lives.

Christianity is something that's got to be lived, not mumbled—it isn't something that one can conjure with like a magician's wand.

If Christianity is to stop the war, we'll have to apply it no matter how it hurts. And it will hurt. Not in the same way that an enemy bullet or torpedo hurts—but it will make one wince as one realizes how mean and small—and hateful we have been.

Christianity a failure? Try it out! It stands as a challenge to the warring nations!

CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE

(BY A. SPANGLE.)

Concerning what did Paul reason before Felix?

"He reasoned of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come." Acts 24:25.

Note—Temperance means habitual moderation and control in the indulgence of the appetites and passions; in other words, self-control.

Of what is temperance a fruit?

"But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." Gal. 5:22, 23.

Note—Temperance puts wood on the fire, meal in the barrel, flour in the tub, money in the purse, credit in the country, contentment in the house, clothes on the back, and vigor in the body."—Benjamin Franklin.

"Add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity." 2 Peter 1:5-7.

Note—Temperance is rightly placed here as to order. Knowledge is a prerequisite to temperance, and temperance to patience. It is very difficult for an intemperate person to be patient.

What is said of those who strive for the mastery?

"And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things." 1 Cor. 9:25.

In running the Christian race, what did Paul say he did?

"But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection; lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway." Verse 27.

Why are kings and rulers admonished to be temperate?

"It is not for kings to drink wine; nor for princes strong drink; lest they drink, and forget the law, and pervert the judgment of any of the afflicted." Prov. 31:4, 5.

Why were priests forbidden to use intoxicating drink while engaged in the sanctuary service?

"And the Lord spake unto Aaron, saying, Do not drink wine nor strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle * * * that ye may put difference between holy and unholy, and between unclean and clean." Lev. 10:8-10.

Note—The danger in the indulgence of stimulating foods and drinks is that they create an unnatural appetite and thirst, thus leading to excess. Both food and drink should be nourishing and non-stimulating.

For what should men eat and drink?

"Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the son of nobles, and thy princes eat in due season, for strength, and not for drunkenness!" Eccl. 10:17.

Why did Daniel refuse the food and wine of the king?

"But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank." Dan. 1:8.

"Now, therefore beware, I pray thee, and drink not wine nor strong drink, and eat not any unclean thing." Judges 13:4.

Instead of these, what did he request?

"Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days; and let them give us pulse to eat, and water to drink." Verse 12.

At the end of the ten days' test, how did he and his companions appear?

"And at the end of ten days their countenances appeared fairer and fatter in flesh than the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat." Verse 15.

At the end of their three years' course in the school of Babylon, how did the wisdom of Daniel and his companions compare with that of others?

"Now at the end of the days * * * the king communed with them; and among them all was none found, none like Daniel, Hananiah, Michael, and Azariah: * * * and in all matters of wisdom and understanding, that the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and astrologers that were in all the realm." Verses 18-20.

"Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that puttest thy bottle to him, and makest him drunken." Hab. 2:15.

What kind of professed Christians are not fellowshiped?

"But now I have written unto you not to keep company, if any man that is called a brother be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolator, or a railer, or a drunkard." 1 Cor. 5:11.

Can drunkards enter the kingdom of God?

"Neither fornicators, nor idolators, * * * nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God." 1 Cor. 6:9, 10.

"And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life." Rev. 12:27.

For what perfection of character did the apostle pray?

"And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." 1 Thess. 5:23.

Note—For notable examples of total abstinence in the Bible, see the wife of Manoah, the mother of Samson. (1 Sam. 1:15) the Rachabites (Jer. 35:1-10; and John the Baptist (Luke 1:13-15.)

Song of the Rye.

I was made to be eaten,
And not to be drank;
To be threshed in the barn,
Not soaked in a tank.
I come as a blessing
When put through a mill;
As a blight and a curse
When run through a still.

Make me up into loaves,
And your children are fed:
But if into drink,
I'll starve them instead.
In bread I'm a servant,
The eater shall rule;
In drink I am master,

AFTERWARD

How happy are tired Chirstians, afterwards! No calm more deep than that which succeds a storm. What has not rejoiced in clear shinings after rain? Victorious banquets are for well-exercised soldiers. After killing lion, we eat the honey; after climbing the Hill Difficulty, we sit down in the arbor to rest; after traversing the Valley of Humiliation, after fighting with Apollyon, the shining one appears, with the healing branch from the tree of life. Our sorrows, like the passing keels of the vessels upon the sea, leave a silver line of holy light behind them, "afterwards." It is peace, sweet, deep peace, which follows the horrible turmoil which once reigned in our tormented, guilty souls. See, then, the happy estate of aChirstian! He has his best things last, and he therefore in this world receives his worst things first. But even his worst things are "afterward" good things, harsh ploughings rich by his losses, he rises by his falls, he lives by dying, and becomefull by being emptied; if then, his grieveous offliction yield him so much peaceable fruit in this life, what shall be the full vintage of joy "afterward" in grory? If his dark nights are as bright as the world's day's what shall his days be? If even his starlight is more splendid than the sun, what must his sunlight be? If he can sing in a dungeon, how sweetly will he sing in glory! If he can praise the Lord in the fires, how will he extol Him before the eteral throne! If evil be good to him now, what will the overflowing goodness of God be to him then? Oh, blessed"afterwards!" Who would not be a Chirstian?. Who would not bear the present cross for the crown which cometh afterwards? But herein is work for patience, for the triumph for the present, but "afterward." Wait, O soul, and let patience have her perfect work. C. H. Surgeon.

LONG SUFFERING

By C. Petty.

How loath mortals are to endure long-suffering! Yet it is one of the things mentioned in the fruit of the Spirit by Paul, and against which there is no law against it, it must be out of the reach of law, or above one; and if so, the Christian should be willing to pass through all the suffering that falls to his lot, for it means much to the Christian in preparing him for the home to which he is going.

Looking at it from the Lord's side, it shows mercy, foregiveness, and forbearance; yet there is penalty delayed unless man is penitent and submissive. But the long-suffering enjoined on Christians by the Master has no penalty delayed. For the Lord has commanded us:"Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and presecute you." (Matt. 5:44.) That settles the penalty question so far as the Christain is concerned. There is none. And well it is; for if the Lord had commanded his people to heap up penalty on men, there would be no end to the suffering of mortals.

Paul, in giving to the church at Cornith a long list of the things that would prove to them that they were pure in character, (2Cor.6: 3),uses "long-suffering" as one of the things that it took to complete the list. Hear him: "By pureness, by knowledge, by long-suffering, by kindness, by the Holy Ghost, by love unfeigned." To the Colossians, that their faith might remain strong, and waiting for the hope that was laid up in heaven for them, he says: "Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and long-suffering with joyfulness." (Col. 1: 11.)

It must have been a great consolation to the patriarch, Job,after he had passed through such a siege of long-suffering in the loss of all his children, all his wealth, and also having pased through great afflictions, to think that he had not sinned with his lips, neither did he have any hatred toward his pretending friends; but at the close of his great suffering he prayed for them. (Job 42: 10.) We should study the life of this man of God. It would sweeten our disposition, strengthen our faith, comfort our heart, and prepare us to endure suffering that may come to the child of God while traveling the"highway" that leads him home to "that city that hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God.'

"MY CUP RUNNETH OVER"

"Pessimism," says James Bryce, "is easier than optimism, as tearing down is easier than building up; therefore we should be the more on guard against it." A pessimist is not beloved by his fellows. No one comes to a pessimist for good tidings, for help, for inspiration for alms. The man who habitually gives is an habitual optimist. He overflows. Those whose cups are empty instinctively flock about him whose "cup runneth over."

No chapter in Holy Writ is so well known, so often repeated, so universally loved as the Twenty-third Psalm. It bubbles with hope, with fullness of joy. The writer voices the life of a man, morally and physically healthy, who has a solid backing for his cheer, giving thanks for the past and drawing hope for the future. This Psalm is the verbal expression of a wholesome smile. Whoever wrote it must have been a magnetic mortal, a profitable person to know.

The world contains comparatively few people of the overflowing cup. Ask humanity: "How are you? How is the world using you?" and the average reply will be: "Oh, I can't complain."

The man in this gospel-blessed, bounty-filled America who has come no further toward the possession of the overflowing cup than "I can't complain," has a long way to get before he reaches the Twenty-third Psalm. The normal soul, said our Lord, has in it a gift from heaven, well of water springing up into everlasting life." The man who merly can't complain is a rain barrel, not a spring. Life that does not continuously overflow is not life. It is stagnation.

We must give if we would live. The habitual fault-finder, the complainer, the pessimist is like the desert land that "drinketh up the rivers." The people who spontaneously and joyously can say as did the Psalmist, "I shall not want," "I shall fear no evil," "I sit at the quiet table in the midst of strife," "my cup runneth over"—these are the springs in the desert of life to which the caravans of the waterless come for refreshment. It is easly to complain. It is easy to receive. But it is more profitable to rejoice—Minneapolis Journal.

PROSE NUGGETS

The smallest act of business may be done in a great spirit. There is opportunity in buying and seling for the discipline of character.—Bishop Westcott.

God takes men's hearty desire and will ,instead of the deed, when they have not the power to fulfill it; but He never takes the bare deed instead of a better life than that of every day, but it is the life of every day from which elements of a better life must come. —Maeterlinck.

What we have to do is to make the best of the corner of the vineyard the Master has given us, and then to believe that he will see to the rest, and will not let it run to waste.—Robert Collyer.

Never be discouraged because good things get on so slowly; enter into the sublime patience of the Lord. God can afford to wait—why cannot we?—George Macdonald.

A man's true wealth is the good he does in this world. When he dies, men ask what property he has left behind him, but angels will inquire, "what good deeds hast thou sent before thee?"—From the Arabic.

Little self-denials, little passing words of sympathy, little nameless acts of kindness, little silent victories over favarite tempations—these are the silent threads of gold which, when woven together, gleam out so brightly in the pattern of life that God approves.—Dean Farrar.

The line between a fanatic and a hero is often difficult to draw, but it is safe to say that a hero stands for the truth as he sees it, after he has consulted both his own heart and the lager Christian conscience which surrounds him. He may find that these two consciences do not agree. Thereupon he must decide which is right, the community or the individual. Generally he will fnd that if his own conscience is clear and unselfish, there will be at least a larger conscience than his own agreeing with him, even if it be not the conscience of the whole people.—C. L. Slattery.

Why You Can't Kill the Churches

(By Rev. Charles Stelzle.)

Everybody's religious, even though they don't express it in the same way.

"None can deny that it is the largest and most ubiquitous fact connected with the existence of mankind."

What he meant was that religion shows itself in more ways than anything else does.

The fact is, man is INCURABLY religious. You can't knock it OUT of him, although many of us think that we need to pound it INTO most people.

Religion isn't manufactured by priests and ministers. It is born in the hearts of men—even savages.

Now religion that gets anywhere is a social force. No man can be truly religious alone; there must be a God—you admit this. BUT THERE MUST ALSO BE A NEIGHBOR.

Do you remember what Jesus once said about loving God with all your heart, and your neighbor as yourself?

The reason that there are churches, and the reason that it's next to impossible to kill a church, is because of this social force.

They call it "denominationalism," and a lot of other things, but fundamentally it's the social power in religion that keeps the churches alive.

Maybe you'll come back and say it's the religious force of religion that keeps it alive. All right, call it what you please, but its the fact that there's God—and somebody else—that makes the thing vital.

Religion is life. And life produces what the scientists call "organisms." There is no life without organization. The "unorganic" is the lifeless. It's when "things fall apart" that they die. "Dissolution," they call it.

The church is man's organized expression of his religious life and instincts. It is the organization which he has formed to permit him to serve best. FOR TRUE RELIGION MEANS SERVICE.

And so when a man says: "I believe in religion, but I don't believe in the church," he is forgetting, or he is ignorant of, one of the biggest facts in nature and history.

In the last analysis you couldn't have religion of any sort that was worth while without some kind of an organization.

If you don't like the churches as they exist today, you have the liberty to organize one that DOES suit you. But in this civilized country, with its moral and spiritual demands, you wouldn't get far along if you were to destroy all the churches—UNLESS YOU ORGANIZED BETTER ONES.

IN THE THEATERS

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"The Blue Paradise" Again This Evening

"The Blue Paradise," which the Messrs. Shubert will offer at the Majestic again tonight, is generally conceded to be the reigning operatic sensation of both America and Europe. This brilliant entertainment, the work of Leo Stein, author of "The Merry Widow," and Edmund Eysler, was first staged in Vienna two years ago. Its success was instantaneous and since then its melodious score and ingenious story have been applauded in every capital of continental Europe. The Messrs. Shubert emerged triumphant from the struggle that ensued for the American rights to the play. Under their direction "The Blue Paradise" was first presented in July, 1915, at the famous Casino theater, New York, and every reader of a newspaper or a magazine knows that the success it scored made theatrical history. For fifty-two consecutive weeks this gayest of light operas attracted a succession of crowded houses that set a new record on Broadway and in the historic playhouse in which many of the most notable musical successes of the past quarter of a century were first made known to the metropolis. The effective manner in which mirth, melody, fun, striking stage pictures and elaborate costuming have been blended explains the rare vogue that "The Blue Paradise" attained with all classes of pleasure seekers. In the company of almost 100 persons to be seen here will be found such conspicuous players as Paul Nicholson, Miss Norton, Charles Bowers, Juliette Lange, Charles Derickson, Gypsy Dale, Robert Lee Allen, Gustav Baci, and others. The large chorus of Broadway beauties are expert singers and dancers. The alluring charm of the musical score of "The Blue Paradise" will receive full justice from the special symphony orchestra which the company carries. Nothing has been left undone to make this production artistically distinctive in settings and costumes.

Annette Kellermann in "A Daughter of the Gods."

In "A Daughter of the Gods," the William Fox $1,000,000 picture beautiful, featuring Annette Kellermann, the coming attraction at the Majestic all next week, may be seen some results of the best engineering feats ever attempted by an individual.

In order to attain a perfection of artistic detail, Mr. Fox caused hills to be razed that plains might be made for the accommodation of spear bearing warriors, and a river's course diverted that a mountain torrent might form the finishing touch to a scene in which gnomes govern.

This last piece of engineering was seen by several representatives of the British government, located at Kingston, Jamaica, who, after a thorough examination of the same, described it as one of the most pretentious works of the kind ever undertaken successfully by one man. To accomplish these results Mr. Fox found it necessary to take from the United States, all the way to the tropics, a corps of expert engineers and a working force of skilled laborers, which in itself cost a fortune.

In Gnomeland, where the most perfect woman in the world is taken captive—one of the most important scenes in this screen fantasy—there is something that will appeal to the younger folks; for, amid the bewildering thickets of this mythical kingdom of dwarfs may be seen the little folk carrying on their form of government, religious worship and their daily household duties, which for the purpose, have been carried to the extremes of fantasy.

ICELAND'S SECRET SPORT.

Johannes Josefssen to Demonstrate Glima at the New Palace.

The national secret sport of Iceland, the mysteries of which have been jealously guarded since the eleventh century, is to be demonstrated by the master of glima, Johannes Josefssen, at the New Palace the first four days of the coming week. Glima is Iceland's jiu jitsu, claimed to be two-fold more terrible than the Jap style of defense and two-fold more efficacious. Assisting Mr. Josefssen are a company of native Icelanders through whom he demonstrates how the master of glima can defend himself against the attacks of a boxer, a man armed with knife or revolver or even against the united attacks of three thugs. It is a nerve-tickling exhibition of dexterity and courage.

Jane Couthrope and Charles Forrester and company are to present the farce-comeedy of every-day life, "Our Family," a sketc hthat is like a page from the daily history of the average American home. Lyon and Temple, two breezy talking and singing vaudeville folks, a man and a woman, also are on this bill. The Victoria Four, a male quartet unlike any other male quartet on earth; Frank Hartley, whose comedy juggling made him for two years a prime favorite of the habitues of London music halals, and Arthur S. Silver and Eva North in their unique skit, "Bashfulology," complete this bill.

Tonight's will bbe the final performance of the current bill at the New Palace, the one featured by the Horlick family, Elsie Williams and others. The Horlicks arer presenting a group of Russian folk dances in the midst of a scene deepicting a gypsy camp at nightfall. Natcha and Tataina are the solo dancers with a supporting company of eight people. Elsie Williams and company in the newly wed farce, "Who Was to Blame?" a dish-smashing family row; Byal and Early, the eccentric comedy characters in "A Scotch Highball;" Davis and Allen, whose smart talk is done in a skit, "The General Salesman;" Alexandria, the master xylophonist, and the Three Ankers, a trio of superb hand balancing athletes, are others on the bill.

AT THE LYRIC.

Chaplin in "Easy Street."

"Easy Street" is a far more pretentious production than any previous Chaplin offering has been, being one of those studio rarities—a Chaplin pet. To put it plaintly, Chaplin himself was so obsessed with the merits of "Easy Street" from its first rehearsal that he wouldn't release it until it was up to his standard of excellence. Mr. Chaplin's determination to have everything just right caused a delay of several weeks which appears to have been justified, because critics who have followed Chaplin from his beginnings on the screen insist that this is the best thing that he has done. It will be shown both today and tomorrow. Enthusiastic crowds that witnessed him in this picture several weeks ago were unanimous in their opinion that it was the funniest Chaplin comedy ever seen in Fort Wayne. "Sold at Auction," the feature with Lois Meredith as the star, has a big message to every woman forced to fight her own way. With a strong story, excellent photography and direction, and Miss Meredith's wide popularity makes it a photoplay par excellence. Tomorrow only we will present a World picture, "Without a Soul," with Clara Kimball Young. Her characterization of Lola is one of the most remarkable that has ever been put on the screen. Next Monday and Tuesday we offer Vitagraph's super-production, "The Battle Cry of Peace," in nine parts, at popular prices. This extraordinary entertainment bargain should be taken advantage of by every one who fully realizes that we are now standing on the brink of a precipice that is liable to plunge us into the world-wide war that has staggered humanity by the magnitude of its horrors and devastation.

Judge Kerr Judge Kerr

An old man, 73 years of age, picked up coal along the railroad tracks. His son-in-law had been out of work for a long time suffering from a broken ankle, and the family was in great need of fuel and groceries. The old fellow was tried in Police Court before me. I told him to be careful, not go on the tracks as he was too old and feeble—I ordered him discharged and sent home. Was I right or wrong? I leave it to the people.

Another fellow was charged with stealing coal. The testimony showed he had an EMPTY coal bucket. I found him not guilty because he hadn't taken any coal. Was I right or wrong?

A person who owned real estate, stole. I added a jail sentence to the fine and refused to suspend it for the reason that the party was not poor, hungry or needy. Was this right or wrong?

Several notorious dives and bum-holes have been put out of business by my decisions. Is this right or wrong?

I leave some guilty men go because I look into their cases, and find that the money will do more good at home with the wife and children than in a fine. Is this right or wrong?

The first offender I give a chance. I hope he will brace up.

Don't you think it best for a Police Judge to take some interest in the boy, and try to encourage him at the right time, to do better; and don't you think it best for the Police Judge to help the old man and try to get him to brace up?

Helping the boy; guarding the girl; aiding the unfortunate, and faithfully discharging my duties, has been my constant aim, and will continue so if I am re-nominated.

H. WAVELAND KERR,
Democratic Candidate for City Judge.

MAKES WORLD RECORD IN UNDERWATER SWIM

Chicago, March 3.—What is claimed as a world's record for underwater swimming was made last night at the University of Chicago by Samuel Williston, a freshman, who swam 324 feet in Bartlett gymnasium tank. The previous mark was 320 feet.

In breaking the record, however, young Williston had a narrow escape, as he sank just as he crossed the finish line. He was pulled out unconscious and it required more than two minutes to revive him.

The event was a feature in connection with a dual meet between the University of Wisconsin and the University of Chicago, which was won by the latter, 39 to 29.

VON BERNSTORFF IS NAMED FOR REICHSTAG

Amsterdam, March 3.—Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, has been nominated as a candidate for the reichstag in place of the late Herr von Neiding, according to the Telegraaf.

The German press has been ordered not to publish a word regarding the American-Mexican revelations until further notice, according to reports here. The dispatch says that only a few circles are aware of the intrigue and that it is considered possible the result of the affair will be the resignation of Foreign Secretary Zimmerman and the ending of Count von Bernstorff's career as a diplomat.

TO CROSS FRONTIER WITHIN NEXT WEEK

Release of 68 Americans in Germany Scheduled for Wednesday.

Berlin, Friday, March 2.—(Via London, March 3.)—The 68 Americans who were brought to Germany as prisoners on board the captured British steamer Yarrowdale expect to be released on March 7. The delay is accounted for by a statement that an English sailor who was confined in the same camp with the Americans, is ill with spotted typhus and that the segregation of the Yarrowdale prisoners was dictated by sanitary reasons.

A surgeon in the service of the Spanish embassy is in touch with the Americans and if there is no outbreak of the disease among them a clean bill of health will be issued and they will be given permission to cross the frontier inside of a week.

The Four American consuls were transferred to Turkey after the breach of relations between Germany and the United States are still here. The German government is awaiting word from Constantinople as to whether the arrangements are acceptable or not. The circumstances attending the sudden transfer of Americain officials and the customary red tape to be overcome suggested, it is stated, the advisability of the four consuls remaining in Germany rather than being detained at the frontier awaiting assurances that their trip to Turkey would be free from any difficulties.

The American officials still here are Consul Henry C. Damm, ordered from Aachen to Harbut, Turkey; Vice Consul W. Bruce Wallace, Magdeburg to Constantinople; Vice Consul C. Innes Brown, Mannheim Constantinople; Consul John Q. Wood, Chemnitz to Messina.

Release of these officials was asked by the United States on Wednesday.

SAYS HUSBAND TALKED AFTER HEART STOPPED

Chicago, Ill., March 3.—Lake Bluff residents are interested in facts surrounding the death Tuesday night of Gideon P. Brown, Chicago inventor whose patent man-hole scraper recently was adopted by the navy department.

Mrs. Brown declares she believes her husband lived five minutes after his heart burst and after heart action and pulse had entirely subsided. Brown had just clasped his wife in his arms and squeezed her three times.

At the last embrace both heard a bursting sound, and they realized that what doctors had predicted had happened.

His heart had burst.

"Help me to the sofa. I'm done for," he said. She felt his pulse. There was none, she said. Still, for five minutes thereafter he discussed business affairs with her. He was 55.

PASSENGERS IN FEAR.

New York, March 3.—Few of the passengers on the French liner Touraine, which arrived last night from Bordeau, went to bed during passage through the submarine zone and none of them undressed. When the Touraine left the mouth of the Gironde on February 20 the passengers and crew were put through a lifeboat drill and the passengers were requested to wear their lifebelts all night. Dinner was ended by 5:30 o'clock so that the lights could be extinguished all over the ship.

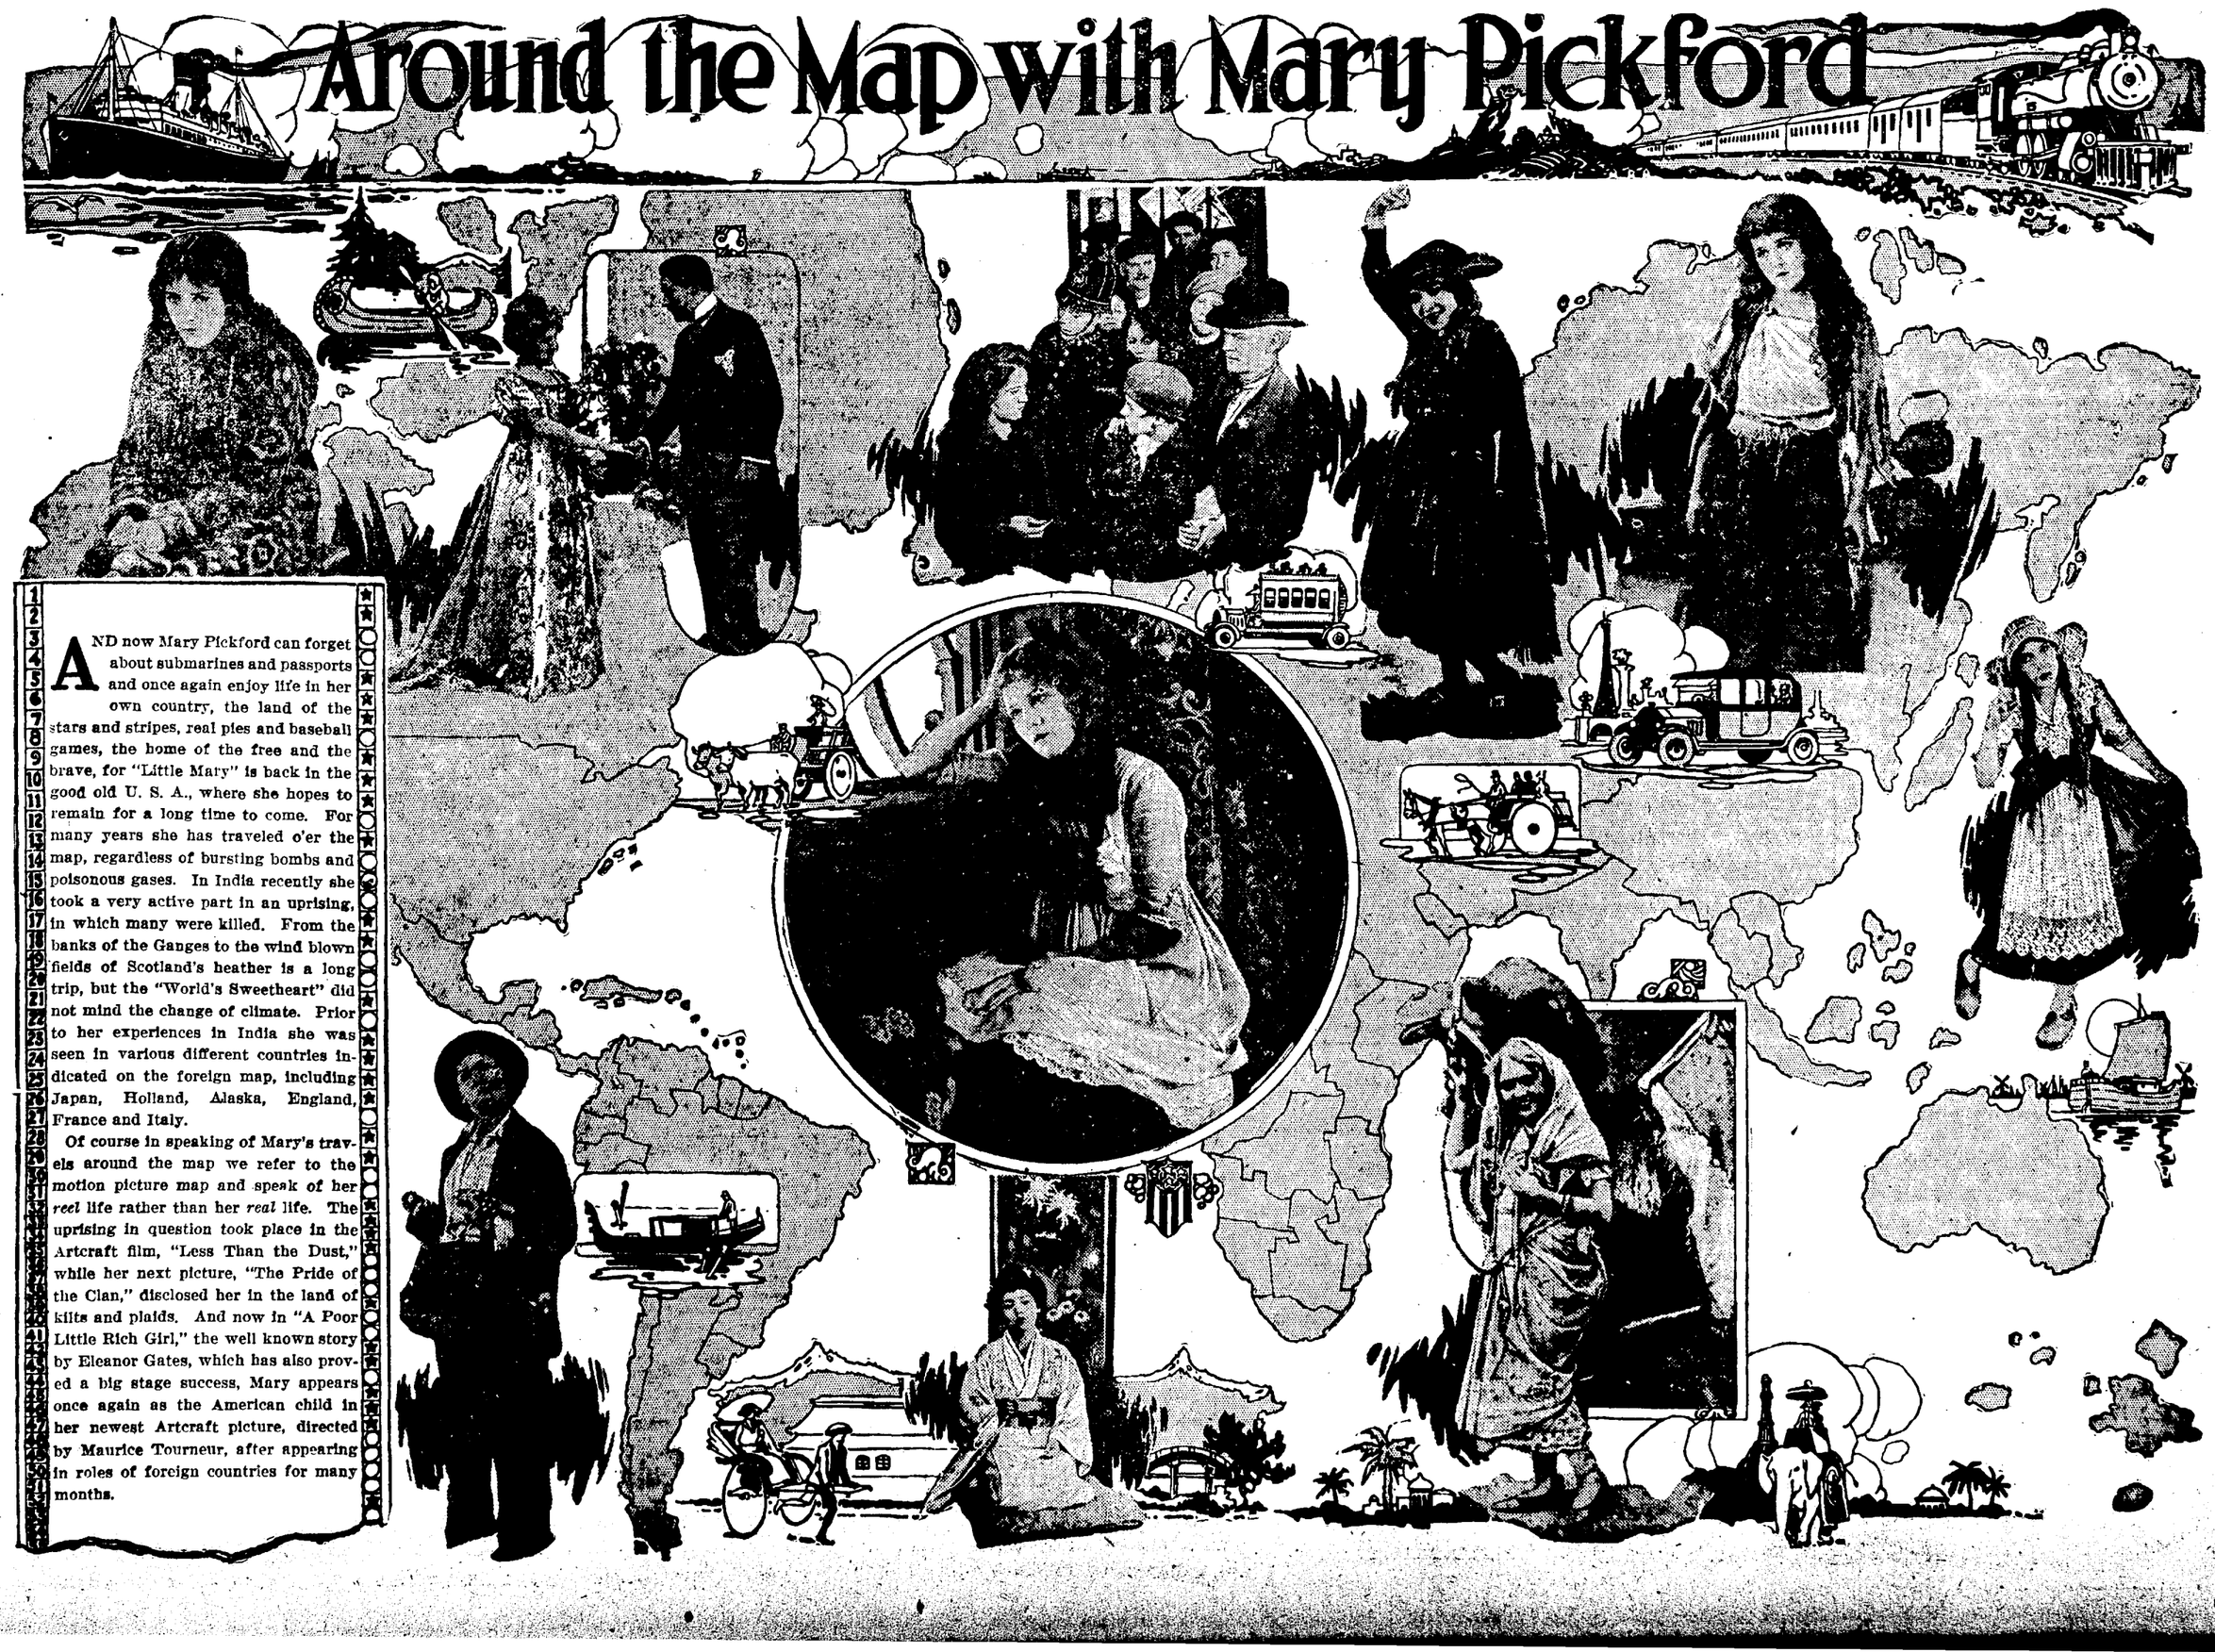
Around the Map with Mary Pickford



AND now Mary Pickford can forget about submarines and passports and once again enjoy life in her own country, the land of the stars and stripes, real pies and baseball games, the home of the free and the brave, for "Little Mary" is back in the good old U. S. A., where she hopes to remain for a long time to come. For many years she has traveled o'er the map, regardless of bursting bombs and poisonous gases. In India recently she took a very active part in an uprising, in which many were killed. From the banks of the Ganges to the wind blown fields of Scotland's heather is a long trip, but the "World's Sweetheart" did not mind the change of climate. Prior to her experiences in India she was seen in various different countries indicated on the foreign map, including Japan, Holland, Alaska, England, France and Italy.

PLEDGES 500,000 MEN TO UNCLE SAM

Christian Endeavor Wants Peace, But Will Fight if War Comes.

Boston, Mass., Mar. 1.—The Christian endeavor pledges 500,000 men to the president should the country need defenders.

P.E. CLARK

The Christian endeavor is pledged to peace, but C. E.'s in Boston across San Francisco will take arms should the United States enter war.

The announcement comes from Dr. Daniel A. Poling, associate president the United Societies of Christian endeavor who has just held a conference in Washington with Secretary of War Baker.

"Should we take up arms not for a strip of land or a stretch of set but in defense of the principles of national honor then count on our prompt response for any call," is the pledge he made the war department.

It is said Dr. Francis E. Clark, founder of the World's Christian Endeavor Peace union, endorses Dr. Poling's sentiments on war.

Many noted leaders are fighting in European armies. The secretary of the national union in Germany and his two sons are in the trenches. Dr. Edgar Pollack, endeavor leader in London, sacrificed two sons at Somme.

The Christian endeavor counts 3,000,000 membership in America. Of this number 500,000 are young men averaging 30 years of age. The union's membership strength lies in the middle west.

"The Christian endeavor," says Dr. Poling, "stands for good citizenship. We teach good citizenship to our young men and women. It is consistent with our high ideals that we support the country in hour of need."

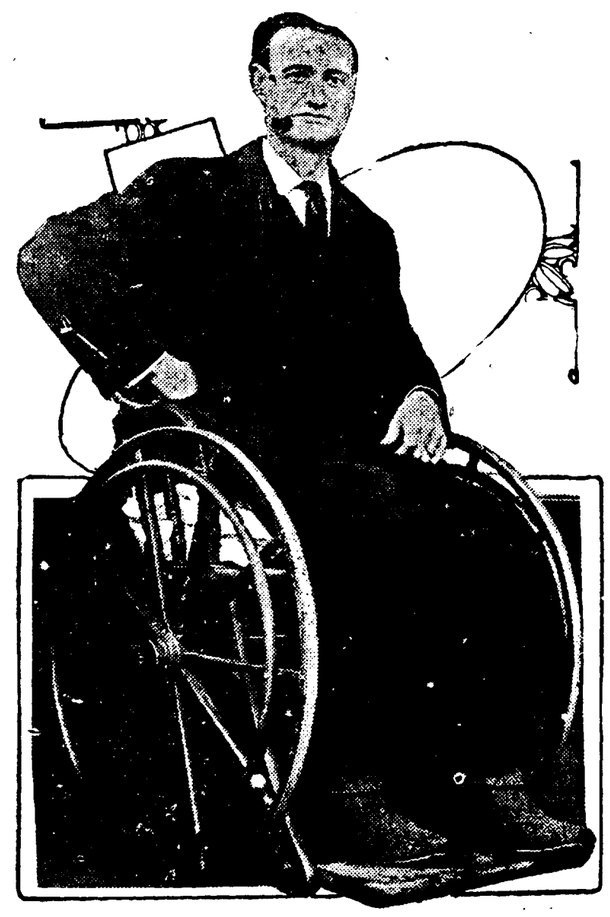
You Don't Need Feet if You Know How to Use Your Head, Cripple's Philosophy

What's the Use of a Pair of Feet? All They Do is Carry You Around, Says Hopeless Cripple Who is Thorough Optimist.



WILLIAM A. KIM.

Spokane, Wash., March 3.—"What's the use of a pair of feet? All they do is carry you around. A wheel chair answers the purpose just as well. If you have brains you don't need feet."

So says William A. Kim, hopeless cripple, and optimist.

One night eight years ago Kim rolled his wheel chair off a train here from San Francisco, where he had gone searching for surgical skill which would remove the twists from his tortured spine and iron out the paralysis which has killed him—from the waist down.

He had 65 cents in his pocket. It represented the sum total of his worldly possessions.

But Kim also had an indomitable will and an ingrown cheerfulness. With these as his capital he went to work. He began selling life insurance policies.

That was eight years ago. Now Kim has a home of his own. In it is a piano, easy chairs, books. He is supporting his sister and her daughter. He has two jitney busses which daily bring him in more than a living.

Kim also has a philosophy of life which shames many a man more fortunate than he, just as does the story of his financial climb from a start of 65 cents.

"Give the best to the world, and the world will give its best back to you," is his motto.

"Instead of moaning over your fate, put your head to work. Your head is a great piece of machinery. You've no idea what it will do for you until you use it. If your arms were off close to your shoulders, your head should still make a living for you."

With this outlook on life Kim keeps the smiles playing over his face, and lectures other Spokane cripples when they get "down in the dumps."

Kim is 37 years old and unmarried. Eleven years ago he was a husky, robust structural ironworker and bridge builder.

He fell 26 feet from a bridge here and dislocated his spine. For eight months he was paralyzed. For 14 months he was on the flat of his back. For four years he was practically helpless.

But he kept his nerve and fought against discouragement.

When he began selling life insurance he found "easy pickings" among his former fellow workers. Trainmen knew him and "forgot" to collect his fare.

Naturally a mechanic, he turned to contracting, and from his wheel chair directed the erection of houses here, which he sold at a profit.

"I let the other fellow drive the nails," he laughed.

He bought a Ford truck and built an eight passenger body on it, and now it's one of the jitneys above mentioned.

ADVANTAGES OF A FIRELESS COOKER

How to Make a Very Satisfactory Device at Home at Low Cost—Directions For Its Use.

A very satisfactory fireless cooker may be made in the home at relatively slight expense, according to specialists of the Office of Home Economics of the department of Agriculture. The outside of the cooker may be a tightly built wooden box, an old trunk, a small barrel, a large butter or lard firkin or tin, or a large galvanized-iron bucket with close-fitting cover. In general, a well-built, conveniently sized box is perhaps most satisfactory, though the cookers entirely encased in metal have the advantage of being fireproof.

If a box is to be used, its size will depend on the size of the cooking kettle to be used in it and on whether there are to be one or two compartments. It must be large enough to allow for at least 4 inches of packing material all around the "nest" in which the cooking kettle is to be placed. For the sake of cleanliness and convenience the nest should be lined with metal and should be a trifle larger than the cooking utensil. If an extra source of heat, such as a hot brick or plate, is to be used, a metallic lining for the nest is imperative. For this purpose a galvanized iron or other metal bucket may be used or, better still, a tinsmith can make a lining of galvanized iron or zinc which can be provided with a rim to cover the packing material. In case no hot stone or plate is to be used in the cooker, the lining can be made of strong cardboard.

For the packing and insulating material a variety of substances may be used. Asbestos and mineral wool are good and have the additional advantage that they do not burn. Ground cork (such as is used in packing Malaga grapes), hay, excelsior, Spanish moss, wool, and crumpled paper may also be used satisfactorily. Of the inexpensive materials that can be obtained easily, crumpled paper is probably the most satisfactory, since it is clean and odorless and, if properly packed, will hold the heat better than some of the others. To pack the container with paper, crush single sheets of newspaper between the hands. Pack a layer at least 4 inches deep over the bottom of the outside container, tramping it in or pounding it in with a heavy stick of wood. Stand the container for the cooking vessel, or the lining for the nest, in the center of this layer and pack more crushed papers about it as solidly as possible. If other packing, such as excelsior, hay, or cork dust, is used, it should be packed in a similar way. Where an extra source of heat is to be used, it is much safer to pack the fireless cooker with some non-inflammable material, such as asbestos or mineral wool. A cheap and easily obtained substitute are the small cinders sifted from coal ashes, preferably those from soft coal, which may be obtained at the boiler house of any mill. The cinders from hard coal burned in the kitchen range will do, however. Experiments with this material made by home-economics specialists of the Department of Agriculture showed that it is very nearly as satisfactory as crumpled paper as a packing material. If a fireproof packing material is not used a heavy pad of asbestos paper should be put at the bottom of the metal nest and a sheet or two of asbestos paper should be placed between the lining of the nest and the packing material. Whatever packing material is used, it should come to the top of the container for the kettle, and the box should lack about 4 inches of being full. A cushion or pad must be provided to fill completely the space between the top of the packing and the cover of the box after the hot kettles are put in place. This should be made of some heavy goods, such as denim, and stuffed with cotton, crumpled paper, or excelsior. Hay made be used, but will be found more or less odorous.

The kettles used for cooking should be durable and free from seams or crevices, which are hard to clean. They should have perpendicular sides and the covers should be as flat as possible and provided with a deep rim shutting well down into the kettle to retain the steam. It is possible to buy kettles made especially for use in fireless cookers; these are provided with covers which can be clamped on tightly. The size of the kettle should be determined by the quantity of food to be cooked. Small amounts of food can not be cooked satisfactorily in large kettles, and it is therefore an advantage to have a cooker with compartments of two or more different sizes. Kettles holding about 6 quarts are of convenient size for general use. Tinned-iron kettles should not be used in a fireless cooker, for, although cheap, they are very apt to rust from the confined moisture. Enameled-ware kettles are satisfactory, especially if the covers are of the same material. Aluminum vessels may be purchased in shapes which make them especially well adapted for use in fireless cookers and, like enameled ware, they do not rust.

Metal Lining for Nest for Fireless Cooker.

How to Use the Fireless Cooker.

Obviously the fireless cooker must be used with intelligence to obtain the best results. It is best suited to those foods which require boiling, steaming, or long, slow cooking in a moist heat. Foods can not be fried in it, pies can not be baked successfully in the ordinary fireless cooker, nor can any cooking be done which requires a high, dry heat for browning. Meats, however, may be partially roasted in the oven and finished in the cooker, or may be begun in the cooker and finished in the oven with much the same results as if they were roasted in the oven entirely. The classes of food best adapted to the cooker are cereals, soups, meats, vegetables, dried fruits, steamed breads, and puddings.

When different foods are cooked together in the fireless cooker they must be such as require the same amount of cooking, since the cooker can not be opened to take out food without allowing the escape of a large amount of heat and making it necessary to reheat the contents. It would not do to put foods which need about one and one-half hours to cook into the cooker with a piece of meat which would stay several hours

The size of the container used in cooking with the fireless cooker should be governed according to the amount of food to be cooked. Small quantities of food can not be cooked satisfactorily in a large kettle in the fireless cooker. If a large kettle must be used, better results will be obtained if some other material which holds heat fairly well is used to fill up the empty space. This may be accomplished in several ways. One is to put the small quantity of food to be cooked into a smaller, tightly closed kettle, fill the large kettle with boiling water and put the small kettle into it, standing it on an inverted bowl or some other suitable support. This boiling water will take up and hold the heat better than air would. Several smaller dishes (if tightly covered) may be placed in the kettle surrounded by boiling water. Baking powder or other tins often are found useful for this purpose. Another way is to place one food in a basin which just fits into the top of a large kettle and to let some other material, some vegetable perhaps, cook in the water in the bottom of the kettle. Two or more flat, shallow kettles placed one on top of the other so as to fill the cooker, enable one to cook small amounts of different foods successfully. Such kettles, made especially for use in fireless cookers, may be purchased.

Time Required for Cooking.

The time which each kind of food should stay in the cooker depends both on the nature of the food and on the temperature at which it remains inside the cooker, and before recipes for use with the fireless cooker can be prepared one must have some means of knowing how temperatures are preserved in it. In experiments made in the Office of Home Economics a 6-quart kettle was filled with boiling water and put into the cooker, the packing of which happened to be newspaper. The temperature of the water, which was 212° F. when put into the cooker, was found to be 172° F. after four hours had elapsed and 155° F. after eight hours had elapsed. This shows the advisability of the common custom of allowing food to remain undisturbed in the cooker for at least six or eight hours, or in some cases overnight. If a soapstone, hot brick, or other extra source of heat is used, less time will be required. Materials which are denser than water (sugar sirup as used in cooking dried fruit), and therefore can be heated to a higher degree, will keep up the temperature longer when put into the cooker. Thus the density of the food material, as well as the amount and the length of time that the apparatus retains the heat, must be taken into consideration in determining how long different materials must be cooked in the cooker.

The recipes for dishes to be prepared in the fireless cooker differ somewhat from those for foods cooked in the ordinary way, chiefly in the amount of water or other liquids called for. Less liquid should be put into the food to be prepared in an ordinary fireless cooker, since there is no chance for water to evaporate. The cook must be guided largely by experience in deciding how long the food should be heated before being put into the cooker and how long it should be allowed to remain there.

HOW TO FEED THE YOUNG CALF

Brief Outline of Method for Feeding the Calf by Using Calf Meals and Only a Little Milk.

By J. B. LINDSEY.

Without recommending any preparation in particular, the writes takes this opportunity to outline the method for feeding the young calf in case it is desired to get along with as little milk as possible.

1. Allow the calf to remain with the dam as a rule for two or three days. In case of Jersey or Guernsey calves it may be necessary to shorten the time because of the laxative effect of such milk.

Fed Lindsey's Calf Meal No. VI.

2. The calf should be kept in a clean pen and well bedded. Damp, dirty quarters are to be avoided.

3. The pail out of which the calf is fed, as well as all utensils, must be kept clean. This is vital.

4. At the end of the second or third day begin to teach the calf to drink warm whole milk. That with a low fat percentage (4 or less) is preferable to a richer article. From 4 to 6 quarts daily is sufficient for the first two weeks, the amount depending upon the vigor and size of the calf. It is better to feed three times daily during this time, but not necessary.

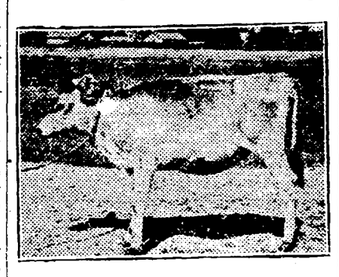
5. After the first two weeks warm skim milk can gradually be substituted for the whole milk, and in case of vigorous calves, within a week or ten days thereafter the substitution may be completed.

6. At the end of the second, or possibly the third, week (judgment to be used in all cases), a quart of the calf-meal gruel may be added. This substitute is best prepared, in the opinion of the writer, by using 3½ to 4 ounces of meal to each quart of water. The meal is first stirred with a little cold water to get out the lumps and to convert it into a paste. A quart of boiling or very hot water is then added, and the mixture thoroughly stirred and allowed to stand until milk-warm, in which condition it is fed, preferably mixed with the milk. Neither milk nor calf-meal gruels should be fed cold, but milk-warm. The quantity of skim milk can be reduced to 4 quarts daily, and the quantity of calf-meal gruel gradually increased until the animal is receiving 4 to 6 quarts a day of the latter, depending upon its ability to utilize it.

7. At the end of three months the skim milk can be reduced to 3 quarts, or possibly to 2 quarts, daily if necessary. Before this time the animal should be taught to eat the calf meal dry, by placing some of it in a box fastened to the wall, and at first placing a little in its mouth and rubbing the meal upon its nose. Rowen or fine hay should also be placed before the calf in a little rack, and it will soon learn to take it.

8. At the end of four months the skim milk may be entirely withdrawn and a few weeks later the calf-meal gruel, for by this time the animal should be eating considerable dry meal and hay. Naturally, if skim milk is available it is worth while to feed it until the calf is six months of age, it proving very helpful in increasing growth. Feeders wishing to secure large animals frequently feed skim milk until the animal reaches eight months or even twelve months of age; they also defer breeding until the calf is one year, nine months old.

9. After the calf is five months old, if in good condition, the calf meal can be entirely removed and an ordinary grain mixture substituted, consisting, by weight, of one-third ground oats, one-third wheat bran and one-third corn or hominy meal; or wheat middlings may be substituted in the mixture for ground oats. The roughage may consist of one-half to one peck of silage and what rowen or fine hay the animal will clean up. Emphasis is placed upon the fact that absolutely definite rules relative to the time of substituting the different foods cannot be given, so much depending upon the condition of the calf. The close observation and good judgment of the feeder are very necessary if the full measure of success is to be attained.



Calf-Meal-Fed Jersey.

10. In case of scours, or if the animal begins to show a fickle appetite, the best remedy is to cut down the food supply one-half or even two-thirds in amount. Do not overfeed in any case. The calf should always have an appetite for more than the amount given to it.

Lindsey's Calf Meal V.

Ingredients:

22	pounds ground oat flakes.
10	pounds flaxseed meal.
5	pounds flour middlings.
11	pounds fine corn meal.
1½	pounds prepared blood flour.

Lindsey's Calf Meal VI.

Ingredients:

35	pounds ground oat flakes.
12½	pounds barley malt.
1½	pounds blood flour.
½	pound bicarbonate of potash.

Cost, 3.3 cents a pound.

In preparing a calf meal the object should be to use only those ingredients that are easily and highly digestible, and at the same time are not too expensive. Among such feeds may be mentioned finely ground corn meal, flour middlings, ground rice, wheat flour, oat flakes, barley malt, cocoanut meal and flaxseed meal. Cottonseed meal in any quantity is not advised; oat flakes and malted grains seem to be quite satisfactory. Dry skim milk is a valuable substance, but its cost is likely to prevent its use.

ORCHARD CULTIVATION.

Has the orchard played out? Has it begun to weaken and give way to the ravages of insect and fungus pests? Has it ceased to produce profitable yields of good sized fruit? If so, the chances are that you are starving the trees. Fruit trees need food and care the same as other plants. Neglect means the same loss—no, it means greater loss than to any other crop. If you starve a corn or oat crop, it can be remedied at any time in one year. They are annuals. But when you starve the orchard and weaken it till it is killed by its enemies, it takes years to grow another, however rich you may make the orchard soil.

VALUABLE CROP.

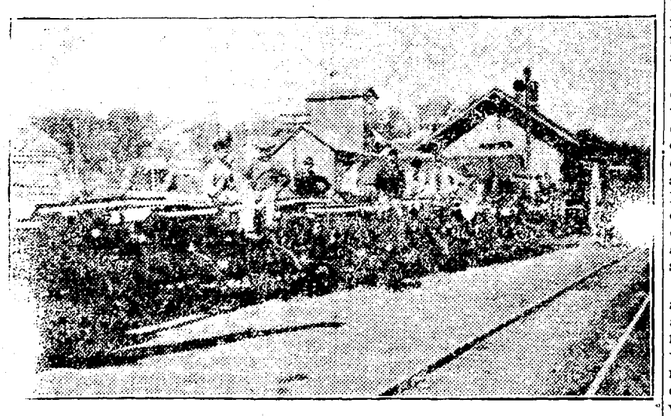
The soy bean may be grown throughout the humid and semi-humid sections of the south and in the southern portion of the corn belt. It is a very valuable forage crop and promises to be very useful in many boll-weevil regions as a cash crop, and a source of oil seed for the oil mills.

OBJECTS OF CO-OPERATIVE PURCHASING

By C. L. BASSETT.

In the farmers' general plans for improving their condition it is necessary for them to take advantage of co-operative principles for conducting their business, to the end that they may be able to eliminate waste. Efficiency is the watchword, and the farmer should pay for necessary and efficient service only. In case he finds that he can serve himself more efficiently than others are serving him, if he can install and operate his own business machinery, arrange to pay cash, or furnish his own credit, he should do so. The trade should and usually will consent to meet him on this thoroughly sound basis.

If it is good business and entirely proper for manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers to unite in their respective organizations, not to control prices or restrain trade, but for greater business efficiency and to eliminate waste, what argument should induce farmers to refrain from similar action to improve their business? What can the manufacturer gain by such organization which the farmer can not? Is the average intelligence of the manufacturer less than the average intelligence of the American farmer? If it is advisable for the manufacturers and dealers to federate into State and National associations for the above-named purposes, by what line of reasoning do some conclude that it is unnecessary or absolutely improper for the farmers to organize even on a community basis.



Thirty-Four Power Sprayers Purchased Co-operatively by a Western Fruit Association at a Saving of Over $1,000.

The farmer is interested first of all in securing goods of standard quality. Large amounts of spraying and fertilizing chemicals are now used on many farms, and it is essential that these materials be of high grade and free from impurities. The amount purchased by each grower is not sufficient to warrant having chemical analyses made, but where full carloads are purchased by a group of farmers a composite sample may be taken, and one analysis will show the average quality of the whole.

Another effect of co-operative purchasing has been to bring the farmers together in the use of the same make of implements, fruit packages, etc. One western fruit association agreed on one style of power sprayer where a dozen or more were formerly sold. Not only did they save a large sum on the purchase price, but one line of repairs now supplies their needs, and parts can be kept on hand for sale to all members at a great saving.

Another association secured the adoption of one style of fruit package where no less than eight had formerly been in use. Manufacturers who formerly had to keep in readiness eight styles of basket forms and eight kinds of supplies can now devote their entire force and factory to the making of one style, thus lessening the cost of making and decreasing the selling price, while insuring a constant supply.

The advantages to be gained through a farmers' co-operative marketing association have been fully demonstrated. But it must be remembered that in all cases the advisability of a co-operative organization depends upon probability of a more efficient service being secured thereby.

Will Beautify New York State Roadsides

By investigations just completed by the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse, it has been found that nine-tenths of the roadsides in the rural districts of New York State are entirely void of shade trees. When this is considered along with the fact that last year New York State paid out of the State Treasury about $30,000,000 for the construction and maintenance of road beds, it shows that the state is not yet awake to the great need and the great possibilities in rural roadside improvement.

A preliminary survey has just been made by H. R. Francis in charge of the Landscape Extension work of the College of Forestry.

During the survey, studies were made of such important features in rural roadside improvement and beautification as good and bad varieties of trees found along the highways, views and vistas obtained from the highways, the effects of the shade trees on crops in adjacent fields, the possibilities of the covering of barren embankments and the planting of some desirable sort of vegetation where overhead wires are in large numbers. One of the principal features studied was the condition of the roadbed as affected by the presence or absence of shade trees.

Few people in the State will be able to visit the wonderful National Parks of the west but an increasing number of people will own automobiles and use the highways of the State. Many, if not all, of these highways may easily become State parkways of beautiful trees and shrubs. Trees grow like weeds under the climatic conditions existent in New York and with varied scenery of intense interest the highways of the State will eventually become as beautiful as those of any other State in the Union.—Green's Fruit Grower.

PEDIGREE SYSTEM OF POULTRY RAISING

By C. T. PATTERSON.

Owing to the many questions asked concerning the keeping of pedigree records, we believe an explanation of our pedigree system will be of interest to all who intend to keep records of their breeding yards in the future.

The success of any institution depends to a great extent upon the system of operation and system of records. The two most important points to be considered are accuracy and simplicity.

It is necessary for all poultry breeders who do accurate breeding to adopt some method or system of keeping records and the less complication, the greater the value of the system.

The Missouri State Poultry Experiment Station is all under one system of band numbers, which is as follows: All pens are numbered, the male in each pen bears the same number as the pen, and each hen bears the same number and in addition her individual number to the right. To illustrate, pen No. 147 contains male No. 147, and females from 1470 to 1479 inclusive, there being ten females in each breeding pen, and where hens and pullets are used in the same pen, the first five are hens and the last five are pullets, Hide the right hand figure of a hen's number and you have the pen number, also the male's number in that pen. One yard may contain a number of pens but this does not break the numbering system. If any bird gets out of the pen, the number tells where it belongs, which saves much time referring to records.

Each hen is caught in a trapnest when she goes on to the nest to lay, and upon being released, her band number is placed on the egg. It will be seen that an egg marked 1472 is from hen 2 in pen 147 and fertilized by male 147, while 1476 is from pullet 6 in pen 147 and fertilized by male 147.

When the egg is incubated and the chick hatched in pedigree tray, the number on the egg is placed on the chick's leg band and as soon as the band needs loosening because of the chick's leg growing, the band is placed in the chick's wing where it remains permanently. Thus the pedigree band is in the wing which will prevent confusing the pullet with the hen which has her band on the leg.

The egg, chick, and pullet are from hen 2 in pen 147 and from male 147.

Breeders who do not mate more than ten pens should number their pens this year 170 to 179 inclusive and the next year number the pens from 180 to 189 inclusive, etc. The two figures to the left represent the year. Where records are kept in this way, any bird which has pedigree band 1734 is from pen 173, male 173, hen 4, and hatched in '17, while pedigree band 1878 is from pen 187, male 187, pullet 8 and hatched in '18. The one simple number tells the year, pen, sire, dam, of each egg or chick so numbered.

The only handicap with this system is the stamping the numbers on the chick bands, which is done with small steel dies, but this is over balanced by the value of being able to tell the pedigree of any egg, chick or mature bird at any time without referring to records.

Band numbers from 170 to 200 for males, and numbers from 1700 to 2000 for females is a complete set of bands for ten breeding pens for three years, 170-179 to be used in 1917, 180-189 in 1918, and 190-199 in 1919.

DAIRYING IN THE WEST.

No greater calamity could befall the farmers of the West than the destruction of all places where cream or butter could be sold. The small farmer is more dependent upon the sale of dairy products than many are willing to admit. The cream-receiving stations and the possibility of easy shipment to the creamery have for years been the mainstay for many western farmers and as such they will continue to be.

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL.

Home building is one of the strong bulwarks of this republic. The love of home broadens us. It makes us love our neighbor's home, the country and all mankind. One of the highest ideals of life is to build a good home and to protect its mates.

ARTISTIC ARRANGEMENT OF FLOWERS.

SHIP ONLY FRESH EGGS.

When shipping eggs to the city for special markets only strictly fresh eggs should be forwarded, and more than that, no doubtful eggs and no soiled eggs should ever be put in a case for market.

There is a vast difference between commercial orchards and family orchards. For the latter the variety should be greater to meet the tastes of the various members of the family.

NEEDS EXERCISE.

The brood sow must have plenty of exercise. Do not keep her too closely housed. Be sure she has a warm, comfortable bed and that the hog house is well ventilated. It will not injure brood sows to do a little rustling for feed.

COTTON-SEED MEAL.

The use of cottonseed meal in cattle feeding is steadily growing in favor among successful feeders. Ground corn, alfalfa hay, and cottonseed meal are a great combination for putting flesh on steers.

COVER UNSIGHTLY PLACES.

A mass of vines running over a pile of debris in the back yard is a thing of beauty, while the litter it covers would probably be an eyesore to the landscape.

MILK FOR HENS.

Milk is an excellent egg-producing food and should be liberally given whenever it can be cheaply obtained. Any kind of milk, fresh or sour, will do for the hens.

Alfalfa and good judgment in selecting cows will make any man rich in the dairy business.

CARE IN HANDLING EGGS.

There is about a strictly fresh egg a "bloom" for which buyers look. This bloom disappears with time or is rubbed off with handling, therefore eggs should be handled as little as possible.

A COMPLETE RECORD.

The files of the United States Department of Agriculture contain more than 1,000,000 cards concerning the distribution and migration of North American birds.

No set of rules that can be laid down will meet all circumstances.

LET THE SUNSHINE IN.

This has been said before, yet it is well to say it again: Let the sunlight shine in your dairy stable. It is a sure killer of germs and it is conducive to the health and contentment of the cow in many ways. The sun is the source of light and life.

A NEW SYRUP.

In planting bulbs be careful to press the soil closely around the roots.

WELL-PLANNED BARNS.

Some farmers have their barns so arranged that the care of stock is a pleasure, and in many instances this handy arrangement has been brought about with comparatively little expense for material or labor.

ALFALFA HELPED.

The California dairyman is probably the most advanced dairyman in the United States. California has been dairying only ten or twelve years. Alfalfa has made California the great dairy section that it is.

Sausages will not burst if rolled in flour before frying.

EDDYTORIUL ON "BLIZZARDS."

Evry reader of the Boogle will doubtless rekall what a turrible nise bammy, mild springish day last Toosday was in Bingville & vicinitty.

We diddent reulise it was so warm until we stepped outen our back kitching door after we had et our brekfust muffled up to the ears with our bearskin coat and coonskin cap to sitch a extent that our nose was the only porshion of our fase that was visible to the naked eye being as we thort of course that sinst the termometter has been ushually from 10 to 15 degrees below zero every morning recently this partickler morning wouldn't be no excepshion to the rule.

Well, as we say we stepped outen the house to walk to the Boogle offis expeckting to be almost froze todeth afore we arrived there when to our intents amazement and surprise we found that the air was mild and almost summerish as we mite say without eggsaggeratink, so we unbuttond our fur coat and lifted our earlugs on our cap and enjoyd the mildness of the wether to a large extent.

On our way to the offis we happend to meet several of our most respeckted cittizens inclooding Eph Higgins, postmaster, and Ame Hillyer, our talented loryer, leggal lite. J. of the P. et cettery, to both of who we remarked on the mildness of the wether and Eph and Ame both concurred in our opinyun.

We also happend to meet old Dad Henderson who thinks he is the greatest wether profet in Bingville (but who aint) and Dad stopd us and said that he calkilated spring had came judging from the change in the temperchoor and also becuz he had saw a robin redbreast in a appel tree back of his house thru the winder as he was eating brekfust in the kitchink.

Of course we diddent dispoot Dad being as he allus flies up and gits mad whenever hes dispooted, but we don't take no stock in his statement that he seen a robin. Sitch a statement as that is ridicklus and absurd in the extream. What Dad probly seen was a peewee or a ground sparrer—or it even mite of been a crow becuz Dads wife Mehitabel aint enny too tidy and her kitchink winders aint what a woman would call over brite and clean and at first glance lookin thru em Dad mite of mistook a crow for a robin.

Be that as it may when we arrove at the offis it was ackshually colder inside than it was out so we opend up the doors and winders to let in the bammy air and setting down we tuk our pen in hand and desided we would dash off a eddytoriul on "Bootifool Spring Has Came!"

Well we haddent skeercely got started dashing off this eddytoriul and became absorbed with our subjeck as we mite say until we become conshious that we was growing a little mite chilly but we went rite on writing for a spell longer & then all of a suddint we woke up to the fackt that it had growd cold turrible suddint and that the sky was overcast and that the wind was blowin a gale and that the air was full of fine snow like grains of sand whitch was a siftin thru the doors and winders of the Boogle offis whitch like a blamed fool we had went and left open!

We closed em as soon as we could and bilt up a ragin fire in the stove but it growd colder outside every minnit and it tuk us feedin that gorrammed stove with wood until nearly noon afore we got the offis warm enuff to remain inside of without freezin todeth! Meanwhile the thermommetter sunk down to 19 degrees below zero and as we write these sorrorful words we have whot is praps one of the worst colds in our head that a human beink or ennything that aint huming ever had in its head and whitch we wouldnt wish on a snake even if it had bit us!

When we set down at our desk this morning with the blizzard still ragin without the offis and also without cessashion we happend to see layin on the desk rite under our nose two or three pages of our own writing and when we pickd it up to ascertain if possibil what it was we had been writing about and reulized that what we helt in our hands was the beginning of a eddytoriul on "Bootifool Spring Has Came" it made us so dingbusted mad that we throwd the pages on the floor and jumpd up and down on em and used langwidge unbecoming to a gentleman and a skollar jest to show our contempt for sitch suddin changes of wether whitch we have in our midst.

Personals & Lokals Mixt

We can tell by some intooishion or other that we aint a going to have enny personals or lokals either to speek of in this ishue of the Bugle. Them as we will have in are jest merely as a matter of form and for the looks of the thing.

The fackt is to tell the truth we aint got mutch room for enny "Personals & Lokals Mixt" to speek of being as we devoted so mutch spase in this ishue to our eddytoriul on "Blizzards" and to a thrilling acct of Hod Slocomb's narrer excape from deth both of whitch exsiting tales will be found in a nother collum and whitch you ort to read and profit by.

We dont mind saying that we made our eddytoriul this wk longer and also Hod Slocombs excape longer on purpose than we would ordinary becuz "Personals & Lokals Mixt" was so skeerce and we knowd if we got the paper fild up with other longer artikels we could state that the reason there wassent more "Personals & Lokals Mixt" in this ishue was becuz we diddent have room for enny.

There is moren one way to skin a cat, as Hank Dewberry says and we mite add that there is also tricks in all trades and perfeshions inclooding the perfeshion of being edditor, prop, mgr, foreman, offis boy & everythink else conneckted with the biggest and only noosepaper in this end of the county.

Bingville. EDDITOR BUGLE.

SLACK TRICK FOR HOD TO DO

Hod Slocomb one of our most respeckted cittizens and also who we allus thort possesd what we mite call average intelligents (but now we doubt it) neerly lost his life over to Gootchic Pond last Wensday by one of the foolest tricks whitch we ever heerd of ennybuddy doing to theirself.

Hod was over to Gootchic with Rufe Brown helping Rufe cut his winter supply of ice offen the Pond and Rufe was cuttin the ice outen the pond in blocks with a ise saw while Rufe was loading up same and hauling away to his ice house whitch is about haff a mile from the shore of the Pond.

Well while Rufe was away with a load what did Hod Slocomb do but saw away and saw away with his ise saw until first thing he knowd he had went and sawd out a big square of ice on whitch he was standin and diddent reulise what he was a doing until the cake on whitch he stood floated away from the rest of the ice out into the big seckshion of open worter from whitch the ise had been sawd!

When Hod found hisself cast adrift on a cake of ise whitch wassent skeercely big enuff to hold up his weight and teeterin under him into the bargin he said his hair stood up on his head like brissels in a wire hairbrush and riz his hat rite up & fell into the pond!

Where Hod was cuttin ise the worter was about 60 ft deep and when Hod thort of this and him not able to swim his hart jumpt rite up into his mouth and he like to of swallerd his adams appel. Then the cake of ise begin to turn under him and Hod had to do some turrible quick footwork to keep his balants. Bye and bye the cake was turnin so fast that Hod was runnin on top of it like a squirl runnin a wheel but as he said it wassent gittin him ennywheres being as the cake jest turnd under him that's all.

Hod had calks in the soles of his boots or he couldn't nevver of stood up on the ise cake a tall and even as it was he soon got tired runnin so fast whilst the cake of ise was turnin and lashin the worter to foam and 1st thing Hod knowd his foot slipd and into the pond he went with a splash heels over head and cleen in under.

Being as this was very unexpeckted to Hod and being as the worter was ice cold it neerly tuk his breth away and he calkilates if he swallerd a qt of that cold worter afore he come up agin he swallerd a gal pail full!

And worst of it is that when he did come up instid of comin to the surface where there wassent enny ice he had to go and come up as luck would have it rite in under the edge of where the ice had been sawd and Hod says that when his head struck the under porshion of that ice whitch was neerly 3 ft thick he thort to goodness that it had crackd his skull for him and that he seen stars biggern barn lanterns!

When this happend Hod thort he was a gonner becuz he diddent know whitch way to go to git to the open worter and if he happend to go the rong way he wouldnt nevver git there but would work hisself still farther under the ice and drownd like a rat in a trap!

But Providents must of been with Hod becuz whilst he was scramblin around he happend to slide out from under the edge of the ice and his head bobbed out. Soon as he seen where he was Hod grabd holt of the edge of the ice expeckting to pull hisself out onto the solid ice but he was disappinted in his expecktashions becuz his clothes was so worterlogged and heavy and he was so num and cold by this time that he haddent the strenth to do so and to make matters worse Rufe Brown wassent there to help him being as Rufe was away with a load of ice on the team.

Well there Hod hung to the edge of the ice with his strenth slowly ebbing away. He hollerd as loud as he could holler but he said his teeth was chatterin so and he was so scairt that he dont calkilate his voice kerried moren 10 or 15 ft. After he had hollerd awhil Hod begin to pray from deliverents and to be forgive for his sins so that if he had to pass on he would excape perdishion. Then Hod says that when he got to thinkin over how turrible numb and cold he was and how good some heet would feel to him he thort a blast or two of Perdishion would be very welcome to him and save him from freezin to deth so he stopd prayin and begin to cuss Fate, as you mite say.

Well, jest as Hod was about to let go and sink to the bottom of the Pond along back come Rufe with the teem and when he seen the perdiakament Hod was in he run and grabd him and puld him out onto the ice and thus saved his worthless life for him.

Hod says he cant understand yet and praps it wont nevver be plain to him as long as he lives jest how he happend to do sitch a fool thing as to saw clean around hisself with that ice saw so as to leave hisself standin on the cake he cut away. Hod says he knows bettern to do a fool trick like that and the only way he can acct for doink it is that he must of been thinkin of somethink else more important.

Be that as it may Hod says that it will be a colder day than it was last Wensday afore he does enny ice cuttin agin. Soon as he got puld outen the worter by Rufe Hod run up to Rufe's house with his clothes freezin on him stiffern boards and when Mrs. Rufe give him some of Rufes old clothes to put on whilst his dride behint the stove Rufe made up his mind to resign from being a ice carpenter whitch he done soon as his clothes was dry.

When Rufe come to the house for dinner Hod notifide Rufe that he had quit the job so Rufe paid him in full and Hod walkd home to Bingville that same afternoon glad to be in the land of the livin.

Let this be a sollum warning to other fools not to do sitch a ridicklus thing as to cut off the cake of ice they be standin on at the time.

Bill Woods of this place took a load of logs down to the Snake Bend Saw Mill tother day to have em sawd up into boards whitch Bill states he is a going to construckt a sheepshed out of doing the carpenter work hisself. If Bill dont make no better job of his sheepshed than he did when he bilt a henhouse for hisself (or ruther for his hens) last spring we wouldnt blame his sheep if they refused to ockupy it. Bills hen house was so full of holes and cracks that it was colder inside of it than it was outside even in cold wether and as a result Bills hens perferred to remain outside whitch they done and several of em froze to deth. Bill aint mutch of a carpenter.

Mrs. Ben Wade of here had company come unexpeckted in the person of Mrs. Sime Wiggins of Pea Ridge to remain a few days and Mrs. Ben excoosed herself and dresd up in her best and when she come down stairs Mrs. Sime said she haddent had no dinner so Mrs. Ben husteld out into the kitchink and amungst other things opend a can of tomaters and being nervus the can slipd and the tomaters splashd all over Mrs. Bens best dress to the ruinashion of same. THE MARKETS.

LOCAL WHEAT PRICES HIGHEST SINCE WAR

Speculation Causes Another Advance in Fort Wayne Quotations.

Due to speculation in the large trading centers of the country Fort Wayne wheat prices advanced 3 cents more Saturday and $1.88 and $1.90 is being paid for the grain here now. According to one local dealer this price is a record since the days of the civil war, when conditions were entirely different than they are now. Elevators in Chicago are reported full, but no cars are available for moving the wheat.

One man on the market Saturday morning who is well known among buyers here made the assertion that potatoes will drop to mighty near nothing flat in a week. Potatoes are being moved in this direction fast now and people who have been holding their spuds for still higher prices are going to be hung up, according to this man.

The wholesale market was about normal, thirty-four loads being weighed at the city scales. Twenty-five were hay, which sold for $10.00 and $11.00 a ton. Corn went a little higher than the mark of Friday, $1.03 and $1.04 per bushel being paid for the six loads offered. But three loads of oats were offered and these brought 59 and 60 cents a bushel. There has been a decided drop in eggs.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 3.—Active buying on the part of houses with seaboard connections carried wheat prices today sharply higher. Opening quotations, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to ¾c higher, with May at $1.83¾@1.85¼ and July at $1.65¼@1.56⅝, were followed by a moderate sag and then a small advance all around.

The close was unsettled at 2¼c to 4⅛c net advance, with May at $1.88¾@1.88⅞ and July at $1.59@1.59⅛.

New high record prices quickly appeared in the corn crowd. After opening ⅛c to ⅞c up the market dipped on account of profit-taking, but rallied in short order.

Oats ascended with other grain.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, March 3.—Active stocks were appreciably higher during the greater part of today's short session, though subject to occasional irregularity because of the heaviness of a few specialties. Chief among these were Studebaker and Barrett company, the latter making an extreme decline of 8½ points to 110. Gains were most marked in coppers, leading industrials, such as Bethlehem Steel, United States Steel and Crucible Steel, oils, shippings, Central Leather, American Woolen and a few other issues of less specific description. The closing was strong. Sales were estimated at 300,000 shares. Bonds were irregular with heaviness in Paris 6s.

Munitions, equipments, shippings and war supply shares of various descriptions manifested further decided strength at the opening of today's market. Bethlehem Steel issues rose 1 to almost 2 points with a substantial fractional gain for United States Steel and allied stocks. American Woolen, Central Leather, oils and metals also augmented yesterday's advance by fractions to a point. Rails made only indifferent response to the improvement elsewhere, gains in that division being restricted to minor or low priced issues.

THE MONEY MARKET.

New York, March 3.—Mercantile paper, 4@4¼; sterling 60 day bills, 4.71; commercial 60 day bills on banks, 4.71; commercial 60 day bills, 4.70¾; demand, 4.75⅛; cables, 4.76 7-16; francs, demand, 5.85¼; cables, 5.84⅛; marks, demand, 68⅛; cables, 68¼; kronen, demand, 11.10; cables, 11.12; guilders, demand, 40⅜; cables, 40 7-16; lires, demand, 7.75; cables, 7.74; rubles, demand, 27.75; cables, 27.85; bar silver, 76⅝; Mexican dollars, 59; government bonds, weak; railroad bonds, irregular.

NEW YORK BANK STATEMENT.

FEARS DELAY ON BILL TO ARM AMERICAN SHIPS

Washington, March 3.—President Wilson has no intention of taking action that would bring war with Germany unless congress is summoned in extra session.

This was communicated to senate leaders today by representatives of the president who takes the position that if no extraordinary crisis arises, it will not be necessary to call an extra session before late in the spring and then only to pass appropriation bills.

Administration leaders approached the closing congress session today fearful lest opposition by Senators LaFollette and Stone to the bill authorizing arming of American merchant vessels might possibly prevent enactment of the measure by noon tomorrow.

Stone is Determined.

Senator Stone, it was declared, was determined to fight for his amendment which would withhold protection from munition carrying ships. Senator LaFollette, who yielded a point late last night in permitting an advance in the parliamentary position of the bill, was ready to make a long speech against it.

When debate was resumed today Senator Hitchcock, to perfect the bill's parliamentary status, had the senate draft, with two slight amendments, substituted after the enacting clause, for the house text. One amendment eliminates the provision for arming merchantmen "fore and aft," thus removing specific direction as to armament. The other prevents United States protection for foreign ships.

AT CAPITOL ON SUNDAY

Wilson Will Take the Oath of Office for His Second Term.

CHANGE IS MADE IN EARLIER PLAN

Will Again Take Oath on Monday Prior to Inaugural Address.

Washington, March 3.—President Wilson will take the oath of office for his second term in his room at the capitol at noon Sunday. It will be administered by Chief Justice White, of the supreme court.

Mr. Wilson plans to go to the capitol before noon to sign bills and therefore decided it would be impracticable to take the oath of office in the white house, as was at first contemplated.

TOLEDO IS WILLING TO STAND FOR DARCY

Toledo, O., March 3.—Following announcement yesterday that Gov. Whitman of New York, had forbidden the scheduled bout between Les Darcy of Australia, and Jack Dillon, of Indianapolis, the Toledo Athletic association last night sent a telegram to Dillon's manager, Sam Marburger, offering $40,000, which if accepted, will bring the match here late this month. Under the Toledo proposal the division of the money would be decided upon by the principals. The bout would be for twelve rounds.

FLAG DEMAND NOW SENDS PRICE OF OLD GLORY UP.

New York, March 3.—Flag dealers say that the great demand for "Old Glory" since the beginning of Germany's unrestricted submarine warfare has caused a temporary shortage of supply and increased prices. Wooden and steel flagpoles also cast from one-third to one-half more than a year ago. The increase in flag prices is ascribed, first to the tremendous demand; to the scarcity of dyestuffs, and third, to the increase in cost of material. The flag factories are working day and night shifts. Calls for more flags, dealers say, are coming from all parts of the country.

WOMAN FIGHTS IN TRENCHES; BECOMES OFFICER OVER MEN.

One of the most remarkable incidents of the European war is that a woman has been fighting in the trenches and became the leader of a troop of men soldiers.

AMERICAN SHIPS ARE NOW READY FOR GUNS

Can Be Ready for Sea in Few Days if Arming is Permitted.

New York, March 3.—The six passenger ships of the American line held in this harbor by the German blockade, are ready to take on guns, as soon as congress authorizes the government to arm merchant vessels. A naval constructor and two ordnance officers from the navy yard continue today an inspection of the American line ships.

These officers yesterday spent the greater part of the day on board the St. Louis which, it is understood, will be the first of the American fleet to leave if the ship arming bill becomes a law. It was said that the liners could be made ready for sea if necessary in forty-eight hours so far as the installation of guns is concerned. If orders are received from Washington, carpenters will immediately cut out the deck planks that cover the platforms for mounting guns already in place.

Inquiries by officers at the navy yard regarding the calibre of guns now carried by French and British ships for submarine defense show that the French liners are armed with naval 75 millimetres, a little more than three inches; the Cunarders carry 4.7s and the White Star liners 6-inch guns. There is talk of equipping the St. Louis as an experiment with a new invention used in the British navy which places the control of the steering wheel in the hands of the officer or pilot who is in charge of the bridge.

Officials of the American line say there has been no rush to book cabins on the St. Louis. The agents have the names of about thirty persons who wish to be informed when the sailing date of any of the liners has been definitely fixed.

LAND MARK BEING RAZED.

Houses on Becker Property Are Being Wrecked For New Building.

The houses located on the old Becker property on East Washington street between the Fox Brother building and the Minuet are being razed. Work was begun Saturday morning. The three buildings will be torn away to make room for the new building which will be erected for the Wolf and Dessauer new store building. These buildings are a few more of the old land marks which must be torn down to make way for more modern structures.

WELL KNOWN GARRETT WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. A. S. Halter Dies in Sanitarium at Oxford, Ohio.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., March 3.—Mrs. A. S. Halter, prominent club woman and well known throughout northern Indiana, died this morning at 2 o'clock in a private sanitarium at Oxford, O., where she had been taken three or four months ago.

Mrs. Halter had been in poor health for some time. Almost a year ago she submitted to an operation in the hospital here and for a time it was thought she would ultimately recover. But a few weeks after returning to her home she became worse and was taken to Indianapolis for treatment. There was no improvement in her condition there and then she was taken to Oxford, O., where she died.

The body will be brought to this city tonight and will be met at Fort Wayne by a delegation of local citizens.

Mrs. Halter was prominent in club work and at one time was secretary of the state federation of clubs. For three years she was president of the Mother's club of this city and was identified with other organizations. She was a member of the Baptist church.

She is survived by the husband and one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Rang, of Washington, Ind.

HEAVY SNOW MAKES PROGRESS DIFFICULT

Douglas, Ariz., March 3.—Heavy snow is retarding the progress of the Carranza punitive expedition in Sonora, according to word received here today. Pulhito Pass, it is said, is blocked and the main column of 1,000 infantry with a cavalry detachment of 250, has halted at Colonia Morelos, awaiting opening of the mountain passes.

Arrivals from Nogales said Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, who has taken the field against Col. Francisco Reyna's Villista force in the Altar district of Sonora, has given orders for the execution of the mayors of Altar, Oquitoa, Pitiquito and Caborca for having failed to report the Reyna movement to the military authorities.

GOOD FAITH IS IMPUGNED

Gentry Asks Reconsideration and Death of His Medical School Bill.

DECLARES HE WILL RESIGN FROM HOUSE

Dramatic Incident Follows Unintended Enactment by Senate.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 3.—The medical school bill carrying an appropriation of $350,000 for a new building, which yesterday passed both branches of the legislature, the senate under suspension of the rules—caused probably the most dramatic incident of the entire session in the house today.

Representative Gentry, author of the bill, declaring that his good faith had been impugned, asked the house to reconsider the vote on the bill and kill it and at the same time announced that he intended to resign from the house.

The representative from Bloomington, to secure passage of the medical bill in the house, it is said, promised friends of Mr. Goodrich in the house that the measure would not be pushed in the senate.

Other friends of the school took up the bill when it reached the senate and had it passed under suspension of the rules causing, Mr. Gentry said, reflection on his good faith.

Tears Roll Down His Cheeks.

Mr. Genry spoke with great feeling, the tears rolling down his cheeks.

"Down in Monroe county lives my mother," said Mr. Gentry, holding her picture before him. "She is 85 years old and almost my first recollection of her is telling me to always tell the truth. I have tried to do that and the imputation that I acted in bad faith toward the members of this house, cuts me to the quick. I want to move the reconsideration of the vote on the medical school bill and ask you gentlemen to defeat the bill.

"After this is done there is but one thing left for me to do and that is to tender my resignation as a member of the legislature. Also here is my check

VILLA IN PLAN TO CAPTURE CARRANZA

Bandit Chieftain Reported With New and Imposing Program.

El Paso, Texas, March 3.—From a wounded Villa soldier, who is here today for medical treatment, government agents claim to have learned of Francisco Villa's plan to reduce his force to 300 picked men, abandon his campaign against Chihuahua City, Mexico, and disappear for three months on a secret mission in the interest of his provisional government, of which Miguel Liaz Lombardo is to be provisional president. Villa's reason for this move was said to have been two-fold. One was to regain his health, which has broken by exposure in the field and by his old wound in the leg, and to make a desperate effort to capture Carranza while the first chief was on his present trip from city to city in Central Mexico.

WOOD WORKER FALLS AGAINST BUZZ SAW

Right arm of Walter Thimlar, 26, of Woodburn, was half severed when he fell against a rapidly revolving buzz saw in the construction department of the City Carriage works, corner of Main and Barr streets, Saturday morning. Thimlar is being treated in the St. Joseph's hospital where physicians think the arm can be saved from amputation.

Thimlar, who has been employed in the carriage works for two months, was caught by the trouser leg in flying spindles of one of the wood working machines. He fell forward in an effort to release himself and in so doing struck his right arm against the speeding buzz saw. The arm was cut to the bone.

Ambulance was summoned by fellow workmen. Thimlar was weak from loss of blood when he arrived at the hospital. Every effort is being made to save the arm from infection. Thimlar has a family.

OVERTURE TO MEXICO ADMITTED IN BERLIN

Zimmerman Note Correctly Quoted and Effort is Made to Justify Foreign Secretary's Action

London, March 3.—Foreign Secretary Zimmerman's instructions to the German minister to Mexico, as published in the United States, are admitted in Berlin to have been correctly quoted, according to a dispatch to Reuter's from the German capital by way of Amsterdam.

It is also said that opinion prevails in many quarters that the outcome may be the resignation of the foreign secretary and the termination of von Bernstorff's career as a diplomat.

The dispatch quotes the following telegram received in Amsterdam from Berlin on Friday and which was apparently sent by the Wolff bureau, the semi-official German news agency:

"The American press contains reports about instructions from the ministry of foreign affairs to the German minister in Mexico City in the event that Germany after the proclamation of unrestricted submarine warfare failed to keep the United States neutral. These reports were based on the following facts:

"After the decision had been taken to begin unrestricted submarine warfare on February 1 we had to reckon, in view of the previous attitude of the American government, with the possibility of conflict with the United States. That this calculation was right is proved by the fact that the American government severed diplomatic relations with Germany soon after the proclamation of a barred zone and asked other neutrals to follow her example.

Pleads Justification.

"Anticipating these possibilities it was not only the right but also the duty of our government to take precautions in time—in the event of a military conflict with the United

THIRTEEN CONVICTED IN LABOR GRAFT CASE

Chicago, March 3.—All thirteen defendants in the so-called "labor graft" case were found guilty on charges of conspiracy and maintenance of a boycott in the federal court here today. The defendants are four former business agents of the Electrical Workers' union, and nine members of the Chicago switchboard manufacturers.

Charges of vandalism, persecution by means of strikes and bribery were charged as the specific means by which the defendants kept outside manufacturers and certain Chicago manufacturers, who were not in the "ring," from obtaining or filling contracts.

Michael J. Boyle, said to have accumulated a fortune as business agent of local 134, was regarded as the leader in the so-called conspiracy. Other defendants convicted are Raymond Cleary, assistant to Boyle; C. L. Hampton, former business agent of Boyle's local; Frank A. Lundmark, former business agent of local 713, and John Cuthbert, Charles Kreider, Warren E. Ripple, Otis B. Duncan, Julian J. Neilsen, James Obermiller, G. W. and E. E. Berthold, C. J. Peterson, manufacturers. The minimum penalty is one year in prison and a fine of $3,000.

UNDERSTANDING AT SANTIAGO IS NEAR

Cuban Chamber of Commerce Asks Mediation by President Wilson.

Santiago, Cuba, March 3.—Conferences between the commanders of the American warships stationed here and military authorities are continuing with indications that an understanding will be arrived at soon.

The chamber of commerce has cabled President Wilson soliciting mediation and assuring him that the situation can be settled easily if he will act immediately thereby avoiding bloodshed and the destruction of property. The rebel leaders here are favorably disposed toward coming to an understanding with America.

TANGLES MAY BE EXPECTED

Poll Books Will Be Practically Useless at Primary.

Various Candidates Are Putting on the Finishing Touches.

When the voters of Fort Wayne cast their ballots next Tuesday to nominate men for all city offices they will be confronted by a peculiar situation in the way of qualifications of voters, and because of conflicting conditions there will be plenty of room for arguments and for trouble in general. The registration law does not apply and poll books will be practically useless.

Apparently any man who is of the full age of 21 years may vote, provided he declare this to be his home and give his place of bona fide residence. The six months residence in the state which is necessary in general elections is not required in the primary, it is claimed. One who has just moved into the county or precinct may vote in the primary, even though he may have arrived only the day before, it is contended.

It is provided in the law that when a man calls for the ballot of one party who is believed to be a member of an-

MEXICO SAYS SHE WAS NOT APPROACHED

Guadalajara, Mexico, March 3.—Gen. Candido Aguilar, the provisional minister of foreign relations, today formally denied that the Mexican government had been approached by Germany with the object of forming an alliance hostile to the United States.

The statement given out by the Mexican foreign minister says:

"The government of Mexico has not received in behalf of the government from Germany any proposal for an alliance looking toward war with the United States.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Figures obtained in London and vouched for there as authentic show that Germany succeeded during February in destroying 490,000 tons of merchant shipping, or less than half the 1,000,000 tons she threatened to destroy during the first month of unrestricted submarine warfare.

Military operations yesterday were of comparatively minor importance. Berlin reports violent infantry engagements on both sides of the Ancre, where the great German retirement has been taking place. No mention is made of ground gained or lost, however, the statement of results being confined to announcement that the Germans took sixty prisoners and eight machine guns besides inflicting casualties of a sanguinary character.

Only raiding operations have occurred in the other Franco-Belgian front sectors, and the same is true of the Russian front, according to the Berlin report. West of Lutsk in Volhynia, however, a German raid was on an extensive scale. Russian positions were penetrated to a depth of nearly a mile on a front of more than 1½ miles. The results were the destruction of the Russian dugouts and the capture of 122 prisoners and four machine guns.

A Berlin wireless report announces the sinking of nine armed Russian steamers by the German submarine recently sunk near Hammerfest, Norway. This submarine had previously been reported foundered off the Norwegian coast late in January.

FOURTH SUICIDE TRY IS ANOTHER FAILURE

Parting Note to Sister Will Be Restored by Police.

Pathetic note, scrawled with a lead pencil by Gladys (Clayton) Craig, before she made a fourth attempt to end her life Friday night, by taking carbolic acid, will be returned to her by police. The suicide attempt was a failure and Gladys, who is in the St. Joseph hospital, will recover.

Landlady in the rooming house in which Gladys stayed at 403 East Lewis street, smelled fumes of carbolic acid and entered the young woman's room at 9:30 Friday evening. She found Mrs. Craig lying on the bed with a half-emptied bottle in her hand. Ina Dickason, the landlady, called police. Gladys was hurried to the hospital in the patrol.

On the dresser in Mrs. Craig's room was found the following message, evidently intended for Mrs. Rosella Reffelt, a sister:

"My ear Sister: I am so sorry, but what is life to me? I hope things change for you, my dear sister. May God bless you. GLADYS."

P. S.—Tell Eddie I said "good bye." Kisses to all. Please don't tell any one of my misfortune.

Specific Appropriation as Passed by the House Considered.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 3.—When the senate convened this morning it again went into executive session, electing Senator Culbertson, democratic floor leader, chairman, the consideration of the specific appropriation bill passed Thursday by the house of representatives was up. The regular appropriation bill sent to engrossment yesterday was due for third reading and passage today. The house has under consideration amendments to senate measures which will bring up in the house again the issues of the abolishment of the state oil inspection bureau and the extension of the powers of the state board of tax commissioners.

The senate faces an inevitable congestion for the concluding day of the session. Inasmuch as there is apparently no disposition to force the passage of the enormous list of bills posted for third reading, it is likely that the chief aim of many senators will be to assist in killing bills to which they are opposed for the chief reason, according to Senator Erskine that "we know absolutely nothing about them and have had no opportunity to find out anything."

Lieutenant Governor Bush announced that he would name conferees on the Dobyns road bill today, and to meet with a delegation from the house of representatives and with emissaries from the office of Governor Goodrich in an effort to agree upon a road bill that will be satisfactory both to the senate and house which the governor will sign knowing that it will be properly financed.

102 MEMBERS ARE TO QUIT CONGRESS SEATS

Many Conspicuous Figures End Official Life at Noon Tomorrow.

Washington, March 3.—One hundred and two members of congress will close their legislative careers tomorrow noon when the sixty-fourth congress ends by constitutional limitation. Of the number fifteen are senators: They are: Kern, Indiana; Bryan, of Florida; Catron, New Mexico; Chilton, West Virginia; Clapp, Minnesota; Clark, Wyoming; Dupont, Delaware; Johnson, Maine; Lea, Tennessee; Lippott, Rhode Island; Martine, New Jersey; O'Gorman, New York; Oliver, Pennsylvania; Sutherland, Utah, and Works, of California.

The number who will return to private life after tomorrow is unusually large in both house and senate. Among the more picturesque of these figures in the house are: Sparkman, of Florida, who has served twenty-two years successively; Representative Bennett, of New York, who enjoys the unique distinction of having been in and out of congress three times; Representative Murray, of Oklahoma, familiarly known as "Alfalfa Bill;" Representative Davis, of Texas; Representative McCorkle, South Carolina, who enjoys the distinction of serving one of the shortest terms on record. He was a member for only eight days. Representative Rucker, of Georgia, served eight weeks. Both filled vacancies caused by death.

WILL NOT DISTRIBUTE RELIEF GIVEN BY U. S.

Berlin, March 3.—(Via London.)—The special fund for the benefit of German war widows and orphans collected in the United States under the patronage of a committee headed by former Ambassador James W. Gerard, has been deposited in a local bank subject to the disposition of Mr. Gerard. The money was turned over to a German committee headed by Baron von Stumm by Mr. Gerard on the eve of his departure from Berlin but this committee has decided not to make the distribution originally contemplated.

PUTS BAN ON STYLE CHANGES.

London, March 3.—The German imperial clothing committee has issued a warning that styles in women's clothing cannot be allowed to change every six months, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph compnay. The committee says that women may wear winter dresses throughout the coming summer without disgrace and drastic measures will be taken against a change in fashion and consequent expenses.

DES JARDIEU QUITS GAME.

Cleveland, March 3.—Paul Des Jardieu, a member of the Cleveland American's pitching staff near the close of last season, has decided to quit baseball. He plans to enter business in Chicago. Des Jardieu acquired fame as a football and baseball player at the University of Chicago.

Senator Brandegee, republican, of Connecticut, called the German prohibited zone "an ambush where Germany laid in wait to deal death" to anyone who entered against her edict creating it.

"Shall we sit supinely and allow the ukase of a foreign potentate to clear the ocean of American shipping and blockade our ports," he asked. "Are we obliged to wait for the slaughter to be accomplished before we defend ourselves? I trust that neither congress nor the American people have fallen to such depths of degradation that they are willing to furl the American flag and withdraw from the high seas as the misguided pacifists seem to wish. There is no use to issue a moral homily or a Salvation Army tract or to repeat the Sermon on the Mount to a nation that has gone mad and acts through its military autocracy like a homicidal maniac. Must we get off the face of the earth—lie down and curl up? I'm for peace, but I am going to preserve the liberties of my country. If the pacifists had lived in the time of George Washington we never would have been a country and if they have their way now we will cease to be a country. The peace propaganda, in some aspects, closely approaches treason."

Senator Sherman presented today's news dispatches from Berlin bringing foreign Minister Zimmermann's admission of the attempted intrigue with Japan and Mexico. Senators manifested such keen interest in the dispatch that they were read twice. Senators who had been inclined to denounce the celebrated Zimmermann instructions as a forgery or a British plot, showed particular interest.

"Japan has denied receipt of the overtures," Senator Sutherland, republican, of Utah, interjected. "I ask if there is any significance to the fact that our great and good friend Gen. Carranza, in our neighboring friendly republic, has not made any denial."

"Are we going to lie down on our back and let this monstrous Frankenstein trample over us ruthlessly? I am not deceived by the effect of this bill. The effect will be that the next passenger or freight ship with American gunners aboard which attempts to enter a British or neutral port in the zone will be attacked by a German submarine. That means that there will be war if this country is fit to live. If perchance our defensive gunners should sink a submarine, that would mean war."

Senator Brandegee declared with emphasis that a state of war already existed and had existed between the United States and Germany since February 1.

"Germany declared war on the whole world in issuing this proclamation," he asserted. "No self-respecting nation regards it any other way. When she proclaimed slaughter in the barred zone she declared war against this nation."

Stone Wants to Know.

Senator Stone asked where the dispatches came from and was informed they were from the Wolff bureau, a German semi-official organization. "These dispatches," resumed Senator Brandege, "gives us a fairly accurate idea of the relations that exist at the present time between the Teutonic powers and this great country. Zimmermann declares Germany's intention to resume unrestricted submarine warfare, the kind that sunk the Lusitania, the kind that Germany had agreed to abandon.

"Germany suspended this warfare while she was rebuilding submarines. Then came announcement of her intention not only to resume this assassination, already carried into effect, but her intention also to array every nation against us that could get at the United States in case we attempted to defend ourselves against these assassins.

A Distorted Understanding.

Reference by Foreign Secretary Minister Zimmerman at Berlin to the existence of a pan-American "plot" is regarded in official circles here as nothing more than a distorted and erroneous understanding either on the part of the Argentine newspaper or the German foreign office of some quite open and proper efforts made soon after the outbreak of the war and during Secretary Bryan's incumbency to protect rights of neutral commerce in the western hemisphere. Soon after the sinking of the sailing ship Frye and when the German commerce raiders and a German war fleet were particularly active on both sides of South America, resulting in the utter demoralization of commerce in that part of the world, some of the diplomatic representatives in Washington of the Latin-American countries conceived the idea of joint action to prevent the theater of war from extending into American waters. The members of the pan-American council, which meets in Washington quarterly and at times oftener, appointed a special committee to consider certain propositions advanced by individual ministers to protect the commerce of the Americas, the essential feature being the declaration of zone about 200 miles wide along the American coast from Cape Horn to Canada within which no belligerent warships or submarines should be permitted to interfere with merchant ships. This subject was discussed in various phases for many months in a desultory way at occasional meetings of the council, but as no substantial encouragement was received from the state department here no attempt was made to make any report.

Later it is recalled here upon the announcement of Germany to pursue ruthless submarine warfare some of the Argentine papers made known the fact that Ambassador Naon had proposed joint action by at least some of the nations to prevent war between the United States and Germany. It was soon declared, however, by the ambassador himself that his project had not been conceived by his own government and he had acted solely upon his own responsibility in broaching it. This movement also came to nothing so far as known.

AT CAPITOL ON SUNDAY

net will be with him, advising him on bills passed in the closing hours of congress.

Mr. Wilson has decided to take the oath again on Monday in front of the capitol, just before he delivers his inaugural address.

Completes Inaugural Address.

The president completed his inaugural address today and it was understood that the foreign situation was the principle subject dealt with. The president both by telephone and through direct representatives was in constant communication with the capitol today.

President Wilson today signed the revenue bill designed to raise $350,000,000 through special taxes and bond issues.

"Bone Dry" Bill Signed.

Hilarious scenes probably will mark the final hours of tonight's congressional session, particularly in the house where a chorus of representatives usually send the dying session on its way with old songs. One of the leading singers of the past will be missing, for Representative Conrey, of New York, who died here last night, was one of the best tenor voices in the assembly.

Although the president has completed his inaugural address he may decide to make some changes in it with reference to the foreign situation should developments warrant. The address probably will not be issued to the press until shortly before the president begins his speech after taking the oath of office Monday, in order that he may reflect the situation as it stands at that time.

President Wilson made another of his personal visits to the state, war and navy building today and first conferred with Secretary Baker.

Our Great HALF-PRICE Sale

Will close tonight at ten o'clock. Monday morning we will place the new Spring goods on sale, and we feel that we have a stock that deserves the attention of everyman and boy that buys a suit of clothes this Spring. In our new store we give more floor space to men's, boys' and children's apparel than all other clothing stores in Fort Wayne combined, and we believe there is no doubt that we have received more new Spring goods during the last two weeks than all other clothing stores in the city combined. This has always been "The Store That Does Things," and we are prepared to do much greater things this Spring.

If a man or young man wants a snappy suit of clothes for a little money, we will guarantee to give you a larger assortment and as good values at $9.75 this Spring as you can find in any other store at $13.50. We will guarantee to show you the largest and most complete line of men's and young men's hand-tailored clothing in the state from $15.00 to $45.00.

If there is any doctor or lawyer, or professional man or any kind that has been so busy during the past years that he has not learned that our ready-to-wear clothes are as fine as money can buy, or if he is hard to fit or imagines he is hard to fit, and prefers to have his clothes made to measure—we will show him five times the samples to choose from, and have his suit made and ready for him in seven days.

Speaker Eschbach Talks.

Speaker Eschbach took the floor and addressing the house said:

"I hope the house will not take any action at this time. I want to assure the gentleman from Monroe that the members of the house together with myself have the highest respect for his honor and integrity and I am sure all exonerate him from any imputation of bad faith. I trust the house will request the governor by resolution not to accept the resignation of the gentleman from Monroe and Brown."

Representative McGonagle then moved that reconsideration of the vote by which the medical school bill had passed the house be made a special order for Monday at 2 o'clock.

The senate today concurred in the house amendments to the Humphreys bill providing for publicity of the records of the state accountant. This repeals the act of 1913 which was attacked on the ground that it protected irregularities in public records and enables defaulters to cover up their wrong-doings by making restitution.

States—in order to balance if possible the adhesion to our foes of a new enemy. The German minister at Mexico City was therefore instructed in the middle of January that in event of a military conflict with the United States he should offer to the Mexican government an alliance and arrange further details. These instructions, by the way, expressly directed the ministers to make no advances to the Mexican government unless he knew for a certainty that America was going to declare war.

"How the American government received information or the instructions sent by a secret way to Mexico is not known. It appears, however, that the treachery—and it only must have been treachery—was committed on American territory."

ZIMMERMANN'S STATEMENT.

Limits Answer to What is Said in English Utterances.

Berlin, March 3.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—The following was given out today by the Overseas News agency, (the official German news bureau.)

"Foreign Secretary Zimmermann was asked by a staff member of the Overseas News agency about the English report that "a German plot had been revealed to get Mexico to declare war against the United States and to secure Japan's aid against the United States."

Secretary Zimmermann answered: "You understand that it is impossible for me to discuss the facts of this 'revealed plot,' just at this moment and under these circumstances. I therefore may be allowed to limit my answer to what is said in the English reports which certainly are not inspired by sympathy with Germany. The English report expressly states that Germany expected and wished to remain on terms of friendship with the United States, but that we had prepared measures of defense in case the United States declared war against Germany. I fail to see how such a 'plot' is inspired by unfriendliness on our part. It would mean nothing but that we would use means universally admitted in war, in case the United States declared war.

"The most important part of the alleged plot is its conditions and form. The whole 'plot' falls flat to the ground in case the United States does not declare war against us. And if we really, as the report alleges, considered the possibility of hostile acts of the United States against us, then we really had reasons to do so.

"An Argentine newspaper, a short while ago, really 'revealed a plot' when it told that the United States last year suggested to other American republics common action against Germany and her allies. This 'plot' apparently was not conditional in the least. The news as published by La Prensa (Buenos Aires) agrees well with the interpretation given, or instance by an American newspaper man, Edward Price, in Berlin and London, who said that the United States was waiting only for the proper moment in order opportunely to assist the entente. The same American stated that Americans from the beginning of the war really participate in it by putting the immense resources of the United States at the entente's disposal, and that Americans had not declared war only because they felt sure that assistance by friendly neutrality would, during that time, be much more efficient for the entente than direct participation in the war. Whether this American newspaper man represented the facts, we are at a loss to judge in satisfactory fashion, since we were more or less completely cut off from communication with the United States. But there were other facts which seemed to confirm this and similar assurances. Everybody knows these facts and I need not repeat them. The entente propaganda have sufficiently heralded all these pro-entente demonstrations in the United States. And if you link these demonstrations with the actual attitude of the United States then it is obvious that it was not frivolous on our part to consider what defensive measures we should take in case we were attacked by the United States."

JAPAN MAKES IT STRONGER.

Greatly Surprised to Hear of German Proposal, Says Minister.

Tokio, Friday, March 2.—The declaration of the Japanese government through Foreign Minister Viscount Motono, that Japan has received no proposition from Mexico or Germany to join in a possible war against the United States was supplemented today in a statement made to the Associated Press on behalf of the government by Kijuro Shibehara, vice foreign minister.

"We were greatly surprised to hear of the German proposal," he said. "We cannot imagine what Germany is thinking about to conceive that she could possibly involve us in war with the United States merely by asking Mexico. This is too ridiculous for words. Needless to say, Japan remains faithful to her allies."

In response to a question regarding Japan's attitude toward the Anti-Japanese measures which were brought forward in Idaho and Oregon, M. Shibehara said he had especially requested newspapers to refrain from inflammatory comment, advising that the matter be left for treatment through diplomatic channels.

STRENGTHENS WILSON'S HAND.

Amsterdam and The Hague Newspapers Comment on Intrigue.

The Hague, March 3.—The news of the German intrigue in Mexico caused a sensation here. It is regarded as a stroke of great good fortune for the cause of the entente and as immensely strengthening the hands of President Wilson. The Amsterdam Handelsblad speaks of von Bernstorff's "crazy intrigue" and the Rotterdam Maasbode says:

"This trick of the black magic of secret diplomacy beats anything hitherto seen. Now that the cards are on the table the German game, instead of being grandiose appears merely grotesque."

The Amsterdam Nieuwe Van den Dag calls the failure of the German maneuvre as a diplomatic defeat of far reaching consequences which will do immense harm to Germany now and especially in her future relations with America. The Hague Nieuwe Courant referring to Germany's "double game" as it hazarded "this wildest move because it felt cornered now that it was confronted by a new enemy."

This paper, in the light of the present revelations incidentally congratulates European neutrals on their wisdom in holding aloof when President Wilson invited them to support his action against Germany in regard to the unrestricted submarine campaign.

THE BRAZILIAN VIEW.

O'Paise says: "In spite of the genuity of the machiavellism of Germany it is beyond doubt that the proposition to make Gen. Carranza a tool of Berlin is fortunately unsuccessful. The duplicity of Carranza has been unmasked and will give a finishing blow to his project for a Latin-American conference."

A Epoca says: "In this intrigue which covers with blood American soil the egotism of Gen. Carranza is an impressive fact. Carranza would not hesitate to set all America on fire. The energetic attitude of the United States in demanding satisfactory explanations proves that Carranza's infamy may cost him dearly."

other party, he may be challenged and when this is done he must take an oath in which he swears that in the last preceding election he voted for a majority of the candidates of the party whose ticket he intends voting in the primary. Thus, one who voted for the majority of democrats last fall and calls for a republican ballot next Tuesday may lay himself liable to a charge of perjury, which is a felony and a penitentiary offense. This perjury may be proved collaterally by statements he may have made to others as to how he voted in the last election. Direct evidence is not necessary and probably would also be impossible, as onbody but the voter himself is likely to have observed how he cast his ballot then.

Big Loesch Meeting.

The meeting at the Builders' Exchange last night in the interest of George H. Loesch for mayor was the best attended that has yet been held both in numbers and what one of these there called "pep." C. R. Lano presided and W. C. Geak and A. J. Vesey conducted the details of the organization. Full arrangements were made for the primary day next Tuesday. There will, however, be another meeting Sunday afternoon in the Physicians Defense building at 3 o'clock.

During the conference last night Mr. Loesch appeared and was greeted with applause. He related many incidents in his arduous day's work that showed, he said, a strong break in his direction. "I have been convinced by this day's work that success is ours," he remarked. "The voters have been ready to listen and give me credit for being sincerely and thoroughly with the people of Fort Wayne for the protection and advancement of their city enterprises such as the electric light plant for which I was always a booster, the track elevation matter, the water works, flood prevention and other civic interests. As all my working life has been spent in this city I have made thousands of friends who assure me of their support now and who believe that my experience in the official life of the city qualifies m to serve all the people with credit when elected."

The comments of the many from whom reports were heard supported the remarks of the candidate and many said that the only question now is the size of the majority.

Still in the Race.

D. Burns Douglass has made denial to a report that he has withdrawn from the race for police judge on the republican ticket.

"I'm in until the last and I feel confident that I am going to win," he declared.

Cutshall Headquarters.

Sherman Cutshall, who is seeking the republican mayoralty nomination, announces that his headquarters for primary day will be at the corner room at the Strand theater building. A business men's luncheon in the interest of Mr. Cutshall's candidacy was held there today at noon. Hon. O. N. Heaton presided. A meeting of Cutshall boosters will be held in the Lyric hall, 1010 Calhoun street, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

MAJOR JOHN E. MILLER

To the Voters of Fort Wayne:—

In seeking the nomination for City Clerk on the Republican ticket, I must rely on my friends for support, with the knowledge that I am not being pushed by any clique, ring or machine, and, if nominated and elected, I will be free to serve all the people to the best of my ability, regardless of party.

It is my lot to be a laboring man, one of those compelled to earn a living for himself and family, and could not find time to see each one of the voters personally, so I will ask my friends to take up the battle for me, being assured of my heartiest thanks for any favor shown me.

I was born in this City, have lived here nearly all my life, have watched its growth from a few thousand population to our present proud position as the second City in the State, and pride myself on having had a small part in its development and success.

When the call of the President came, last June, for the mobilization of the National Guard for service on the Mexican border, I had the honor of being Captain of Company E, which Company had the distinction of taking into camp the largest number of men of any Infantry company in Indiana, and although I was compelled, through no fault of my own, to relinquish command I have the sutisfaction of knowing that Company E proved to be one of the best organizations among all the troops assembled on the border.

I have always done what I could to make a success of anything for the benefit of the City, some times making sacrifices that I could illy afford, but I did not let that stand in the way.

I am a taxpayer and as such, am interested in anything that will tend to make Fort Wayne, my home, a bigger and better City.

I am fitted, by education and experience, to administer the affairs of the office I seek, so as to meet the approbation of all, and, if elected, I want everyone to feel free to come to me at any time, for anything I can do for them.

With this explanation I leave my campaign in the hands of my friends, hoping that they may give me their heartiest support for which I wish to thank them in advance.

Very Respectfully.
MAJOR JOHN E. MILLER.

BRANCH HEALTH SCHOOL

To Be Established at Winona Lake This Summer.

Winona Lake, Ind., March 3.—Winona Lake has the distinction of getting the first branch department of the Battle Creek Sanatorium to be established in the United States outside of the city of Battle Creek, Mich. Through the efforts of Dr. Sol C. Dickey, president of the Winona Assembly, a contract has been signed with Dr. J. H. Kellogg, founder and president of the Battle Creek Sanatorium company, whereby a school of health will be established at Winona during the coming summer.

Dr. Kellogg in a letter to Dr. Dickey states that he hopes the proposition can be made a permanent arrangement as the promoters are in sympathy with the moral and religious teachings of the Winona Assembly. Dr. Kellogg recently made a gift of $400,000 to be used for the promotion of health conferences.

NAMED EXALTED RULER.

Bluffton, Ind., March 3.—At a well attended meeting Thursday evening Bluffton lodge No. 796, B. P. O. E., organized for the ensuing year by the election of the following officers: Exalted ruler, Judge W. H. Eichhorn; esteemed leading knight, W. A. Shead; esteemed loyal knight, John Graham; esteemed lecturing knight, Jerry Myers; treasurer, F. C. Waugh; secretary, John E. Swaim; tyler, William McBride; trustee, H. R. Swisher; delegate to grand lodge, O. W. Baumgardner; alternate, M. K. Williamson. The new officers will be installed the first meeting night in April.

DEATH AT DELPHOS.

Bluffton, Ind., March 3.—John Bixler, of South Johnson street, last evening received word of the death of his Bluffton resident, who died Wednesday night at his home in Delphos, where he moved five years ago from Decatur. The deceased was born in this city, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bixler, and lived here the first fifteen years of his life. He leaves a wife and two children, Will, of Hartford City, and Cora, of Lancaster, O. Brothers and sisters are: Mrs. John D. Meyers, of Decatur; John Bixler, of this city; Harry, of Huntington; Will, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Kate Groh, of Vera Cruz.

RETURNS AFTER TEN YEARS.

Berne, Ind., March 3.—Charles Hostetter, who suddenly left his home in Berne ten years ago and who within the last two weeks reappeared as suddenly and as mysteriously as he departed, was a guest last evening of his uncle, Adolph Witzman, and family. Hostetter's sister, Miss Elizabeth Hostetter, accompanied him. The young man since leaving Berne has traveled in the northwestern part of the United States and Canada. He is now engaged in tank building at Tulsa, Okla. The young man's uncle did a similar stunt, leaving Berne and remaining away twenty-two years, and Chrles tried to duplicate his action.

FIRE AT AUBURN.

Auburn, Ind., March 3.—Fire, evidently starting in the furnace pipe in the cellar and following the pipe to the attic, where it burst out with tremendous force, nearly caused the ruination of the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Leasue on West Seventh street, Friday forenoon. It was about 10 o'clock when their daughter, Mrs. Flossie Richwine, feeling that the house was cold, went to the furnace room to fix the fire. She discovered that the furnace pipe was red-hot and feared that all was not well.

REORGANIZE CLUB.

Monroe, Ind., March 3.—Monroe business men met last evening for a reorganization of their commercial club. The business men of the town organized some time ago, but interest finally lagged, but at this time there is an almost unanimous demand for a revival of interest in the matter. There is no town of its size in Indiana that is more prosperous than Monroe. It is located in the best agricultural district in Indiana and its business men are a wide-awake aggregation.

FUNERAL OF J. W. EARLE.

Albion, Ind., March 3.—The body of John W. Earle, who died at Indianapolis of acute indigestion, was brought to the home of his mother, Mrs. William Earle, in this city, where the obsequies were conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. J. S. Newcombe of Sheridan, formerly pastor at Albion, officiating. The decedent was a member of the Masonic, K. of P. and Odd Fellow lodges. These lodges were represented in a body at the obsequies.

DRILLING NEAR PETROLEUM.

Portland, Ind., March 3.—Activities in the oil field near Pennville are increasing daily. Already five strings of tools are busy there and the sixth is now being arranged for. Arch P. Hardison yesterday shot a well on the Thomas farm that starts with an excellent production. Well No. 4 on the Davis farm, under lease by Murray Jones, was shot this week. Each of these four wells are producing well.

TERM BROUGHT TO CLOSE.

Columbia City, Ind., March 3.—Judge Luke H. Wrigley completed the work of the February term of the Whitley circuit court Friday afternoon, and he and his wife left at once for their home in Albion. A considerable amount of business was disposed of and a number of cases were wiped off the calendar. Court will be convened again in April, on Monday, April 2.

JOSEPH GUY DEAD.

Auburn, Ind., March 3.—Joseph Guy, of South Jackson street, who has been an invalid for four years and during that time, has had several paralytic strokes, passed away at 12:30 o'clock Friday noon, death coming as a relief. He has been a resident of this city for several years and was about 60 years of age. He was a son-in-law of S. U. Tarney, of South Main street.

JAMES HENRY WIGGS DEAD.

Portland, Ind., March 3.—James Henry Wiggs died Friday morning at 2:30 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Metz, two miles southeast of the city, following an illness due to the infirmities of age. Mr. Wiggs had been in failing health during the past winter and since last Saturday his condition had been very low.

BROKEN BONES RESET.

Kendallville, Ind., March 3.—George Mahnesmith of Albion, submitted to an operation at Cooperative hospital today on his foot. Three years ago he sufferer an injury to his foot which has been causing him considerable pain. This morning the bonse of his foot were broken and re-set with hopes of offering him permanent relief.

MRS. NELLS SCHRADER DEAD.

Warsaw, Ind., March 3.—Mrs. Nells Schrader, age 67 years, died at the McDonald hospital at 1 o'clock this morning. Her death was caused by pneumonia. She had been in the hospital since last Friday. Mrs. Schrader has lived in Warsaw for about four and one-half years. Her husband died about four years ago.

LARWILL NEWS.

Those from a distance who attended the William C. Prugh funeral Thursday were Mrs. Caroline Ulerich, of Alexander, O.; Mrs. Wade Whetstone, of Mentone; Thomas McCrea, of Fort Wayne; Mr. Robbins, of Warsaw; Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Prugh, of North Manchester, and the following from South Whitley: Charles Prugh and daughter, Mrs. Luckenbill; Mr. and Mrs. John Prugh, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Weybright and Mrs. Ray Prugh.

Earl Norris moved Friday south of town to a farm of his father, Alex Norris.

Henry Smalley and daughter, Mrs. Ida Long, have moved into the Charles Baker property.

Marvin Scott, of Columbia City, did some telephone work in town Friday.

Mrs. Lizzie Buntain returned home Thursday from a visit at Fort Wayne.

Rev. E. E. Wright, of Harlan, former local M. E. pastor for three years, who officiated at the Prugh funeral, conducted a service at the M. E. church Thursday evening.

ST. JOE NEWS.

St. Joe, Ind., March 3.—Mrs. Hannah Ulm and brother, Judson Harrod, who is here visiting her from Perrysville, Ohio, spent Monday night and Tuesday, the guests of the former's son, Robert Ulm and family at Butler.

Frank Scholes went to Auburn Tuesday to make a short visit with his sisters, Mrs. Ida Williams and Mrs. Emma Abel, the latter being quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Woodcox.

Mrs. John Coburn met with an unfortunate accident Tuesday while she and her husband were assisting in carrying their household goods. In some way she fell and tore the ligaments of one knee very badly, making it necessary for her to use crutches. She left Tuesday, however, in company with her husband and Miss Mae Shumaker for their new home at Oaklander, near Indianapolis, where they will reside on a farm recently purchased.

The Pythian Sisters initiated two members into the lodge Tuesday evening, they being Mrs. Berniece Baker and Mrs. Marie Draggoo.

Unless Pay is Up One-Third You Get Less Than in 1912

[By FREDERICK M. KERBY.]

New York, March 3.—The man whose salary or wages have not been DOUBLED during the past twenty years, HAS ACTUALLY HAD A CUT IN PAY!

The housewife who goes to market today can buy LESS THAN HALF AS MUCH FOOD for a dollar as the same dollar would buy twenty years ago!

The purchasing power of money has been cut in half. Food prices have doubled. Our dollars are shrinking in our pockets while we hold them.

Furthermore, unless your wages are ONE-THIRD MORE now than they were four years ago, you are actually GETTING less!

Twenty years ago, in 1896, the average workingman's dollar would buy twice as much round steak as it will today. Figures just issued by the United States bureau of labor statistics show that in 1896, the average price per pound of round steak was $.124. In other words it was just about TWO POUNDS FOR A QUARTER. Today, the price of round steak, as gathered from the principal industrial cities of the United States, and from hundreds of retail dealers, averages $.237, IN OTHER WORDS, IT IS NOW ABOUT A QUARTER FOR ONE POUND.

The same is true of all other meats. Pork chops in 1896 were about ten and a half cents a pound. TODAY THEY AVERAGE TWENTY-ONE AND A HALF. Smoked bacon twenty years ago was twelve and a half cents a pound on the average. Smoked ham in 1896 sold for 15 cents a pound on the average; today it is a little over 30 cents. Poultry was selling near 13 cents a pound on the average in 1896; today at a little over 24 cents.

The prices today are at least ONE-FOURTH GREATER than they were EVEN TEN YEARS AGO. Sirloin steak in 1907, according to the United States figures, was at $.181 per pound on the average; today it is $.268. Round steak was 15 cents a pound; now it is over 23 cents; rib roast then was 15; now it is 21 cents. And so on down the list. And what is true of meats is true of all other principal items of food.

Meat constitutes 31.35 per cent. of the whole food outlay—practically one-third. It is the big item in food costs. And FOOD constitutes 42.54 per cent. of the total budget of the average workingman's family. These figures are based on the government inquiry in 2,567 typical workingmen's homes.

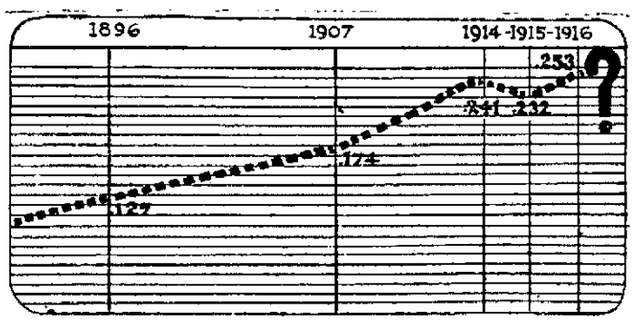
The increase in ONE YEAR is startling. In New York city, the official figures show that, with the single exception of pork chops, every article of the 27 listed in the government's tabulation, showed an increase in price for December, 1916, over December, 1915. Potatoes showed AN INCREASE OF EIGHTY-TWO PER CENT. IN THE SINGLE YEAR.

Since the end of December, there has been a STILL SHARPER RISE in food prices in this city and throughout the country.

A comparison of prices on December 15, 1912, four years ago, and December 15, 1916, shows an advance in the price of all food combined of TWENTY-NINE PER CENT. That means that food TODAY on the average COSTS MORE THAN ONE-THIRD MORE THAN IT DID FOUR YEARS AGO!

The greatest increase, 120 per cent, is in the price of potatoes. Flour increased 66 per cent.; lard, 37 per cent.; while butter shows the smallest increase, 9 per cent.

THE RISE IN THE COST OF LIVING!



This table indicates the average cost in 1896, 1907, 1914, 1915 and December, 1916, of a pound of meat in industrial cities from which the United States government has collected statistics. The meats on which the figures are based are sirloin steak, round steak, rib roast, pork chops, smoked ham and chicken. The average costs were 12.7 cents a pound in 1896, 17.4 cents in 1907, 24.1 cents in 1914, 23.3 cents in 1915, and 25.3 cents last December.

RID STOMACH OF GASES, SOURNESS, AND INDIGESTION

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its quick relief in indigestion, dyspepsia and gastritis when caused by acidity has made it famous the world over.

Keep this wonderful stomach sweetener in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach it helps to neutralize the excessive acidity, then all the stomach distress caused by it disappears. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming such stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

Acts 17:24-29.

24 God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands;

25 Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things;

26 And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation;

27 That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us:

28 For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring.

29 Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man's device.

SATURDAY, MARCH 3, 1917.

Power of the Food Boycott.

Rebellion against the outrageously high price of potatoes which has taken the form of simple refusal on the part of many people over the country to purchase the once lowly but now exalted tuber is beginning to show some real results. In spite of the fact that there has been manifestly no increase in the visible supply of the product, prices in all parts of the country have begun to tumble. Something like panic has come to prevail, for example, among Chicago dealers who find themselves with considerable stocks of potatoes on hand and absolutely no demand for them because people are not buying potatoes. An authority in that city has voiced the opinion that a few more days of this sort of thing will bring the price down to a level where, to use his expression, "it ought to be."

The egg boycott, carefully nurtured in many centers a few weeks ago, was not altogether successful, largely because those who were crying loudly against exhorbitant prices were still buying them. The case of the potato presented some rather different conditions. More certainly and more generally a staple of diet than even the egg, it is one of the foodstuffs whose approach to the $1 per bushel figure struck straight home. The average man and the average family could not imagine a dietary system with potatoes out of it. They were the universal substantial on the tables of the well-to-do and the poor alike. Substitutes for potatoes were inconceivable, largely because conditions had never before made the turning to a substitute necessary.

Yet something has happened. The fall in price is plain evidence that the potato has to a large degree been eliminated from the menus. Something has been substituted, and that, too, probably without serious harm. It may have been rice or it may have been something else. There was no effort at organized boycott such as existed in the war on egg prices, but it was a boycott nevertheless, and the more effective because it was based on absolute necessity rather than on mere clamor over something unique in dealing with the cost-of-living problem. Potatoes are still very high, and they will doubtless remain so until new crops swell the supply. But the one thing demonstrated during the past week or two is that the public has it in its power to prevent speculative extortion in foodstuffs if it will enforce the remedy by denying itself. We are at the mercy of the iniquitous food speculators only so long as we tolerate that sort of thing by assuming that no sort of food will answer save that which is commanding the top prices.

Governor Goodrich is said to be highly displeased over a special appropriation carrying extra expense for the completion of the senate journal, yet by this time he must be accustomed to nettling disappointment both over what the legislature does and what it refuses to do. When he reflects on the ruthless character of the warfare that has been made on a number of measures for which he stood an energetic sponsor, and the support that has been given to others to which he was opposed, he can see right now that there will be small occasion for three rousing gubernatorial cheers over the fashion in which the Goodrich legislative program has been carried out. As accomplishment it is no great shakes, but as a ruin it has no inconsiderable claim on public interest.

Senator-elect Harry S. New has gone to Washington, selected his seat in the senate chamber, exercised his floor privilege as a member-elect and otherwise manifestd indications that h is going to like his new job if he can manage to elude the army of original New men in Indiana who are confidently expecting that he will somehow manage to express his appreciation by something more substantial than a vote of thanks.

Capt. Scheffer's Fort Wayne Battery D, now at Fort Benjamin Harrison awaiting muster out following its return from the Mexican border, won high praise from regular army officers for its quick development as a fighting machine. And, knowing the stuff from which those boys are made, that is precisely what Fort Wayne was confident would happen.

Washington has been assured from two apparently dependable sources that Villa is no longer to be regarded as a serious factor in the Mexican situation because of his physical condition. Still, it will not be an assured fact until it is demonstrated that the bandit chieftain is entirely and completely dead. That man has an unpleasant way of coming back after his defeats.

Governor Whitman, of New York, has never made pretentions as a pugilist, but his orders refusing to permit Les Darcy, the Australian bruiser, to fight in that state because he is a coward and a slacker for running away from military duty comes pretty nearly being entitled to classification as a knockout.

And maybe some of the congressional opposition to granting Wilson authority to protect American rights by the use of armed neutrality and "other instrumentalities" is due to serious doubt in the minds of the statesmen as to the precise meaning of so long a word as "instrumentalities."

Letters from The Sentinel Readers

A WIDOW'S PROTEST.

To the Editor of The Sentinel:—A week or so ago I read in the paper that the county supervisors had issued warnings to drivers about hauling heavy loads on gravel roads while the ground is soft. I wonder what said supervisors would do in my place? On February 23, a two-dollar load of coal was delivered to my next door neighbor. The driver left the street at the corner of my lot, drove on dirt sidewalk to next corner, turned wagon back in street, horse's feet on walk and corner of my lot while he unloaded the coal. A good share of my lot has been pulled down into the street and the sidewalk cut to pieces. In a few weeks flood will come and the ground is in fine shape to be carried across the street. As I am sixty-nine years old, I do not feel much like shoveling my ground back where it belongs. Am straining every nerve and penny to make my home like a home should look, and it seems hard that I must spend ten dollars to repair damage done to unload a two-dollar load of coal. My aim in life is to get all I can, but to make the world look better. Sent word to the dealer; told him to come and see. If he did, he would say like one of old, "The half has not been told." Or he might say, "Oh, it is only another bit of trouble and hard work added to the widow."

PROSPECT AVENUE.

(Toledo Blade.)

A railroad man, speaking with the tone of authority, declares that the freight congestion is not primarily due to a shortage of freight cars. There are a number of other causes of far more importance, among them the lack of locomotives, ship scarcity at Atlantic ports, the famine in labor and the want of adequate terminals. Of all these things, he considers that poor terminals have done more than anything else to tie the transportation system of the country in a knot. But he recognizes that this problem is exceedingly hard to solve.

"It is the most expensive improvement," he says, "because of the high level of real estate values. It is also the most difficult because of the necessity of obtaining so many different sorts of authority. The trend of present plans is to buy large tracts outside of the cities and to build joint terminals there. Chicago has led other American cities in this respect. Future plans must take into account the public demand for electrification, which multiplies initial cost."

Because of these difficulties, this necessary solution of the freight congestion is the one the railroads are the least ready to undertake. It involves not merely the questions recited, but also the raising of capital, one of the hardest tasks of the carriers at this time. Yet solution there must be. It may be that the cities will have to go through with it themselves if it is to be done.

The building of several great industrial centers in recent years between the eastern shore and the Mississippi river has created a somewhat restricted freight producing territory. These centers flourish or wane as transportation facilities are plentiful or restrictd. They are the cities which must have adequate terminals, or their factories close, their mills are silenced and their working population desert them. If help cannot be obtained from the railroads, the cities must help themselves. The construction of terminals with public money would be a radical measure. But it may be the only salvation. There is too much money invested in the industrial centers, too many vital interests involved, to be let to perish for want of public enterprise.

We venture to predict that some city, more bold than the rest, will go into this branch of municipal ownership unless the railroads can soon find the means to build proper terminals upon their own account. If the present attitude of the railroads is not deceptive, the proposition would not be unwelcome in that quarter.

Now How Will the Ladies Vote?

(Kokomo Dispatch.)

It may be safely said that every candidate for election upon the city tickets is trying to make a guess on the probable course of the women voters. He—and it is still he—is also trying to make a guess on the number of those who will "take the trouble to go to the polls" and this ranges in the city of Kokomo all the way from 1,000 to 5,000. Somewhere, of course, between these two figures the truth lies and we venture the assertion that it will be more than half of the larger figure.

When we come to guess on the way women will vote we may have at our command some safe guides, and one of these is that the majority of the women will vote for the men who seem to them to be most deeply interested in the things which go to make a good city and a good home.

We are fortunate at this time to have eliminated the question of "wet" or "dry" so far as the saloon is concerned, but there still remains the question of the enforcement of the law on all matters.

The ladies show a tendency to avoid partisan politics and to meet in the spirit of civic development. In other words, so far as we can learn, the intention is to draw the line on the basis of good administration for the city rather than on party lines.

We don't mind saying that we think this is exactly what the ladies ought to do and that this, their first entrance into politics, is the time to do it, must be admitted.

It is the plain business of all parties to see to it that their pledges are kept and that they put forward men who will see to it that the highest efficiency of the municipality's work is executed.

The meeting today is said to be preliminary to a general interrogatory of the candidates and for the purpose of arranging such an organization as will put into effect the plans and purposes of the women.

This is in all probability the last election in the city wherein the names of all the candidates will be of males—for hereafter we may expect that the ladies will demand representation upon the tickets.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

The blue birds have arrived. This is a sure sign of an early spring.

A. C. Trentman will erect a pretty cottage at Rome City this coming spring.

Mrs. Henry Schoppleman will leave soon for Germany to visit relatives and friends.

Bicycling bids fair to be one of the main fads this year and dealers are preparing to meet the rush.

Twenty-two students completed their course in the medical department of Taylor university. The graduation exercises will be held March 8.

H. C. Paul and wife and Mrs. J. C. Peters left for New York last night. They will also visit the national capital and will return home in a few weeks.

In contemplation of the erection of a $60,000 city hall building for Fort Wayne, Mayor C. A. Zollinger, Councilmen Herman Michael, Peter Eggeman, George W. Ely, Fred Boltz and W. D. Meyer and Architect M. S. Mahurin will go to Evansville to inspect the city hall of that city.

The board of directors of the Abbot Magnetic and Mineral Well company met last night in the office of Louis Fox. An addition to cost $3,000 will be built to the present sanitarium.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pranger were pleasantly surprised at their home in East Jefferson street last evening. They were presented with many handsome gifts. A large number of friends were present.

Asa Coverdale has sold his interest in the Coverdale & Archer grocery store to Perry J. Archer. Mr. Coverdale has purchased interest in the B. W. Skelton's confectionery and cracker manufacturing company.

The Frenchtown base ball club was organized last night with F. J. Delagrange, president, and G. H. James, captain. Thus far three players have been assigned positions. They are Pitchers, C. W. Turner and D. Robbins, and Shortstop J. Stalir.

BANQUETS, ETC.

The word banquet used to mean a feast. Probably it did when mankind was just learning to talk and couldn't do anything else at a banquet but eat. But as mankind grew older they developed meanness, hence banquet speakers.

With these banquet speakers no one ever should be afraid of swallowing a hot potato or getting food down the windpipe. You don't get a chance. You do penance by listening to the speaker. You have to applaud his speech because American flags are always on display at banquets.

They soak you $5 and $10 a plate at a banquet. Plate is right, although a $10 plate isn't any more nutritious than a 5 and 10 cent store plate, and besides you can take the 5 and 10 cent store plate home. These diet squanders think they are starting something new but they copped their act from banquets.

The words a banquet speaker says that always strike home and make a hit with the unfortunates are, "Gentlemen, I thank you." Then the banquet is all over and the banqueters awake, smoke awhile, then go home for something to eat.

Banqueters never suffer from indigestion or insomnia.

ANTWERP NEWS.

For Councilman

Mr. Samuel Henline, carpenter contractor, for councilman-at-large on the republican ticket, has been a successful business man and has lived in the city for over thirty years and in the Ninth ward for twenty-seven years. I have seen Fort Wayne grow almost from a village to a city. I have always seen the needs of the city. I am a property owner and if elected councilman will serve all the people to the best of my ability.

I am in favor of Home Rule and the betterment of Public Utility and Municipal Ownership, so far as our Electric Light and Water Works is concerned.

NAME COMMITTEE TO STRENGTHEN SOCIETY

Purpose is to Increase Membership and Better Financial Conditions.

At the January meeting of the Redeemer Y. P. S. the membership and literary committees were united to form a boosters committee. The purpose of this committee is to help to strengthen the society, both as to membership and financial affairs.

At the first meeting of this committee, the following officers were elected: Earl Saffen, chairman, and Charlotte Busse secretary, and the following plans were decided upon: To distribute envelopes for the Indiana district of the Walther league among all members of the society. The chairman was to make up lists of all members who are delinquent in their dues, and also another list of all the members in the society. These lists are to be distributed among the ten members of the committee, so that they may see to obtaining all back dues and also bring as many members to all meetings as possible.

The system is very simple—each member of the committee having about eight names of the people they are to notify a day or two before each meeting.

At a second meeting of this committee these lists were handed out and the system will go into effect at once. The committee feels certain that this system will prove more successful than any which has ever been tried, and await confidently the results of their first campaign.

WILL UNFURL FLAGS SUNDAY MORNING

Two beautiful new flags purchased by the Sunday school and artistically draped about the pulpit will be unfurled with appropriate exercises at the regular morning service of the Wayne Street Methodist Episcopal church Sunday. Members of the Sunday school will remain for the regular church service. Besides the exercises incident to the unfurling of the two large American flags, Rev. C. Claud Travis will preach by request a sermon on "The Minister of God." There will be special music.

First Spiritualist.

First Spiritualist church will hold its regular service Sunday evening at 7:30 in the K. of P. hall, Washington boulevard west. The text of the sermon will be taken from the First Book of Samuel, 10:6, "And the spirit of the Lord will come upon thee and thou shalt prophesy with them and shalt be turned into another man;" followed by convincing spirit messages.

The Ladies' Right Thought society will meet in the same hall every Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

Trip Through Holyland.

Saturday evening Rev. E. W. Allen, of Auburn, N. Y., will lead the members of the Christian Endeavor of the East Creighton Avenue Church of Christ on "A Trip Through the Holy Land." Mrs. Schieffer will preside at the piano and the Sahara quartet from Bowsers will sing. The meeting is open and a silver offering will be taken.

Rector Returns from South.

Rev. John R. Quinlan, rector of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, returned Thursday from a trip through the south. He traveled through Florida and visited Havana and other points in Cuba. Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Weber and son, Leo, who accompanied Father Quinlan, have also returned.

Turner Chapel A. M. E.

Sunday services, 10:30 a. m.; preaching by Rev. Patterson; at 3 p. m., Rev. Jordan, of Mount Olive Baptist church; at 7:30 p. m., Rev. C. J. Dean, P. E. At 3 p. m., the Holy Communion will be served. A. C. E. league at 6:30 p. m. We look for a great day.

RABBI SCHORR TELLS OF ORIGIN OF PURIM FEAST.

RABBI SAUL SCHORR.

The feast of Purim, one of the most joyous in the Hebrew calendar, falls this year on Thursday, March 8. Rabbi Saul Schorr, of the congregation B'Nai Jacob, has prepared the following interesting account of the origin and history of the feast:

Mordecai and Esther.

While the Israelites in Palestine once more enjoyed peace and quiet, their brethren in the vast Persian kingdom were in imminent danger of being extirpated in one day. This murderous plan was the work of a certain Haman, the first minister at the court of the Persian king, Ahasuerus. Being an unrelenting enemy of the Jews, Haman found a pretext for his intended massacre in the fact that the Jew Mordecai, who, bowed in reverence to God alone, would not bow to him as all others did. The haughty and wicked Haman thought it too little satisfaction to avenge the offense of Mordecai on him alone; nay, the entire nation should satisfy his revenge, and by nothing less than their lives. To carry out his cruel purpose, Haman required the permission of the king. He therefore, approached his sovereign and said: "There is a people scattered in the provinces of thy dominion, whose laws are different from those of all others, and who themselves do not obey the laws of the king, and it is no profit to the king to tolerate them. If it should please the king to have them destroyed, then I would weigh 10,000 talents of silver into the treasury of the king." Ahasuerus thereupon replied: "Thou mayest keep thy silver and deal with the people as thou desirest." Haman, overjoyed at his success, fixed by lot the thirteenth day of Adar as the day of the utter destruction of all the Israelites in the kingdom, and sent out his orders accordingly.

The news of the projected slaughter filled the hearts of the doomed victims with terrors and gloomy forebodings. They wept, fasted and prayed to their God, whose help is nearest when danger is greatest. And their hope was not in vain. God, the omniscient, to whom past, present and future are alike known, became their protector. His wise providence provided against the calamity, before it had even threatened, in the following marvelous, though natural, manner. The queen Vashti, refusing to obey the king's order to appear in the midst of his dissipating guests on the seventh day of a protracted feast, so enraged the king that, in accordance with Haman's counsel, he dethroned her. In his selection of a suitable person as queen in place of Vashti, the choice of the king among many fell upon an orphaned Jewish damsel named Esther, the cousin of Mordecai, her guardian. Esther was neither asked, nor did she mention her nationality, and though now queen, she still remained the affectionate, obedient adopted daughter of Mordecai, who frequently visited her. On one of these visits, he overheard the plot of two court servants to poison the king. Mordecai reported the matter to Esther, and through her the king was informed thereof. The servants were condemned to death, and the faithful conduct of Mordecai found a place in the chronicles of the king.

Naturally, then, when his nation was in deepest distress, caused by Haman's death-warrant, Mordecai hastened, in deep mourning, to Queen Esther's court to advise her and to bid her use her influence with the king in behalf of her innocent people. On hearing the terrible report, Esther sent word back that no one was permitted to approach the king unless sent for. Then Mordecai returned answer, saying: "Think not that thou wouldst be saved, while thy people would perish. God can save us by some other means; but thou mightest well consider whether but for this very purpose thou hast attained to the royal dignity." In reply to this message, Esther ordered a fast of three days and promised to approach the king uncalled for, and thus venture her life for the sake of her people; for, said she, "if I am to die, I will die."

Esther Petitions the King.

The words of Esther were readily transmitted to all the Israelites at Shushan, and the fast was duly solemnized. On the third day of the fast, Esther donned her royal robe and tremblingly approached the throne of the king, and she found grace in his eyes. Stretching forth his golden scepter (a sign of grace), the king said to her: "What alleth thee, Queen Esther, and what is thy request? Speak, and if it be equal to half my kingdom, it shall be granted." Esther modestly replied: "May it please the king to come today with Haman to a feast which I have prepared for thee." Ahasuerus assented and at once sent the order to Haman.

Enjoying the festive board at the queen's palace, Ahasuerus reassured Esther of his readiness to grant any petition or request which she might ask for. Esther thereupon tendered another invitation to the king and Haman for the next day, which was likewise accepted with grace. * * *

"If thou hast been once caused to fall by one of the seed of the Jews, thou wilt be unable to rise again." They were still bewailing the sudden change for the worse in their wicked designs, when the king's messengers came in to hasten Haman to the feast of the queen. During that feast, as twice before, the king beckoned the queen to state her request. And Esther said: "If I have found favor in thy sight, O king, may it please my lord to spare my life and the lives of my people, for we are doomed to utter destruction. I should have been silent, if the cruel tyrant, who cares not in the least for the king's losses, had sold us as servants or slaves." Then the king, enraged, asked: "Who is he, and where is he, whose mind could dare to conceive such iniquity?" And Esther replied. "This wicked Haman is the deadly enemy of the Jews." The king rose in anger and went to the palace garden to pacify his mind, and Haman, pale and with trembling, fell upon his knees before Esther, praying for his life. The king soon returned, and finding Haman kneeling before the queen, said: "How darest thou, wicked man, thus approach the queen!" Then one of the servants said: "There stands a gallows 50 cubits high, erected by Haman to hang Mordecai upon it." And the king said: "Hang Haman thereon." The king's word was at once executed, and Haman suffered death on the same gallows which he had erected for Mordecai.

"Like brooks of water is a king's heart in the hand of the eternal? Withersoever it pleaseth him, he turns it."

Mordecai's Advancement.

Esther informed the king of her relationship to Mordecai, whereupon Ahasuerus took off his signet ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it to Mordecai, thus promoting him to the highest office of the court. Upon Esthers appeal to the king to graciously recall Haman's death warrant issued against the Jews, Ahasuerus stated that, according to the state laws, a decree, written in the name of the king and bearing his seal could not be revoked. "But," he continued, "thou and Mordecai may, in my name, send forth another decree, satisfactory to yourselves, and attach my seal thereto."

Thereupon Mordecai called the king's scribes, who, by his command, issued a new decree, in which the Jews were ordered to rise in a body in self-defense, and utterly destroy all who would rise against them on the appointed 13th day of Adar.

This decree, hurriedly sent by messengers on swift horses, had a double effect; it brought relief and joy to the Jews, and dismay to their enemies. Many of them became worshippers of the God of Israel, and those others who could not suppress their hatred and their bloodthirsty spirit were deservedly slain by the Jews to the last man. Thus, through God's special providence, manifested by natural means, a long threatened calamity was brought to naught, the innocently accused and condemned became the victors and masters and the days of gloom, fear and sorrow were changed into days of light, gladness and joy.

In memory of that great deliverance, the Israelites yearly celebrate on the 14th day of Adar the festival of Purim, as a day of thanksgiving and rejoicing.

"He is the eternal our God, over all the earth are his decrees, he remembereth his covenant forever."

CHINA READY TO STRIKE.

London, March 3.—Berlin dispatches in the Rheinische Westfaelische Zeitung state that in circles in touch with the Chinese legation in Berlin it is expected China will give notice of a rupture of diplomatic relations unless Germany changes her blockade policy, says the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at The Hague. The German foreign office, it is added, has been warned to that effect by the German minister at Peking.

Mrs. Cora A. Hunter, of 705 West Berry street, announces the engagement of her daughter, Stella, to Sergeant Fred C. Phinney, U. S. A., who is located in this city as main sergeant for the recruiting office. Sergeant Phinney is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Phinney, of Bear River, Nova Scotia. Miss Hunter is widely known in the city and much admired for her many lovely qualities. Miss Hunter is very musical and a pianist of much accomplishment though her domestic tastes and her skill in household matters overcame a desire for a musical career. The wedding of Sergeant Phinney and Miss Hunter will take place in early spring.

Mrs. William M. Clutter, of 1002 Columbia avenue, entertained a few friends on Thursday evening at her home in honor of her niece, Miss Marie Sordelet, whose engagement to wed on the tenth of April, Mr. George Wyss, was announced. There were fourteen young women in the company and they enjoyed the pretty arrangements of pink sweetpeas and pink candles in hoods of pink and delicious refreshment that had been provided for the evening. Mr. Wyss is located in Detroit, Mich., and will take his bride there to live.

The College club makes unusual announcements that are of interest to many, aside from the club members. The first is that at the next meeting of the club, which is to be held at the home of Miss Porter, 210 West Wayne street, Hiram Kelly Moderwell will speak on "The American Theater Growing Up." Mr. Moderwell is a former Fort Wayne man who is now quite prominent in eastern literary circles, both as a dramatic and a musical critic. Mr. Moderwell will review the condition of one theater as to its economic basis and its artistic product, and will then very briefly trace the influences and personalities that are keeping it along.

The College club calls attention of housewives of the city to the fact that the club has secured the moving picture film belonging to and made by Mrs. Christine Fredericks, which is a story of a discouraged housekeeper who, through her lack of training, finds herself disgusted with home work, but who becomes transformed into an efficient and contented woman and housekeeper by the help of an expert housekeeper sent out by the government to her home to help her. The film is to be released in afternoon and evening of March 19, at the Strand, in addition to that theater's regular bill. The College club has undertaken the expense of the film and will sell tickets at the usual price, fifteen cents, individually, and at Miss Emanuel's drug store. Only tickets sold as above mentioned will do the College club any good. Mrs. Fredricks was heard here a week ago and everyone was delighted with her talk.

The Willing Workers' Aid society will be entertained at the home of Mrs. C. M. Kickley, 2733 Hoagland avenue, on Tuesday afternoon. All members who were not present at the last meeting will please take their pound offering on Tuesday. Mrs. A. E. Fauve will be present to give a talk concerning the Red Cross membership in this city. All members and friends will be welcome.

One of the pretty though small parties of the week was Mrs. George Loesch's quilting party at her home in Washington boulevard west yesterday afternoon. The ladies enjoyed their sewing as well as the very delectable refreshment that Mrs. Loesch served at a later time. The decorations were red roses. Mrs. Loesch's guests numbered eight.

The Wideawake class of the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ Sunday school, was entertained last evening at the home of Misses Lillian and Evelyn Cope, of Fox avenue. After the business a social time playing games was enjoyed and they were followed by the serving of refreshments. The evening was a pleasant one. Mrs. H. E. Bruner, teacher of the class enjoyed this social time, too.

Mrs. C. J. Kowalski entertained the member of a crochet club to which she belongs on Friday afternoon at her home in Lincoln avenue. The time was passed pleasantly in crocheting and visiting and later, when Mrs. Kowalski invited her guests to the dining room, they found dainty refreshments served in a like manner. Members of the club, aside from the hostess, are Mesdames A. W. Young, George Bormuth, C. F. McLeish, Elmer Feistkorn, Carl Stogdill, Arthur Meyers and Ed Meyers.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Klebe, of 1110 Elmwood avenue, were assisted by a number of their friends in a celebration of the natal anniversary of Mr. Klebe, on Thursday evening. A game of progressive bunco was the amusement and prizes were earned by Miss Estella Wilkins, Miss Helen Klebe and Messrs. William Doelling and Charles McCormick. A birthday cake with silver candlesticks holding pink candles on both sides of it formed the decoration of the supper table. The guests were Misses Gwendolyn Smith, Esther Bill, Mr. and Mrs. William Doelling, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCormick, Mrs. Henry Klebe and Harry Sloan, Fred Bill and Walter Klebe.

TWO SOLOISTS TO SING "STABTA MATER," THURSDAY.

MR. REGINALD MORRIS, Tenor.

MR. HARRY TURVEY, Baritone.

The Morning Musical will present a gift concert to the music lovers of this city, next Thursday evening, at the First Presbyterian church. No admission whatever will be charged and anyone in the city who so desires is welcome to attend the concert, membership in the society having nothing whatever to do with the matter of going. The big thing at this gift concert will be the singing of Rossini's "Stabat Mater," but preceding that there will be a miscellaneous program during which each of the four soloists will sing a group of songs. The soloists are to be Mrs. Arthur Brandon, contralto, Mr. Harry Turvey, buritone, and Mr. Reginald Morris, tenor, all of Toledo, and Mrs. Clara Zollars Bond, soprano, of this city. The accompaniment for the "Stabat Mater" will be played by Mr. Claire Edwards, organist of the Jefferson theater, at the organ, and Mrs. D. F. Urbahns, at the piano. Accompanying for the solo numbers of the first part of the program will be played by Miss Emel Verweire.

WITH THE STUDY CLUBS.

The Fortnightly club will meet on Monday evening in the library of the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. C. T. Lane will read a paper on "Poetry in the Age of Reform." Rev. Mr. Folsom, Miss Helen R. Harper, C. L. Olds and Mrs. Ben Perley Weaver will lead the discussion.

The annual meeting of the Travel club will be held on Monday with Mrs. Coverdale.

Mary Penrose Wayne chapter of the D. A. R. will meet next Monday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. library. Dr. Carrie Banning will read a paper on "Pan-Americanism."

The Nineteenth Century club will meet on Tuesday with Miss Elizabeth Chapin. The club is still making a study of South America.

The Woman's Reading club has a business meeting scheduled to meet with Mrs. Walter Olds on Tuesday.

Mrs. Ankenbruck is named as hostess for a meeting of the Round Table on Monday evening. Jacksonian democracy is to be discussed after a paper on the subject by Miss Dennis.

A philanthropic meeting of the College club is on the schedule for next Friday afternoon with Mrs. Ben Levy, 2318 Fairfield avenue, as the hostess.

The General Culture club will meet on Thursday with Mrs. C. H. Brown. "The Southland of North America" is the subject of which Mrs. Katherine Anstett will read.

An interesting meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Shakespeare club was held this week at the home of Mrs. Walter Leonard. Mrs. Arthur Remmel told the story of "Lohengrin" as it appears in the opera and several illustrations of the music were given by victrola records, and by Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Remmel, who sang duets. Refreshments were served. The entire program is a departure from the preceding work of the club, which has just completed the study of "The Tempest." The Wagner operas will occupy the rest of the year's work.

The Twentieth Century club held its annual meeting with Mrs. C. A. Stockbridge last Thursday and elected Mrs. O. M. Houck, president; Mrs. F. W. Miles, vice president; Mrs. D. Parsons Goodrich, secretary, and Mrs. W. K. Wilder, treasurer. A social hour followed the business meeting.

Albert H. Macbeth, candidate for councilman-at-large, subject to decision of democratic primaries, March 6th, 1917.

Voters of the 10th Ward:

I have represented you in the city council the last three years. It has always been my aim to voice and vote my opinion to the best interest of all the people, never forgetting the working man. I have never allowed myself to be used as a tool of any individual or set of men, but have always tried to do that which I thought did the most good to the most of the people.

If you agree with me on the above statements then I believe I am justified in asking for your support on next Tuesday. Judge from my past record.

H. J. KORTE.

Read This and Think It Over

Calvin H. Brown, aspirant for the democratic nomination for mayor at the coming primary, has attempted something in the nature of an innovation in the manner in which he has conducted his campaign.

He has made a thorough canvass of the city after covering the city with a personal letter in which he set out very precisely what his views are with regards to the conduct of municipal affairs and institutions; and later published this letter in the city papers. In this letter Mr. Brown does not promise impossibilities, he pledges his entire time and an honest effort to solve several of our weighty problems; further than this we know what Cal Brown means when he says "entire time." The words economy, progress, efficiency and good business alone form a strong argument for his nomination; this is what we want and must have.

Mr. Brown has perfected an excellent organization of representative citizens who have volunteered their services because of an actual interest in his candidacy, not machine hired emissaries. Further than this he will not hire a flying squadron of automobiles to haul voters to the polls. There are several reasons; first: It is contrary to the intent, if not contrary to the actual wording of the law; second: The voter should be left to choose his candidates according to their ability and the principle which they advocate and should then protect his own selection by voting for him; third: It is an expense which cannot be justified by a man of Mr. Brown's circumstances.

Now, Mr. Voter, bear these things in mind, when you vote for Mr. Brown you vote to make us Indiana's first city in public spirit, public enterprise, municipal ownership and public morals if it can be accomplished by absolute devotion to duty and study of conditions, together with an environment of efficient assistants.

Go to the polls and vote for Mr. Brown because you consider him the logical man.—Advertisement.

MINER SCHOOL.

General Notes.

The meeting of the parent-teacher club has been postponed on account of the illness of Miss Byron.

One of our teachers has always spent considerable time on talks about cleanliness and care of the body and clothes, but she never knew how much of it was carried into the homes of her pupils until she received the following note:

"Dear Miss: It seems no more than right that I should express my gratitude to you for changing 'mein Fritz's' view toward cleanliness. He nearly took my breath this morning by asking me to inspect his ears and also asking for a clean waist. He also informed me, in confidence, that he had used yellow crayons on his finger nails the day before so that they would appear nice and clean.

"You certainly must be strong along these lines, for if I remember rightly it was under your tutelage that Ruth came home and gave Robert a vigorous scrubbing because the Puritans were always clean, and Robert came home and used the hand brush to get rid of the 'Germans,' (germs) under his finger nails.

"I'll confess it rather shocked me when Fritz came home and informed me that his cranium had been searched for 'pediculus capitis' but I suppose you had to treat them all alike to avoid complications.

"Now if you'll only impress on my youngest offspring that he looks lots better with his knees covered and that trousers look very nice minus holes and patches, we'll have a second 'Beau Brummel' in the family.

"Gratefully yours,

"Fritz's Long Suffering Ma.

"P. S.—Fritz doesn't know the contents of this or I think he'd shy at delivering it."

The teachers have not yet decided upon pictures to be bought with the money realized from our school sale.

7A Grade.

A play, "The Making of the Flag," was presented by the members of this class on Washington's birthday. The pupils taking part were dressed in the costumes of the revolutionary period. Those who took part and the characters they represented are:

George Washington ..... Charles Miles
Betsy Ross ..... Ruth Feustal
Robert Morris ..... Wavel Seslar
Col. Ross ..... Way Woodward
Dolly ..... Lela Scott
Mary ..... Ruth Shanaberger
Jane ..... Fern Smith

Soldiers.

Captain ..... Richard McCurdy

After the talk given by Judge Bench o our school on Washington's birthday, we were given slips of paper and asked in a grammar lesson to write into sentences the things that he told us that impressed us most. Following are some of the sentences received:

Washington was the first president of the United States.

Washington generally accomplished what he undertook.

If it had not been for Washington we would have no flag nor a free country.

Washington was a man of great intelligence and was very rich.

There was no such a leader in any war as good as Washington.

Washington was the father of our nation because he started the laws and the government.

Washington was a brave general and won many victories; he was also defeated several times.

The Washington monument was named after Washington. It is 550 feet high, the highest monument ever built to honor any man.

Washington was the first president of the United States and the best one.

Washington was president of the United States for two terms and was asked to be the third time but refused.

Washington is called the father of his country.

Compositions for the week of Washington's birthday were made from a talk on "Mount Vernon." The following composition, written by Esther Stock, of the 7A grade, aged twelve years, was one of the best:

"Mount Vernon was the home of George Washington. It is about sixteen miles from Washington, D. C., in Virginia. You can reach it either by railroad or by boat. The Ladies' Mount Vernon society bought it for about $200,000 from Washington's heirs. Every state in the union keeps up a part of the mansion. In the summer people can go to visit it from eleven o'clock in the morning until five o'clock in the afternoon and in the winter from eleven o'clock in the morning until four o'clock in the afternoon. The fare for going and returning either by boat or by rail is twenty-five cents each way and twenty-five cents to get on the grounds. The garden is beautiful. There is a hedge that George planted himself. The home is set up on a high bluff about one hundred and fifty feet above the Potomac. There are many rooms and they are all furnished the same or like that of Washington's time. The important rooms are the vestibule, hall, living room, parlor, library, banquet hall, dining room, kitchen, Washington's bedroom, and several other bedrooms. Every article in Washington's room was used by Washington. There is a trunk in George's room that he carried in the stage coaches; this has "G. W." on it and the year "1775." There are many other things that George and Martha used. The first tomb of Washington was very simple but they changed him. In his will he asked to have a tomb made of bricks. They followed his directions. On the right there is a marble tomb in which Washington is laid; on the left Martha is laid; at the end at the back, the remains of about thirty relatives are laid. Above the iron door of this tomb is written, "Within this enclosure rests the remains of General George Washington."

After a study of the Discovery of America compositions were written and submitted. Walter Tucker of the 7A grade, submitted one of the best, entitled, "Columbus."

On February 12 the Rev. H. B. Hostetter, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, gave a very interesting talk on the Life of Lincoln. Miss Christie's 7B pupils wrote statements about the most interesting points that were brought out.

The 7B girls took their first sewing lesson the first Friday of the new term. Up to the present time we have made pincushions, tea towels, and dish cloths. Our next lesson will be darning stockings.

The 7A girls are making their cooking aprons to be used in cooking lessons which they will take next term. Once a month they are taught to darn stockings. The boys are making fern stands.

The children of the Miner school brought papers and magazines to school to get money to buy sewing machines for the sewing class. Some of the papers were too dirty to be sold, so we did not make as much as we expected. We sold them to the Packard Piano company. They used them in packing the pianos. So we can sell only clean ones for a high price. The others do not bring a good price. We also sold mixed paper and waste paper. It all amounted to $10.18. We shall have another paper day soon and then we can soon own another machine. The school board gave us one.

"Dear Editor—The following is a play on names:"

We'd have you know
There's something doing here below.
We have a school of forty-three;
We're known in print as 7B.
But 7B won't represent,
Nor tell you fully what is meant.
Come in, if you can bear the moil,
And meet us on our native soil.

And farther in you hear some "Moore."
Not far away there is a "Sackman."
And "Roth" we are, we have no packman.
"St. Paul's" we have, there's one, two, three.
Put S behind, omit the T.
Nor has our "Hull-a" cause for fear;
A "Carpenter" and "Smith" are near.
We have "Green Glens," though "Brown" today,
But "Holley" is not far away.
A "Double" "Ward" to guide our way,
Of "Johsons" and "Somers" day.

Now this is only but a few
Of things that we could show to you.
We have some work, and also play.
Drop in and see us any day.

Mrs. Frank Kroeff, of Forest Park boulevard, is planning to go to Gulfport, Miss., within a few days and will be accompanied by her little daughter, Dorothy.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.—Advertisement.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

A WORKING MAN'S FRIEND

FRANK A. SCHRAMM

In seeking the office of councilman on the democratic ticket of the Eighth ward, I wish to state that I was born in Fort Wayne, September 7, 1880. Have been a property holder in the Eighth ward fourteen years, a pattern-maker by trade for eighteen years, a union man fourteen years, serving as president seven terms, holding that office to date; president of the Maumee Fishing club for the last seven years, vice president of the Olive club, a charter member of the Moose lodge, No. 200. I represented the Pattern-makers' local of Fort Wayne at Quincy, Ill., as a delegate to the National Patternmakers' convention in 1909; can read any plan or blue print. I am a first-class mechanic, working at the S. F. Bowser plant. If nominated and elected I pledge myself to support the following: Extension of city cars to the city limits; a park at the old golf grounds and a collapsible dam in the Maumee river and a stand-patter on municipal ownership. I was defeated in the last primary four years ago by fifty-six votes.

Yours truly,
FRANK A SCHRAMM.

FORT WAYNE ARTILLERY REACHES FT. HARRISON

Fort Wayne's quota of troops known as Battery D, Indiana field artillery, arrived at Fort Benjamin Harrison Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock after a record trip from Llano Grande, Texas. The train carrying the Fort Wayne boys passed through the Union depot at Indianapolis at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Unloading of the necessary equipment was done in veteran like fashion and soon after arriving the men were comfortably housed in the barracks at the fort.

The 155 men and five officers are all in trim condition with not a one under the care of the hospital. The boys were elated over the fact that they were again on Hoosier ground.

Co. E, Fort Wayne's infantry, left the Mexican border Friday noon and are speeding towards the state mobilization ground. It is expected that both companies will be mustered out of federal service in about two weeks time.

RUB RHEUMATISM PAIN FROM SORE, ACHING JOINTS

Rub pain away with a small trial bottle of old "St. Jacob's Oil."

What's Rheumatism? Pain only. Stop drugging! Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil" directly upon the "tender spot" and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism and sciatica liniment, which never disappoints and can not burn the skin.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle from your druggist and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic and sciatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" has cured millions of rheumatic sufferers in the last half century, and it is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.—Advertisement.

OFF TO THE INAUGURAL.

Monday is a big day in Washington. Fort Wayne will be well represented. Woodrow Wilson will be inaugurated for the second time as president of the United States. Twenty members of the Jefferson Drum corps left for the national capital. This organization will march in the inaugural parade. Accommodations in Washington will be difficult to secure and as a result several members of the corps made arrangements to go to Baltimore.

Quick Way to End Coughs, Colds and Croup

An Excellent, Inexpensive Home-Made Remedy that is Prompt and Sure.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, just try this pleasant tasting home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth). Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Thus prepared, you have a pint of really remarkable cough remedy—one that can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief at all times.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol and is noted for its speed in overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. Its millions of enthusiastic users have made it famous the world over.

There are many worthless imitations of this noted mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MONROEVILLE NEWS.

Did that itching keep you awake last night?

And how can you expect to sleep tonight unless you do something to relieve the trouble? Eczema and other itching skin troubles don't often heal themselves. But it is surprising how quickly

Resinol heals sick skins

Almost daily we hear from a skin-sufferer who says "Resinol Ointment stopped my itching at once and I got the first good night's sleep I had had in weeks. Now my skin is well."

Resinol Ointment is sold by druggists everywhere.

The Monroeville High school basket ball team will go to Kendallville next Friday to participate in the district tournament which is to be held there. The boys have done excellent work this winter and should make a good showing.

Dean Ellison and G. E. Spake went to Plymouth Friday on business.

Rev. D. W. Zartman, pastor of the U. B. church, left Wednesday for Anderson, Ind., where he will submit to an operation. Mrs. Zartman accompanied him and will remain until he has recovered sufficiently to return home or until the last of the month. His several charges will be supplied by other U. B. ministers during his absence.

The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Sallie Brown Tuesday afternoon. The subject for the afternoon study was Co-operation of Temperance and Missions. Papers were read by Mrs. D. A. Woolford, Mrs. Lucy Youse and Mrs. Dick Brown and little Miss Francele Brown sang a charming little song. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Arthur Steirheim, March 13.

The entertainment given by the Woman's Home Missionary society Wednesday evening was well attended. The little plays given by the ladies illustrated certain phases of the work in different localities. Several ladies were dressed to represent girls from different countries, who came to America and in this way the work among the immigrants was shown very clearly. Mrs. Seth Painter represented the Tennessee mountain girl; Mrs. Gurney Painter, Japanese girl; Mrs. Elsie Battenburg, Mexican girl; Mrs. Webb Mercer, Mormon girl; Mrs. H. Peckham, negro girl; Mrs. Seymour Jones, Chinese girl; Mrs. Virge Magner, Dutch girl; Mrs. Addie Jones, Esquima girl; Gladys Jones, Indian girl; Daisy Spaulding, Porto Rican girl, and Mrs. D. A. Woolford was a deaconess. The sum of the mite boxes and collection was about forty-two dollars. Coffee and doughnuts were served at the close of the program.

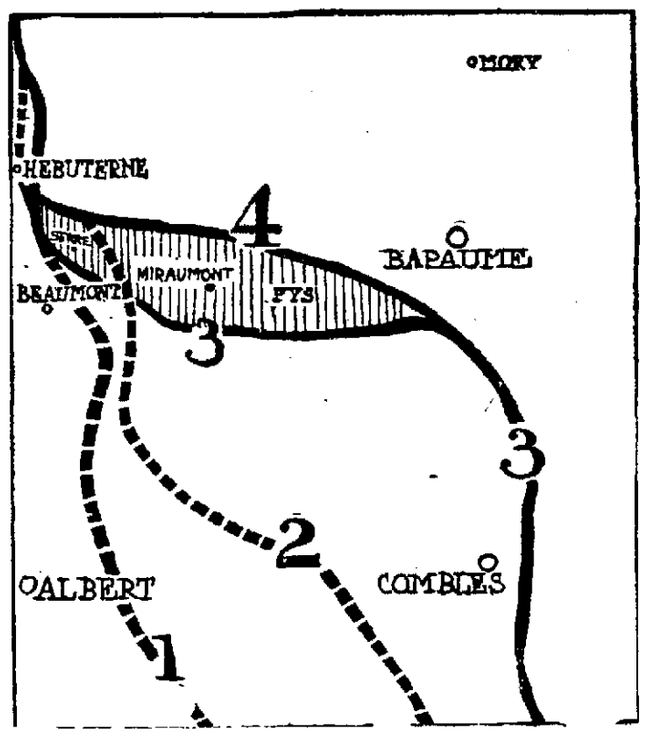
GREATEST SINGLE DAY'S GAIN IN TWO YEARS BRINGS BRITISH NEAR BAPAUME.



The map shows how Bapaume, which Germany has made a great strategic fortress, is threatened by the British advance along the Ancre—the greatest single day's gain since "stationary fighting" began. The line (1) shows the old battle line in this part of France; line (2), the battle line last July, after the first Somme rush; line (3), the line before the Bapaume dash, and line (4) inclosinf the shaded territory, the boundary of the district evacuated by the Germans in one day.

BIRTHDAY PRESENT IS CITY PROMOTION

Fire Captain John Stahlhut is Made Second Assistant Chief.

The city of Fort Wayne gave John Stahlhut, fire captain at No. 3 engine house on Washington boulevard west, a birthday present, Friday, when he was just 51 years old, by making him second assistant fire chief. The new office carries with it a neat increase in salary for Mr. Stahlhut, who will retain his place as head of the No. 3 station.

Relatives of the efficient fireman, who has been in the city service for twenty-six years, marked his birthday by a sumptuous dinner at his home on Webster street. There was the big birthday cake, bedecked with little flags.

Those who had a part in the festivity were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taylor, Mrs. William Kyle, Mr. and Mrs. George Becker, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Griffin and daughter Margaret, John Stahlhut's aged mother, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Achenbach, Mrs. F. E. Havens and daughters Virginia and Esther, and the Misses Fern Kyle, Florence Achenbach and Florence Becker.

The appointment of Stahlhut as second assistant fire chief follows the action of the council in creating that office two weeks ago. Stahlhut will be in charge of one fire fighting brigade when two alarms are sounded at once. He will be second in authority of active fire officers. His appointment was made by the board of public safety Friday evening.

Back From the Great Furniture Expositions

During the last few weeks our buyers from our different stores, have looked at one hundred acres of floor space, covered with the samples of the new spring styles of practically all the Furniture Manufacturers of the United States. Simply these samples—one of a kind—have had a value of three millions of dollars. More than seven hundred manufacturers, scattered all over the United States, displayed their lines. Some great concerns each showed from four hundred to six hundred pieces, no two alike.

From these statements may be gathered something of an idea of the immensity of these great Furniture Expositions that occur in January and July of each year.

Out of this great display, after ten hours' work of each day for two weeks, we have selected our magnificent new stock for this season's trade We aimed to have no particularly pretty things escape our notice. We never bought so heavily, for our trade is greater than ever before.

The "Big Store" Will Certainly Outclass All Competition this Spring to a Greater Extent Than Ever

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

PENNSY BENEFITS ARE OVER THREE MILLION

System Has Over Two Hundred Thousand Employes Now.

On the Pennsylvania railroad system, including lines both east and west of Pittsburg, the benefits paid in 1916 to employes and their families, through the relief department, amounted to $3,383,947. On the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie, $760,346 was paid in benefits to the families of members who had died, and $1,464,453 to members for sick and accident benefits. Superannuation allowances paid to pensioned employes amounted to $165,813. On December 31 there were in the service of the Pennsylvania system 228,234 employes, of which number 193,931 were members of the relief funds.

NEW ROLLING STOCK.

Freight Cars of Latest Pattern Pass Through City.

That the railroads are making an effort to relieve the present freight condition and car shortage is evident from the number of new freight cars that have been passing through the city for the past few days. Especially is this true on the Pennsylvania and Nickel Plate. The new cars are principally gondolas and automobile cars and are of the latest pattern. The automobile cars are so arranged that four machines of the largest type can be loaded at one time. Two of the machines occupy the floor of the car. Two others, knocked down, or dismantled for shipment, are carried suspended over them, under the roof of the car.

MUST ATTEND SCHOOL.

The Carpenters' union has decided that apprentices must attend vocational school two nights each week. The local union is in receipt of a list containing various phases of the work as carried on in Indianapolis and it is probable that this curriculum will be recommended for adoption soon.

WEDS CHICAGO GIRL.

Charles E. Flickinger, a fireman in the employ of the Nickel Plate, and Miss Josephine Meagher, of Chicago, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony in Chicago Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Flickinger will return to this city in a few days and are expected to make their future home here. Mr. Flickinger has been staying at the home of his mother, Mrs. C. J. Conrad, of Hillsdale avenue.

WILL MEET AT GARY.

The American Railway Engineering association will make an excursion to Gary, Ind., and Buffington, Ill., on March 23, 1917, the day following the annual convention to be held in Chicago on March 20-22. Visits will be made to the Gary Steel works of the Illinois Steel company, the Gary plant of the American Bridge company and the plant of the Universal Portland Cement company at Buffington.

TAKES NEW POSITION.

George Nicodemus, up until a short time ago a tuner in the employ of the Packard company of this city, left Saturday morning for Pueblo, Col. He has accepted a responsible position with the Silver State Musical company of that city and will begin immediately upon his arrival. Several men have tried to hold down the position which Mr. Nicodemus has accepted and have been unable to do the work properly.

NEW OFFICES.

The Cement Workers' local No. 586 are now located in Biemer's hall, 1204 Calhoun street, which will hereafter be the permanent headquarters. President W. F. Miltz has been named business agent and Charles Effert financial secretary.

ATTEND FUNERAL IN BODY.

Shopmen and fellow workers employed in the Wabash shops, attended the funeral of Jacob Roelle, held at St. Patrick's church this morning at 9 o'clock, in a body. They then accompanied the remains to the Catholic cemetery, where interment took place.

MANY EMPTY CARS.

Further evidence that the freight car shortage is nearing an end was indicated in the many empties that are being rushed through the city.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

H. C. Grossman, a boilermaker's helper for the Pennsylvania, is ill.

H. Karnes has accepted employment is a machinist's helper in the Pennsylvania shops.

C. H. Brown, machinist in the Pennsy machine shops, is off duty on account of sickness.

J. E. N. Dillon, assistant equipment clerk in the motive power offices of the Pennsylvania, is ill with the grip.

D. Rubert has accepted employment in the Pennsylvania shops as a machinist's helper in the erecting department.

J. L. Bobay has resigned as a painter for the Pennsylvania company to take up farming. He has purchased a farm eight miles north of this city.

L. E. Oates, machinist in the employ of the Pennsylvania, expects to leave soon for a visit with relatives and friends at Lima, Ohio.

L. Dehoff and W. Scheiffer have accepted jobs as machinist's helpers in the erecting shops of the Pennsylvania company.

W. Myers, an assembler in the dynamo assembling department of the General Electric company, was sick and off duty Saturday.

E. F. Hargrave, a machinist's helper in the erecting shops of the Pennsylvania, has returned to work after being off several days on account of sickness.

H. E. Stocker, production manager at the local plant of the General Electric, will leave Sunday for an eastern trip. He will visit the company's plants at Schenectady, New York and Pittsfield and Lynn, Mass.

A. C. Stemlar has secured a leave of absence from his duties in the tin shop of the Pennsylvania company, and will leave next Tuesday for Kiefer, Oklahoma, where he will visit with relatives. He expects to visit other points in the southwest before returning to this city.

SPENT FIFTY-THREE DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL

William Drake is Found Not Guilty in Circuit Court.

After spending fifty-three days in the Allen county jail awaiting trial on a charge of securing goods under false pretenses, William Drake was found not guilty by Judge Eggeman Saturday in circuit court. The affidavit for his arrest was sworn out by Claude Grats, who stated that Drake had gotten half a beef from him and never paid for it.

Grats testified on the witness stand that at the time when the beef was delivered to Drake that the latter said tha the would pay for it with some money he had in a bank at Harlan. The sale of the beef took place December 18, last. On January 8, Grats said he discovered that Drake did not have any money in the Harlan bank. He then had him arrested.

Judge Eggeman held that there was not evidence to find the defendant guilty of a criminal charge. He was let go.

WILL MAKE TRIP.

Suspended Sentence of Earl Tilsbury is Revoked by Judge.

Judge Eggeman in revoking the suspended sentence of Earl Tilsbury stated that evidence showed that he had not made an effort to make good. He was found guilty of a charge of forgery a week ago but the sentence of two of forteen years in the Indiana reformatory was suspended during good behavior. Several witnesses testified Tilbury is too lazy to work and would not get up in the morning.

SALOON LICENSES GRANTED.

County Commissioners Grant Request of Eighteen Petitioners.

Eighteen saloon licenses in Allen county were renewed by the county commissioners Saturday morning. The licenses expire on March 4, but due to the fact that this date falls on Sunday the licenses were issued on March 3. Those who were granted a renewal were: Louis Aukenbruck, Andrew Bubb, Henry C. Barney, Emil Bury, Thomas Clark, Richard Franke, Louis Franzler, Lehnart and Geller, Fred W. Mueller, John F. Naruki, Peters Hotel Co., Ben E. Spouth, Elmer E. Sniff, A. A. Schultheis, John E. Stewart, Roy H. Thavenet, Langard and Langard and Jacob T. Wyatt.

RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS.

Road Superintendents Meet in Court House Saturday.

Road superintendents of twelve districts in Allen county met in the office of County Highway Superintendent William Tonkel, Saturday morning to receive instructions as to the keep and care of the county roads. The county commissioners have been inspecting roads a part of the week. Friday they inspected and graded the following roads: Irvin Knight, district No. 1, Maysville and St. Joe roads, 90 per cent.; Henry Kroemer, district No. 2, Leo, Auburn and Tonkel roads, 90 per cent.; Frank Webb, district No. 3, Grahill, north part of Leo road and a portion of the Maysville road, and a portion of the Maysville road, and a por-

MARRIED LIFE WAS SHORT.

Estelle Hughes Complains That Her Husband Does Not Work.

Married life for Estella Hughes was very short. One year after they plighted thei rthoth, she has sued for divorce, alleging that her husband, Alex Hughes, is lazy and refuses to work, by reason of which he has been unable to properly support her. The complaint further sets forth that the defendant called her vile and profane names. She asks four dollars a week support money and asks that C. C. Shelton, the defendant's employer, be restrained from paying the defendant his wages. She also asks the court to issue a restraining order to prohibit the defendant from molesting her. Ryan, Ryan and Aldrich are the plaintiff's attorneys.

HAVE SEVEN CHILDREN.

Alice Varner Asks for Limited Divorce and Restraining Order.

Alleging that the defendant is no fit and proper person for the custody of their seven children, whose ages range from six months to twelve years, Alice Varner has sued John Varner for divorce and asks that the court issue a restraining order prohibiting him from molesting her or speaking to her at her home. She asks that the court grant her a limited divorce, one thousand dollars allmony and ten dollars a week for support money.

WANT HILL CUT DOWN.

Sixteen Petitioners Ask Commissioners for Improvement.

B. Hatch and fifteen other petitioners have in writing asked the board of county commissioners to cut down the Pfeiffer hill on the Lima road, south of the DuPont road, near the creek culvert. The contention of the petitioners is that the present grade of the hill makes it unsafe to present day traffic.

SUES FOR $1,000 DAMAGES.

George W. Hartman has begun action against the Order of United Commercial Travelers, demanding $1,000 which he alleges is due him. In the complaint he sets forth that he was a full pledged member, giving him the right to enjoy all the privileges of the order. He says this amount is due him as a member but that the order has refused to settle with him.

Wants a Divorce, Too.

Blanche L. McKee wants a divorce from Louis McKee, to whom she was married June 1, 1912, and from whom she separated February 7, this year. She alleges that the defendant was cruel and inhuman. She asks that the court enjoin the General Electric company from paying him his wages and asks that the defendant be restrained from molesting her at her home, 709 West Jefferson street.

Sue Western Gas Company.

The Fort Wayne Printing company has brought action against the Western Gas Construction company on complaint on a note and account. The plaintiff asks for a judgment of $1,350. Leonard, Rose and Zollars are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Wants Legal Separation.

Emma R. Diehl has sued Orley Diehl for a legal separation. In the complaint the plaintiff states that they were married August 7, 1898, and that in February, 1917, the defendant left her without any means of support. She states that the defendant is employed in Laporte, Ind. She has not been a resident of this county long enough to ask for a divorce. The plaintiff demands twelve dollars a week support money for her and a minor child.

Takes Prisoners Away.

Jack Oswald, a deputy sheriff, accompanied Albert Tyner and John Ross to Jeffersonville, where the two young men will be committed to the Indiana state reformatory. Monday Joe Degitz and Harry Cook will take John Jackson and Robert Crawley to the penitentiary at Michigan City.

Custodian Quits.

John Metcalf, for many years a custodian in the Allen county court house, has quit his job. His work comes to an end Saturday evening.

CARD OF THANKS.

It is our desire in this manner to extend our gratitude to our neighbors, relatives, the many friends, the Olive club, the tinshop men of the Fort Wayne General Electric works, and the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' union, No. 156, for their sympathy and beautiful floral pieces they so kindly extended at the death of our dear and beloved son and brother, Albert J. Mrs. C. Louis Schroeder Passes Away Following Two Weeks' Illness.

Mrs. Elize Schroeder, widow of the late C. Louis Schroeder, passed away at 2:20 o'clock Saturday morning at the residence, 1015 Broadway, following an illness of two weeks. The deceased was 78 years and 10 months of age and had resided in the city of Fort Wayne for sixty-three years.

MRS. ELIZE SCROEDER.

Mrs. Schroeder was born in Bremen, Germany, but came to the United States and immediately to Fort Wayne in 1854. She had resided here ever since and was widely known. The husband preceded her in death eight years ago.

The deceased was a member of the Ladies' society of St. John Reformed church and is survived by one son, Louis S. C. Schroeder; one grandson, Carl Schroeder, of the News; one sister, Mrs. Anna Auman, of this city, and two brothers, Frederick Rippe, of Fort Wayne, and John Rippe, of Germany.

Friends may review the remains at the residence until Tuesday noon. Omit flowers.

ROTHSCHILD.

Mrs. Sophia Rothschild, wife of Henry Rothschild, of 516 Washington boulevard west, died at 9:45 o'clock Saturday morning at the family residence at the age of 76 years. Death followed an illness of ten days, due to pneumonia. Mrs. Rothschild was born in Germany, but had resided in Fort Wayne since 1859. She was a member of Achduth Veshalom congregation, the Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent society and the Temple Sisterhood. Beside the husband she is survived by one son, Dr. Charles Rothschild, coroner-elect.

Funeral services Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the residence, Rabbi Weinstein officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

DILLON.

Raymond Henry Dillon, aged six years and four months, died at 11:30 o'clock Friday night at the home of his mother, Mrs. Lena Dillon, 731 East Wayne street. Death followed an illness due to heart trouble and pneumonia. He was born in Fort Wayne and attended school in this city. The father of the deceased, known as "Bud" Dillon, was killed as the result of being accidentally shot while out hunting last November. Besides the mother he is survived by three brothers, Robert, Earl and Kenneth Dillon and by the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dillon, of Columbia City.

Funeral services Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the residence, and at 2:30 o'clock at the First M. E. church, Rev. D. H. Guild officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

JOHNSON.

Anna Juanita Johnson, aged seven months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Johnson, of 1320 Horace street, died Friday night at the family home. The babe had been ill for eight weeks.

Funeral services Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence. Interment at Lindenwood.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Police Reasonably Sure That Girl Witness is Unharmed.

Wherever little Imogene Myers may be secreted in what is believed to be an effort to keep her from appearing as star witness in the case of John Koehler, saloonkeeper, charged with improper relations with the girl, police say they are reasonably sure that the child has been unharmed.

The circle of police and county officers active in an attempt to locate the girl, whose story was to have been the all important part of Koehler's trial on March 12, is being extended. Circulars have been sent across four states in an effort to find the hiding place of the child, who was spirited away from the Woodburn school, Monday afternoon.

Little Miss Dorothy Oren entertained a dozen playmates Saturday afternoon in honor of her sixth birthday. Those invited were Marguerite Howard, Edna and Violet Fell, Elva Whittacre, Ruth Bolerjack, Virginia and Miriam Baker, Gertrude Bradley, Afton and Isabelle Guenther, Luella Knipstein and Ruth Grodrain.

Kucher for City Clerk

In line with the apparent growing demand for a business city administration, we submit the name of T. J. Kucher as being the strongest candidate for City Clerk on the Republican ticket. Mr. Kucher is a broad-gauged business man of many years' experience. He was Deputy City Controller during Mayor Grice's administration and is now business manager of the A. G. W. Curdes Building Co., in the Tri-State Block where he is every day just full of business every minute. It is that style of a hustler, a capable and efficient clerk that Mr. Kucher would make that we need over at the city hall. By nominating and electing Mr. Kucher our citizens and taxpayers will benefit by his services in having the business of the city clerk's office taken care of in a business-like way. He will see that our council will receive and take care of the business that should come before it. Mr. Kucher has a wide circle of friends. He is popular, courteous and has that desire of wanting to accommodate everybody and, above all, to look after the interests of his employer whoever he may be.

HOUSE CONTROL MAY GO TO REPUBLICANS

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Representative Michael F. Conry, of New York city, a democratic member of congress for four terms and re-elected for a fifth, died at a hospital here late yesterday after a long illness from kidney trouble. He was 47 years old. In spite of his failing health he had been at the capitol quite regularly until last week, and as a member of the ways and means committee had worked hard in connection with the framing of the revenue bill and other legislation.

A native of Shenandoah, Pa., Mr. Conry in his youth was a miner and in following that trade suffered an injury that lamed him for life. He is survived by a widow and three daughters.

The death of one of the democratic members-elect may have an important effect upon the political complexion of the house in the Sixty-fifth congress. The democrats and republicans elected 215 members each, and there are five independents upon whom depends which party shall organize the next house.

If an extra session is called the democrats probably would go into the organization fight only 214 strong.

Members of the New York delegation are confident that a successor to Representative Conry will not be elected until November, and even though a special election were called it could not be held for thirty days. An election in November would restore the even balance before the regular December session, as Representative Conry, active in Tammany councils, was elected from a safely democratic district, the Fifteenth.

"SOUL POWERS" THEME OF MRS. RALPH SMITH

"Soul Powers" was the theme of a Theosophical lecture given at the rooms of the Theosophical society last night by Mrs. Ralph Smith, who argued that the truth of the Immanence of God was the guarantee of the divine nature of man. She outlined the methods of soul growth, laying special emphasis on the necessity of purifying not only the body, but the mind and emotions as well. This, the lecturer said, was considered in the early Christian church as the first step to be taken in the science of the soul. Vegetarianism was considered as a means of purifying the physical body. On this point the speaker said: "The student of occultism regards his body as an instrument with which he is to work, knowing that his rise to spiritual illumination and power largely depends upon how pure, sensitive and receptive he can make it. Therefore, he carefully avoids all that will coarsen its fiber and destroy its sensitiveness, placing meat and most classes of food and drink that have passed through any stage of fermentation among the tabooed articles of diet. He sees to it that only pure material is supplied and of this material nature slowly builds him a new physical body. Thus, within a few years, by intelligent use of his knowledge, he comes into possession of a body capable of things that could not have been accomplished by the body he previously possessed."

M'ADOO TAKES HAND IN COMMITTEE TALK

Washington, March 3.—After a heated executive session in which Secretary McAdoo participated, the house ways and means committee today reported favorably the resolution to authorize a $150,000,000 bond issue for hurrying naval construction. Unlimited power for the president to spend the money as he will, either for work already authorized or for new projects, was denied by the committee, despite vigorous efforts of democrats to obtain it.

Republicans contend that in case of national emergency, congress probably would be in session and it would be possible to quickly broaden the president's powers. They disclaimed any desire to hinder the president.

MISS PAUL IS CHAIRMAN.

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Miss Alice Paul, of Pennsylvania, was elected unanimously today as national chairman of the National Woman's party, formed yesterday by the amalgamation of the congressional union for woman's suffrage with the former women's party organized in Chicago last June. Miss Ambel Vernon, of Nevada, was elected secretary and Miss Gertrude Crocker, of Illinois, treasurer.

TAKE LEGAL ACTION TO BLOCK WALL TAX

Attorney for Remonstrators Told to Register Injunction

"We have only begun to fight," said one of the leaders in the host of 240 Forest Park Heights citizens who are remonstrating against their assessment for the St. Joe boulevard pavement and protection wall, when he was told of the action of the works board in granting the present levy for the improvement, Friday afternoon.

Attorney W. R. H. Tschannen, representing the body of remonstrators, was ordered on Friday evening to start action in the circuit court against the tax for the flood protection wall and the pavement. Tschannen has twenty days in which to seek legal recourse against the assessment.

Attorney Ballou, representing one of the remonstrators, will in all probability, join with Tschannen in carrying the remonstrance to the circuit court. Ballou has not yet conferred with Tschannen upon the matter, he said Saturday.

Two methods of attacking the board of works decision, in sanctioning the assessment roll, are to make direct appeal against the works board action or to secure an injunction against their proceeding with the assessment plan.

Board of works members who decided Friday afternoon to sustain the present assessment role, expect little more trouble over the matter, they say. They hold that the flood prevention wall is a marked improvement to the city and that it will benefit residents of Forest Park Heights as well as their neighbors in the "lowlands."

WILL START CLEANING.

Two Hundred Men Will Be Needed for Street Work.

Continued mild weather will bring out, maybe next week, the white brigade of street cleaners. Two hundred men will be needed to keep the city's paved streets spick and span this summer, according to Superintendent of Streets Strodel. Added area of city paving has made increase in number of those who push about the green handcarts.

Sixty workmen will be engaged, if that number can be employed, to clear all gutters of ice and snow, starting Monday. They will later attack the mud which has been carried on all pavements during the winter months. Regular gang of street cleaners will be started out within the next few days if spring weather remains staple, Strodel says.

Birth Record.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Adam Majorkecewicz, 1325 Horace street—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sandell, Fort Wayne—a girl.

Hilgeman Improved.

Henry Hilgeman, who has been seriously ill for the past week, was able to visit the city hall for a few minutes Saturday.

Diphtheria.

Owen Fell, 37, 2716 Hanna street, suffers from an attack of diphtheria, health board has been notified.

Fix Platform.

Democratic central committee of the city and all democratic candidates for city offices will meet in the council chamber, in the city hall, Saturday evening, to draw up a platform for the coming city campaign.

BANK CLEARINGS OVER TWO MILLION MARK

Bank clearings during the week ending Saturday, March 3, set a record which never before has been reached in Fort Wayne. The clearings over reached the two million dollar mark by a comfortable margin. The total clearings were $2,153,541.80. According to Mr. Kuhne in charge of the Fort Wayne clearing house this is the largest figure that was ever reached in one single week.

Last year the corresponding week was also a very heavy one but the total amounted to $1,850,966.73. Last week the total clearings were $1,654,371.67. The balance this week was $342,738.66.

Tuesday and Friday proved to be the two largest days. The clearings for each day of the week follows: Monday, $341,084.06; Tuesday, $407,423.53; Wednesday, $253,100.14; Thursday, $330,871.77; Friday, $470,965.10; Saturday, $350,087.20.

CAMPAIGN IS EXTENDED.

Decision has been reached by those in charge of the Red Cross movement here to continue the campaign for new members until next Wednesday. It is believed that by that time the 5,000 new members which was set as a goal, will be reached. Just as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made classes will be formed in first aid to the injured, hygiene and house care to the injured.

IMPEACH TEXAS GOVERNOR.

Austin, Texas, March 3.—Impeachment proceedings against Governor James E. Ferguson were filed in the Texas house of representatives this morning by Representative H. P. Davis.

KILLIFER SIGNS UP.

Philadelphia, March 3.—Catcher William Killifer signed a contract with the Philadelphia club. He had objected to a cut in salary and after talking with President Baker of the club today it was announced that Killifer had signed.

SURE!

Washington, March 3.—The legislative situation in congress today, according to the most optimistic estimates, indicated that senate republicans had determined to limit activities for the remainder of the session to the following:

Final passage of the naval appropriation bill; approval of the house measure for a $150,000,000 bond issue; enactment of armed neutrality bill.

Republican leaders, however, were without any assurances from Senator LaFollette, who may oppose it. Republicans were determined, according to democratic senators, who have been struggling with them for 24 hours, for a reconsideration, to prevent final passage of the following bills: The army bill; sundry civil appropriation bill and the general deficiency bill; military academy bill; bill to extend authority of the shipping board and permit the government to take merchantships owned or building in the United States in time of threatened war.

Amendments to the federal reserve law and all other pending general legislation. Any bills left over would be taken up by an extra session if there be one, or at the last moment of the present session. Current appropriations could be extended by resolution.

Senators and representatives today entered upon their last 24 hours of the present session with legislation before them which may keep them continually at work until noon Sunday, when by law the sixty-fourth congress expires.

The bill to give the president authority to arm American ships and the army appropriation bill were the principal items under pressure in the senate, to be followed by the military academy appropriation bill and provisions for a $150,000,000 bond issue to expedite naval construction as soon as received from the house.

Conferees of each house were busy harmonizing differences in various measures already passed. Adoption of reports from these conferences will occupy the closing hours of the session.

President Wilson will go to the capitol tomorrow to sign bills passed at the last minute.

INDIANAPOLIS WOMAN FOR PRIMARY BOARD

Indianapolis, March 3.—Miss Julia Landers, of this city, has been appointed a member of one of the precinct election boards to serve at the city primary next Tuesday. She is said to be the first woman appointed as an election official in the state. She will servev as sheriff at one of the residence district polling places. Women will not vote at the primary, but will at the election in November.

PLANS FOR NEW SCHOOL.

New Haven is to have a new $50,000 high school building to be erected by the township in the little town this coming summer. Henry Meyer the architect, of Fort Wayne, has drawn the preliminary plans and is now working on the exact plans for the new structure. The building will be two stories and a basement and will be built of brick with composition roofing. G. S. Shope ris the trustee of the township.

LONG OPPOSITION SPEECHES TO COME

Armed Neutrality Bill is Running Neck and Neck Race With Time.

Washington, March 3.—The armed neutrality bill was running a neck and neck race with time in congress today. Democratic leaders were aiming to get through somehow before the session dies at noon tomorrow, but were not entirely sure of the position of its opposition.

In the senate where the bill was being debated there were some long opposition speeches ahead. Although a great majority of the republicans urged its passage the leaders were not sure where the last moment would find Senator La Follette and the strain was drawn out by Senator Stone's offering of amendments which are disagreeable to the president.

It was evident that on all hands the situation had thrown legislation into an eleventh hour where much of it would be sacrificed.

Senator Stone told the senate today he had heard that navy experts had devised a plan for protection of American ships whereby they would be equipped with small submarine-chasing boats to be lowered in the danger zone to scout for hostile craft and attack them.

NAVY STATION MAY LEAVE FORT WAYNE

Lack of Results in Recruiting May Take Office to Lafayette.

Navy recruiting station may be withdrawn from Fort Wayne, says Turrot Gunman King, in charge of the local office, who returned Saturday from a conference with higher officers in Indianapolis.

Fort Wayne station is running far behind other offices in the middle west in number of sailor warriors signed up. Naval officials say they expect to move the office now maintained in the federal building to Lafayette. Order for moving the station has practically been given, King says, and only the time for the transfer is indefinite.

Reason for failure of the office in Fort Wayne is unexplained. Fact that the office is maintained on the third floor of the postoffice building, where it is seldom brought to attention of private citizens, is given as one cause for lack of recruiting numbers.

King has been ordered to give three days each week to visiting small towns near Fort Wayne. He will instruct postmasters in methods of navy recruiting. He will travel over a radius of thirty miles from Fort Wayne. He denies that the government is using all its naval recruiting energy in preparation for war, a rumor which comes from the east.

DECATUR COUPLE WED.

Hillsdale, Mich., March 3.—Samuel Harkless and Mrs. Gracie B. Liester, both of Decatur, Ind., came to Hillsdale Thursday and were married at the court house by Justice of the Peace Weaver.

FAIR AND COLDER FOR INAUGURATION

Washington, March 3.—Fair and colder weather for the inauguration ceremonies Monday was predicted today by the weather bureau. All Washington covered by an early morning glaze storm and soaked and dripping by almost a solid week of rain or snow took heart at the prospect of a bright day for the inaugural ceremonies, but does not forget the memorable flare back of 1909, which delivered a howling blizzard instead of a predicted fair day.

The capital, all dressed up in thousands of flags and tens of thousands of yards of bunting, looks like a young belle caught in a thunderstorm. The inaugural committee, however, profiting by the experiences of other years, made provisions against the antics of March weather and permitted nothing but fast colors to be used in the decoration.

Today the mass of red, white and blue is wet and bedraggled, but true to color, and when things began drying out as the clouds began clearing away, every one was convinced that the decorations will look as fresh as ever Monday. Thousands of visitors are beginning to pour into the city.

BELATED TAX LISTS MAY CAUSE FINES

Citizens who filed their income tax sheets on Thursday and Friday are apt to be held for extra assessment, officers in the internal revenue office in the federal building hold. None of the excuses given by the several Fort Wayne people who were late in bringing in their papers are held as valid by the federal officers here.

Income tax law states that all income tax blanks must be fully filled out and returned to government officers on or before March 1. Ordinarily business reasons are not considered exemptions by local officers who expect several Fort Wayne citizens to be declared delinquent in their returning of the statements.

U-BOAT CAMPAIGN IS 50 PER CENT SHORT

London, March 3.—Germany failed by slightly more than a 50 per cent margin to make good her threat to sink 1,000,000 tons of merchant shipping during the first month of unrestricted submarine warfare, according to figures in the possession of the Associated Press, the absolute reliability of which is vouched for here. Her submarines, the figures show, only succeeded in sending to the bottom during the month of February in round numbers 490,000 tons. This figure only exceeds by 140,000 tons, it is declared, what the British authorities expected would be sunk during that month if ordinary submarine warfare had been continued. It compares with 346,656 tons sunk during December and 322,067 tons during January.

AUTO RACES ON AFTER STRIKING SCHOOL BOY

Third Grade Lad Left Bleeding and Unconscious in the Gutter.

A big, black automobile never checked its speed when it knocked Hyman Gibson, nine-year-old school boy, to the curbing, as the lad tripped out upon the street in front of the Harmar school building, corner Harmar and Washington streets, Friday evening at dusk.

The machine is believed to have whirled out Washington street leaving the boy, who may die from the shock and head wounds, lying unconscious and bleeding at the edge of the curbing.

A coal deliveryman perched on the top of a loaded coal wagon, saw the motionless form in the gutter as the vehicle rumbled past the spot about 6 o'clock. The man climbed down from the wagon and gathered the limp body in his arms. He halted a passing automobile and had the child taken to the office of Dr. J. K. Geary, 1701 East Wayne street.

All the front teeth of the boy had been knocked out, it was found. Blood streamed from three scalp wounds. The boy was unconscious for several hours. On Saturday afternoon, when the little fellow had rallied, but it still considered in a critical state, he was unable to tell what had happened. He only knew that he had left the Harmar school building to go home, the evening before.

The mother of the boy was distracted when she heard of the accident. The child was removed to his home later Friday evening. He is a son of Harry Gibson, 1421 Erie street.

Police and east end citizens are bending every effort to learn who was driver of the big car which hurried on its way after little Hyman had been foiled by the speeding machine. It is a case of basest cowardice, people of the neighborhood exclaim.

Another school board, who was on his way home from the Harmar school, says he saw a large machine, which was painted black, speed west on Washington street about the time his companion was knocked to the curbing by the unknown car.

Hyman was in the third grade of the Harmar school. He was one of the brightest of pupils. He carried two books, which were scattered along the pavement when he was hit by the automobile. The blow he received from the car was a most violent one, physicians say. The car must have been traveling at high rate of speed.

It was not so much that the child was hit which has incensed many east end citizens almost to frenzy. The accident may not have been due to carelessness. Maybe the child dashed in path of the moving car before its driver could make a swerve or halt his machine, they admit.

It is the fact that the automobile did not halt which will cause a determined hunt for driver of the car. It is the criminal neglect, as some of the citizens call it, in speeding away without attention to the lad who lay, maybe dying, in the mud at the street edge. Police say the hunt will not end until the neglectful chauffeur is found.

CITY PLANNING BILL IS KILLED BY HOUSE

Negley Measure Had Adverse Report from Cities and Towns Committee

Indianapolis, March 3.—The Indiana house today killed Senator Negley's city planning bill which came from the committee on cities and towns with an unfavorable report signed by a majority of the committee. Senator Hudgins' eight hour bill also met the same fate.

Representative Green's bill placing the salaries of township trustees on a new basis as recommended by the board of accounts failed for want of a constitutional majority. The following senate bills were passed:

Mercer—Providing for the advancement of appeals from the industrial board or appellate court docket.

Bracken—Amending the law relating to the granting of bank charters by the state charter board.

Fleming—Providing for the payment of ditch assessments direct to the county treasurer.

The senate passed the Mason house bill establishing county boards of election registration, which shall sit from April 1 each election year until twenty-nine days before election for the purpose of enrolling eligible voters. The state historical commission bill from the house, was passed in the senate 32 to 11. This measure provides for the continuation of the work done during the Indiana centennial last year.

The senate in committee of the whole adopted amendments to the specific appropriation bill providing $5,000 for a dairy barn on the state penal farm at Greencastle and sustained a resolution appropriating $10,000 to the Oliver Hazzard Perry memorial at Put-in-Bay, Ohio. The bill to put the police and firemen of Indianapolis under civil service was attacked as a political measure and killed by a large majority.

GOES TO SANITARIUM.

Mrs. Luella Krall, of South Wayne avenue, has gone to Battle Creek, Mich., to a sanitarium to take treatment for stomach trouble. She expects to be gone a month.

EXTENSIVE RAID ON RUSS TRENCHES

Berlin, March 3.—An extensive raid on Russian troops on the west of Lutsk, in Volhynia, was carried out by German troops yesterday, army headquarters announced today. The Russian position was penetrated on a front of more than a mile and a half to a depth of nearly a mile. The Germans destroyed the Russian dugouts and returned with 122 prisoners and four machine guns.

There have again been violent infantry engagements on both banks of the Ancre in northern France, the war office announced today. The British suffered the loss of 60 prisoners and eight machine guns, in addition to their casualties.

THE FRENCH REPORT.

Paris, March 3.—Successful reconnoitering operations by French troops at several points along the front are reported in this afternoon's war office statement which reads: "During the night our reconnoitering parties carried out several successful surprise attacks against German trenches, near Moulin-Sous-Toutvent, east of hill 304 (Verdun region) and in Apremont forest. We took prisoners and materials."

The admiralty has decided not to publish daily the names of torpedoed vessels. The announcement says that this provision has caused grave inconvenience and that a weekly statement will be issued instead of giving the number of vessels of different classes which have been sunk.

GREEK SHIP SUNK.

London, March 3.—Reuter's Telegram company says the Greek steamship, Proconnissos, of 2,769 tons gross, which had been requisitioned by the Greek royalist government to go to America for 5,000 tons of grain for the assistance of the royalist population of Old Greece, has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine.

WARMER AFTER MONDAY.

Fair Except Rain or Snow on Friday is Weather Forecast.

Washington, March 3.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Sunday, March 4, issued by the weather bureau today are:

Washington, March 3.—Maj. Elvin R. Heiberg, American military attache at Rome, was accidentally killed Thursday while riding on the Italian front. A report to the state department today from the embassy said the officer was at the front on observation duty.

EIGHT MILLIONS MORE.

New Gold Shipment from Canada for Morgan's Account.

New York, March 3.—Gold amounting to $8,000,000 to the account of J. P. Morgan & Co., arrived here today from Canada. This brings the total gold imports from all sources since Jan. 1, to $151,000,000.

U. S. CONSULATE ROBBED.

Berlin, March 3.—A Zurich dispatch reports that the American consulate general there has been entered by burglars who made away with every piece of paper on which anything was written or printed. The dispatch says the theft was committed by the most expert burglars, who left behind them tools worth about 2,000 francs, and think that it appears the crime was committed not for robbery but for a political purpose.

HELD UP BY CENSOR.

Copenhagen, March 3.—The Friday morning Berlin papers contain no reference to the Zimmermann note to Mexico, and apparently the news from America has been held up by the censor. Berlin dispatches to Copenhagen afternoon papers also made no reference to the affair.

HAVE TAKEN REPRISALS.

Berlin, March 3.—Lieutenant General von Stein, the Prussian minister of war, announced in the reichstag today that reprisals had been taken by the German government against what the minister termed the mistreatment of Germans taken prisoners by the entente.

REICHSTAG HAS ADJOURNED.

London, March 3.—The reichstag has adjourned until March 20, according to a Berlin dispatch to Reuter's by way of Amsterdam.

RETURNS HOME.

Clem Weber, of Douglas avenue, who has been a patient at St. Joseph's hospital for the past three weeks, has returned to his home very much improved.

NEW ELECTRIC SIGN.

Initial City Series Game Goes to St. Patrick's

Federals Win Opening Contest In City Championship Series

St. Patrick's Grab a Corner of the Flag in Initial Game.

Keplinger	R. F.	Gerberding
Miller	L. F.	Buescher
Vonderhaar	C.	Richmond
McCarthy,	R. G.	Hoffman
Blee	L. G.	Eckrich

Substitutions—Hill for Hoffman, Kersting for Gerberding.

Foul goals—Miller, 7; Richmond, 5.

Referee—Moore.

In the vernacular of the days when the dice box still claimed a place in the daily workings of the cigar stores on the corners, it's a "horse" on St. Mary's. The opening game of the city basketball series played at Concordia gym last night went to the Lyceum Feds by a score of 23 to 19 after the hardest kind of a battle from the first whistle. The game was never cinched by either team, but the Feds put across the necessary punch to finish on top.

Both teams played the best game of the season and although the Feds grabbed the long end of the count and the gate receipts they cannot claim to have outclassed St. Mary's. Conjecture as to the probable outcome of the next game and the series would be altogether foolish at the present. A bunch of credit goes to Referee Moore for the way in which he handled the teams and called the fouls. He did not hand out a free throw that was not necessary and the "riding" which came his way at the hands of some of the fans was no doubt due to the strong rivalry between the two contingents. The rules were more closely followed than in any previous game this year.

Approximately seventeen hundred people crowded the gym, many being forced to stand up, and of this gang possibly one or two hundred were non-partisan. The remainder were armed with everything from leather lungs to fireworks and every move in the game called forth a noise which threatened to play havoc with ear drums.

The first few minutes of play were all Fed, but a foul goal by Richmond inaugurated the Saints' scoring and they soon grabbed a slight lead which they held until the end of the first half, at which time the score stood at 14 to 9. Coming back after the period of rest and music by the Concordia band, the Lyceum tossers started the drive which carried them across to a win. In this session McCarthy and Blee put up a defense which was almost impenetrable, and Vonderhaar watched Richmond so closely that the big center was almost unable to do anything. At the same time the South Side scoring machine began to assert itself and caged the pill a necessary number of times to take the lead. This happened about the middle of the last half.

When the score was 16 to 15, with the Saints leading, Vonderhaar got a chance to tip one in from under the basket and he took advantage of it, gaining a one point lead for his outfit. About this time Mike Hoffman, who had been warned when three personal fouls were tallied behind his name, committed the fourth and was ousted from the game. Mike wanted to dispute the right and authority of officials but he was soon quieted and left the floor, Hill going in in his place. Red Buescher also had three personals at this time but he watched himself and was not caught in the fourth.

The Feds never again lost their hold on the lead, which was increased and decreased a couple of times during the remainder of the game. Just before the final gun Miller shot a foul goal which completed the night's work. The ball was not returned to center before hostilities were closed for the evening.

Miller had a hard time during the game and he was guarded closely all the time. Whenever he scored it was after he had called forth every bit of court strategem of which he is capable and that is quite a bit. The more this boy McCarthy shows up on the court the better he looks. He can be credited for mighty clever stuff last night and when the Saints were guilty of a bunch of fouls the mysterious one generally had something to do with it. He has a knack of drawing his opponents into technical breaks and he didn't fail to use it.

The Saints were right last night beyond a doubt and had they played the same sort of a game against Huntington one week ago, Crowe and his gang would have gone home with a different story. Sadie Eckrich and Mike Hoffman were there on the defensive and Whitie Gerberding traveled the floor in the old-time speed. While Richmond was loose he was always dangerous and the same can be said of Red Buescher. In fact there wasn't a player on the floor who doesn't deserve at least half a column, and Fort Wayne fans, whether St. Mary's or St. Patrick's favorites, can be mighty proud to claim two such teams for the city.

HIGH SCHOOL DROPS LAST REGULAR GAME

In a game against the strongest high school team in the district, the Fort Wayne high 'varsity lost to Kendallville last night by a score of 34 to 16. At the end of the first half the score was tied at 11 all, but Kendallville went big in the last half and did the work. The Fort Wayne students were not outplayed, as the score indicates, but took as many if not more shots at the basket than their opponents. They lost, as they have lost all season, on a disability to cage the pill when they try.

In the preliminary for the state basketball tourney at Bloomington district meets will be held the latter part of this week, the one for this section being at Kendallville. With last night's game hte Fort Wayne students closed their regular schedule, and next week they will compete in the meet. The winners of each district go to Bloomington where they play for the state title.

In the preliminary to the game last night the girls' first and second teams staged an exhibition, the first team winning by a score of 38 to 3. "Cat" Kampe of the first team was the individual satellite of this contest.

Kendallville.		Fort Wayne.
Gipson-Mores	R. F.	Randall
Ortadt	L. F.	Wilkins-Lind'uth
Sawyer	C.	Berghoff-Shoup
W. Kaiser	R. G.	Moellering
H. Kaiser-Iddings.	L. G.	Morris-Freis

Field goals—Gipson, 4; Ortadt, 4; Sawyer, 6; W. Kaiser, Wilkins, 4; Randall, Lindemuth, Moellering.

Foul goals—Gipton, 4; Randall, 2.

Referee—Harrold, Indiana.

THREATEN RECORDS IN I. U. RELAYS TONIGHT

Urbana, Ill., March 3.—World records probably will be endangered tonight in the first annual relay carnival of the University of Illinois, which has attracted the cream of the west's intercollegiate athletes.

The pick of the fliers in the "Big Nine" will meet the fastest men of the non-conference institutions, including the University of Michigan and Notre Dame. It will be the first time that Michigan has competed in a conference affair since it withdrew from the "Big Nine" in 1906.

Athletes from twelve universities and six colleges are ready for the competition, which promises to be unusually spirited. In addition to Michigan and Notre Dame, the non-conference entry includes Kansas, Drake, Grinnell, Ames, Knox, Lombard, Coe and Franklin. The "Big Nine" will be represented by teams from Chicago, Wisconsin, Indiana, Purdue, Ohio, Northwestern, Minnesota and Illinois.

There will be four relays—the one, two and four mile for universities, and a one mile for colleges. The all-around championship, in which an athlete will compete in seven events, has drawn twelve entries. Floyd Smart, of Northwestern university, is regarded as a strong contender to win the honor. Hoyt, of Grinnell, the champion 220 yard sprinter, will be among the entrants.

The seven open events—the 75 yard dash, the 75 yard low and high hurdles, the high and broad jump, pole vault and 16 pound shot put—have attracted formidable fields. The University of Michigan will start Cross in the shot put as a rival to Arlie Mucks of Wisconsin.

Michigan entered sixteen men in events, including the mile and two mile relays. The Wolverine entries are Cross and Smith in the shot put, Simmons and Haigh in the high jump, Kessler in the pole vault, O'Brien and Scofield in the 75 yard dash, Robinson and Beardsley in the hurdles, Fontanna, Hardell, Huntington and Scofield or Robinson in the mile relay, Captain Carroll, Sedgwick, Bouma and Fox in the two mile relay.

Teams from nine universities have entered the one mile relay and five will have teams in the four mile event. The University of Chicago quartets are picked to win the one mile event and possibly the four mile also. The Maroons have a star miler in Tenney and the race between him and Schardt of Wisconsin is expected to be a thriller. Capt. Carroll of the Wolverines also is expected to cut considerable figure.

Wisconsin refuses to be considered out of the running in the relays. The Badgers were the strongest of the conference in the relays last year, taking all three races at the Drake games and winning the conference outdoor mile relay. The team, however, is considerably weaker than in 1916, because of the loss of some of its stars. Illinois will enter two teams—a mile bunch and a four mile quartet. The mile squad will be made up of Sommers, Spink, Pendarvis and Kreidler.

The meet, which has been advertised as the biggest ever held in the west, will be decided in the huge new armory at the University of Illinois. The structure is 450 feet long and 230 feet wide. It is free from any supports or pillars to obstruct the view of spectators. The cinder track of six and three-quarters laps to the mile is declared to be lightning fast.

Several hundred athletic followers from all parts of the central west are here to see the games and practically every university in the "Big Nine" is represented by rooters. A big delegation came from Chicago.

GOLF CRACKS TO MEET AT ATLANTA TOURNEY

The 1917 golf season will be opened with a bang at the Druid Hills Golf club at Atlanta, Ga., March 27-29, when practically every golfer of note in the country will compete at the invitation meet.

The tournament promises to be the greatest ever held south of Mason and Dixon's line, and practically every golfer who took part in the national and larger sectional tournaments last year have been invited to participate.

Among golfers of national fame who have decided to attend are Chick Evans, national open and amateur champion; Jerry Travers, former national champion; Johnny Anderson, runner-up in the national tournament two years ago; Ned Sawyer, Bobby Jones and Perry Adair.

The greens at Druid Hills are recognized as among the best in the country.

"YANKS AND INDIANS WILL BE SENSATIONS"

BY PAUL PURMAN.

There is more than a month to wait until the baseball season opens. Right now, with the teams just arriving at their camps it may seem a little premature to try to pick any winners, but there are two ball clubs in the American league that are likely to kick over the traces this season and it will be worth watching their stunts in the south before April 12.

With seven of the strongest ball clubs ever collected in one league, the American league race, which last year furnished one of the most sensational drives in baseball now figures to come through with a pennant chase even more startling.

And prefacing with a number of "ifs," without which early season predictions would be colorless, take this cue and watch Bill Donovan's Yankees and Lee Fohl's Cleveland club.

Right now these clubs look like the real sensations of the 1917 season.

There are, of course, a thousand and one things which may occur before the umpire calls play on April 12, but barring accidents and a series of bad breaks Cleveland and New York should leave the barrier with better chances to win than they have ever had before.

Victims of injuries, of poor breaks and bad baseball luck last year the Indians and Yanks overrode these obstacles and made trouble for every team in the league. With better breaks this year they will be dangerous.

Perhaps neither team can be classed as a great ball club. But both are good ball clubs, both are consistent, both have every essential which goes to make up a winning club.

Now for the "ifs."

Cleveland has just purchased Joe Wood, a few years ago the sensation of the American league. Wood is a big gamble. Last year he did not pitch a game, partly because of his inability to come to terms with Boston and partly because of a sore arm. In 1915 Wood pitched with a bad arm and won the majority of his games.

If Joe Wood can come through and if Guy Morton returns to form Cleveland will be pretty well fixed for pitchers. The Indians did not begin to slump last year until Morton went bad and the pitching burden was thrown on two youngsters, Coveleskie and Bagby. With these four pitchers and with Joe Boehling, a great cold weather hurler, and Klepfer and Coumbe the Indians should have nothing to fear.

Behind the bat the Indians are fixed as well as any club in the circuit with the possible exception of Chicago. Steve O'Neill, a veteran, and young Billings will do most of the receiving.

The outfield with Speaker, Graney and Roth is well balanced, and one of the best in the league.

As the training season opens Bill Donovan is still doubtful about a guardian for his second station. Otherwise his team is practically made up.

Joe Gedeon may draw the job. But Gedeon is a weak hitter and Fritz Maisel may be prepped for a trial at the bag. Baumann is another possibility.

The hard hitting Pipp will be at first, Peckinpaugh at short and Frank Baker should have a good season at third.

High, Gilhooley and Magee will make up a high class outfield.

Donovan has a great pitching staff if it is right. Shawkey, Mogridge, Caldwell, Cullop, Fisher and Shocker will make any team in the league hustle to beat them.

Watch these two ball teams. They will be the surprises of the American league.

This is not a prediction that the Yanks or Indians will cop. The Boston Red Sox are certain to be good. The White Sox with a great bunch of individual stars is sure to be a factor. The slugging Tigers are always dangerous.

BASEBALL EXPENSES ARE INCREASING NOW

Overhead Costs Wipe Out Saving Made in Salary Reductions.

Detroit, Mich., March 3.—The high cost of living now has numbered the baseball industry among its many victims.

Although major league magnates will save thousands of dollars by salary reductions this season, they fear their overhead expenses will be greatly increased. While it is true that some of the high cost of living items will more directly affect the men to whom the club owners sell concessions, it is equally certain that club owners will pay increased prices for nearly everything they must buy.

Training expenses in the southland will probably be 75 per cent higher than in 1916, it is said.

Ball players who want potatoes three times a day, may face the same stern impossibility that certain members of the Detroit baseball squad faced a few seasons ago in a small southern training camp, when they were unable to induce the hotel keeper to give them eggs and meat at the same meal.

Bats have gone up. A Louisville factory, which practically supplies the entire major league demand, recently announced that the clubs would each cost about 25 cents more.

The price of print paper has seemingly proved a serious problem for the score card business. Some clubs let this concession to persons who provide an elaborate card, similar to a theater program. Other clubs get out a cheaper sheet. The opinion prevails that the score card business is far less profitable than it was in "the good old days" when paper was cheap. It was said here recently that the score card which the Detroit ball club sells will cost the club at least $2,000 more for paper alone this year and that the typographical expense will be much heavier.

Of course, thousands of fans who noticed a shrinkage in the quantity of eatables sold for a nickel or a dime in the stands last year, are preparing themselves for the worst.

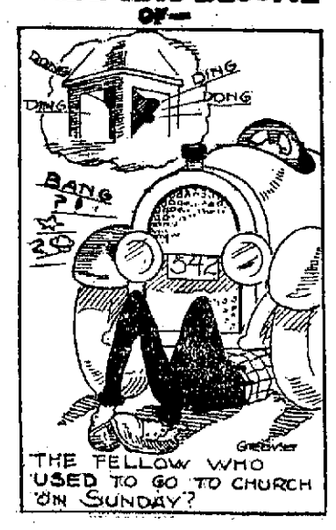
To them the yield of wheat and the strain of foreign demand are minor problems when compared with the prospects for a bumper supply of frankfurters and peanuts.

NOTRE DAME QUINTET GETS BIG SEND OFF

The "Day Dodgers," the basketball five of the day students of Notre Dame who play the Concordia 'varsity at the Lutheran gym this evening come well recommended by the sport writer of the South Bend News-Times. According to the scribes these tossers are as good as any of the ball teams and have been displaying some mighty clever basketball this season.

They are allowed but two games away from the university during the season and when they play them, they are out to win. This is their last trip and they have been preparing for it for some time. Their line-up is as follows: Leslie Allen and Walter Sweeney, forwards; Maurice Smith, center; Edward Scheibelhut and Eugo Voedisch, guards. Subs are Charles Rohyance and Carlton Beh.

Captain Byroade will send in his regular line-up against the Dodgers and is looking for a win in spite of the hard battle which will probably take place. The Concordians have gone through some hard games this year and can play most anything.



ELECTRICIANS READY TO ENTER INDUSTRIAL

Have Bunch of Regular Players from Which to Pick Team.

"When the meeting of the Industrial Baseball league is called we'll be there," said Frank O'Brien, manager of last year's Electro Technic club. Up to the present nothing has been done at the "Lights" in the way of organizing for the season, but according to Manager O'Brien "the stuff is there and that's the main thing."

Several semi-pro players of class have taken employment with the company during the winter and they expect to remain and have consented to play on the team. In addition to this some of the best of local performers are connected with the company and with the first evidence of spring will be warming up with intentions of trying out for the team. The Electro-Techs won the basketball championship and they are going to lay for the baseball title, too.

Others are lining their men up prior to the season, too, and although they have not been heard from yet, they are a good deal like the electricians and will be on hand when the meeting is called. From the present outlook the Industrial is due for its most successful season this year and some mighty classy baseball may be expected when they start in.

ROLL FIRST BALL IN TOURNAMENT TONIGHT

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 3.—The vanguard of the thousands of men who will take part in the seventeenth annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress arrived here early today. The first balls will be rolled in the Coliseum here this evening. Thus far the outsiders are not numerous enough to be noticeable on the streets or in the hotels, the first big visiting delegation being due the middle of next week when the Peoria, Cincinnati and Buffalo contingents, which are bidding for the 1918 congress, will open headquarters.

Finishing touches were put to the sixteen alleys today, the runways getting a thorough dry scrubbing in an effort to make them as nearly as possible like the well used paths to which the players are accustomed. Abe Langtry, secretary of the congress and general manager of the meet, took over the alleys from the local association which promoted the tournament, although the formal tender of them will not be made until the ceremonies incident to tonight's play.

Numerous local followers of the game stood around the drives all day, watching Langtry and his numerous assistants drill the score board boys, who are mostly Grand Rapids youths. The book scorers and pin boys are nearly all seasoned veterans of former tournaments and they are spending their time in renewing old acquaintanceships.

Only one squad of sixteen Grand Rapids teams will roll tonight and none of them expects to gather enough "wood" to figure in the final prize list. As a consolation to them for their task of breaking in the alleys special prizes totaling $50 have been offered for the three highest fives in the squad. More local clubs will use the alleys until Tuesday night when a lone Chicago team will appear. The next night will see a big invasion from outside cities and from then on Grand Rapids will play only a minor part in the competition.

RELIGION, TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH

Sleep is to a large extent a matter of habit. It is one that should be taught the growing child.

Too often young children are allowed to enjoy the same social privileges of an evening as their parents. This is a mistaken notion of kindness. A child that is allowed to sit up until ten all too frequently grows up into a youth given to late hours and becomes a nervous wreck who cannot sleep at all. Digestion affects sleep. The child with poor digestion sleeps poorly and often needs more sleeping hours than the healthy child.

The growing child needs sleep and should be put to bed early and kept there even if the parents have to forego a few social pleasures.

Indoor life, stimulating drinks and excitement are the enemies of sleep. Outdoor physical exercise, especially in the evening before retiring, followed by a warm bath, will often cure or relieve temporary conditions of insomnia. Such simple remedies are not likely to benefit the chronic sufferer.

It is impossible to prescribe any fixed dose of sleep. Most people need at least eight hours. A few can get along with less; others require much more. Because Napoleon is said to have required only four to six hours of sleep is no argument that we all sleep too much.

History tells us that Napoleon when not in action slept like all the rest of us, going to bed at 10 or 11 and arising at 7. But during periods of great exertion he was obliged to lessen his hours of sleep. Even then he found six hours in the twenty-four absolutely indispensable. He would sleep these six hours most faithfully, either at intervals or on a stretch. Napoleon was remarkable not so much for keeping awake as for his ability to fall asleep whenever he wanted to sleep. It was his ability to sleep, even during a battle, which kept him going.

It is the same in everyday life. It is this habit of sleep which in many a person spells success. Parents who neglect to teach their children to sleep may lay the foundation for that nervous suffering and failure in achievement which insomnia often causes in adult years.

Disease germs lead a hand to mouth existence.

Human disease would be greatly diminished if the human race would learn to keep the unwashed hand from the mouth. We handle infectious matter more or less constantly and continually carry the hands to the mouth. Often the germs of disease are introduced into the body in this way.

Many persons wet their fingers with saliva before counting money, turning the pages of a book or performing similar acts. In this case the process is reversed, the infection being carried to the object handled, there to wait carriage to the mouth of some other careless person.

The hands should be washed before eating, before handling, preparing or serving food, after attending the sick and after handling anything dirty. These simple rules of hygiene will prevent a whole lot of sickness, if carefully followed.

Some time ago a bacteriological examination was made of twelve whistles bought from a push-cart. Five of them had metal and seven had wooden mouthpieces. The average number of bacteria colonies developed from the wooden whistles was 99; from the metal whistles 45.

A large number of micro-organisms were found. In nine instances streptococci were found—this is the germ of tonsilitis, and many other diseases. These germs were tested on mice to determine their virulence. Eight of the mice died, five within 24 hours, two within the next 25 hours, and one four days after inoculation.

Dr. Wiley on the Effects of Drink

In his book, "Not By Bread Alone," Dr. Harvey W. Wiley expresses the opinion in regard to alcohol that "the general effect of alcoholic beverages is bad. It tends to make its users more subject to disease, more likely to perform criminal acts, and less likely to live to a green old age. The protection of our civilization, in my mind, rests largely upon rigid control, or even suppression, of the traffic in alcoholic beverages." In regard to the insertion of advertisements in newspapers and magazines seeking to increase the consumption of whisky under the false idea of lengthening life, the opinion expressed is that the "data in regard to alcohol are so conclusive in the other direction as to make it incredible that any editor manager of a newspaper who has any interest in the welfare of the public would consent to carry such dangerous and misleading advertisements in his columns."

Youth and Old Age

Between youth and old age there is a never-ending conflict. Vitality is continually pitted against experience, and sometimes victory falls to the one and again to the other.

Among the greatest names in history we find, side by side, those of youth and old age. Men who have lived temperate lives and have escaped the aggravating infirmities of age are often more than a match for youth in mental endurance.

The health and efficiency of an elderly man depends largely upon his mental attitude. The man who begins to look over his should at fifty will be stumbling through life at sixty, while the one who is continually looking ahead and seeking intellectual advancement will continue to increase in mental capacity. The brain power grows long after the maximum of physical strenght has been reached.

For the man of advanced years simple diet and regularity of habits are essential. The physiological processes are less active, and many structures lack the elasticity of youth, and should not be subjected to undue strain.

Tolerant age is more than a match for intolerant youth, and the mental poise which should come with advancing years has a decided bearing on the physical well-going and mental power.

The infirmities of age are often less of a handicap to the accomplishment of serious and effective work than the erratic vitality of youth.—"Little Talks on Health and Hygiene," by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., L. L. D., Commissioner of Health.

The Wineless Navy.

The possibility of war reveals a splendid confidence in our navy, which Admiral Beresford, of Great Britain, declares is the best navy, unit for unit, in the world. Many people will remember with a shock of mingled amusement and regret that a year or two ago Secretary Daniels, because of his wine mess order, was being energetically assailed as incompetent despite Admiral Dewey's protests.

At this time it is peculiarly appropriate to quote Captain J. S. McKeen, who says: "We have made more real progress in the last two years than in any previous five-year period in my experience in the navy. I do not think I have ever known a time when everybody in the service, from top to bottom, was working as hard with their heads and hands to prepare the fleet for active service," and Rear Admiral Knight, president of the war college, testifies: "Secretary Daniels has done more for the war college than any of his predecessors." Today the navy is dry and efficient—and more efficient because it is dry.

The Power of Drink.

(By John B. Gough.)

The power of drink no man can understand; it is a mystery to the victim himself. I spoke with a man who was strong-minded with regard to everything else—a man of intellectual power and ability; a man who had made himself famous as an author—and I pleaded with him to give up the habit. I pointed to the pictures of his wife and two daughters and I said to him: "You tell me you love your wife—look there; for her sake give it up; you tell me you love your children; that girl you say is to be married soon; never let her husband tell her that her father is a drunkard." And he shook his head. I put my hand upon him and I pleaded with him as if I were pleading for his own life. Then he stepped back and brushed his fingers through his hair and wiped away the tears that were streaming down his cheeks, and said: "Give it up? Why, John Gough, Dives in hell never longed for a drop of water on his parched tongue as with every power I have longed for drink, and I will have it." That man was once a Sabbath school teacher.

MEN SOMETIMES FORGET.

Men sometimes make up their minds that they have gone as far as they intend to go in the spiritual life, that they have got up to a certain level, and do not intend to mount higher. They forget that God is the master, not themselves; and that their business is to follow the lead of grace, whithersoever it may take them. Besides, there is no such thing as a level in the spiritual life. All is ascent or descent, advance or retreat. Whatever is not first, is assuredly the last. The question is not what we will do, but what God will do. What indiscretion can be greater than to disobey God or to dictate to him?—F. W. Faber.

Uncle Sam Tells You How You May Become Strong

Soldiers use their rifles, weighing eight pounds and about forty inches long, in the following exercise:

It strengthens the chest, arms and hand muscles and makes for steadiness of nerves. Instead of the rifle, an iron rod of the same weight and length may be used.

Still It Purifies.

A student once went for advice to a pious old man, and; said to him "Father, I love to hear about God and spiritual things, but all the good I hear seems to go in one ear and out the other. I forget too soon; and this grives me."

Then the old father said: "My son, take this basket and bring it to me full of water."

The student took the basket and went to a wide brook and worked for a long time, but he could get no water to stay in the basket; as soon as it was full it became empty again.

At last he grew tired, for he saw that all his labor was in vain; so he went back to the father and told him what had happened, and how the water would not remain in the basket.

Then the father said: "Give me the basket and let me look at it."

And when he took the basket in his hand and had examined it, he said: "Now, see, my son,you have not worked in vain; true it is, indeed, that no water has remained in the basket, but it has washed it clean tnd pure. So with you, and everyone who hears and reads God's Word with diligence and prayer; he may not retain everything, but still it purifies his mind, and makes him more fit for the world to come."

ONLY IN CHRIST.

Though all the earth were covered with helpers and lovers of my soul, "as the sand by the seashore," and all the heavens were sown with faces of angels who cared for me and succored me, thick as the stars in the milky way—Yea, though all these were gathered all could not do for me what I need, into one mighty and loving creature, even he were not sufficient to stay for one soul and man. We want more than creature help. We need the whole fullness of the Godhead to draw from. It is all there in Christ, for each of us. Whosoever will, let him draw freely. Why should we leave the fountain of living waters to hew out for ourselves, with infinite pains, broken cisterns that can hold no water? All we need is in Christ. Let us lift our eyes from the low earth and all creatures, and behold "no man many more," as Lord and Helper, "save Jesus only," "that we may be filled with all the fullness of God."—Alexander Maclaren.

CHRIST IS OUR PLEASURE.

It is related that a Hindu of rank, being troubled in his conscience about the future state, having heard of Christians and desiring to know about their religion and Christ, visited England supplied with introductions to some leading people. At a great dinner to which he was invited he quietly said to his neighbor: "Can you tell me something about Christ and your religion?" "Hush," was the reply, "we do not speak of such things at dinner parties." Later, when he was invited to a ball, while dancing with a young lady, he asked her the same question, and received for reply that "a ball is no place to discuss such subjects." The young lady told the truth. But if we cannot take our Saviour with us into our pleasures, what kind of pleasures are they?—Central Christian Advocate.

Keeping and Being Kept.

Psalm xxxiv. 13—Keep the tongue from evil and thy lips from speaking guile.

Philippians vi 7—The peace of God all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life.

Matthew xix. 17—If thou wouldest enter into life, keep the commandments. John xiv. 15; 1 John v. 3.

Proverbs iv. 23—Keep thy heart with is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings and oppositions of science falsely so-called.

1 John v. 21—Keep yourselves from idols.

Jude 21—Keep yourselves in the love of God.

Isaiah xxvi.3—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee, because he trutheth in thee.

2 Timothy i 12—I am presuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him.

1 Timothy vi. 20—Keep that which which passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus.

Jude 24—Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy.

THE ONE HELPER.

Wouldst thou have much power against sin, and much increase of holiness, let thine eye be much on Christ; set thine heart on him; let it dwell in him, and be still with him. When sin is likely to prevail in any kind, go to him, tell him of the insurrection of his enemies and thy inability to resist, and desire him to suppress and help thee against them, that they gain nothing by their stirrings but some new wound. If thy heart begin to be taken with and moved toward sin, lay it before him; the beams of his love shall eat out the fire of those sinful lusts. Wouldst thou have thy pride and passions and love of the world and self-love killed, go sue for the virtue of his death, and that will do it. Seek his Spirit, the spirit of meekness and humility and divine love. Look on him, and he will draw thy hoart heavenward, and unite it to himself, and make it like himself. And is not that the thing thou desirest?—Leighton.

THE HABIT OF BEING HAPPY.

Keeping oneself reasonably happy is a duty that ought not to be shirked. Science is telling us these days that to get out of the habit of enjoyment is to get depressed in vitality and vigor, to weaken in efficiency, and grow old before one's time. There is nothing like laughter—not empty-headed laughter, but the intelligent, wholesome, kindly-hearted kind—to keep people young and fresh and fit for business and the obligation of living. Of course, this is a prescription not easy to live up to always, but there is no reasonable excuse ror not trying to do it. Sometimes it is just about as easy to be happy as to be miserable if one makes up his mind to it, and there is no doubt at all as to which pays the best.—Onward.

Christianity a Failure? Has Never Been Tried, Says Rev. Mr. Stelzle

(By REV. CHARLES STELZLE.)

War isn't the cause of hatred and strife—it is the result of hatred and strife.

Therefore you'll never get rid of war until you rid society of those things which develop hatred and strife.

War will never be abolished until social and economic injustice is removed, because industrial militarism inevitably leads to every other kind of militarism.

Some of us have been saying that Christianity has failed to stop the war. How could it stop the war when men have declined to practice the principles of Christianity?

It's like denying the power of medicine to heal, although one declines to take the medicine!

Christianity has never really been tried—either in this war or anywhere else. If the principles of Jesus were to be applied to human society, it would end all strife and do away with all injustices.

Nobody will deny the statement. Then why blame Christianity because it hasn't stopped the war?

The church may have failed at some vital points, but Christianity hasn't.

It's rank nonsense to imagine that Christianity is a kind of hocus-pocus, "eeny, meeny, miney, moe" proposition, which in some mysterious way will work a revolution in spite of the unwillingness of men to adopt it as a vital factor in their lives.

Christianity is something that's got to be lived, not mumbled—it isn't something that one can conjure with like a magician's wand.

If Christianity is to stop the war, we'll have to apply it no matter how it hurts. And it will hurt. Not in the same way that an enemy bullet or torpedo hurts—but it will make one wince as one realizes how mean and small—and hateful we have been.

CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE

(BY A. SPANGLE.)

Concerning what did Paul reason before Felix?

"He reasoned of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come." Acts 24:25.

Note—Temperance means habitual moderation and control in the indulgence of the appetites and passions; in other words, self-control.

Of what is temperance a fruit?

"But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." Gal. 5:22, 23.

Note—Temperance puts wood on the fire, meal in the barrel, flour in the tub, money in the purse, credit in the country, contentment in the house, clothes on the back, and vigor in the body."—Benjamin Franklin.

"Add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity." 2 Peter 1:5-7.

Note—Temperance is rightly placed here as to order. Knowledge is a prerequisite to temperance, and temperance to patience. It is very difficult for an intemperate person to be patient.

What is said of those who strive for the mastery?

"And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things." 1 Cor. 9:25.

In running the Christian race, what did Paul say he did?

"But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection; lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway." Verse 27.

Why are kings and rulers admonished to be temperate?

"It is not for kings to drink wine; nor for princes strong drink; lest they drink, and forget the law, and pervert the judgment of any of the afflicted." Prov. 31:4, 5.

Why were priests forbidden to use intoxicating drink while engaged in the sanctuary service?

"And the Lord spake unto Aaron, saying, Do not drink wine nor strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle * * * that ye may put difference between holy and unholy, and between unclean and clean." Lev. 10:8-10.

Note—The danger in the indulgence of stimulating foods and drinks is that they create an unnatural appetite and thirst, thus leading to excess. Both food and drink should be nourishing and non-stimulating.

For what should men eat and drink?

"Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the son of nobles, and thy princes eat in due season, for strength, and not for drunkenness!" Eccl. 10:17.

Why did Daniel refuse the food and wine of the king?

"But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank." Dan. 1:8.

"Now, therefore beware, I pray thee, and drink not wine nor strong drink, and eat not any unclean thing." Judges 13:4.

Instead of these, what did he request?

"Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days; and let them give us pulse to eat, and water to drink." Verse 12.

At the end of the ten days' test, how did he and his companions appear?

"And at the end of ten days their countenances appeared fairer and fatter in flesh than the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat." Verse 15.

At the end of their three years' course in the school of Babylon, how did the wisdom of Daniel and his companions compare with that of others?

"Now at the end of the days * * * the king communed with them; and among them all was none found, none like Daniel, Hananiah, Michael, and Azariah: * * * and in all matters of wisdom and understanding, that the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and astrologers that were in all the realm." Verses 18-20.

"Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that puttest thy bottle to him, and makest him drunken." Hab. 2:15.

What kind of professed Christians are not fellowshiped?

"But now I have written unto you not to keep company, if any man that is called a brother be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolator, or a raller, or a drunkard." 1 Cor. 5:11.

Can drunkards enter the kingdom of God?

"Neither fornicators, nor idolators, * * * nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God." 1 Cor. 6:9, 10.

"And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life." Rev. 12:27.

For what perfection of character did the apostle pray?

"And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." 1 Thess. 5:23.

Note—For notable examples of total abstinence in the Bible, see the wife of Manoah, the mother of Samson. (1 Sam. 1:15) the Rachabites (Jer. 35:1-10; and John the Baptist (Luke 1:13-15.)

Song of the Rye.

I was made to be eaten,
And not to be drank;
To be threshed in the barn,
Not soaked in a tank.
I come as a blessing
When put through a mill;
As a blight and a curse
When run through a still.

Make me up into loaves,
And your children are fed;
But if into drink,
I'll starve them instead.
In bread I'm a servant,
The eater shall rule;
In drink I am master,

AFTERWARD

How happy are tired Chirstians, afterwards! No calm more deep than that which succeds a storm. What has not rejoiced in clear shinings after rain? Victorious banquets are for well-exercised soldiers. After killing lion, we eat the honey; after climbing the Hill Difficulty, we sit down in the arbor to rest; after traversing the Valley of Humiliation, after fighting with Apollyon, the shining one appears, with the healing branch from the tree of life. Our sorrows, like the passing keels of the vessels upon the sea, leave a silver line of holy light behind them, "afterwards." It is peace, sweet, deep peace, which follows the horrible turmoil which once reigned in our tormented, guilty souls. See, then, the happy estate of aChirstian! He has his best things last, and he therefore in this world receives his worst things first. But even his worst things are "afterward" good things, harsh ploughings rich by his losses, he rises by his falls, he lives by dying, and becomefull by being emptied; if then, his grieveous offliction yield him so much peaceable fruit in this life, what shall be the full vintage of joy "afterward" in grory? If his dark nights are as bright as the world's day's what shall his days be? If even his starlight is more splendid than the sun, what must his sunlight be? If he can sing in a dungeon, how sweetly will he sing in glory! If he can praise the Lord in the fires, how will he extol Him before the eteral throne! If evil be good to him now, what will the overflowing goodness of God be to him then? Oh, blessed"afterwards!" Who would not be a Chirstian?. Who would not bear the present cross for the crown which cometh afterwards? But herein is work for patience, for the triumph for the present, but "afterward." Wait, O soul, and let patience have her perfect work. C. H. Surgeon.

LONG SUFFERING

By C. Petty.

How loath mortals are to endure long-suffering! Yet it is one of the things mentioned in the fruit of the Spirit by Paul, and against which there is no law. Surely, then if there is no law against it, it must be out of the reach of law, or above one; and if so, the Christian should be willing to pass through all the suffering that falls to his lot, for it means much to the Christian in preparing him for the home to which he is going.

Looking at it from the Lord's side, it shows mercy, foregiveness, and forbearance; yet there is penalty delayed unless man is penitent and submissive. But the long-suffering enjoined on Christians by the Master has no penalty delayed. For the Lord has commanded us:"Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and prosecute you." (Matt. 5:44.) That settles the penalty question so far as the Christain is concerned. There is none. And well it is; for if the Lord had commanded his people to heap up penalty on men, there would be no end to the suffering of mortals.

Paul, in giving to the church at Cornith a long list of the things that would prove to them that they were pure in character, (2Cor.6: 3),uses "long-suffering" as one of the things that it took to complete the list. Hear him: "By pureness, by knowledge, by long-suffering, by kindness, by the Holy Ghost, by love unfeigned." To the Colossians, that their faith might remain strong, and waiting for the hope that was laid up in heaven for them, he says: "Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and long-suffering with joyfulness." (Col. 1: 11.)

It must have been a great consolation to the patriarch, Job,after he had passed through such a siege of long-suffering in the loss of all his children, all his wealth, and also having pased through great afflictions, to think that he had not sinned with his lips, neither did he have any hatred toward his pretending friends; but at the close of his great suffering he prayed for them. (Job 42: 10.) We should study the life of this man of God. It would sweeten our disposition, strengthen our faith, comfort our heart, and prepare us to endure suffering that may come to the child of God while traveling the"highway" that leads him home to "that city that hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God.'

"MY CUP RUNNETH OVER"

"Pessimism," says James Bryce, "is easier than optimism, as tearing down is easier than building up; therefore we should be the more on guard against it." A pessimist is not beloved by his fellows. No one comes to a pessimist for good tidings, for help, for inspiration for alms. The man who habitually gives is an habitual optimist. He overflows. Those whose cups are empty instinctively flock about him whose "cup runneth over."

No chapter in Holy Writ is so well known, so often repeated, so universally loved as the Twenty-third Psalm. It bubbles with hope, with fullness of joy. The writer voices the life of a man, morally and physically healthy, who has a solid backing for his cheer, giving thanks for the past and drawing hope for the future. This Psalm is the verbal expression of a wholesome smile. Whoever wrote it must have been a magnetic mortal, a profitable person to know.

The world contains comparatively few people of the overflowing cup. Ask humanity: "How are you? How is the world using you?" and the average reply will be: "Oh, I can't complain."

The man in this gospel-blessed, bounty-filled America who has come no further toward the possession of the overflowing cup than "I can't complain," has a long way to get before he reaches the Twenty-third Psalm. The normal soul, said our Lord, has in it a gift from heaven, well of water springing up into everlasting life." The man who merly can't complain is a rain barrel, not a spring. Life that does not continuously overflow is not life. It is stagnation.

We must give if we would live. The habitual fault-finder, the complainer, the pessimist is like the desert land that "drinketh up the rivers." The people who spontaneously and joyously can say as did the Psalmist, "I shall not want," "I shall fear no evil," "I sit at the quiet table in the midst of strife," "my cup runneth over"—these are the springs in the desert of life to which the caravans of the waterless come for refreshment. It is easly to complain. It is easy to receive. But it is more profitable to rejoice—Minneapolis Journal.

PROSE NUGGETS

The smallest act of business may be done in a great spirit. There is opportunity in buying and seling for the discipline of character.—Bishop Westcott.

God takes men's hearty desire and will ,instead of the deed, when they have not the power to fulfill it; but He never takes the bare deed instead of a better life than that of every day, but it is the life of every day from which elements of a better life must come. —Maeterlinck.

What we have to do is to make the best of the corner of the vineyard the Master has given us, and then to believe that he will see to the rest, and will not let it run to waste.—Robert Collyer.

Never be discouraged because good things get on so slowly; enter into the sublime patience of the Lord. God can afford to wait—why cannot we?—George Macdonald.

A man's true wealth is the good he does in this world. When he dies, men ask what property he has left behind him, but angels will inquire, "what good deeds hast thou sent before thee?"—From the Arabic.

Little self-denials, little passing words of sympathy, little nameless acts of kindness, little silent victories over favarite tempations—these are the silent threads of gold which, when woven together, gleam out so brightly in the pattern of life that God approves.—Dean Farrar.

The line between a fanatic and a hero is often difficult to draw, but it is safe to say that a hero stands for the truth as he sees it, after he has consulted both his own heart and the lager Christian conscience which surrounds him. He may find that these two consciences do not agree. Thereupon he must decide which is right, the community or the individual. Generally he will fnd that if his own conscience is clear and unselfish, there will be at least a larger conscience than his own agreeing with rim, even if it be not the conscience of the whole people.—C. L. Slattery.

Why You Can't Kill the Churches

(By Rev. Charles Stelzle.)

Everybody's religious, even though they don't express it in the same way.

"None can deny that it is the largest and most ubiquitous fact connected with the existence of mankind."

What he meant was that religion shows itself in more ways than anything else does.

The fact is, man is INCURABLY religious. You can't knock it OUT of him, although many of us think that we need to pound it INTO most people.

Religion isn't manufactured by priests and ministers. It is born in the hearts of men—even savages.

Now religion that gets anywhere is a social force. No man can be truly religious alone; there must be a God—you admit this. BUT THERE MUST ALSO BE A NEIGHBOR.

Do you remember what Jesus once said about loving God with all your heart, and your neighbor as yourself?

The reason that there are churches, and the reason that it's next to impossible to kill a church, is because of this social force.

They call it "denominationalism," and a lot of other things, but fundamentally it's the social power in religion that keeps the churches alive.

Maybe you'll come back and say it's the religious force of religion that keeps it alive. All right, call it what you please, but its the fact that there's God—and somebody else—that makes the thing vital.

Religion is life. And life produces what the scientists call "organisms." There is no life without organization. The "unorganic" is the lifeless. It's when "things fall apart" that they die. "Dissolution," they call it.

The church is man's organized expression of his religious life and instincts. It is the organization which he has formed to permit him to serve best. FOR TRUE RELIGION MEANS SERVICE.

And so when a man says: "I believe in religion, but I don't believe in the church," he is forgetting, or he is ignorant of, one of the biggest facts in nature and history.

In the last analysis you couldn't have religion of any sort that was worth while without some kind of an organization.

If you don't like the churches as they exist today, you have the liberty to organize one that DOES suit you. But in this civilized country, with its moral and spiritual demands, you wouldn't get far along if you were to destroy all the churches—UNLESS YOU ORGANIZED BETTER ONES

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"The Blue Paradise" Again This Evening

"The Blue Paradise," which the Messrs. Shubert will offer at the Majestic again tonight, is generally conceded to be the reigning operatic sensation of both America and Europe. This brilliant entertainment, the work of Leo Stein, author of "The Merry Widow," and Edmund Eysler, was first staged in Vienna two years ago. Its success was instantaneous and since then its melodious score and ingenious story have been applauded in every capital of continental Europe. The Messrs. Shubert emerged triumphant from the struggle that ensued for the American rights to the play. Under their direction "The Blue Paradise" was first presented in July, 1915, at the famous Casino theater, New York, and every reader of a newspaper or a magazine knows that the success it scored made theatrical history. For fifty-two consecutive weeks this gayest of light operas attracted a succession of crowded houses that set a new record on Broadway and in the historic playhouse in which many of the most notable musical successes of the past quarter of a century were first made known to the metropolis. The effective manner in which mirth, melody, fun, striking stage pictures and elaborate costuming have been blended explains the rave vogue that "The Blue Paradise" attained with all classes of pleasure seekers. In the company of almost 100 persons to be seen here will be found such conspicuous players as Paul Nicholson, Miss Norton, Charles Bowers, Juliette Lange, Charles Derickson, Gypsy Dale, Robert Lee Allen, Gustav Baci, and others. The large chorus of Broadway beauties are expert singers and dancers. The alluring charm of the musical score of "The Blue Paradise" will receive full justice from the special symphony orchestra which the company carries. Nothing has been left undone to make this production artistically distinctive in settings and costumes.

Annette Kellermann in "A Daughter of the Gods."

In "A Daughter of the Gods," the William Fox $1,000,000 picture beautiful, featuring Annette Kellermann, the coming attraction at the Majestic all next week, may be seen some results of the best engineering feats ever attempted by an individual.

In order to attain a perfection of artistic detail, Mr. Fox caused hills to be razed that plains might be made for the accommodation of spear bearing warriors, and a river's course diverted that a mountain torrent might form the finishing touch to a scene in which gnomes govern.

This last piece of engineering was seen by several representatives of the British government, located at Kingston, Jamaica, who, after a thorough examination of the same, described it as one of the most pretentious works of the kind ever undertaken successfully by one man. To accomplish these results Mr. Fox found it necessary to take from the United States, all the way to the tropics, a corps of expert engineers and a working force of skilled laborers, which in itself cost a fortune.

In Gnomeland, where the most perfect woman in the world is taken captive—one of the most important scenes in this screen fantasy—there is something that will appeal to the younger folks; for, amid the bewildering thickets of this mythical kingdom of dwarfs may be seen the little folk carrying on their form of government, religious worship and their daily household duties, which for the purpose, have been carried to the extremes of fantasy.

ICELAND'S SECRET SPORT.

Johannes Josefssen to Demonstrate Glima at the New Palace.

The national secret sport of Iceland, the mysteries of which have been jealously guarded since the eleventh century, is to be demonstrated by the master of glima, Johannes Josefssen, at the New Palace the first four days of the coming week. Glima is Iceland's jiu jitsu, claimed to be two-fold more terrible than the Jap style of defense and two-fold more efficacious. Assisting Mr. Josefssen are a company of native Icelanders through whom he demonstrates how the master of glima can defend himself against the attacks of a boxer, a man armed with knife or revolver or even against the united attacks of three thugs. It is a nerve-tickling exhibition of dexterity and courage.

Jane Courthrope and Charles Forrester and company are to present the farce-comeedy of every-day life, "Our Family," a sketc hthat is like a page from the daily history of the average American home. Lyon and Temple, two breezy talking and singing vaudeville folks, a man and a woman, also are on this bill. The Victoria Four, a male quartet unlike any other male quartet on earth; Frank Hartley, whose comedy juggling made him for two years a prime favorite of the habitues of London music halals, and Arthur S. Silver and Eva North in their unique skit, "Bashfulology," complete this bill.

Tonight's will bbe the final performance of the current bill at the New Palace, the one featured by the Horlick family, Elsie Williams and others. The Horlicks arer presenting a group of Russian folk dances in the midst of a scene deepicting a gypsy camp at nightfall. Natcha and Tatana are the solo dancers with a supporting company of eight people. Elsie Williams and company in the newly wed farce, "Who Was to Blame?" a dish-smashing family row; Byal and Early, the eccentric comedy characters in "A Scotch Highball;" Davis and Allen, whose smart talk is done in a skit. "The General Salesman;" Alexandria, the master xylophonist, and the Three Ankers, a trio of superb hand balancing athletes, are others on the bill.

AT THE LYRIC.

Chaplin in "Easy Street."

"Easy Street" is a far more pretentious production than any previous Chaplin offering has been, being one of those studio rarities—a Chaplin pet. To put it plaintly, Chaplin himself was so obsessed with the merits of "Easy Street" from its first rehearsal that he wouldn't release it until it was up to his standard of excellence. Mr. Chaplin's determination to have everything just right caused a delay of several weeks which appears to have been justified, because critics who have followed Chaplin from his beginnings on the screen insist that this is the best thing that he has done. It will be shown both today and tomorrow. Enthusiastic crowds that witnessed him in this picture several weeks ago were unanimous in their opinion that it was the funniest Chaplin comedy ever seen in Fort Wayne. "Sold at Auction," the feature with Lois Meredith as the star, has a big message to every woman forced to fight her own way. With a strong story, excellent photography and direction, and Miss Meredith's wide popularity makes it a photoplay par excellence. Tomorrow only we will present a World picture, "Without a Soul," with Clara Kimball Young. Her characterization of Lola is one of the most remarkable that has ever been put on the screen. Next Monday and Tuesday we offer Vitagraph's super-production, "The Battle Cry of Peace," in nine parts, at popular prices. This extraordinary entertainment bargain should be taken advantage of by every one who fully realizes that we are now standing on the brink of a precipice that is liable to plunge us into the world-wide war that has staggered humanity by the magnitude of its horrors and devastation.

Judge Kerr Judge Kerr

An old man, 73 years of age, picked up coal along the railroad tracks. His son-in-law had been out of work for a long time suffering from a broken ankle, and the family was in great need of fuel and groceries. The old fellow was tried in Police Court before me. I told him to be careful, not go on the tracks as he was too old and feeble—I ordered him discharged and sent home. Was I right or wrong? I leave it to the people.

Another fellow was charged with stealing coal. The testimony showed he had an EMPTY coal bucket. I found him not guilty because he hadn't taken any coal. Was I right or wrong?

A person who owned real estate, stole. I added a jail sentence to the fine and refused to suspend it for the reason that the party was not poor, hungry or needy. Was this right or wrong?

Several notorious dives and bum-holes have been put out of business by my decisions. Is this right or wrong?

I leave some guilty men go because I look into their cases, and find that the money will do more good at home with the wife and children than in a fine. Is this right or wrong?

The first offender I give a chance. I hope he will brace up.

Don't you think it best for a Police Judge to take some interest in the boy, and try to encourage him at the right time, to do better; and don't you think it best for the Police Judge to help the old man and try to get him to brace up?

Helping the boy; guarding the girl; aiding the unfortunate, and faithfully discharging my duties, has been my constant aim, and will continue so if I am re-nominated.

H. WAVELAND KERR,
Democratic Candidate for City Judge.

MAKES WORLD RECORD IN UNDERWATER SWIM

Chicago, March 3.—What is claimed as a world's record for underwater swimming was made last night at the University of Chicago by Samuel Williston, a freshman, who swam 324 feet in Bartlett gymnasium tank. The previous mark was 320 feet.

In breaking the record, however, young Williston had a narrow escape, as he sank just as he crossed the finish line. He was pulled out unconscious and it required more than two minutes to revive him.

The event was a feature in connection with a dual meet between the University of Wisconsin and the University of Chicago, which was won by the latter, 39 to 29.

VON BERNSTORFF IS NAMED FOR REICHSTAG

Amsterdam, March 3.—Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, has been nominated as a candidate for the reichstag in place of the late Herr von Neiding, according to the Telegraaf.

The German press has been ordered not to publish a word regarding the American-Mexican revelations until further notice, according to reports here. The dispatch says that only a few circles are aware of the intrigue and that it is considered possible the result of the affair will be the resignation of Foreign Secretary Zimmerman and the ending of Count von Bernstorff's career as a diplomat.

TO CROSS FRONTIER WITHIN NEXT WEEK

Release of 68 Americans in Germany Scheduled for Wednesday.

Berlin, Friday, March 2.—(Via London, March 3.)—The 68 Americans who were brought to Germany as prisoners on board the captured British steamer Yarrowdale expect to be released on March 7. The delay is accounted for by a statement that an English sailor who was confined in the same camp with the Americans, is ill with spotted typhus and that the segregation of the Yarrowdale prisoners was dictated by sanitary reasons.

A surgeon in the service of the Spanish embassy is in touch with the Americans and if there is no outbreak of the disease among them a clean bill of health will be issued and they will be given permission to cross the frontier inside of a week.

The Four American consuls were transferred to Turkey after the breach of relations between Germany and the United States are still here. The German government is awaiting word from Constantinople as to whether the arrangements are acceptable or not. The circumstances attending the sudden transfer of American officials and the customary red tape to be overcome suggested, it is stated, the advisability of the four consuls remaining in Germany rather than being detained at the frontier awaiting assurances that their trip to Turkey would be free from any difficulties.

The American officials still here are Consul Henry C. Damm, ordered from Aachen to Harbut, Turkey; Vice Consul W. Bruce Wallace, Magdeburg to Constantinople; Vice Consul C. Innes Brown, Mannheim Constantinople; Consul John Q. Wood, Chemnitz to Messina.

Release of these officials was asked by the United States on Wednesday.

SAYS HUSBAND TALKED AFTER HEART STOPPED

Chicago, Ill., March 3.—Lake Bluff residents are interested in facts surrounding the death Tuesday night of Gideon P. Brown, Chicago inventor whose patent man-hole scraper recently was adopted by the navy department.

Mrs. Brown declares she believes her husband lived five minutes after his heart burst and after heart action and pulse had entirely subsided. Brown had just clasped his wife in his arms and squeezed her three times.

At the last embrace both heard a bursting sound, and they realized that what doctors had predicted had happened.

His heart had burst.

"Help me to the sofa. I'm done for," he said. She felt his pulse. There was none, she said. Still, for five minutes thereafter he discussed business affairs with her. He was 55.

PASSENGERS IN FEAR.

New York, March 3.—Few of the passengers on the French liner Touraine, which arrived last night from Bordeau, went to bed during passage through the submarine zone and none of them undressed. When the Touraine left the mouth of the Gironde on February 20 the passengers and crew were put through a lifeboat drill and the passengers were requested to wear their lifebelts all night. Dinner was ended by 5:30 o'clock so that the lights could be extinguished all over the ship.

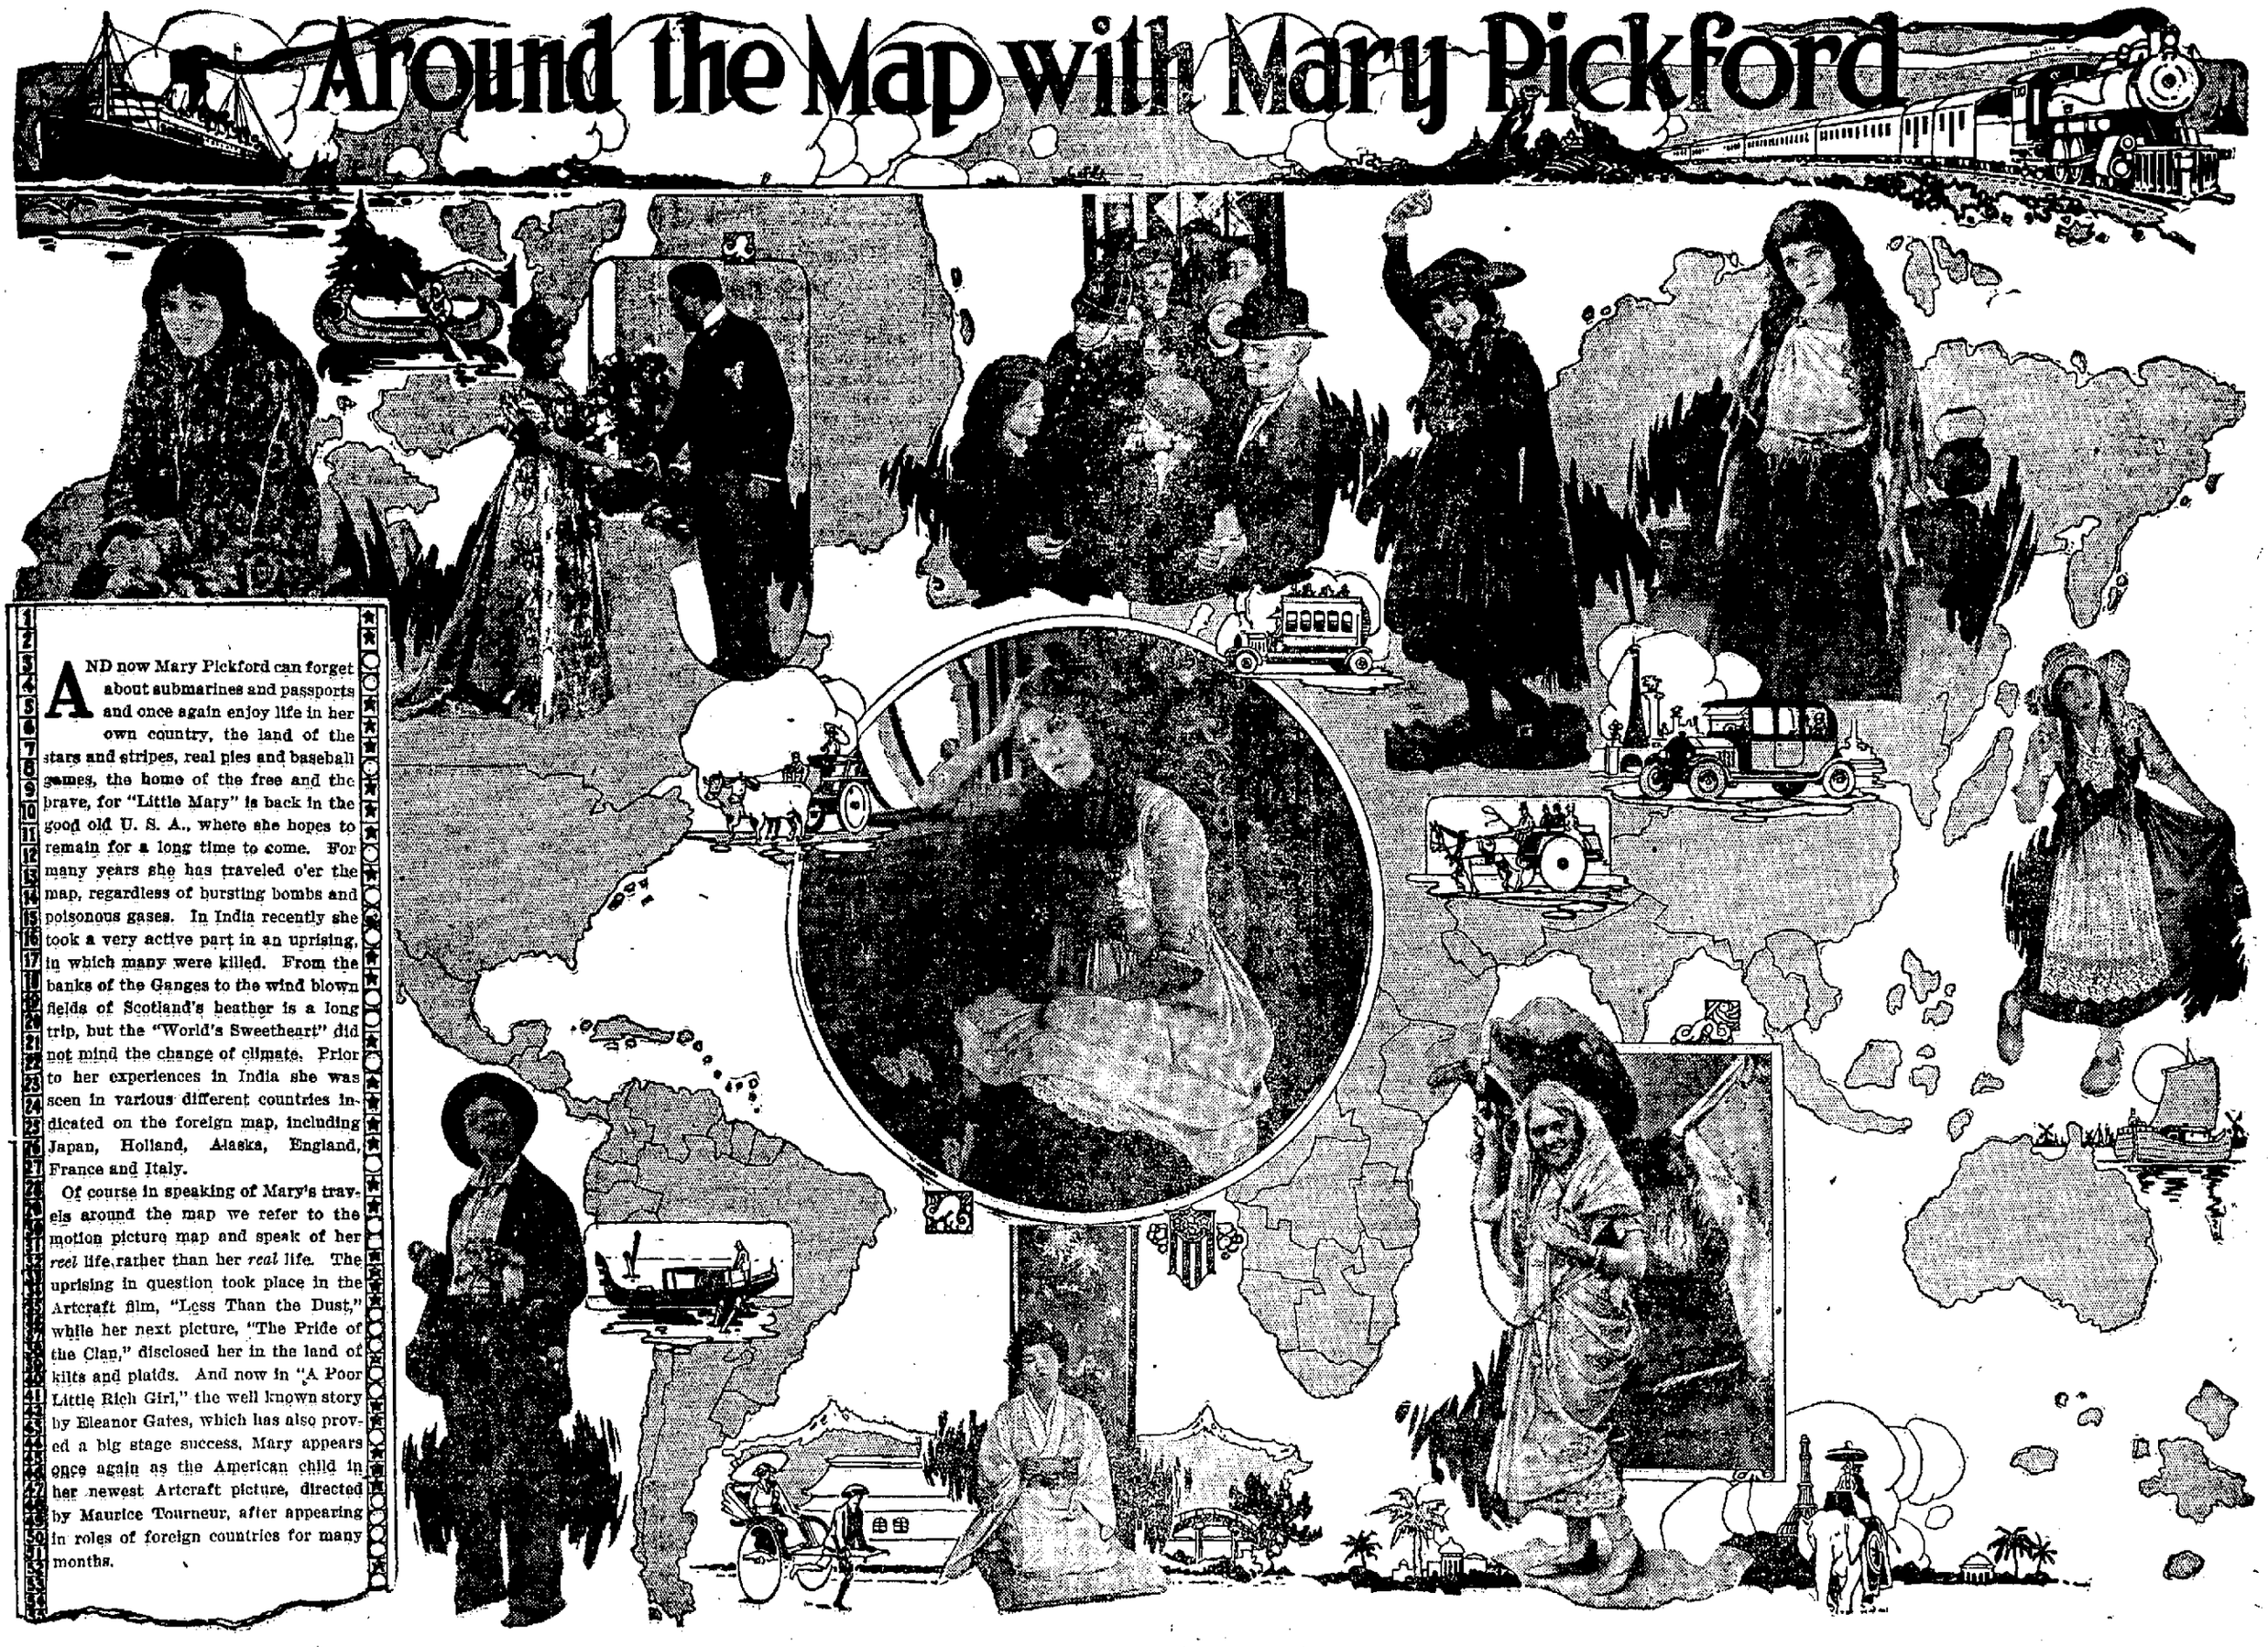
Around the Map with Mary Pickford



AND now Mary Pickford can forget about submarines and passports and once again enjoy life in her own country, the land of the stars and stripes, real pies and baseball games, the home of the free and the brave, for "Little Mary" is back in the good old U. S. A., where she hopes to remain for a long time to come. For many years she has traveled o'er the map, regardless of bursting bombs and poisonous gases. In India recently she took a very active part in an uprising, in which many were killed. From the banks of the Ganges to the wind blown fields of Scotland's heather is a long trip, but the "World's Sweetheart" did not mind the change of climate. Prior to her experiences in India she was seen in various different countries indicated on the foreign map, including Japan, Holland, Alaska, England, France and Italy.

PLEDGES 500,000 MEN TO UNCLE SAM

Christian Endeavor Wants Peace, But Will Fight if War Comes.

Boston, Mass., Mar. 1.—The Christian endeavor pledges 500,000 men to the president should the country need defenders.

P.E. CLARK

The Christian endeavor is pledged to peace, but C. E.'s in Boston across San Francisco will take arms should the United States enter war.

The announcement comes from Dr. Daniel A. Poling, associate president the United Societies of Christian endeavor who has just held a conference in Washington with Secretary of War Baker.

"Should we take up arms not for a strip of land or a stretch of set but in defense of the principles of national honor then count on our prompt response for any call," is the pledge he made the war department.

It is said Dr. Francis E. Clark, founder of the World's Christian Endeavor Peace union, endorses Dr. Poling's sentiments on war.

Many noted leaders are fighting in European armies. The secretary of the national union in Germany and his two sons are in the trenches. Dr. Edgar Pollack, endeavor leader in London, sacrificed two sons at Somme.

The Christian endeavor counts 3,000,000 membership in America. Of this number 500,000 are young men averaging 30 years of age. The union's membership strength lies in the middle west.

"The Christian endeavor," says Dr. Poling, "stands for good citizenship. We teach good citizenship to our young men and women. It is consistent with our high ideals that we support the country in hour of need."

You Don't Need Feet if You Know How to Use Your Head, Cripple's Philosophy

What's the Use of a Pair of Feet? All They Do is Carry You Around, Says Hopeless Cripple Who is Thorough Optimist.

Spokane, Wash., March 3.—"What's the use of a pair of feet? All they do is carry you around. A wheel chair answers the purpose just as well. If you have brains you don't need feet."

So says William A. Kim, hopeless cripple, and optimist.

One night eight years ago Kim rolled his wheel chair off a train here from San Francisco, where he had gone searching for surgical skill which would remove the twists from his tortured spine and iron out the paralysis which has killed him—from the waist down.

He had 65 cents in his pocket. It represented the sum total of his worldly possessions.

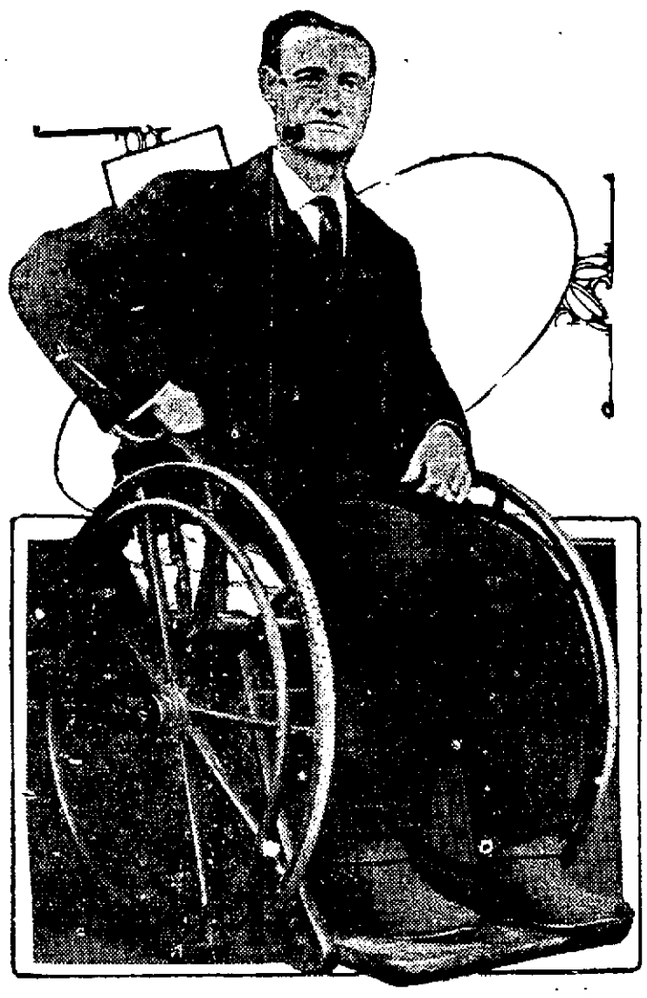
But Kim also had an indomitable will and an ingrown cheerfulness. With these as his capital he went to work. He began selling life insurance policies.

That was eight years ago. Now Kim has a home of his own. In it is a piano, easy chairs, books. He is supporting his sister and her daughter. He has two jitney busses which daily bring him in more than a living.

Kim also has a philosophy of life which shames many a man more fortunate than he, just as does the story of his financial climb from a start of 65 cents.

"Give the best to the world, and the world will give its best back to you," is his motto.

"Instead of moaning over your fate, put your head to work. Your head is a great piece of machinery. You've no idea what it will do for you until you use it. If your arms were off close to your shoulders, your head should still make a living for you."



WILLIAM A. KIM.

With this outlook on life Kim keeps the smiles playing over his face, and lectures other Spokane cripples when they get "down in the dumps."

Kim is 37 years old and unmarried. Eleven years ago he was a husky, robust structural ironworker and bridge builder.

He fell 26 feet from a bridge here and dislocated his spine. For eight months he was paralyzed. For 14 months he was on the flat of his back. For four years he was practically helpless.

But he kept his nerve and fought against discouragement.

When he began selling life insurance he found "easy pickings" among his former fellow workers. Trainmen knew him and "forgot" to collect his fare.

Naturally a mechanic, he turned to contracting, and from his wheel chair directed the erection of houses here, which he sold at a profit.

"I let the other fellow drive the nails," he laughed.

He bought a Ford truck and built an eight passenger body on it, and now it's one of the jitneys above mentioned.

NOTICE!

Court Erases Name of John Kidce When It Finds He is Dead.

John Kidce, moulder, who was arraigned on an intoxication charge, in police court, on February 23, promised to reappear before Judge Kerr on Saturday morning, March 3, if the judge would release him. He was to prove that he had kept sober or go to jail.

When name of Kidce was read from the docket Saturday morning there was no answer. Bailiff Eisenhut recalled that Kidce is dead. He is the man who fell down the steps in the Rescue mission last Saturday and who died on Monday in the St. Joseph hospital.

"Case against John Kidce is dismissed upon motion of prosecuting attorney," said Judge Kerr as he solemnly drew an inky line across the blotter.

ADVANTAGES OF A FIRELESS COOKER

How to Make a Very Satisfactory Device at Home at Low Cost—Directions For Its Use.

A very satisfactory fireless cooker may be made in the home at relatively slight expense, according to specialists of the Office of Home Economics of the department of Agriculture. The outside of the cooker may be a tightly built wooden box, an old trunk, a small barrel, a large butter or lard firkin or tin, or a large galvanized-iron bucket with close-fitting cover. In general, a well-built, conveniently sized box is perhaps most satisfactory, though the cookers entirely encased in metal have the advantage of being fireproof.

If a box is to be used, its size will depend on the size of the cooking kettle to be used in it and on whether there are to be one or two compartments. It must be large enough to allow for at least 4 inches of packing material all around the "nest" in which the cooking kettle is to be placed. For the sake of cleanliness and convenience the nest should be lined with metal and should be a trifle larger than the cooking utensil. If an extra source of heat, such as a hot brick or plate, is to be used, a metallic lining for the nest is imperative. For this purpose a galvanized iron or other metal bucket may be used or, better still, a tinsmith can make a lining of galvanized iron or zinc which can be provided with a rim to cover the packing material. In case no hot stone or plate is to be used in the cooker, the lining can be made of strong cardboard.

For the packing and insulating material a variety of substances may be used. Asbestos and mineral wool are good and have the additional advantage that they do not burn. Ground cork (such as is used in packing Malaga grapes), hay, excelsior, Spanish moss, wool, and crumpled paper may also be used satisfactorily. Of the inexpensive materials that can be obtained easily, crumpled paper is probably the most satisfactory, since it is clean and odorless and, if properly packed, will hold the heat better than some of the others. To pack the container with paper, crush single sheets of newspaper between the hands. Pack a layer at least 4 inches deep over the bottom of the outside container, tramping it in or pounding it in with a heavy stick of wood. Stand the container for the cooking vessel, or the lining for the nest, in the center of this layer and pack more crushed papers about it as solidly as possible. If other packing, such as excelsior, hay, or cork dust, is used, it should be packed in a similar way. Where an extra source of heat is to be used, it is much safer to pack the fireless cooker with some non-inflammable material, such as asbestos or mineral wool. A cheap and easily obtained substitute are the small cinders sifted from coal ashes, preferably those from soft coal, which may be obtained at the boiler house of any mill. The cinders from hard coal burned in the kitchen range will do, however. Experiments with this material made by home-economics specialists of the Department of Agriculture showed that it is very nearly as satisfactory as crumpled paper as a packing material. If a fireproof packing material is not used a heavy pad of asbestos paper should be put at the bottom of the metal nest and a sheet or two of asbestos paper should be placed between the lining of the nest and the packing material. Whatever packing material is used, it should come to the top of the container for the kettle, and the box should lack about 4 inches of being full. A cushion or pad must be provided to fill completely the space between the top of the packing and the cover of the box after the hot kettles are put in place. This should be made of some heavy goods, such as denim, and stuffed with cotton, crumpled paper, or excelsior. Hay made be used, but will be found more or less odorous.

The kettles used for cooking should be durable and free from seams or crevices, which are hard to clean. They should have perpendicular sides and the covers should be as flat as possible and provided with a deep rim shutting well down into the kettle to retain the steam. It is possible to buy kettles made especially for use in fireless cookers; these are provided with covers which can be clamped on tightly. The size of the kettle should be determined by the quantity of food to be cooked. Small amounts of food can not be cooked satisfactorily in large kettles, and it is therefore an advantage to have a cooker with compartments of two or more different sizes. Kettles holding about 6 quarts are of convenient size for general use. Tinned-iron kettles should not be used in a fireless cooker, for, although cheap, they are very apt to rust from the confined moisture. Enameled-ware kettles are satisfactory, especially if the covers are of the same material. Aluminum vessels may be purchased in shapes which make them especially well adapted for use in fireless cookers and, like enameled ware, they do not rust.

Metal Lining for Nest for Fireless Cooker.

How to Use the Fireless Cooker.

Obviously the fireless cooker must be used with intelligence to obtain the best results. It is best suited to those foods which require boiling, steaming, or long, slow cooking in a moist heat. Foods can not be fried in it, pies can not be baked successfully in the ordinary fireless cooker, nor can any cooking be done which requires a high, dry heat for browning. Meats, however, may be partially roasted in the oven and finished in the cooker, or may be begun in the cooker and finished in the oven with much the same results as if they were roasted in the oven entirely. The classes of food best adapted to the cooker are cereals, soups, meats, vegetables, dried fruits, steamed breads, and puddings.

When different foods are cooked together in the fireless cooker they must be such as require the same amount of cooking, since the cooker can not be opened to take out food without allowing the escape of a large amount of heat and making it necessary to reheat the contents. It would not do to put foods which need about one and one-half hours to cook into the cooker with a piece of meat which would stay several hours.

The size of the container used in cooking with the fireless cooker should be governed according to the amount of food to be cooked. Small quantities of food can not be cooked satisfactorily in a large kettle in the fireless cooker. If a large kettle must be used, better results will be obtained if some other material which holds heat fairly well is used to fill up the empty space. This may be accomplished in several ways. One is to put the small quantity of food to be cooked into a smaller, tightly closed kettle, fill the large kettle with boiling water and put the small kettle into it, standing it on an inverted bowl or some other suitable support. This boiling water will take up and hold the heat better than air would. Several smaller dishes (if tightly covered) may be placed in the kettle surrounded by boiling water. Baking powder or other tins often are found useful for this purpose. Another way is to place one food in a basin which just fits into the top of a large kettle and to let some other material, some vegetable perhaps, cook in the water in the bottom of the kettle. Two or more flat, shallow kettles placed one on top of the other so as to fill the cooker, enable one to cook small amounts of different foods successfully. Such kettles, made especially for use in fireless cookers, may be purchased.

Time Required for Cooking.

The time which each kind of food should stay in the cooker depends both on the nature of the food and on the temperature at which it remains inside the cooker, and before recipes for use with the fireless cooker can be prepared one must have some means of knowing how temperatures are preserved in it. In experiments made in the Office of Home Economics a 6-quart kettle was filled with boiling water and put into the cooker, the packing of which happened to be newspaper. The temperature of the water, which was 212° F. when put into the cooker, was found to be 172° F. after four hours had elapsed and 155° F. after eight hours had elapsed. This shows the advisability of the common custom of allowing food to remain undisturbed in the cooker for at least six or eight hours, or in some cases overnight. If a soapstone, hot brick, or other extra source of heat is used, less time will be required. Materials which are denser than water (sugar sirup as used in cooking dried fruit), and therefore can be heated to a higher degree, will keep up the temperature longer when put into the cooker. Thus the density of the food material, as well as the amount and the length of time that the apparatus retains the heat, must be taken into consideration in determining how long different materials must be cooked in the cooker.

The recipes for dishes to be prepared in the fireless cooker differ somewhat from those for foods cooked in the ordinary way, chiefly in the amount of water or other liquids called for. Less liquid should be put into the food to be prepared in an ordinary fireless cooker, since there is no chance for water to evaporate. The cook must be guided largely by experience in deciding how long the food should be heated before being put into the cooker and how long it should be allowed to remain there.

HOW TO FEED THE YOUNG CALF

Brief Outline of Method for Feeding the Calf by Using Calf Meals and Only a Little Milk.

By J. B. LINDSEY.

Without recommending any preparation in particular, the writes takes this opportunity to outline the method for feeding the young calf in case it is desired to get along with as little milk as possible.

1. Allow the calf to remain with the dam as a rule for two or three days. In case of Jersey or Guernsey calves it may be necessary to shorten the time because of the laxative effect of such milk.

Fed Lindsey's Calf Meal No. VI.

2. The calf should be kept in a clean pen and well bedded. Damp, dirty quarters are to be avoided.

3. The pail out of which the calf is fed, as well as all utensils, must be kept clean. This is vital.

4. At the end of the second or third day begin to teach the calf to drink warm whole milk. That with a low fat percentage (4 or less) is preferable to a richer article. From 4 to 6 quarts daily is sufficient for the first two weeks, the amount depending upon the vigor and size of the calf. It is better to feed three times daily during this time, but not necessary.

5. After the first two weeks warm skim milk can gradually be substituted for the whole milk, and in case of vigorous calves, within a week or ten days thereafter the substitution may be completed.

6. At the end of the second, or possibly the third, week (judgment to be used in all cases), a quart of the calf-meal gruel may be added. This substitute is best prepared, in the opinion of the writer, by using 3½ to 4 ounces of meal to each quart of water. The meal is first stirred with a little cold water to get out the lumps and to convert it into a paste. A quart of boiling or very hot water is then added, and the mixture thoroughly stirred and allowed to stand until milk-warm, in which condition it is fed, preferably mixed with the milk. Neither milk nor calf-meal gruels should be fed cold, but milk-warm. The quantity of skim milk can be reduced to 4 quarts daily, and the quantity of calf-meal gruel gradually increased until the animal is receiving 4 to 6 quarts a day of the latter, depending upon its ability to utilize it.

7. At the end of three months the skim milk can be reduced to 3 quarts, or possibly to 2 quarts, daily if necessary. Before this time the animal should be taught to eat the calf meal dry, by placing some of it in a box fastened to the wall, and at first placing a little in its mouth and rubbing the meal upon its nose. Rowen or fine hay should also be placed before the calf in a little rack, and it will soon learn to take it.

8. At the end of four months the skim milk may be entirely withdrawn and a few weeks later the calf-meal gruel, for by this time the animal should be eating considerable dry meal and hay. Naturally, if skim milk is available it is worth while to feed it until the calf is six months of age, it proving very helpful in increasing growth. Feeders wishing to secure large animals frequently feed skim milk until the animal reaches eight months or even twelve months of age; they also defer breeding until the calf is one year, nine months old.

9. After the calf is five months old, if in good condition, the calf meal can be entirely removed and an ordinary grain mixture substituted, consisting, by weight, of one-third ground oats, one-third wheat bran and one-third corn or hominy meal; or wheat middlings may be substituted in the mixture for ground oats. The roughage may consist of one-half to one peck of silage and what rowen or fine hay the animal will clean up. Emphasis is placed upon the fact that absolutely definite rules relative to the time of substituting the different foods cannot be given, so much depending upon the condition of the calf. The close observation and good judgment of the feeder are very necessary if the full measure of success is to be attained.

10. In case of scours, or if the animal begins to show a fickle appetite, the best remedy is to cut down the food supply one-half or even two-thirds in amount. Do not overfeed in any case. The calf should always have an appetite for more than the amount given to it.

Lindsey's Calf Meal V.

Ingredients:

22	pounds ground oat flakes.
10	pounds flaxseed meal.
5	pounds flour middlings.
11	pounds fine corn meal.
1½	pounds prepared blood flour.

Lindsey's Calf Meal VI.

Ingredients:

35	pounds ground oat flakes.
12½	pounds barley malt.
1½	pounds blood flour.
½	pound bicarbonate of potash.

Cost, 3.3 cents a pound.

In preparing a calf meal the object should be to use only those ingredients that are easily and highly digestible, and at the same time are not too expensive. Among such feeds may be mentioned finely ground corn meal, flour middlings, ground rice, wheat flour, oat flakes, barley malt, cocoanut meal and flaxseed meal. Cottonseed meal in any quantity is not advised; oat flakes and malted grains seem to be quite satisfactory. Dry skim milk is a valuable substance, but its cost is likely to prevent its use.

ORCHARD CULTIVATION.

Has the orchard played out? Has it begun to weaken and give way to the ravages of insect and fungus pests? Has it ceased to produce profitable yields of good sized fruit? If so, the chances are that you are starving the trees. Fruit trees need food and care the same as other plants. Neglect means the same loss—no, it means greater loss than to any other crop. If you starve a corn or oat crop, it can be remedied at any time in one year. They are annuals. But when you starve the orchard and weaken it till it is killed by its enemies, it takes years to grow another, however rich you may make the orchard soil.

VALUABLE CROP.

The soy bean may be grown throughout the humid and semi-humid sections of the south and in the southern portion of the corn belt. It is a very valuable forage crop and promises to be very useful in many boll-weevil regions as a cash crop, and a source of oil seed for the oil mills.

OBJECTS OF CO-OPERATIVE PURCHASING

By C. E. BASSETT.

In the farmers' general plans for improving their condition it is necessary for them to take advantage of co-operative principles for conducting their business, to the end that they may be able to eliminate waste. Efficiency is the watchword, and the farmer should pay for necessary and efficient service only. In case he finds that he can serve himself more efficiently than others are serving him, if he can install and operate his own business machinery, arrange to pay cash, or furnish his own credit, he should do so. The trade should and usually will consent to meet him on this thoroughly sound basis.

If it is good business and entirely proper for manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers to unite in their respective organizations, not to control prices or restrain trade, but for greater business efficiency and to eliminate waste, what argument should induce farmers to refrain from similar action to improve their business? What can the manufacturer gain by such organization which the farmer can not? Is the average intelligence of the manufacturer less than the average intelligence of the American farmer? If it is advisable for the manufacturers and dealers to federate into State and National associations for the above-named purposes, by what line of reasoning do some conclude that it is unnecessary or absolutely improper for the farmers to organize even on a community basis.

The farmer is interested first of all in securing goods of standard quality. Large amounts of spraying and fertilizing chemicals are now used on many farms, and it is essential that these materials be of high grade and free from impurities. The amount purchased by each grower is not sufficient to warrant having chemical analyses made, but where full carloads are purchased by a group of farmers a composite sample may be taken, and one analysis will show the average quality of the whole.

Another effect of co-operative purchasing has been to bring the farmers together in the use of the same make of implements, fruit packages, etc. One western fruit association agreed on one style of power sprayer where a dozen or more were formerly sold. Not only did they save a large sum on the purchase price, but one line of repairs now supplies their needs, and parts can be kept on hand for sale to all members at a great saving.

Another association secured the adoption of one style of fruit package where no less than eight had formerly been in use. Manufacturers who formerly had to keep in readiness eight styles of basket forms and eight kinds of supplies can now devote their entire force and factory to the making of one style, thus lessening the cost of making and decreasing the selling price, while insuring a constant supply.

The advantages to be gained through a farmers' co-operative marketing association have been fully demonstrated. But it must be remembered that in all cases the advisability of a co-operative organization depends upon probability of a more efficient service being secured thereby.

Will Beautify New York State Roadsides

By investigations just completed by the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse, it has been found that nine-tenths of the roadsides in the rural districts of New York State are entirely void of shade trees. When this is considered along with the fact that last year New York State paid out of the State Treasury about $30,000,000 for the construction and maintenance of road beds, it shows that the state is not yet awake to the great need and the great possibilities in rural roadside improvement.

A preliminary survey has just been made by H. R. Francis in charge of the Landscape Extension work of the College of Forestry.

During the survey, studies were made of such important features in rural roadside improvement and beautification as good and bad varieties of trees found along the highways, views and vistas obtained from the highways, the effects of the shade trees on crops in adjacent fields, the possibilities of the covering of barren embankments and the planting of some desirable sort of vegetation where overhead wires are in large numbers. One of the principal features studied was the condition of the roadbed as affected by the presence or absence of shade trees.

Few people in the State will be able to visit the wonderful National Parks of the west but an increasing number of people will own automobiles and use the highways of the State. Many, if not all, of these highways may easily become State parkways of beautiful trees and shrubs. Trees grow like weeds under the climatic conditions existent in New York and with varied scenery of intense interest the highways of the State will eventually become as beautiful as those of any other State in the Union.—Green's Fruit Grower.

PEDIGREE SYSTEM OF POULTRY RAISING

By C. T. PATTERSON.

Owing to the many questions asked concerning the keeping of pedigree records, we believe an explanation of our pedigree system will be of interest to all who intend to keep records of their breeding yards in the future.

The success of any institution depends to a great extent upon the system of operation and system of records. The two most important points to be considered are accuracy and simplicity.

It is necessary for all poultry breeders who do accurate breeding to adopt some method or system of keeping records and the less complication, the greater the value of the system.

The Missouri State Poultry Experiment Station is all under one system of band numbers, which is as follows: All pens are numbered, the male in each pen bears the same number as the pen, and each hen bears the same number and in addition her individual number to the right. To illustrate, pen No. 147 contains male No. 147, and females from 1470 to 1479 inclusive, there being ten females in each breeding pen, and where hens and pullets are used in the same pen, the first five are hens and the last five are pullets. Hide the right hand figure of a hen's number and you have the pen number, also the male's number in that pen. One yard may contain a number of pens but this does not break the numbering system. If any bird gets out of the pen, the number tells where it belongs, which saves much time referring to records.

Each hen is caught in a trapnest when she goes on to the nest to lay, and upon being released, her band number is placed on the egg. It will be seen that an egg marked 1472 is from hen 2 in pen 147 and fertilized by male 147, while 1476 is from pullet 6 in pen 147 and fertilized by male 147.

When the egg is incubated and the chick hatched in pedigree tray, the number on the egg is placed on the chick's leg band and as soon as the band needs loosening because of the chick's leg growing, the band is placed in the chick's wing where it remains permanently. Thus the pedigree band is in the wing which will prevent confusing the pullet with the hen which has her band on the leg. band 1734 is from pen 173, male 173, hen 4, and hatched in '17, while pedigree band 1878 is from pen 187, male 187, pullet 8 and hatched in '18. The one simple number tells the year, pen, sire, dam, of each egg or chick so numbered.

The only handicap with this system is the stamping the numbers on the chick bands, which is done with small steel dies, but this is over balanced by the value of being able to tell the pedigree of any egg, chick or mature bird at any time without referring to records.

Band numbers from 170 to 200 for males, and numbers from 1700 to 2000 for females is a complete set of bands for ten breeding pens for three years, 170-179 to be used in 1917, 180-189 in 1918, and 190-199 in 1919.

The above illustration shows an experimental breeding pen at the Missouri State Poultry Experiment Station at Mountain Grove, Mo. It also shows the numbering system and how the eggs are numbered, how the number is transferred to the chick band, and then placed in wing becoming a permanent pedigree record.

DAIRYING IN THE WEST.

No greater calamity could befall the farmers of the West than the destruction of all places where cream or butter could be sold. The small farmer is more dependent upon the sale of dairy products than many are willing to admit. The cream-receiving stations and the possibility of easy shipment to the creamery have for years been the mainstay for many western farmers and as such they will continue to be.

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL.

Home building is one of the strong bulwarks of this republic. The love of home broadens us. It makes us love our neighbor's home, the country and all mankind. One of the highest ideals of life is to build a good home and to protect its inmates.

ARTISTIC ARRANGEMENT OF FLOWERS.

SHIP ONLY FRESH EGGS.

When shipping eggs to the city for special markets only strictly fresh eggs should be forwarded, and more than that, no doubtful eggs and no soiled eggs should ever be put in a case for market.

There is a vast difference between commercial orchards and family orchards. For the latter the variety should be greater to meet the tastes of the various members of the family.

NEEDS EXERCISE.

The brood sow must have plenty of exercise. Do not keep her too closely housed. Be sure she has a warm, comfortable bed and that the hog house is well ventilated. It will not injure brood sows to do a little rustling for feed.

COTTON-SEED MEAL.

The use of cottonseed meal in cattle feeding is steadily growing in favor among successful feeders. Ground corn, alfalfa hay, and cottonseed meal are a great combination for putting flesh on steers.

COVER UNSIGHTLY PLACES.

A mass of vines running over a pile of debris in the back yard is a thing of beauty, while the litter it covers would probably be an eyesore to the landscape.

USE PLENTY OF BEDDING.

Place plenty of dry bedding in the cows' stalls all through the winter. There is less evaporation in cold than in warm weather and floors become very damp. Bedding not only makes it comfortable and healthy for the animals but also absorbs the liquid manures. The man who keeps stock and masters the art of bedding is on the road to success in stock raising and also the building up of the land.

MILK FOR HENS.

Milk is an excellent egg-producing food and should be liberally given whenever it can be cheaply obtained. Any kind of milk, fresh or sour, will do for the hens.

Alfalfa and good judgment in selecting cows will make any man rich in the dairy business.

CARE IN HANDLING EGGS.

There is about a strictly fresh egg a "bloom" for which buyers look. This bloom disappears with time or is rubbed off with handling, therefore eggs should be handled as little as possible.

A COMPLETE RECORD.

The files of the United States Department of Agriculture contain more than 1,000,000 cards concerning the distribution and migration of North American birds.

No set of rules that can be laid down will meet all circumstances.

LET THE SUNSHINE IN.

This has been said before, yet it is well to say it again: Let the sunlight shine in your dairy stable. It is a sure killer of germs and it is conducive to the health and contentment of the cow in many ways. The sun is the source of light and life.

A NEW SYRUP.

In planting bulbs be careful to press the soil closely around the roots.

WELL-PLANNED BARNS.

Some farmers have their barns so arranged that the care of stock is a pleasure, and in many instances this handy arrangement has been brought about with comparatively little expense for material or labor.

ALFALFA HELPED.

The California dairyman is probably the most advanced dairyman in the United States. California has been dairying only ten or twelve years. Alfalfa has made California the great dairy section that it is.

Sausages will not burst if rolled in flour before frying.

EDDYTORIUL ON "BLIZZARDS."

Evry reader of the Boogle will doubtless rekall what a turrible nise bammy, mild springish day last Toosday was in Bingville & vicinitty.

We diddent reulise it was so warm until we stepped outen our back kitching door after we had et our brekfust muffled up to the ears with our bearskin coat and coonskin cap to sitch a extent that our nose was the only porshion of our fase that was visible to the naked eye being as we thort of course that sinst the termometter has been ushually from 10 to 15 degrees below zero every morning recently this partickler morning wouldn't be no excepshion to the rule.

Well, as we say we stepped outen the house to walk to the Boogle offis expeckting to be almost froze todeth afore we arrived there when to our intents amazement and surprise we found that the air was mild and almost summerish as we mite say without eggsaggeratink, so we unbuttond our fur coat and lifted our earlugs on our cap and enjoyd the mildness of the wether to a large extent.

On our way to the offis we happend to meet several of our most respeckted cittizens inclooding Eph Higgins, postmaster, and Ame Hillyer, our talented loryer, leggal lite. J. of the P. et cettery, to both of who we remarked on the mildness of the wether and Eph and Ame both concurred in our opinyun.

We also happend to meet old Dad Henderson who thinks he is the greatest wether profet in Bingville (but who aint) and Dad stopd us and said that he calkilated spring had came judging from the change in the temperchoor and also becuz he had saw a robin redbreast in a appel tree back of his house thru the winder as he was eating brekfust in the kitchink.

Of course we diddent dispoot Dad being as he allus flies up and gits mad whenever hes dispooted, but we don't take no stock in his statement that he seen a robin. Sitch a statement as that is ridicklus and absurd in the extream. What Dad probly seen was a peewee or a ground sparrer—or it even mite of been a crow becuz Dads wife Mehitabel aint enny too tidy and her kitchink winders aint what a woman would call over brite and clean and at first glance lookin thru em Dad mite of mistook a crow for a robin.

Be that as it may when we arrove at the offis it was ackshually colder inside than it was out so we opend up the doors and winders to let in the bammy air and setting down we tuk our pen in hand and desided we would dash off a eddytoriul on "Bootifool Spring Has Came!"

Well we haddent skeercely got started dashing off this eddytoriul and became absorbed with our subjeck as we mite say until we become conshious that we was growing a little mite chilly but we went rite on writing for a spell longer & then all of a suddint we woke up to the fackt that it had growd cold turrible suddint and that the sky was overcast and that the wind was blowin a gale and that the air was full of fine snow like grains of sand whitch was a siftin thru the doors and winders of the Boogle offis whitch like a blamed fool we had went and left open!

We closed em as soon as we could and bilt up a ragin fire in the stove but it growd colder outside every minnit and it tuk us feedin that gorrammed stove with wood until nearly noon afore we got the offis warm enuff to remain inside of without freezin todeth! Meanwhile the thermommetter sunk down to 19 degrees below zero and as we write these sorrorful words we have whot is praps one of the worst colds in our head that a human beink or ennything that aint huming ever had in its head and whitch we wouldnt wish on a snake even if it had bit us!

When we set down at our desk this morning with the blizzard still ragin without the offis and also without cessashion we happend to see layin on the desk rite under our nose two or three pages of our own writing and when we pickd it up to ascertain if possibil what it was we had been writing about and realized that what we helt in our hands was the beginning of a eddytoriul on "Bootifool Spring Has Came" it made us so dingbusted mad that we throwd the pages on the floor and jumpd up and down on em and used langwidge unbecoming to a gentleman and a skollar jest to show our contempt for sitch suddin changes of wether whitch we have in our midst.

Personals & Lokals Mixt

We can tell by some intooishion or other that we aint a going to have enny personals or lokals either to speek of in this ishue of the Bugle. Them as we will have in are jest merely as a matter of form and for the looks of the thing.

The fackt is to tell the truth we aint got mutch room for enny "Personals & Lokals Mixt" to speek of being as we devoted so mutch spase in this ishue to our eddytoriul on "Blizzards" and to a thrilling acct of Hod Slocomb's narrer escape from deth both of whitch exsiting tales will be found in a nother collum and whitch you ort to read and profit by.

We dont mind saying that we made our eddytoriul this wk longer and also Hod Slocombs excape longer on purpose than we would ordinary becuz "Personals & Lokals Mixt" was so skeerce and we knowd if we got the paper fild up with other longer artikels we could state that the reason there wassent more "Personals & Lokals Mixt" in this ishue was becuz we diddent have room for enny.

There is moren one way to skin a cat, as Hank Dewberry says and we mite add that there is also tricks in all trades and perfeshions inclooding the perfeshion of being edditor, prop, mgr, foreman, offis boy & everythink else conneckted with the biggest and only noosepaper in this end of the county.

Bingville. EDDITOR BUGLE.

SLACK TRICK FOR HOD TO DO

Hod Slocomb one of our most respeckted cittizens and also who we allus thort possesd what we mite call average intelligents (but now we doubt it) neerly lost his life over to Gootchic Pond last Wensday by one of the foolest tricks whitch we ever heerd of ennybuddy doing to theirself.

Hod was over to Gootchic with Rufe Brown helping Rufe cut his winter supply of ice offen the Pond and Rufe was cuttin the ice outen the pond in blocks with a ise saw while Rufe was loading up same and hauling away to his ice house whitch is about haff a mile from the shore of the Pond.

Well while Rufe was away with a load what did Hod Slocomb do but saw away and saw away with his ise saw until first thing he knowd he had went and sawd out a big square of ice on whitch he was standin and diddent reulise what he was a doing until the cake on whitch he stood floated away from the rest of the ice out into the big seckshion of open worter from whitch the ise had been sawd!

When Hod found hisself cast adrift on a cake of ise whitch wassent skeercely big enuff to hold up his weight and teeterin under him into the bargin he said his hair stood up on his head like brissels in a wire hairbrush and riz his hat rite up & fell into the pond!

Where Hod was cuttin ise the worter was about 60 ft deep and when Hod thort of this and him not able to swim his hart jumpt rite up into his mouth and he like to of swallerd his adams appel. Then the cake of ise begin to turn under him and Hod had to do some turrible quick footwork to keep his balants. Bye and bye the cake was turnin so fast that Hod was runnin on top of it like a squirl runnin a wheel but as he said it wassent gittin him ennywheres being as the cake jest turnd under him that's all.

Hod had calks in the soles of his boots or he couldn't nevver of stood up on the ise cake a tall and even as it was he soon got tired runnin so fast whilst the cake of ise was turnin and lashin the worter to foam and 1st thing Hod knowd his foot slipd and into the pond he went with a splash heels over head and cleen in under.

Being as this was very unexpeckted to Hod and being as the worter was ice cold it neerly tuk his breth away and he calkilates if he swallerd a qt of that cold worter afore he come up agin he swallerd a gal pail full!

And worst of it is that when he did come up instid of comin to the surface where there wassent enny ice he had to go and come up as luck would have it rite in under the edge of where the ice had been sawd and Hod says that when his head struck the under porshion of that ice whitch was neerly 3 ft thick he thort to goodness that it had crackd his skull for him and that he seen stars biggern barn lanterns!

When this happend Hod thort he was a gonner becuz he diddent know whitch way to go to git to the open worter and if he happend to go the rong way he wouldnt nevver git there but would work hisself still farther under the ice and drownd like a rat in a trap!

But Providents must of been with Hod becuz whilst he was scramblin around he happend to slide out from under the edge of the ice and his head bobbed out. Soon as he seen where he was Hod grabd holt of the edge of the ice expeckting to pull hisself out onto the solid ice but he was disappinted in his expecktashions becuz his clothes was so worterlogged and heavy and he was so num and cold by this time that he haddent the strenth to do so and to make matters worse Rufe Brown wassent there to help him being as Rufe was away with a load of ice on the team.

Well there Hod hung to the edge of the ice with his strenth slowly ebbing away. He hollerd as loud as he could holler but he said his teeth was chatterin so and he was so scairt that he dont calkilate his voice kerried moren 10 or 15 ft. After he had hollerd awhil Hod begin to pray from deliverents and to be forgive for his sins so that if he had to pass on he would excape perdishion. Then Hod says that when he got to thinkin over how turrible numb and cold he was and how good some heet would feel to him he thort a blast or two of Perdishion would be very welcome to him and save him from freezin to deth so he stopd prayin and begin to cuss Fate, as you mite say.

Well, jest as Hod was about to let go and sink to the bottom of the Pond along back come Rufe with the teem and when he seen the perdikament Hod was in he run and grabd him and puld him out onto the ice and thus saved his worthless life for him.

Hod says he cant understand yet and praps it wont nevver be plain to him as long as he lives jest how he happend to do sitch a fool thing as to saw clean around hisself with that ice saw so as to leave hisself standin on the cake he cut away. Hod says he knows bettern to do a fool trick like that and the only way he can acct for doink it is that he must of been thinkin of somethink else more important.

Be that as it may Hod says that it will be a colder day than it was last Wensday afore he does enny ice cuttin agin. Soon as he got puld outen the worter by Rufe Hod run up to Rufe's house with his clothes freezin on him stiffern boards and when Mrs. Rufe give him some of Rufes old clothes to put on whilst his dride behint the stove Rufe made up his mind to resign from being a ice carpenter whitch he done soon as his clothes was dry.

When Rufe come to the house for dinner Hod notifide Rufe that he had quit the job so Rufe paid him in full and Hod walkd home to Bingville that same afternoon glad to be in the land of the livin.

Let this be a sollum warning to other fools not to do sitch a ridicklus thing as to cut off the cake of ice they be standin on at the time.

Bill Woods of this place took a load of logs down to the Snake Bend Saw Mill tother day to have em sawd up into boards whitch Bill states he is a going to constructt a sheepshed out of doing the carpenter work hisself. If Bill dont make no better job of his sheepshed than he did when he bilt a henhouse for hisself (or ruther for his hens) last spring we wouldnt blame his sheep if they refused to ockupy it. Bills hen house was so full of holes and cracks that it was colder inside of it than it was outside even in cold wether and as a result Bills hens perferred to remain outside whitch they done and several of em froze to deth. Bill aint mutch of a carpenter.

Mrs. Ben Wade of here had company come unexpeckted in the person of Mrs. Sime Wiggins of Pea Ridge to remain a few days and Mrs. Ben excoosed herself and dresd up in her best and when she come down stairs Mrs. Sime said she haddent had no dinner so Mrs. Ben husteld out into the kitchink and amungst other things opend a can of tomaters and being nervus the can slipd and the tomaters splashd all over Mrs. Bens best dress to the ruinashion of same. Mrs. Ben says in her opinyun folks who you dont care nothink about has a awful lot of gall to come in on you unexpeckted and plant theirselfs for a several days vissit.

Lafe Henderson desires us to a nounce in the Boogle that he has a seckond hand horse that he will sell cheep. Good reasons give for selling so cheep. If its the horse we think it is the reason Lafe desires to sell it is becuz he calkilates if he dont dispose of it soon it will die on his hands.

Jabe Parker recd 2 copies of the Boogle by mistake last wk and Jabe wishes us to thank you for conferring sitch a favor on him being as he read one and give tother one away where it would do the most good. Jabe hopes you as edditor of the Boogle will often make mistakes like this.

Miss Jane Truman has a bad cold on her chest. If all reports be true whitch we hear, Jane, we persoom you ketchd that cold one nite last when you was out sleighin with Hen Winslow. Hen, you ort to set up closter to Jane and perteckt her from the winterish blasts when you go out sleddin with her instid of beink so shy and bashful. NOW-AND-THEN.

Tother Day when we diddent have nothink better to do we askd ourself the follering questshion: Why don't we get more advg. in the Bugle?" We paused quite a spell for a reply, but we diddent git enny—in short we couldnt anser the questshion to our own satisfackshion so we thort it would be a good idee to ask you about it.

Do you reulise as you read these lines that the Bugle is the best advg. medium in this end of the co. or in enny other end of the co. for that matter? If not then you ort to wake up to the opportoonitties we offer. Are you in bizness? Then why in Sam Hill dont you advertise your bizness? Do you want to get out of bizness? Then advertise your bizness for sale? Dont you have no bizness and want some bizness? Then advertise for some bizness. Do you need help? Then advertise in the Boogle for help.

Also dont forgit that the ackshual number of Bugles we print eatch wk dont repersent our total circulashion by no means. Our reglar & total circulashion is menny times mar menny being as so menny of our subscribers nabers and frends borrows the Bugles to read, ruthern subscribe for it theirselfs and pay for it outen their own pocket. This is a bad thing for us but a good thing for our advertisers becuz it gives us a enormus circulashion. It also gives us a pain in our pocketbook and makes us tired. Enny titewad who borrows his nabers Bugle is so stingy that he would begrudge a duck a drink outen the oshean.

Advg in the Bugle! It will pay you big—and also keep us from starving to deth! Do it now before it is too late and thus help along a worthy cause that needs help.

THE MARKETS.

Due to speculation in the large trading centers of the country Fort Wayne wheat prices advanced 2 cents more Saturday and $1.88 and $1.90 is being paid for the grain here now. According to one local dealer this price is a record since the days of the civil war, when conditions were entirely different than they are now. Elevators in Chicago are reported full, but no cars are available for moving the wheat.

One man on the market Saturday morning who is well known among buyers here made the assertion that potatoes will drop to mighty near nothing flat in a week. Potatoes are being moved in this direction fast now and people who have been holding their spuds for still higher prices are going to be hung up, according to this man.

The wholesale market was about normal, thirty-four loads being weighed at the city scales. Twenty-five were hay, which sold for $10.00 and $11.00 a ton. Corn went a little higher than the mark of Friday. $1.03 and $1.04 per bushel being paid for the six loads offered. But three loads of oats were offered and these brought 59 and 60 cents a bushel. There has been a decided drop in eggs.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 3.—Active buying on the part of houses with seaboard connections carried wheat prices today sharply higher. Opening quotations, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to ¾c higher, with May at $1.83¾@1.85¼ and July at $1.65¾@1.66⅝, were followed by a moderate sag and then a small advance all around.

The close was unsettled at 2¼c to 4¼c net advance, with May at $1.88⅝@1.88⅞ and July at $1.59@1.59⅛.

New high record prices quickly appeared in the corn crowd. After opening ⅛c to ⅞c up the market dipped on account of profit-taking, but rallied in short order.

Oats ascended with other grain.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, March 3.—Active stocks were appreciably higher during the greater part of today's short session, though subject to occasional irregularity because of the heaviness of a few specialties. Chief among these were Studebaker and Barrett company, the latter making an extreme decline of 8½ points to 110. Gains were most marked in coppers, leading industrials, such as Bethlehem Steel, United States Steel and Crucible Steel, oils, shippings, Central Leather, American Woolen and a few other issues of less specific description. The closing was strong. Sales were estimated at 300,000 shares. Bonds were irregular with heaviness in Paris 6s.

Munitions, equipments, shippings and war supply shares of various descriptions manifested further decided strength at the opening of today's market. Bethlehem Steel issues rose 1 to almost 2 points with a substantial fractional gain for United States Steel and allied stocks. American Woolen, Central Leather, oils and metals also augmented yesterday's advance by fractions to a point. Rails made only indifferent response to the improvement elsewhere, gains in that division being restricted to minor or low priced issues.

THE MONEY MARKET.

New York, March 3.—Mercantile paper, 4@4½; sterling 60 day bills, 4.71; commercial 60 day bills on banks, 4.71; commercial 60 day bills, 4.70¾; demand, 4.75⅛; cables, 4.76 7-16; francs, demand, 5.85¼; cables, 5.84⅛; marks, demand, 68⅛; cables, 68¼; kronen, demand, 11.10; cables, 11.12; guilders, demand, 40⅝; cables, 40 7-16; lires, demand, 7.75; cables, 7.74; rubles, demand, 27.75; cables, 27.85; bar silver, 76⅝; Mexican dollars, 59; government bonds, weak; railroad bonds, irregular.

Automobiles and Supplies.

A $561 car, plus $25 freight, plus $100 for electric starter, plus $20.75 for changing from 3-inch to 3½ inch tires, and if you want demountable rims add about $50 more. Shock absorbers would cost another $10 to $50; a mohair top costs $25 to $30. Oh, yes, a ventilating wind shield is $15. Change your lamps for lamps with dimmers is another outlay of $6 or more. Now you have parted with about $550 and still have a $561 car, without a speedometer. So, why not buy a
